BAR CARRANZA FROM MEDIATION

Result of Rebel Chief's Refusal to Declare Truce

ONLY U. S. AND HUERTA IN FIELD

What Effect Elimination of Rebels From Conferences Will Have Causes Apprehension in Washington—Diplomats Suspect Huerta Is Playing Foxy Game Having Soldiers Demand Control of Vera Cruz Water Works.

Washington, May 5.—General Carranza and the Constitutionalists were practically eliminated from the proceedings of the three South American envoys who have undertaken to solve the Mexican problem by diplomacy.

In a telegram to General Carranza the mediators announced that in view of his refusal to agree to an armistice with General Huerta they withdrew their invitation to him to send a personal representative to participate in the mediation negotiations.

What effect such a development will have on the progress of events in Mexico could only be conjectured here.

The United States stipulated in its original acceptance of the mediation invitation that all factions in Mexico should be made parties to the proceedings.

The report of the withdrawal of the invitation to Carranza came on top of many disquieting rumors to the effect that the mediators were displeased with the way Carranza was acting and that they feared they were being used as a cat's paw to accomplish the downfall of Huerta.

If as now seems likely the mediators restrict themselves for the present to a settlement of the Tampico incident they will in effect become a court of honor to decide whether or not the United States is entitled to reparation for the insults to the flag and what form that reparation shall take.

After the settlement of that point the question of indemnity may come up. The United States will ask that it be reimbursed for the expenses incident to the movement of the naval vessels and army to Vera Cruz. This question in turn is likely to raise the query whether the Huerta government which never has been recognized by the United States could properly be held for an indemnity.

In this connection trained diplomats in Washington were greatly interested in the demands which Huerta's officers have made for the surrender of the pumping station near Vera Cruz. These diplomats believe that the demands made by Huerta and the scattering shots fired by his troops were intended to afford a foundation for future diplomatic representations. They believe that Huerta is preparing to raise the contention that a state of war already exists between Mexico and the United States and that the United States cannot claim damages to the property of its nationals in Mexico.

The maneuvers of Huerta's troops toward the Vera Cruz water works is causing more worry at the war department than any other feature of the situation. The understanding here is that a second demand was made for the surrender of the pumping station, but that there was no vigorous effort to enforce the demand.

The state department learned from the Brazilian minister at Mexico City, Senor Cardoso, that 500 American refugees have gathered at Mexico City and that preparations are being made for transporting them to Vera Cruz or Puerto Mexico.

A brief dispatch from Admiral Howard on the west coast of Mexico received at the navy department made no mention of the disturbance and mistreatment of Americans in Manzanillo. The department believes that order is being maintained along the west coast.

Announcements of the state department follow:

"The Brazilian minister in Mexico City has advised that Americans there are in no way harrassed by the government and that in the few cases where arrests have been made release has been secured upon representations by Senor Cardoso. He adds that they are in no danger but he has advised them to remain in closed quarters and to avoid public meetings until there are a sufficient number desirous of leaving to warrant sending out a train or several sections.

"Consul Canada reports that at a meeting of consuls at the French consulate in Vera Cruz arrangements have been made for the sending of a messenger to Mexico City each week with dispatches."

Zapata to Attack.

Vera Cruz, May 5.—A proclamation dated May 1 and signed by Zapata, published in the local Mexican papers, announces that the southern rebels will on May 5 attack Mexico City. It also condamns General Huerta and General Blanquet to death.

ALL PREDICT CHANGE

Mexico City Refugees Continue to Tell of Anti-Huerta Sentiment.

Vera Cruz, May 5.—While American refugees may differ as to the situation at Mexico City, all are agreed that there is a steadily swelling undercurrent of feeling against General Huerta.

The split with General Blanquet is reported to be wider than announced. The activity of the Catholic party, the growing feeling of the business element of the capital that there will never be peace as long as Huerta holds sway all seem to be signs of an impending change.

Some of the American refugees profess to have the word direct from confidants of Huerta that while he will never resign he does not think a coup such as unseated and killed Madero is possible. He has said grimly that he will be ready to meet it. He may lose his life, but he will not quail before it.

So far as anti-American sentiment is concerned they say that it is very quiet now, although it would not take any considerable incident to revive it.

The refugees are always surprised when they arrive at Vera Cruz to learn the true state of affairs. The Huertaista newspapers continue to publish wildly alarmist reports of everything. The newcomers are surprised and disappointed not to find the American army on its way to the interior. They have been given to understand that this was either under way or contemplated.

General Funston's custom house officials are in a quandary. They do not know what to do with the receipts of their office. They do not know whether it should be turned over to the treasury department to be held until Vera Cruz is returned to its owners to hold themselves or to try and ascertain what the Mexicans did with it honestly and follow their example.

STOCKADE IS EMPTIED

Uncle Sam's Mexican Prisoners Are Transferred to New Mexico.

El Paso, Tex., May 5.—The stockade at Fort Bliss was relieved of all its Mexican prisoners today. More than 2,000 of the federal soldiers with their women left this morning for Fort Wingate, N. M. Almost the same number were moved Monday.

Rebel successes at Monterey brought from six months of hiding Jose Madero, an uncle of the slain president of Mexico. He reached El Paso to join his nephew, Alberto Madero.

Rebel leaders rejoiced over a modification of the embargo order on ammunition. According to rulings made by United States custom officials it is now possible to take clothing, shoes, saddles and horses for rebel soldiers across the border, but guns and ammunition of every character still are barred.

BEGIN ATTACK ON SALTILLO

Vanguard of General Villa's Army Arrives Before City.

Juarez, Mex., May 5.—General Villa's campaign against the combined federal armies of Generals Velasco, Maas and De Moure in Saltillo opened with an exchange of rifle fire by the outposts. The preliminary skirmish marked the arrival of the Constitutionalist vanguard before the city.

Rebel officials predicted that before the end of the present week their cannon and machine guns, supported by the rifle fire of an army of 18,000 men, would be pounding the federal entrenchments.

Simultaneously word was received at the cuartel general that General Panfilo Matero opened an attack upon the federal forces in Zacatecas.

Car Runs Off; Man Is Killed.

Dawson, Pa., May 5.—One man was killed instantly, and five others were injured, two seriously, when a mine car, in which they were riding from the Florence mine to the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, near here, down a three mile incline got beyond control, and jumped the track on a trestle, plunging to the ground, a distance of forty feet.

GIRL SLAIN BY UNKNOWN BRUTE

Child's Companion Narrowly Escapes Same Fate

ARMED CITIZENS IN SEARCH

Two Little Girls Picking Flowers In Field at North Braddock, Pa., Are Attacked by Rough Looking Man. One Recovers Consciousness to Witness Stranger Slash Chum's Body. She Gets Away Safely.

Pittsburg, May 5.—Florence Dove and Elizabeth Kleneck, aged eight and nine years, respectively, of North Braddock, were victims of one of the most heinous assaults in the police annals of this section.

The little playmates were attacked by a powerfully built and unkempt man as they were picking violets in a patch of woodland four blocks from their homes.

The Kleneck child escaped with a severe beating, but the body of the other girl was found later in a ditch with a long knife or razor gash running through the length of the little trunk and one across the throat.

Elizabeth said they encountered the man on the hillside opposite the Edgar Thomson steel works. He made advances to them. When they attempted to flee he seized them both. Holding the Kleneck girl by the throat the man threw the other child to the ground and held her with his knee. With his free hand he drew a long knife from his pocket. The child says she thinks he also drew a large needle such as is used by upholsterers. Flinging the Kleneck girl to the ground the man knocked her senseless and then threw her into a thick clump of bushes.

When she recovered the man was slashing the body of her schoolmate with the knife. He slashed upward from her abdomen to her throat and in a frenzy drew the knife across her throat from ear to ear, inflicting a five-inch wound. Seizing her by the ankles he then threw her into a shallow ditch.

Horrified by the spectacle Kleneck girl lay silent until the man had almost completed his work. Then she started creeping away. She had hardly gotten started until the man was after her.

She was afraid to scream and in her fright forgot the nearest way to the steel works and help. Apparently fearing that workmen from the steel works would go home over the hill side the man fled.

The Kleneck girl reached her home screaming hysterically. Between convulsions of fright she told her mother of the attack.

Meantime a North Braddock policeman had been told that a body had been seen on the hillside in the hollow. He had hardly reported the finding of the body to other police when the Kleneck family reported the attack.

Posses were hastily organized but the police hurried out ahead of them fearful of a lynching. Seizing whatever weapons they could find mill men started for the hollow. Soon there were more than 3,000 men scouring the valley.

After the first rush for the slayer several men went back into the town and returned to the man hunt with coils of rope. A struggle between the police and the mob for the slayer is expected if he is captured.

FUNSTON SEES DANGER

Water Works at Vera Cruz Is Exposed to Artillery Fire.

Vera Cruz, May 5.—Brigadier General Funston made his first inspection of the advanced American post held by Major Smedley Butler's marines. This post is located at the Tejar water works, nine miles from the city.

General Funston and his party traveled in a flat car train which was barricaded and armed. The reason for this was that there were scattered groups of Mexican soldiers at several points in the vicinity of the advanced American post.

The main Mexican forces are in a strong position five miles beyond Tejar. The railway track is torn up from Tejar onward. An extension of the American lines surrounding Tejar is very desirable, as under present conditions there is nothing to prevent the Mexicans from using their artillery.

If the water works were destroyed under present conditions the result would be serious as Vera Cruz would have to depend on the water distilled on the warships.

Mediation Sessions in Montreal?

Mexico City, May 5.—El Pais announced that Agustin Rodriguez and Luis Elguero, both connected with the Mexican National railroads, and Senator Emilo Rabasa would leave here soon for Montreal to attend the mediation conferences initiated by Argentina, Brazil and Chile. This is the first indication given here that the conference to settle the difference between the United States and Mexico may be held in Canada.

New York at Vera Cruz.

Vera Cruz, May 5.—The United States battleship New York, which sailed from Newport, R. I., April 27, joined the American fleet anchored off Vera Cruz.

OPTOMETRIST

Is Your Child Handicapped in his or her physical and mental development by defective vision? Out of 100,000 school children examined in New York city, nearly 30 per cent. were found to be in need of glasses. In Boston the percentage was found to be slightly over 20 per cent., and most of these children were down on the books as "stupid," "stubborn" or unruly. In Philadelphia 354 children were discovered who could not read ordinary writing on a blackboard at a distance of twenty feet. You should make sure by a thorough examination at the hands of a competent optometrist. That your child is not among this vast army of little citizens who suffer from defective eyesight, delays often result seriously. My examinations are made by the most scientific accurate methods. If it is found that glasses are not required you will be told so frankly and no charge made for the examination.

BIDS $500,000 FOR A BABY.

But Rich Virginian's Offer Is Spurned by the Child's Mother.

Washington.—According to women connected with the Florence Crittenton mission, which is having an exhibit here to raise more funds for a summer camp and hospital for babies, a wealthy man from Richmond, Va., offered to endow the mission with $500,000 if he was permitted to adopt a baby infant he had seen at the exhibit. Miss Kate Waller Barrett, national president of the Crittenton mission, said that the Richmond man told her that the boy, who is known as "Baby Frank," resembled a grandchild of one of his ancestors.

"Arrange for me to adopt him and I will have my lawyer draw up the papers turning over that amount of money to the mission at once," Miss Barrett quotes the man as saying.

Mrs. Barrett said she told the man that the babies at the exhibit were not for sale and that she knew "Baby Frank's" mother would not consent to an adoption.

In a statement Mrs. Barrett said that many persons who had visited the exhibit had remonstrated with the baby's mother because she refused to part with him. Almost all of them said, in substance, according to Mrs. Barrett:

"They ought to think of the child and its future. This man is rich and can give the child every advantage."

TO DRINK RUM 214 YEARS OLD

That's What Wistar Institute's Directors Will Do In 1992.

Philadelphia.—Jamaica rum 214 years old is promised to the directors of the Wistar Institute of Anatomy of the University of Pennsylvania at the centenary of the institute. But the only directors who will be allowed to drink it will be those who are in office when a dinner will be arranged for them for the specific purpose of drinking the rum. The centenary of the institute will be in 1992.

A bottle of Jamaica rum was left unopened in this city by British officers upon their evacuation of Philadelphia in the War of the Revolution, and its history since that time is recited upon a card tied to the neck. The card was written by Isaac Wistar, founder of the institute.

Mr. Wistar inherited the bottle from his uncle, Franklin Jones. In 1891 two years after he founded the institute, he presented the bottle to the institute, with the request that it be held for the centenary celebration. The bottle is of green colored glass and holds about three pints.

Spring Tonic.

In April the "patent medicine" tonic (?) flourishes. As the first warmth of spring brought a feeling of lassitude, the farmer's wife in older days would go searching through the woods for "yarba" from which to make a brew as a tonic for the whole family. The city man, feeling the laziness of "spring fever" coming over him, brought from the corner drug store a 49-cent package of "Old Doc" Somebody's spring tonic, consisting of the same useless "yarbs," a liberal dose of pure alchhol, and perhaps a touch of strychnin. But things are changing; there are not so many taking "spring tonics" as in the older days. Men have learned, says the Journal of the American Medical Association, that the best spring tonics are the gifts of a beneficent Nature. A full breath of fresh spring air, a brisk walk along a grass grown road, a plunge into the cool waters of the old swimming-hole—if the water is pure and cold—or the morning shower if in the city, fresh, garden food. Those are real invigorators true tonics.

VOLUME 39. OAKLAND, MARYLAND THURSDAY, MAY 14, 1914. NUMBER 11.

TO BE STATE WIDE REGISTRATION THIS FALL.

First General Registration Since 1896. Will Be Carried on Under Act

There will be a general registration in Maryland this fall. It is the first registration since 1896 and must be made according to the provisions of the Gorman registration law which was passed at the session of the Maryland Legislature in 1910.

At the last session of the Maryland Legislature Senator Hammond, of Howard county, introduced a bill that qualified the Gorman law, and provided that a general registration would be held in 1918 instead of this fall. The bill went through both branches of the Legislature and through the Senate during the last stages of the session, but when it came to the Governor for approval. Governor Goldsborough promptly vetoed the measure.

It was reported at the time that had the bill been introduced earlier in the session of the Legislature it would have been passed over the head of the Governor. Because of the late date of introduction of the measure there was no chance to carry out this plan.

This is to be a general registration and all must register.

This State May Profit By Measure.

Washington, D. C., May 11. Senator Ollie James of Kentucky has introduced a bill which will mean much to West Virginia, Kentucky and Maryland, if it passes. It has the endorsement of the leaders of both Senate and House and in all probability will be passed. It increases the appropriation for farm demonstration work by $500,000 and it adopted Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Beverly T. Galloway says he will divide the additional amount equaliy among the States of West Virginia, Maryland and Kentucky. It appears that these three States get now about $20,000 each less than is paid for similar work in other Southern States. West Virginia getting only about $18,000, while other Southern States get as much as $40,000. If passed the bill will be of great benefit to Maryland.

Our Sick Neighbors.

The venerable James Brock of Oakland who won international fame in the charge of "The Six Hundred" at Balaclava, was stricken with paralysis on Saturday and is in a critical condition. He is possibly the last living survivor of this charge immortalized by the late Lord Tennyson. Yesterday noon he was reported as not any better.

Harman Hessen, one of the oldest citizens of Oakland has been very ill for the past several days. At times his condition was serious; yesterday he was reported some better.

Mr. George E. Bishoff is still a very sick man and is just about holding his own.

Mr. D. E. Offutt, who has been confined to his home for some weeks is just about the same,

Mrs. K. R. Rasche, of this city, had a slight stroke of paralysis Wednesday morning.

Attorney Frederick T. Martin continues in the same condition.

Mrs. Elwood Offutt is confined to her home with tonsilitis.

State Road Work.

We are pleased to state that all the machinery, including the steam engine, has been shipped to this county, for the completion of the State road to the village of Accident. As soon as the machinery arrives work will commence on the road and vigorously push it to completion.

The Good Roads Commission expect to have the State road from Accident to Grantsville completed this season. The Rob Roy Construction Co. are pushers from Pusherville, and will rush their contract to completion.

Garrett county will have no idle men this summer, unless it be some one who do not want to work.

Three car loads of tools and machinery, consigned to the State Roads Commission were received at the B. & O. station this city yesterday. A large steam road engine and a bunk-house about 10x30 feet, on wheels, were unloaded. The bunk house was hitched to the engine and the engine was fired up and started for the vicinity of Accident. This shipment looks like earnest work is to be prosecuted.

THE PEOPLE'S FORUM.

To the Editor of The Republican:

Wishing to inform everyone in this section of the streams which have been stocked from the State Fish Hatchery, I will be very glad if you will publish this letter.

Streams which have been stocked are Folly Run, Wolf Den Run, Short Run and both prongs of Lost Land Run. I have already made three arrests. Fines in said arrests amounted to $75. This is to give warning to all parties that the law will be enforced and no leniency shown, as Albert L. Lee has already more stock ordered for all streams emptying into the North branch of the Potomac from Barnum to Schell. This work will be from the State and National Government.

Thanking you in advance for giving this open letter space in your valuable paper, I remain,

Very respectfully yours,
WM. M. HARVEY,
Deputy State Game Warden.

Everyone is cordially invited to all of these exercises. Come whether you receive a special invitation or not.

Students and teachers have joined in helping to beautify the school property. Unsightly trash and rubbish have been removed and vines and flowers have been planted. The spirit of the Civic Club has imbued our school.

Miss Hellice Rathbun entertained the Senior Class and several other friends on Friday evening of last week at Mt. Lake Park. The beautiful moonlight night and the picturesque scenery of the Park made a good setting for Miss Rathbun's party.

Miss Hanna, the teacher of our Commercial department, has kindly donated a croquet set to the school, and the students are making good use of it. We thank Miss Hanna very much.

The Common Fly a Deadly Pest.

Now is the time to prevent the house fly from appearing in large numbers this summer. Little can be done by a few persons in putting down this nuisance, if some neglect to do their part, for a single pile of horse manure allowed to stand in the open will furnish flies for the whole neighborhood. The greatest good, therefore, will result when all persons keeping stables in the community have the manure removed from the stables at least twice a week or keep the manure in a screened portion of the stable. Too much emphasis cannot be put upon this method of avoiding human sickness and suffering from the deadly disease that the house fly carries.

Combating the pest in country districts and around farmhouses is largely an individual one, and the presence of flies in large numbers or to a limited extent will depend upon the sanitary conditions around the house and barn. Aside from hauling out the manure at regular intervals, all outhouses and similar places should be protected from flies. It is in this manner that the fly assembles the germs of disease and distributes them to any exposed food. It cannot be too strongly urged that all such places be constructed as sanitary as possible and disinfectants freely used.

Dandee Hall Sold.

Paul & Welch closed a real estate deal on last Friday whereby they sold Dundee Hall property at Mountain Lake Park, Md., owned by Captain Geo. W. Cochran, former Baltimore & Ohio Railroad conductor, to Guy Stevens, of this city. The Hotel has been operated by Mr. Cochran as a summer hotel for the past ten years.

It is the purpose of the new owner to continue the operation of the Dundee Hall property as a hotel the entire year round, in place of the just in the summer time, as heretofore. Dundee Hall is situated near the Loch Lynn hotel, and is a large sized building, consisting of 35 rooms. The property is surrounded by about one acre of ground, which is said to lay very beautiful. The drinking water found on the property is of the very best quality.

Mr. Stevens will, in all probability, have some one else run the hotel, as he will continue to reside in this city.—Wheeling Intelligenar.

Insurance Bills Big.

Marylanders spent $10,589,881.55 last year on life insurance, according to figures which have just been compiled Wilson L. Coudon, clerk of the department of State Insurance Commissioner William M. Shehan, and in return the different insurance companies of this and other States paid out $4,079,147.62 to residents of this State.

Losses paid on life insurance:

Maryland companies....	$450,297.50
Other companies.....	3,610,077.70
Foreign companies.....	18,772.42

Fire Insurance Extensive. While by far the largest amount of money was spent on life insurance, the fire insurance figures show that premiums amounting to $4,322,378.42 were paid on fire insurance policies, and the losses paid out by the companies amounted to $2,410,118.39. Again the companies out of the State led the Maryland insurance companies of Maryland received premiums amounting to $292,532.95; mutual fire insurance companies of Maryland, $310,991.42; stock fire insurance companies of other States, $2,992,980.48; mutual fire insurance companies of other States, $70,390.91 and fire insurance companies of foreign countries $954,781.66.

Losses paid out on fire insurance in the State were: Stock insurance companies of Maryland, $110,339.33, mutual companies of Maryland, $205,791.16; stock companies of other States, $1,584,729.80; mutual companies of other States, $34,724.10, and companies of foreign countries, $474,534.

Dogs Worry Sheep.

Noah MacKenzie, a farmer residing on the old "Moore place" between the Savage Mountains, had two sheep killed and three badly crippled by dogs last week. The animals were from high bred stock and very valuable. One of the most dangerously injured was an expensive young ewe, which Mr. MacKenzie had recently bought for breeding purposes.

The many untrained shepherd dogs, fox hounds and worthless curs that are permitted to roam about are doing much damage to Garrett county stock and undoubtedly discouraging the industry of sheep raising, which if properly protected, should some day make this section of the county rich.

FISH COMMISSIONER SMITH A BOSY MAN

His Duties Just at This Season Are Many.

Fish Commissioner W. A. Smith spent part of the past week in the vicinity of Frostburg aud Lonaconing. A consignment of 20,000 three week old brook trout were placed in Murphey Run, a tributary of Savage river.

The yonng fish gave evidence of being in splendid condition and every precaution was taken in transferring them to the running streams, to make the planting successful. The water in the fish cans was slowly tempered to the same degree as the water in the streams and few, if any, of the fish were placed in a strong current.

Another consignment of 20,000 trout will be sent here next week for planting in another more distant tributary of Savage river.

Mr. Smith arranged for the appointment of several fish wardens to police the fish streams of Garrett county that are now being stocked by the state. Several persons have been seen along Savage river lately with fishing tackle and the wardens will be instructed to make arrests as speedily as possible. The fish law passed by the Legislature for Garrett county, prohibits trout fishing until 1916, when the baby trout with which the streams have been stocked this year will have achieved a size of between six and eight inches and begun spawning.

No one laying any claim to sportsmanship will fish in these streams and the law outlaws who may disergard the law will be prosecuted for the first and every offense. Local fishermen are co-operating with the farmers of Garrett county and the state wardens to inform on every person caught with a line in any newly stocked streams.

Interest in this matter is not confined to Frostburg. In Lonaconing, Westernport, Oakland, Grantsville and other sections the State is receiving assistance from local residents in restocking the streams and in arranging for the protection of the fish until the spawning age is reached, which will be in 1916.

Peter F. McFarland, of Lonaconing, is among those who have applied for fish and intends to go to considerable expense that the young trout are safely transfered to favorable streams, near Lonaconing in Garrett county.

Saturday morning Commissioner Smith was in Oakland and met Charles G. Long, one of the employees of the State hatchery, at Durid Hill Park, who brought 32,000 young trout to this place which were placed in the following streams: Roaring Creek, Sand Run, Wilson's Run, Totten Run, Herrington Creek, Bull's Run, Millers Run, and Bradley Run. Fishing in these streams is unlawful until 1916.

Next week Mr. Smith will receive a consignment of trout to be placed in the Northern part of the county from Confluence.

In two years Garrett county will be the fisherman's paradise. Let every follower of Isaac Walton see that the fish law is vigorosly enforced.

New Automobile Laws.

Automobilists of the State are fairly well satisfied with what was done and left undone by the recent General Assembly in the way of legislation which affected them directly or indirectly. They did not get all they wanted, but on the other hand, much proposed legislation which they considered as unjust and extreme failed of passage.

Senator Mudd's bill aimed primarily to limit the size, weight and speed of motor trucks on the State roads. The bill was amended to include a speed limit on all roads. It prohibits an unreasonable speed at any time.

In the thickly built up or business sections of cities, towns and villages, a speed in excess of 12 miles an hour is deemed prima facie unreasonable. In the portions of such which are not thickly built up, a speed in excess of 18 miles an hour will be deemed unreasonable. In the open country a speed in excess of 25 miles an hour will be deemed unreasonable, and the burden placed upon the motorist to show that it was not unreasonable.

But a speed in excess of 35 miles is absolutely prohibited, and no excuse will be accepted. A violation of this provision will result, upon conviction, in a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $100, and suspension of the operator's license for three months, if, upon a hearing, the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles shall determine that such speed was exceeded.

Senator Benson's bill providing for sign posts and danger signals on the thoroughfares largely used by motorists was passed, to the satisfaction of the automobile users.

THE PEOPLE'S FORUM.

Gambling.

To the Editor of The Republican.

Let me begin this by saying it (gambling) blights home, destroys the happiness of the marriage relation, brings confusion, leads to intemperance, and destroys all tender feelings. It is worse than downright theft. A man may steal yet love his family, but the gambler is destitute of true love, and home has no special attractions for him, further than a place of convenience. It gradually obliterates all the virtues, quenches religious feelings, while prayer, the Bible and the Saviour are nothing to him. He is deaf to the plea for pity or mercy. His heart is consumed by the fire of play, risk, play, and conscience is eased.

This is the end. We shall see the beginning presently. One says—"The finished gambler has no heart. He would play at his brother's funeral and gamble on his mother's coffin, another declares, that gambling palsies the heart and so effectually silences the voice of conscience that a man may commit any crime and feel no remorse." Satan as he sees their dealings may well be proud of them and look up to them with a sort of differential respect, as one monster gazes at a superior.

The poet says "where'er the gaming board is set, Two classes of mankind are met; But if we count the greedy race, The knaves fill up the greatest space."

When by order of Napoleon a house of torture in Madria was destroyed they found an image of a beautiful woman. Its proportions were correct, but it was an instrument of torture. Victims were commanded to embrace the image, and as they placed their bosom to the cold lips of marble, a spring was touched, an internal machine was set in motion and the arms of the image, filled with sharp daggers, arose and encircled the victims and cutting into the flesh mangled them in a horrible manner and destroyed life. Such an image is gambling. It looks well at a distance, but it is armed with lances that cut body and soul. Flee this image, for there's death in it.

Do I not voice the sentiments of my readers? Surely for the great majority at least.

But tell me what is the connection between this and card playing as carried on in society? Let us see! Society's pet game, though it is popular and fashionable, is the beginning of the evil. It is said there is no harm in playing cards. Perhaps in themselves they are harmless, but what of their associations? What do they represent? Every argument against the wine cup holds good against cards, and but for the love of fashion, the fear of society, and lack of intellectual and spiritual occupation, no christian would think of patronizing the card table. Should a godless fashion dictate that we pierce the rose, for a jewled ring, or hobble about with a pinched foot like an old time Chinese woman, there would probably be plenty of votaries just as there were for the kangaro dip, or the hideous bustle that made the wearer look like they were relations of the camel. When satan sends forth his messenger under the guise of fashion and says to society women, to world lovers and pleasure seekers, its quite the proper thing to play progressive eucher, bridge whist, even if it is for a religious motto, dame fashion can count on a grand rally in which some professing christians will join. But it is fashionable. So what difference does it make if hundreds or thousands are swept down the rapids into the whirling chasm below. Society, indifferently looks on and says, fool dummy, it was your own fault, that the way, the piously trained are always in danger. Thousands may be and are ruined by it yearly, but the institution remains. It is in the parlor and the gambling dens, on the cars, and aboard the steamers, in hotel drawing rooms and camps, at waiting places and places of amusement, in the woods and behind the shed by day and night, summer and winter. The cards look innocent but they represent a variety of games which are unjustified in the card tables which is supported by advance infatuation and fashion.

First by fashion in society, then by fascination worse than the serpents eye, then the fever which love nor reason can allay. Shall christians countenance it? We do not discuss it from the standpoint of the world. It is part of the worldings to have what they call a good time; to live for self not for others. They do not propose to sacrifice any of their own pleasures.

You may talk of policy and claim that you must make some compromises to win an unconverted friend or companion, but there is nothing in such a plea. You know you cannot do it that way. You can't separate the individual from the institution itself. Fashionable progressive eucher? What is it? Gambling. Even though society leaders and church members engage in it. A writer of some eminence and a Christian too, says "the path of the innermost hell of gambling is through the clover blossom of fashionable card playing." Many of the victims of gambling dens today were once votaries in parlors of fashion, where only nominal stakes were set up and players were bent on fan or on passing the time away agreeably. Suppose you do refuse to indulge, will it impair your character or influence? Will you lose anything by refusal? Will you forfeit spiritual discernment or the confidence of good people. The card table has no good and much evil no matter where it is found. In its most innocent form it is the picket line of an evil army. Why are ministers and church people of the more consistent sort against it? Why do church conventions and Synod, conferences, classes, &c., pass strong resolutions against them? Why are appeals made against it. Why are christian refinement, culture and experience against it? Why do some professing christians give up cards during lent; and all earnest active christians who believe that what might be conducive to worldliness for forty days in the spring is equally harmful to the spiritual life during the rest of the year. Sneers have more power than arguments where people combine to uphold each other and seem to care very little for christian principle, or the tendency and results of the practice. But, says one, I see no harm in it. In progressive eucher, it is not so much the desire to get money as pleasure, yet to give zest, there is added the very thing that makes it a crime against civil and divine law. It may be a prize, but the principle is the same when we play for a prize or money. It then, is an evil in itself and the source of evil. It makes every participant a law breaker, who makes him or herself liable to arrest. The mayor of a town has the right to arrest and punish the whole euchre party if the wills. In a Colorado town a score of persons were arrested for this thing. A little while ago the mayor of a prominent Ohio town put the ban on women playing bridge, whist and euchre for prizes. The chairman of the social committee of the woman's club went to see the mayor when she heard card parties were under surveilance. By phone and mail women protested to the mayor. He quickly informed them of his determination to enforce his order. "I shall maintain a vigilant watch for violations," he said. "If arrests are made we will treat offenders as common gamblers." The person who practices this defies the law of the state and of the church. were he or she to treat the banker as they treat the church their financial reputation would be gone in a week. Is there no harm in that which defies law, human and divine! No harm in an institution that tends to and does turn youthful minds away from honest labor and healthful employment?

No harm in that which cultivates a passion for gambling which is as remorseless as the vilest passion of the soul! Which tempts its devotee to neglect family and to follow which the young man would rob parents and employers!

No harm! then would you teach your children to play? Yet some short-sighted, silly brained parents actually do this and when the boys advance to the den behind the saloon as professionals, the foolish parents wonder why the Lord has dealt thus with them. You would shrink from being the one to place your child in danger and well you may. They readily fall into the practice, but they will not be so moderate in their practice as older ones.

This fashionable game flourishes because it is looked upon as an innocent past time but its awful suductiveness makes it dangerous in the extreme.

Yours truly,
JOHANNES.

Pointed But True.

The Sykesville, Herald has a very emphatic article on Local Option in Carroll county. He does not mince his words, makes no apologies, but strikes from the shoulder and strikes every time a forcible blow. Here are two master-paragraphs:

"There is only one place for every honest, God-fearing citizen and church member to stand and that is on God's side. And God's side is not the saloon's side.

"If every professing Christian man and voter in Carroll County aligns himself on the right side, and dares to vote the right way, the forty-one bar-rooms in Carroll County will be closed and hermetically sealed for many generations to come. The only way they can continue their traffic is by the votes of professing Christian men. When these are united, the advocates of the saloon are in a hopeless minority everywhere."

Will our readers just drop out Carroll County and insert Garrett county and these words are O. K. for this county.

Man That Is Born Of Woman

A Temperance Talk to Voters

BY

JASON KEP

Man who is born of woman has but a few years and is full of freak notions rational and irrational reasonings. His mind seems to be in a jumble like to, or like unto, a grab bag.

He reaches in and pulls out a rational, beautiful and helpful line of thought, next he annexes a line of reasoning that is amazing to say the least.

I will try to give you an illustration:

A neighbor's house is on fire. He rushes over and works like a Trojan to save the house or at least his neighbors goods. Perchance some one's life is in danger. He will take desperate chances to save him. He will risk his life that he might save another.

If a mad dog is reported in the neighborhood he immediately gets his gun, battle axe, pitchfork or man next door and rushes forth to slay the menace to the commuaity.

If trouble or sickness affects his neighbor he is "Johnny on the spot," ever ready to lend a helping hand.

If an epidemic threatens the community, he is alert and active, quick to take hold and remove the cause.

If any improvement is to be made, he is always ready with his little 'anti.'

Gee, isn't he a beaut. You look at him and can't help but want him to turn around so you can see if his wings are not sprouting. You would bet your bottom dollar that when he arrives at the pearly gates, St. Peter would remove his crown and say:

"Allow me to present you. Here, front, take this gentleman up to the bridal chamber."

You think him a good honest Christian man, one who follows strictly Christ's teachings, "Do unto others as you would that they should do unto you." "Bear ye one another's burdens," "Love ye one another, and love thy neighbor as thyself," and the queerest part of it is, he thinks as you do that he has a inch on those wings.

He goes home at night, looks over the day's work, says his prayers and goes to bed little thinking that he is abetting and helping to bring disease, misery and despair to untold thousands of women and innocent little children.

Ah! you begin to sit up and take notice. My dear man, don't you know that sins of omission are just as sinful as sins of commission, and their effects as far reaching.

What has this man left undone to jeopardize his chances of getting that diadem with those little jewels in it.

Now listen: There is no sane man who does not know that intoxicating liquors have caused more misery and despair and deaths than all our wars, and is killing off 152,000 of our boys and girls each year.

You good upright citizens, you who pray and you who ought to pray, who would risk his life to save one child from drifting over the cataract, why in the thunder do you so calmly, look upon the thousands of children drifting into that whirlpool of dishonor and untimely death?

You know that the army of drunkards are started between twelve and 17 years of age.

You say you can do nothing, I am only one. The body politic is composed of ones. Why in the blazes don't you vote dry? Why don't you work for dry?

Come out boldly and show where you stand. See how much more your neighbors will respect you. See how much better you will feel. See if your conscience will not be easier. If yours is busted or out of repair, go borrow one.

Come out boldly and say, "There is no man who can get my vote who will not come out boldly and work and vote to make my State dry."

Say, if I knew how to hit harder, to wake you, to make you think, I'd do it. I certainly would raise my batting average if I could.

Now, are we not a queer bunch? If some foreign powers should fire upon one of our vessels or fail to salute our flag and did not immediately apologize, we would all be up in arms and go over and knock seventeen kinds of tar out of them, perhaps kill off a million or two of her farmers and laboring men, to teach them that it is dangerous to hurt one of our citizens.

Then we go to sleep and let another enemy kill off 152,000 of our sons and daughters every year. Please wake up, your snoring is disconcerting.

The fight is before us. War has been declared. On the one side is home and children, cleaner living, better government and God. On the other saloons, drunkenness, crime, insanity, temptations, misery, despair, death, Hell.

Which side will you join? It ought not to be hard to decide.

Will you make Garrett county dry?

Why not vote as you ought to pray?

JASON KEP.

GREAT WHEAT CROP.

One fifth Greater Than Previous Record Winter Wheat Harvest.

The greatest crop of wheat ever grown, one-fifth again as large as the record crop grown last year, and more than half again as large as that grown in 1912, is indicated by statistics announced by the Department of Agriculture to-day.

In all, 630,000,000 bushels will be produced if the highly favorable condition existing since the crop was planted last fall continue until the harvest time. The acreage abandoned through unfavorable conditions of the winter amounted to only 3.1 per cent. of the area planted, an unusually low area. This makes the area remaining to be harvested a record of one 35,387,000 acres.

Indications are that Kansas will have a crop of 132,000,000 bushels, or 45,500,000 bushels more than last year, and Oklahoma 35,500,000, or 17,000,000 bushels more than last year.

Winter wheat: Condition 95.9. Area remaining to be harvested 35,387,000 acres, 1,119,000 acres less than planted last autumn, but 3,688,000 acres more than harvested last year.

Indicated yield per acre, 17.8 bushels. Indicated production, 930,000,000 bushels.

These figures compare with conditions of 95.6 on April 1, and 91.9 on May 1, 1913.

Dry County—No Work For Grand Jury

Hancock county, Ohio, of which Findlay is the capital, is dry under the Rose law. In fact it is one of the dryest spots in creation. Prosecuting Attorney Merle Poe has notified the grand jurors that their services are not needed at the April term of court, as there is not a single case for investigation. This thing has happened twice before since the county went dry. The same thing will happen in Garrett county under local option.

NEW HEALTH LAW FOR STATE OF MARYLAND

Will Go Into Effect July First—Sanitary to a Degree.

On the date mentioned the new Board of Health laws passed by the recent General Assembly go into effect Dr. John S. Fulton, in addition to being secretary of the State Board of Health, will become the State Health officer.

The State will be divided into ten sanitary districts, following county lines, each district to have a deputy health officer stationed therein whose duty it shall be to represent the board and to have supervision and control of all sanitary and health matters in the district under instructions from the State health officer and the board.

The board through its deputies and agents are granted additional powers, such as the right to enter upon and inspect private property and abate any nuisance found upon such property; the right to summon witnesses and administer oaths.

The Board of Health has authority over all concerns where food is manufactured, as canneries, bakeries, slaughterhouses, etc.; where it is prepared for eating, such as hotels and eating houses; and where it is packed stored or sold. The board of health has heretofore had supervision over all food products to see that they are pure and wholesome, but the new act gives it authority to see also that food products are prepared in a clean place and by clean people.

The State Board of Health has almost unlimited control of all the waters of the State, springs, streams, ponds, the Chesapeake Bay and its estuaries, and even that portion of the Atlantic ocean within the borders of Maryland; it gives the board control over all the watersheds and water supplies of the State and over all the sewerage disposal, not only of the city of Baltimore, but of every town, village and county, and even of all the water supplies and sewerage disposal arrangements of property owned by corporations or individuals.

The board may order sanitary improvements in a town, or county, and may enforce the same, the law itself giving such town or county the authority to issue bonds for such purposes without further legislative sanction.

Before any land platted for sale is put upon the market; and before any permanent buildings are put upon such land, the owners must file with the board a plat and the plans for supplying the tract with water and sewerage service. If these are not satisfactory, the board may order the owner or owners to install such a system of water and sewerage service as it may deem proper. This power extends even to the case where one man builds a row of small houses for sale or rent.

If the Health Board can carry out all these new laws and enforce all their provisions, typhoid ought soon to be but an evil memory; disease germs should flee for their lives and "Spotless Towns" will not be in the same class with the State of Maryland.

TRIED IT THREE WINTERS

And T. D. Downs Considers It the Best Made.

Yes Bear's Emulsion Builds Up System and Keeps Off Severe Coughs.

John D. Bear, Elkton, Va.,

Dear Sir I have taken Bear's Emulsion each winter for three different winters, and I have found it the best thing I ever took to build up my system, improve the appetite and protect me from the winter coughs, which I have been subjected to for the last ten years. And Bear's Emulsion is the only thing I have ever gotten that would break up the cough and strengthen me. I recommend Bear's Emulsion not only as the best cough remedy but, one of the best tonics I ever took.

Yours truly,
T. D. Downs.

Do you need a tonic, a tissue builder, and something that will stop that annoying cough? Well, then, there is nothing that will do this for you just as Bear's Emulsion will. One bottle will stop that cough that you have had for years, build up your run down system. You can now get it at Sturgiss Pharmacy. Adv.

Mr. Broadwater is a tradesman who seems to make a specialty of butter, and it is his deliberate judgement, founded upon experience both as a maker and consumer, that the very best butter in the world is made in the rich country roundabout Grantsville.

MENTAL TAINT BAR TO ALIENS

Immigration Bill Contains Drastic Regulations.

CHRONIC ALCOHOLICS HIT.

Two Physicians Will Examine Each Person Coming In at All United States Ports—Humanitarian Provision Prescribes Treatment For Foreigners Who Are Ill.

Washington.—The immigration bill as it emerged from the senate committee on immigration contains many new restrictive regulations in addition to the literacy test. The changes include restrictions against the admission of aliens suffering from every form of mental ailment and from mental deficiency in any and every degree.

In the bill as it passed the house under section 3 there appeared the following language:

"That the following classes of aliens shall be excluded from the United States: All idiots, imbeciles, feeble minded persons, epileptics, insane persons, persons who have had one or more attacks of insanity at any time previously."

To this the senate added:

"Persons of constitutional psychopathic inferiority, persons with chronic alcoholism."

The Burnett bill as it came from the committee excludes all who are certified by the examining surgeons as "being mentally or physically defective, such mental or physical defect being of a nature which may affect the ability of such alien to earn a living."

This the senate committee changed by striking out the adjective "mental."

REPRESENTATIVE BURNETT.

Capacity to earn a living is thus removed as a possible excuse for the admission of a mentally undesirable.

A decided amplification of the scope and exhaustiveness of the psychiatric and psychopathic examination of incoming aliens is provided in section 16 of the bill. After setting forth the character of the training which the examining medical officers shall possess with a view to insuring thoroughness in the examination, as in the Burnett bill, the senate committee has inserted this provision:

"All aliens arriving at ports of the United States shall be examined by two such medical officers," which increases the insurance of thoroughness.

Under the Burnett bill this medical examination was provided for all "large ports of entry." The senate committee has stricken out the qualifying "large." The examination must be made wherever aliens may enter.

The senate committee while endeavoring to make the law more certain in its provision for exclusion of the undesirable has shown a humanitarian disposition along some other lines. It is provided that immigrants found to be suffering from tuberculosis in any form or any other loathsome or dangerous contagious disease other than that of a quarantinable nature must be at once deported. But the following leeway is given to the secretary of la-

THE REPUBLICAN,
Oakland, Md.

THURSDAY, MAY 14, 1914.

Two weeks from next Saturday is Decoration day.

OAKLAND property owners have reasons for feeling fine. The reduction of 13 cents in State and county taxes and a reduction of 10 cents in the municipal tax is just like finding so much money.

THERE is real hard senses in this statement of the Rochester Herald: "What Mexico needs more than anything else is a good public school system." The school house is the strong bulwark of the Nation.

ACCORDING to a report just issued by the Agricultural Department, the average yield per acre of potatoes in Ireland in 1913, was 239 bushels. This is something for our Garrett county farmers to think about.

THE Good Roads Commission has been greatly strengthened by the appointment of three additional members, viz: Thomas Parran, John M. Perry and Frank Smith. The] first named is a Republican. The other two are Democrats.

WE would suggest that you lay away in some safe place this copy of THE REPUBLICAN. After while you may want to know something about an item in the Levy List, or about some local law. This is the last week the Levy List will appear in the paper and the local laws will appear only once more.

FROM this hour until the closing of the polls next election day you will find THE REPUBLICAN in the forefront of the battle line with Garrett county's Christian men and women exhausting its humble anilities, best energies and every honorable resource in the fight to bring an end to the liquor traffic in this community.

THE proposed amendment to the constitution of the United States for a Nation wide prohibition of the liquor traffic is an indication that "the world moves." Slavery had its day. The liquor traffic has about run its course of destruction of life and property. America is to be the home of the free and the brave.

THIS is the day of rural free delivery, parcel post, telephone, automobiles, air-ships, motor cycles, electric light plants on the farm, in the home. This is a day of life, of get up and go after. The merchant who fails to advertise has a reason to talk about hard times in the mercantile life; he who waits is lost. Somebody is doing business. Why not you?

OVER in West Virginia they have solved the problem of newspapers carrying liquor advertisements. The Yost law which becomes operative on the first of July next makes it unlawful for a newspaper, magazine or periodical to print any liquor advertisements for circulation in West Virginia and provides a penalty of a fine of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred for violation of that provision.

THE annual naval appropriation bill carrying $139,560,334 and providing for the entire administration naval construction program, was passed by the house without a roll call. The building program includes two battleships, one to be built in some government navy yard; six torpedo boat destroyers, one sea-going torpedo boat, three coast defense submarine torpedo boats, to be constructed on the Pacific coast, and four submarines.

CONGRESSMAN CARLIN, of Virginia has offered a bill providing for a summer home for the President, at Mount Weather, Va,, which is on the Clark county side of the Blue Ridge mountains. The sum of $50,000 is made available for the purchase of a site and preparation of plans for a suitable building. Better change the location to Garrett county, somewhere between Altamont and Oakland. The latter place would be an ideal location from all points of view. We submit this suggestion to Congressman Lewis.

MY, how proud we were of the Garrett county fair last fall! It was a splendid success. We exceeded our highest expectations. We felt so happy that we shook hands with ourselves and everybody else. Now is the time to get ready for a bigger fair in every sense of the word. Prepare the soil, select the seed and cultivate a plot of ground, determined to be a prize winner. Encourage your boys and girls to work for one or more prizes. Farm this season so as to capture some of the premiums. Remember the best always commands the highest price and quickest sale.

THE REPUBLICAN believes that it is the duty of every believer in the greatest good for the greatest number of people, to band themselves together to poll the largest possible majority for the Speicher Local Option bill. In about six months the day to cast the ballot which shall drive the saloon from the entire county will be here. That day will be the greatest day in the history of Garrett county. Thousands of ballots will be cast for God, Home and Humanity. Keep the thought in your mind From this most western county of the State the word should be sent down into the valleys and throughout the State: "That Garrett county has driven Rum and its ruinous work out of the county by a tremendous majority." We can do it. Will we do it? THE REPUBLICAN will do its part to create public sentiment for the wiping out of the saloon and give the boys a chance to grow up upright men.

GARRETT County is one of the most picturesque sections of the State of Maryland and is developing into one of the most progressive counties of the State. Here is health, happiness and prosperity. The progress has been slow but sure, along all lines. Go where you will in the County and you see signs of advancement, permanence and comfort. In the church houses, in the homes, in the barns on the farm, there is a beautiful, permanent change from the pioneer days. Beautiful fertile farms are seen by the traveler through the country, and the number is increasing as the years come and go. Better homes, better farms, better schools, better society. We are proud of the advance made to the front of civilization. This growth, this advancement is to continue. More miles of good roads, better and more cattle, horses, and sheep, more farm products and fruit, and less of evil and suffering. Another great forward step will be taken next November when Garrett county will blot out the disgrace of the saloon and saloonism.

LAST week the Board of School Commissioners appointed the trustees for the public schools of the county. They made the best selection they could for each community. They are sending to each individual trustee a circular of many "Donts." THE REPUBLICAN would suggest that each trustee sit down and carefully read this circular and seriously think it over. Endeavor to find out the full meaning of these pointed "dont's," and then resolve not to "don't" but to DO something through the year of your connection with the school system of the county, for you are a part of this school system. You are the local representative in your respective school district. Upon you largely depends the success or failure of your school service. YOU as a trustee should keep the Board of Commissioners posted as to conditions in your district. Plan to get the best teacher possible. Encourage the people in the district to unite with you in "fixing up" the school grounds and the school house. Make things ABOUT the school house and IN the school house cheerful and inviting. The scholar learns by seeing as well as through books. Do something during your term of office to improve your local school.

"A Word To The Wise."

A post has been planted at the corporation line of Oakland, on the Mt. Lake Park road, with a sigh, "One mile to Oakland." On the post is also signs telling about two business houses of Pittsburg, Pa. These mail order houses are everlastingly advertising their business. Keeping their business before the public. They are going after the trade. Oakland merchants, wake up, before it is too late. Times are changing. Business does not come to you to day. You must Go AFTER IT. If you don't some one else will be and are after it, and are GETTING IT. Country stores are springing up here and there, buying in produce, and wagons from Frostburg, Lonaconing and elsewhere are visiting these stores and buying their produce for spot cash and carrying it to their respective towns, consequently the shipments to that section of the county from Oakland, by Oakland merchants, is decreasing. Not only are these wagons calling at the country stores, but they are visiting the farmer's homes, at stated periods, and buying their produce, sheep, calves, fat cattle and driving them to their stores. This trade formerly came to Oakland. Why not now? Remember, you live in an age of rural free delivery, telephones and parcel post. A Baltimore firm advertises: "Send us 25c. and we will send you by parcel post (we pay the postage) 1 lb. of our famous wasted coffee, whole or ground, put up in air tight tin cans," etc. "A hint to the wise is sufficient."

Friday night June 5th there is to be a grand temperance rally, the opening of the campaign to make Garrett county dry. The evening meeting will be of special interest and largely attended. The speaker of the evening will be Rev. Dr, Hare, Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Maryland. Mr. Hare will be introduced by Senator Harvey J. Speicher, the author of Senate bil No. 1. Not only the author of the bill, but the man who, against great odds and a bitter fight carried the bill through the House of Delegates. It is a most fitting recognition of this man's strenuous fight to give us this law, and we congratulate President A. T. White, of the District League for the compliment paid this man whom Garrett countians will delight to honor. If the weather will permit the meeting will be held in the tabernacle. Let every friend of local option plan to attend this great meeting.

Since the new road was built which connects the Pleasant Valley road and the Glade Valley road, farmers from the vicinity of Red House and Eglon are hauling from the cars at the Mountain Lake Park station and trading with the merchants at the depot. The procession will form on Liberty street and march to the cemetry where the ceremony in full as provided by the ritual of the order will take place, which includes instrumental and vocal music and addresses. The program in full will be printed next week.

WHEAT WITHOUT RAIN.

"We hear a good deal about dry farming, but we had no idea it had reached the lengths indicated by Dr. Macdonald, of South Africa Dep't. of Agriculture," says the PALL MALL. "Dr. Macdonald declares that it is now possible to grow a 'rainless wheat'; that is to say, a crop upon which not a single drop of rain has fallen between seed time and harvest. It does not maintain its existance without moisture, but all that is necessary is obtained from the deposit of a previous season in moisture saving sallows."

Pastor R. G. Jolly, of New York City, who speaks Sunday at 3:00 p. m. in the Maryland Theatre on the subject: "Is God or Satan Winning?" calls attention to this and similar wonderful discoveries in agriculture as evidence of the approaching era when, as the Bible prophesies, "The desert shall rejoice, and blossom as the rose." Already our western deserts have been made to bloom in many places; there is talk of inundating the Great Sahara; Christians are coming to recognize the wonders of the past century as precursors of the incoming age.

These gentlemen had intended going on train No. 2, but as it was several hours behind time they took the automobile so as to be in Cumberland in time for the examinations.

Would it not be wise for the mayor and council of Oakland to plan to have the stretch of Oak street from the end of the brick paved road to the corporation line, where the State Aid road begins, made to conform to the State road bed? While the machinery and material are here it would be a good time to have the work done. It would be ecomony to do it now. It will be a delightful drive over the new road to Gortner and back to Oakland, over the old road.

Dr. Ely preached in the Garrett Memorial Presbyterian, this city, Sunday morning, a sermon especially devoted to "Mothers Day." Some few of the congregation wore carnations. The Doctor preached in Terra Alta at night. Here the altar flower decorations was beautiful and many members of the congregation wore carnations. We have heard kind words about the sermon. Good congregations greeted the Doctor at both places.

There is something doing in the office of the Board of School Commissioners. Written on the door of enterance to their office should be "Excelsior." From the way the year has started out this is going to be a prosperous school year for Garrett county. The commissioners, secretary and clerk are all enthusiastically at work for greater results, and mark our words, they are going to win out. May their enthusiasm be caught by the trustees, school teachers, patrons of the schools and the children.

OLDEST TWIN IS DEAD AT 95

His Brother, at Bedside, May Not Survive Shock.

HAD LONG LIFE TOGETHER

Last Family Reunion on Christmas Day Attended by Scores—They Were Both In Excellent Health Then—Remarkable Parallels In Life of Two Men—Each Had Eight Children.

Babylon, N. Y. Samuel Muncy, one of the oldest twins in the world, died at his home here in his ninety-sixth year. Samuel and his brother William were born on the old farm in Babylon on Christmas day, 1818, and lived there ever since.

Last Christmas, when the twins celebrated their ninety-fifth birthday, there gathered about them at Samuel's home thirty of their many descendants, including sons and daughters, grandchildren and great-grandchildren. The twins sat side by side at the dinner table. On one side sat the children of Samuel and their children's children, and on the other sat the progeny of William.

THE MUNCY TWINS.

Samuel was not in the best of health then, and he grew weaker and weaker, until he succumbed. William was at his bedside, and it is feared that the shock of his brother's death will be more than he can endure. The two saw each other daily and the companionship of the two was keen.

Both men were tall and stalwart. It was only until recently that they could not devote much time every day to some sort of labor. Together they took walks, and the friendship between the two was just as keen as when they went fishing or hunting together as boys.

The two men were proud of their health and longevity. They attributed their long life to work in the open air and abstinence from alcohol and tobacco. They never gambled. Both were ardent Prohibitionists and argued hard for the cause. They voted for James G. Blaine for president, but since then they have been in the Prohibition party.

The twins were descended from a long line of prosperous farmers. The farmhouse in West Babylon in which they were born is probably the oldest building on Long Island. The twins had two brothers and one sister, but they outlived them all by many years.

The twins married about the same time. Samuel married Rebecca Sammis of Babylon when thirty years old and shortly afterward William married Mary E. Fleet of Brooklyn. They had been widowers for many years. Both men were blessed with eight children each. Up to a few years ago four of Samuel's children and seven of William's were alive. Just how many descendants of the two are alive today it would be hard to calculate.

At the time of their respective marriages each built a home for himself on the old Muncy farm. After the death of their wives the two went to live together, but they decided finally it would be better for Samuel to have his daughter, Mrs. Samuel Smith, with him, while William went to live with [illegible]

SAYS LIVING IS NO HIGHER.

Investigator Digs Up Records and Makes Public His Conclusions.

Bellefontaine, O.—Anson Carter, a pioneer grocer of Bellefontaine, has been searching old records regarding the comparative cost of food products now and in the past and has reached this conclusion: "Aside from three things—butter, poultry and meat—prices of staple groceries in the bulk are not higher than they were twenty-five years ago.

"A man and woman can go to housekeeping today in better manner for the same amount of money than a couple could a quarter of a century ago. It is the desire of the buying public to have so much prepared food and so many things done up in attractive packages that has increased the cost of living.

"The average can of baked beans does not contain 2 cents' worth of beans, and a package of crackers contains but little more than four ounces. People are avoiding preparing food for themselves.

"If people would continue to buy everything in the bulk at the grocery as they used to do and cook their food for themselves as they used to do there would not be a high cost of living problem."

RENTED HEN STRIKES.

Quits Laying, and Owner Has to Sue Neighbor For Rent.

Sunbury, Pa. When eggs touched 60 cents a dozen recently Philip Bradford of Sunbury discovered a new form of speculation. It was revealed in Squire Tierney's court when Bradford brought suit against a neighbor to collect rental for a hen.

Bradford has a lot of hens. Instead of collecting his eggs and selling them he rented out the fowls at 2 cents a day, the renter winning if the hens continued to lay properly. One of them was rented to James H. Snyder, but instead of laying she wanted to sit and sit was all she did. When Bradford attempted to collect his rental Snyder refused to pay.

Squire Tierney gave judgment for 50 cents against Snyder.

BABY TALK BREAKS HIS LONG SILENCE

Spo-Pe, Indian of Mystery, Speaks For First Time.

Washington.—Spo-Pe, the Indian man of mystery, an inmate of the criminal division of the Government Hospital For the Insane at Washington, has broken a silence of more than thirty-two years.

Spo-Pe's self imposed disuse of his talking apparatus has continued ever since the first day of his incarceration at Fort Wayne, near Detroit, in 1882. Adjudged of unsound mind at the fort, he was sent to the government hospital in 1882. His silence was accepted by the army medical examiners as a convincing symptom of melancholia.

The crime for which the Indian was imprisoned was the murder of a fur trader, an act of reprisal against the white race for the killing of his mother in one of the hostile interchanges between the United States troops and the Blackfoot Indians in 1870.

It remained for Mrs. Malcolm Clark, one of a party of members of the Blackfoot tribe, herself a halfbreed, to reawaken Spo-Pe's slumbering vocal organs.

Times without number during his incarceration efforts have been made to persuade Spo-Pe to talk. Not a syllable, not even a grunt, has the aged warrior volunteered.

But when Mr. and Mrs. Clark, in company with James Perrine and Charles W. Buck, paid a visit to the insane hospital they explained to the superintendent that they had understood there was an Indian among the inmates.

Mrs. Clark had Spo-Pe pointed out to her. With her husband she addressed him in the stilted but eloquent Indian tongue. Spo-Pe gave no indication that he understood. Then Mrs. Clark said to her friends, "Step back, let me whisper to him."

Injury Restores Hearing.

Longcoy, Ind. Charles A. Bertrand aged sixty-five, a harness maker, deaf fifteen years, met with a fortunate accident. He was stooping to pick a tool from the floor when a tile fell from a bench and stuck in his ear. It was removed with difficulty. Soon afterward Bertrand found that his hearing had been restored.

BITTINGER.

A number of neighbors from this settlement attended the funeral of the late venerable Nimrod Glotfelty, which occurred from his home, about five miles west of this place, last Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. T. B. Wiley is spending this week with relatives in Cumberland.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Bittinger returned to their home in Akron, Ohio, last week, after a visit of several weeks among relatives here.

FINZEL

Miss Lulu Finzel, who is a trained nurse and stationed in Baltimore, is home on a short vacation.

The fire clay mines are working every day and quite a number of our men find employment in the mines.

Our school closed recently and Miss Emma McKenzie proved to be a very good teacher and was well liked by the patrons of the school.

Mr. Harvard Layton, who has been ill for some time, is improving very much.

Our merchant F. A. Weimer is busy and reports business good.

John Warner has purchased the property owned by Ira Finzel.

The children of this vicinity have been suffering with the whooping cough and one of our citizens, a recent arrival of Greenville Township, Pa., (where more superstition prevails than at other places in the United States) invited a man known as a Pow Wow man, to come to his home and then and there go through various signs and gestures which would take away from the children this bad cough and take it upon himself. He exacted from each child three pieces of clothing (suppose he must have had a big family) which was one part of the formula, in return he placed upon the neck of each child a small sack which was to be worn night and day, in sunshine and in rain, and not to be taken off under any circumstances. After he had served this man's family, the party who had invited him then prevailed upon two or three of his neighbors to try the Pow Wow man. Which of course they consented to do and he visited each of the homes. In one home the little child died and one of the ladies who's curiosity was aroused opened this little bag and found therein a small lock of hair (supposed to come from the Pow Wow man's head) and a small piece of asafoetida. The Pow Wow man returned in about a week pretending to be suffering with the whooping cough. He made no charges but each family out of the generosity of their hearts contributed five dollars for his services, but the strange part of all the children are all still suffering from the cough.

It is surprising in this twentieth century to find people who can be so easily duped and who seem to still believe in the practices of Solemn Witchcraft, but perhaps it might be explained the furtherest East they have ever been was Frostburg, Md., and the furtherest West has been Somerset, Pa., and as one old fashioned farmer expressed it, if the world is as wide the other way from Frostburg as it is from Frostburg to Somerset it must be a wide, wide world.

To the Public—

The County Normal School will open in Oakland, Monday, May 25, 1914. for a term of seven or eight weeks. It will be devoted particularly to preparing those who contemplate entering the profession of teaching, as well as providing an opportunity for those already in the profession to qualify themselves for better work. Arrangements have been made for a course of lectures in pedagogy and kindred subjects.

Opportunity will also be provided for students about to enter the State High School to prepare themselves for the work, as well as for those students who are now in the high schools to qualify themselves more thoroughly in any subjects in which they find they are somewhat handicapped.

With the teaching force of the normal school numbering three instructors, we shall also be able to give ample work and instruction to those pupils of the sixth and seventh grades of the county school system, in order to strengthen them in the work that they have before covered, so that they will enter the coming year's work with many advantages.

The tuition fees are payable in advance, and for the teachers' course they will be six dollars; and for pupils of the public schools both high and grammar, the tuition fee will be five dollars.

The instructors are making special arrangements with residents of Oakland for boarding and rooming of students at the best rates possible.

Senatorial Primaries.

United States senators are to be elected in thirty-two states at the next November election. The election of all the states the nomination of senatorial candidates will also be determined by ballot at general primaries. The results of the senatorial primaries, which are set for a near date in some of the states, will be awaited with a general interest beyond any that has ever before attached to the selection of senators.

The thirty-two places in the Senate that will be filled by new senators next March are divided just equally as to present holders between Democrats and Republicans. Arizona, Colorado, Indiana and Oregon are the states in which there is something better than a fighting chance that Republican senators may be elected to succeed the Democratic incumbents for those states.

Gleanings from Exchanges.

An investigation into the official conduct of Judge Alston G. Dayton, of the United States District court of the Northern District of West Virginia, by the House Committee on the Judiciary was requested in a resolution introduced in the House of Representatives by Congressmon Neeley of Wheeling. The charges are made by labor unions.

Final tribute to the nation's dead from Vera Cruz was paid at the Brooklyn Navy Yard last Monday when the highest honors possible to bestow in recognition of the ultimate sacrifice to duty were lavished upod the 19 slain. For admiral or general there could be no more—no less—than this ceremony—impressive in its simplicity—over the flower strewn caskets of these heroes from the ranks.

May 11.—For the first time in 10 years, the Republicans of Martinsburg, W. Va., last Monday won a sweeping victory in the municipal election, defeating the Democratic candidates by an average plurality of over 100 in four of the five wards.

Local railroads, as well as practically every line in the country are complaining against the additional expense which they have been compelled to assume, because of the introduction of the parcel post. Because of the increasing size of the packages to be carried by mail, the narrow doors in all the mail coaches have to be widened. This has been found necessary in order to avoid delays in loading the packages on the cars.

The government has made no provisions with the railroads for this additional expense, which, according to a Baltimore and Ohio official will total a large sum of money.

The President has appointed Associate Justice Lamar of the U. S. Supreme court, and F. W. Lehmand of St. Louis, former Solicitor General, as representative at the Peace negotiations at Niagara Falls.

Conservative estimates place the apple crop in the vicinity of Hancock, Md., at 80,000 barrels. For the first time a number of the big orchards will come into full bearing.

Abe Martin says, If we could only see ourselves as others do us. Some folks are so desperate that they'll even offer their services t' ther country t' git ther names in th' paper.

Kansas wants 40,000 volunteers to help in saving the biggest wheat crop ever produced in the state. The harvest will be on before the end of next week and the work of saving the bread crop, which must be accomplished with in a 10-day period, is a strenuous business.

VOLUME 39. OAKLAND, MARYLAND THURSDAY, MAY 21, 1914. NUMBER 12.

MR. JAMES TREACY MET WITH A HORRIBLE DEATH

Clothing Fired and His Burns Were Such as To Cause His Death.

Tast Tuesday morning the venerable James Treacy, of Oakland, accompanied by his grandson Eugene Carney, went out to the Treacy farm, about four miles distant from Oakland, to watch the progress of a forest fire in that vicinity. Along about noon the grandson discovered the fencing on fire and called the attention of the grandfather to the fact. They went to the fence to extinguish the fire and thought they had accomplished the work when Mr. Treacy began climing over the fence. Whild doing so it was discovered that his pantaloonslwere on fire. The grandson, after his grandfather had managed to get about twelve feet from the fence and had fallen to the ground, ran to the spring and obtained water and threw it on the burning garments and thought he had put it out. He then ran for help, going to the railroad track first and called the attention of his father who was employed on that section to the condition of his grandfather, whom he thought ill and then ran for the doctor at Oakland. Mr. Carney hastened to the scene and found the old gentleman dead. The clothing on the lower part of the body had been burned from him and his limbs badly burned, as well as some other parts of the body.

The lad, quite young, reached town and in a few moments Mr. James P. Treacy and Dr. Darby were on the way to the farm. When they reached the farm the man had been dead about an hour. The remains were brought to D. E. Bolden's undertaking rooms, Oakland and dressed and prepared for burial.

The fire had burned part of Mr. Treacy's coat up to about the pocket in which he had his pocket book, which fell out and escaped the fire. The pocketbook contained some money and papers.

Mr. Treacy was one of Oakland's most respected gentlemen. He was kind and a great friend of the children. He was about 75 years of age. He is survived by two sons, Owen and James; three daughters, Mrs. Mat Canty, of Deer Park, and Misses Maggie and Annie of this city. The funeral will take place Friday from St. Peter's Catholic church of which he was a most consistent member.

M. of Bloomington, the Moose and J. O. R. M. of Westernport, with lodge delegations in appropriate and beautiful regalia participated in the ceremonies, accompanying the remains from Beryl to the church and grave yard. Rev. GREAT BIBLE CONFEBENCE AT MBUNTAIN LAKE PABK

England, Canada and The United States Represented on Program.

Superintendent Reed, of the Mountain Lake Park Association, has booked one of the greatest conferences for this season, ever brought to a chautauqua platform. The date is August 7th to 16th inclusive.

The program and platform will be under the direction of Rev. Sol. G. Dickey, D. D., the founder and manager of the Winona Assembly and Bible Conference. For twenty years he has had marvelous success in bringing great crowds to Winona. The past winter the Doctor conducted forty-five conferences in as many cities. He will have charge this year of over one hundred conferences. So much for the leader of this great Bible conference to be held at Mountain Lake Park.

Among the noted orators and lecturers to be in attendance we notice, Dr. Russell H. Conwell, the eminent Baptist divine, eloquent beyond description.

Rev. F. B. Meyer, of London, England, the great Baptist who has made a name for himself on this side of the Atlantic. He will deliver eight addresses. Rev. John McNeil, D. D., a famous Presbyterian preacher of Toronto, Canada, well known in Scotland and England. Two Methodist Bishops will take part, Bishop T. S. Henderson, of Chattanooga, Tenn., and Bishop McConnell, of Denver, Col., worth traveling many miles to hear. Rev. W. E. Beiderwolf, of Philadelphia, Pa., a graduate of Princeton and Oxford, England. He is regarded as the best equipped evangelist in this country. The secretary of the World's Sunday School work, Mr. Harry Money, one of America's greatest mission workers, the man who led Billy Sunday to Christ, will thrill his audiences as he tells of the work so near his heart. Dr. M. E. Lyon, the famous evangelist, will be in attendance the entire ten days.

The music of this conference will be a special feature. It will be in charge of that remarkable musical composer and leader, Prof. E. O. Excell, of Chicago, who will be ably assisted by Prof. Aloin Roperthe, noted pianist and capable accompanist.

Other speakers will be added to those already named. The committee is corresponding with Billy Sunday, William Jennings Bryan and Vice President Marshall. If it is possible to secure their presence and service it will be done. This is a marvelous opportunity to hear these great speakers, and at the same time secure a wonderful uplift in spiritual matters.

It is a foregone conclusion that this program will attract thousands of people to the Park. At this early date reserved seats are being purchased for the entire ten days of the convention. Reservation of seats can be secured by applying to Dr. Reed, at any time.

Begin today to make your plans to attend this great conference. It will be the opportunity of a life time.

A New Sutt For Damage.

A prosecution of unusual interest because of its rarity and the law involved has been brought in Philadelphia under the act of 1875, which makes proprietors of saloons in which liquor is sold to habitual drunkards liable to money damages. A Mrs. Virginia Alexander seeks to recover $10,000 from a Twenty-seventh street saloonkeeper because she alleges that he continued to sell liquor to her husband after being warned that continued drinking would result in Alexander's death. The man did die of alcoholism, according to physicians who attended him, and the widow has invoked a little known law, althoug it has been on the books of the State for nearly forty years and, of course, very few, if any, liquor sellers had knowledge of it. Recently a decision obtained under a similar law was upheld by the Supreme Court of Nebraska and the damages paid.

Yeung People's Rally.

There will be a young peoples rally at the Loch Lynn U. B. church on Wednesday, May 27th, at eight o'clock p. m. Good music and a stiring address will be the special features. Rev. O. T. Deaver General Secretary of Young Peoples Work, of Kansas City, Mo., will deliver the address of the evening. The public is invited to be present to enjoy an intellectual feast. Especially do we invite the young people to be present.

IMPROVEMENT THE ORDER.

Contract for The Accident School Building Awarded.

The Board of School Commissioners for Garrett county have awarded the contract for building the new school house at Accident to F. G. Fox & Son, of Friendsville, for the sum of $4367.00.

It will be a two story brick veneered building, 35 feet x 48 feet 8 inches. There will be a portico in front of the building 10 feet x 19 feet; slate roof, and a bellfry. There will be a hall on each story 8 feet x 23 feet; 4 class rooms two of them 23 x 24 feet, and two 23 x 33 feet. The plans were drawn by Mr. George F. Sansbury, one of the best architects in Cumberland. The building is a modern school house splendidly adapted for school purposes. Located as the building is, in one of the most prominent points on the State road from Oakland to Grantsuille, it will be observed by the many traveling over this improved thoroughfare and will make a favorable impression upon those who see the building as to the growth of the cause of education in Garrett county. The building is just what that happy growing and prosperous neighborhood needs. The school board have acted wisely in building such a building.

The citizens of Accident have contributed $1,000 toward the building fund and will haul one half of the brick from the railroad station to the building site. They are to be commended for their enterprising spirit and help.

The local building committee is composed of Messrs. Fred Burkhart, Adam Richter and Jonas Specher.

Down With Road Signs.

State Forester Besley has suggested June 10, as "signboard day," on which to make an assault on all signboards illegally occupying space on public road property. He asks all to enlist as aids to the game wardens of the state in administering the act passed by the legislature, which makes it a misdemeanor to place signboards, or placards, on trees, or to place either on the property of private owners without their consent. Violation of the law is punished by a fine of $10.00.

This thing of tacking up signs of all kinds along the public highways is a great wrong, is unsightly, and often mars the beauty of a delightful surrounding. Then the signs become partially loose, and makes the trees look like an old junk shop. We are glad to see this movement in force. All one need do is to take a ride from Oakland to the Park, and they will be convinced of the justness of this move. Mr. Besley says:

"We are not planning any lawless attack by a mob which might involve the destruction of costly structures within the law, but we want the people who are interested in this project for preserving the beauty of the country to communicate with me or with the forest wardens in their neighborhoods. Each person so communicating will receive a badge showing that he has enlisted in the army and that he has the authority to proceed. There are 125 forest wardens scattered throughout the state. The administration of the law has been placed in the hands of the State Forestry Department, although every person possessing the police power is expected to help.

"The width of the state roads is usually 30 feet. A signboard which is within 15 feet of the centre of the road is usually a violation of the law. We are now building a costly system of beautiful roads throughout the State and it is only fitting that we should clear their sides of the great number of unsightly signboards which are objectionable to the eye and hide beautiful views from persons walking, riding or driving. Then we are trying to take care of our trees and people should not be allowed to injure them and disfigure them by tacking bills on them.

"I hope all the people of the state will help in the movement."

Church Dadication at Dodson.

The new Methodist Episcopal church at Dodson, Garrett county, was dedicated Sunday. Rev. W. E. Bird, of Midland, preached at the morning service. In the afternoon a platform meeting was held, and among others, Hon. John W. Young, of Cumberland, made an address. The sermon at night was delivered by Rev. Wm. Harris, pastor of the M. E. church at Piedmont. The music throughout the day was under the direction of Mr. Wm. E. Bishop, of Lonaconing.

The attendance was large and the people were greatly interested and delighted at the accomplishment of their effort to build a church in their vicinity. Garrett county is taking no backward step, but is moving up to the very front rank in every respect.

OAKLAND HIGH SGHOOL COMMENCEMENT

Second Annual Graduation Exercises of Local School

The commencement exercises of the Oakland High School this year have been of unusual interest and a great credit to the faculty and graduates.

THE CLASS SERMON.

The sermon of Dr. Ely last Sunday night to the Oakland High school graduating class was practical, convincing and helpful. It was full of rich thought and encouragement. It was the word that the graduates needed on the eve of their graduation and just before entering into a new life. The advice given, the suggestions made, the illustrations used, if accepted and followed, will make the life of each student one of great benefit to all with whom they come in contact, and add much to their personal success and happiness in their journey through life. Those who attended the Garrett Memorial Presbyterian church last Sunday night are to be congratulated, for it was a profitable hour to all present.

ORATORICAL CONTEST.

The oratorical contest was held in the Grammar school building on Monday night. The large room was crowded by a most interested audience.

Mr. Joseph Harned offered $5 in gold as a first prize and Mr. D. M. Dixon $2.50 in gold, as a second prize.

The judges were, for excellence of composition: Mrs. J. C. Ely, Mr. R. E. Sliger and Supt F. E. Rathbun. For oratory, Rev. Archibald Moore, Messrs. Wm. R Offutt and A. T. Matthews.

After a piano duet by Messrs. Ross Isenberg and Julius Littman, the first oration was delivered by Guy Ashby, his subject being "Our Legacy," "The Value of Time and Knowledge" was the subject of Percy Thayer's oration. He was followed by the only lady competing for honors, Miss Rhoda Welch, on the subject, "Why Men and Women should have Equal Rights" Robert G. White followed; his theme was "Ideals." The closing speaker was Delbert Davis, subject, "Women Should Not have the Right to vote."

Between each oration there was delightful music.

We are glad to say that the speakers, each and all deserve much praise for their work of the evening. They acquitted themselves nobly. After due deliberation the judges made their report and Prof. R. R. Sanner, the principal of the Oakland Grammar school awarded the first prize to Percy Thayer, of Oakland, and the second to Miss Rhoda Welch, of Mountain Lake Park.

Va., Bernard Francis Faherty, Percy Earle Thayer, Robert Garrett White, Oakland, and Rhoda E. Welch, Mountain Lake Park.

A Garrett County Girl Graduates.

At the graduating exercises of nurses at St. Luke's Hospital, Baltimore, Friday night last there were two graduates One of them was Miss Nell Schlossnagle, of Accident, this county. The exercises were full of interest. Rev. Geo. C. Peck, D. D., delivered the address and Dr. M. B. Hood, president of the college presented the diplomas. The musical selections were enjoyed. Refreshments were served. There was a large attendance of interested people. We congratulate Miss Schlossnagle upon the successful completion of the course of study and wish her splendid success in her labors as a trained nurse.

O. H. S. Notes.

We take great pleasure in announcing that Mr. Percy Thayer, a Senior in the Commercial department, won the first prize of $5.00 in gold, at our Oratorical Contest which was held on Monday night. His subject was "The Value of Time and Knowledge." Miss Rhoda Welch, who is also a Commercial Senior, won the second prize of $2.50 in gold, her subject being "Why Men and Women of America Should Have Equal Rights." Each one of the five contestants did splendidly, and was heartily applauded by the large and enthusiastic audience. The prizes, as previously announced, were given by Messrs. Harned and Dixon, respectively. We are indeed fortunate in having such public-spirited gentlemen in town.

The Sermon before the Graduates was preached on Sunday night at the Presbyterian church, by the Rev. Dr. Ely. A large and interested congregation was present, as well as six of the graduates and a number of the members of the faculty. The Rev. Dr. Moore of the Methodist church was present, having closed his church for the occasion, and was called upon to read the scripture lesson and to offer prayer. Rev. J. M. Davis also was present and offered the closing prayer. The words of Dr. Ely were full of inspiration, and were calculated to make a deep impresion upon those present.

Professor Bender entertained the Senior class and their Class Professor, Miss Smith, at his home on Second Street, on last Friday evening. The affair is said to have been very enjoyable.

On Tuesday night the reception of the Senior class by the Juniors was held at the High School building. It is to be hoped that this affair will become an annual one, as is the case in colleges and some high schools.

Invitations to the Second Annual Commencement have been received by a large number of townspeople and students. In our opinion the invitations have never been prettier or in better taste The Class Pin appears at the top and is followed by the Old English lettering. On the second page appears the roll of graduates, the class motto, and the class flower. Do not be disappointed if you have not received one of these invitations, for it was impossible to invite everyone. The theatre will be open to the public, however, on Thursday and Friday nights, and it is to be hoped that all of you will come to the exercises.

The Senior boys entertained the Senior girls and a number of their friends, at the home of Miss Mary Sincell on last Wednesday night.

Several names have been omitted from the honor roll, from time to time, which should have been there. Among these are the names of Miss Mildred Thrasher, Harold Conneway and Frederick Thayer.

Misses Bernadette Hart and Mary Sincell are afflicted with mumps at this writing.

This is our valedictory. It will be several months before the readers of the county papers will hear from the Oakland High School again, and even then the notes will be in new hands. Some of us are leaving the school for good; thanking you for your patience we say farewell.

They All Think Alike.

A Washington City subscriber writes, "The paper is quite full of news. I like to read it." Who doesn't?

A Baltimore city subscriber, "Your last issue a most interesting paper." That is just what we intend it shall be.

Said a West Virginia subscriber: "I was greatly interested in this week's paper. It was a splendid paper."

Thanks, everybody. Please tell your neighbors the same thing and thus help us secure their names for our subscription books.

THE REPUBLICAN is the people's paper, a Garrett county paper, devoted to the best interests of the county. It is edited with special thought of the home circle. Help us put it in every Garrett county home.

The Good Roads meeting held in the I. O. O. F. hall at Aurora is reported to have been the most enthusiastic one held so far this week. A large subscription for work has already been promised and the whole community is much interested in the work to be done. Following are the officers of their organization: Allen Forman, president, Miss Odessa Stemple, secretary and L. J. Stemple, treasurer.—They will observe the two days designated by Governor Hatfield and do some good work on their neighborhood roads. It is to be hoped that our Garrett county farm-

ARMY IN MEXICO TILL WAR CEASES

Presidnt Wilson Will So Inform Mediators

HUERTA WILL QUIT FOR PEACE

Dictator, However, Wishes to Impose Certain Conditions For His Retirement—It Is Said Mexican Delegates Will Enter Into Mediation Negotiations Prepared to Grant Many Concessions—Tampico Situation Bad.

Washington, May 19.—That General Huerta will resign as president of Mexico if it is necessary for peace and the Mexican representatives to the mediation conference can recommend was authoritatively stated as being correct.

The Huerta delegates will only recommend Huerta's retirement, however, on the condition that a definite understanding is reached on the kind of government that is to follow.

Huerta's conditions, on which he will resign, are reported as follows:

That Carranza shall not be chosen to succeed him; that Huerta have a voice in the choice of his successor; that Huerta be allowed to run for president in the July elections and that the Americans evacuate Vera Cruz.

President Wilson told the American commissioners, who leave today for the mediation conference at Niagara Falls, Ont., that the United States government regards the settlement of the Mexican problem in a definite form as a prerequisite to the withdrawal of the American forces from Vera Cruz.

Persons here who have talked confidentially with Mexico's representatives say that they will enter the Niagara Falls conferences in the most liberal spirit and with every disposition to make reasonable concessions.

The plan of the Mexican delegates as it has been glimpsed by diplomats in Washington is to force the United States into an agreement in regard to an adjustment of Mexico's internal differences.

They hope also, it is said, to have this agreement of such a reasonable and fair character that the United States will be obliged to subscribe to its terms. Necessarily the agreement will include the elimination of Huerta.

If an agreement of this character is reached it will then be up to Carranza and Villa to subscribe to its terms or assume full responsibility for a continuance of Mexico's internal and international troubles. Officials in Washington fear that Carranza and Villa are in the end to be the stumbling blocks to an adjustment of the Mexican difficulties and that this government is likely to find its chief embarrassment in the future arising through the attitude of its friends rather than through any stand taken by Huerta.

The most serious feature of the Mexican situation was new evidence of the disposition of Constitutionalists at Tampico to exact money from those interests there in support of its campaign against Huerta.

So alarming has the situation become on this score that Secretary Bryan has made the strongest representations to General Carranza and also to the Constitutionalist commander in the field against any attempt to collect tribute from foreign interests.

Several complaints and an anxious inquiry have reached the state department from foreign governments in reference to these new developments at Tampico.

Next to the evidences of exactions on the part of the Constitutionalists a dispatch from Admiral Mayo relating to the Tampico oil fields caused the greatest concern to Washington officials.

Admiral Mayo wired that it was reported that the federals are in control of this field. If this turns out to be true the United States is far from free of possible complications at Tampico.

Mexicans Make No Statements.

New York, May 19.—Huerta's delegates to the Niagara Falls mediation conference, Senors Rabasa, Roderiguez and Elguero, spent one hour in a room at their hotel debating the advisability of receiving reporters. They decided not to.

Two hours later Senor Del Campo their spokesman, appeared with the following missive to the people of the United States:

"The discretion which the delicacy of their mission imposes, as an elementary consideration, upon the Mexican delegates to the conference at Niagara Falls has prevented them from making any statements of declarations, but in their desire to meet the wishes of the press they beg to state that they have been most courteously treated by all the authorities and officials of the United States."

When the report that the delegates are armed with Huerta's resignation was taken to Senor Rabasa for confirmation or denial he declined to make any remarks. And he did the same regarding the report that they had come prepared to make certain concessions if the United States would secure money for the Huerta regime.

The three delegates with their families will leave for Niagara Falls at 6 o'clock this evening.

BECKER DEFENSE IS BEGUN TODAY

Prosecutor Whitman Does Not Call All His Witnesses

THINKS CASE STRONG ENOUGH

District Attorney Figures That Corroboration of Rose's Story by Young Negro Is Clincher Against Becker. Plitt, Defendant's Former Press Agent, Gives Testimony Against Prisoner.

New York, May 19.—With at least three witnesses uncalled that he could have used to strengthen his evidence against Charles Becker District Attorney Whitman announced that he had closed his case and the defense will begin today its attempt to prove that the former policemen did not conspire to have the gambler, Herman Rosenthal, killed.

The district attorney believes his case is much stronger than at the previous trial and that the testimony of the young negro, James Marshall, will convict Becker. Marshall swore positively that Becker and Rose were together shortly after the murder.

This was the first and only credible corroboration of Rose's, Webber's and Vallon's story that ever got before a Becker jury.

From an old and tainted witness, Charles B. Plitt, who testified for Becker in the first trial and who turned against him this time with the most shocking accusations, came the statement that Becker warned him (Plitt) to keep away from Times square "that night;" that Becker was angry and indignant over the bungling of the job; that Becker sent him back and forth to Rose with orders not to squeal and, finally, that Becker told him to kill Rose if things went all to the bad.

From former Deputy Police Commissioner G. S. Dougherty was testimony that Becker had said under questioning two days after the murder that he had not seen nor heard from Rose for a week.

From Harry Pollock, Rose's friend and refugee, was testimony establishing that Rose sent him to police headquarters on the day of the murder and that he carried back to the sick and frightened Rose Becker's message not to worry and stay where he was.

From Mrs. Lillian Rosenthal, widow of the gambler, was explicit corroboration of Rose's story that Becker promised at the Elks club to do all sorts of things for her husband, that Becker loaned $1,500 to Rosenthal and became a partner in the gambling house.

Mr. Manton did his best to ruin Marshall's story but failed. He sought to show that Marshall was a stool pigeon for the police and that Marshall had signed a false name to affidavits. Marshall replied that he had been forced to act for Becker.

Mr. Manton took the witness over the whole ground of the Harlem conference, but the youth did not trip.

RESCUED TELL OF SUFFERINGS

Terrible Privations For Men Adrift on Sea

FOUR SURVIVORS IN HOSPITAL

When Men Were Picked Up Last of Water and Food Was Gone and Hope of Rescue Had Been Abandoned. Survivors Forced to Fight With Insane Men—Thirst Was Unbearable.

Halifax, N. S., May 19.—The United States revenue cutter Seneca arrived here with the four survivors of the burned steamer Columbian whom she picked up from their small boat forty miles south of Sable island.

The condition of the men is serious, but it is believed they will live.

The men were at the last stages of exhaustion when the Seneca appeared and rescued them.

Not one drop of water or a crumb of food remained in the boat and the four who had just sent the body of their eleventh companion to sea burial were without hope of surviving the day when the rescue ship hove in sight.

Robert Tier, the youthful second officer of the Columbian, who commanded the boat, was in the most critical state of the four. Cold and exposure had so swollen his feet within his heavy sea boots that gangrene set in and he probably will have to lose both members.

Peter Belanger, a French Canadian seaman, who was the most exhausted of the quartet when rescued, was also critically sick. Oscar Kendall and Michael Ludwigsen, survivors, had high temperatures and were much exhausted.

Hunger, thirst, cold, exposure tempestuous seas, insane companions dying in the raving of delirium and trying to murder them; the frequent alternation of hope and despair and the knowledge that they were hopelessly lost and depended for rescue on chance, were some of the factors of the terrible experience.

All hope had been abandoned. The eleventh man had just died. For three days six of them had lived on five biscuits and a pint of fresh water. This was now all gone. Less than a handful of moldy crumbs remained in the biscuit tin and death hovered near when the Seneca's smoke was seen.

Seaman Belanger in telling of the suffering and privations of the crew gave an account of the fight with one of the men named Jakob who had gone insane. Jakob, after drinking the salt water, began to cry for rum. He got the ax, which was coaxed away from him. Later he picked up a stretcher and made for the officer.

"We four had to handle Jakob and he gave us an awful fight," said Belanger. "He was a great big fellow, bigger than any of us and the rage made him stronger.

"I don't know how long it took us to down him. He might have beaten us all and killed us with an ax, but Ludwigsen managed to hit him on the jaw with an oar. Jakob was knocked out and while he was unconscious we tied him up. We gave him all the water we could spare, but he was too far gone. He kept shrieking for rum at the top of his voice and threatening to kill everyone of us, shrieking in this manner until death came.

"Poor Kikown, the cabin boy, died from exposure. He had only a pair of pants on when he climbed into the boat. Little Prive, the cabin boy, died calling for his mother. His last words were: 'If I die this will kill my mother.' Poor boy, he was so brave and he deserved to live."

OHIO STRIKE ORDERED

All Coal Miners in State Are Put on Benefit Roll.

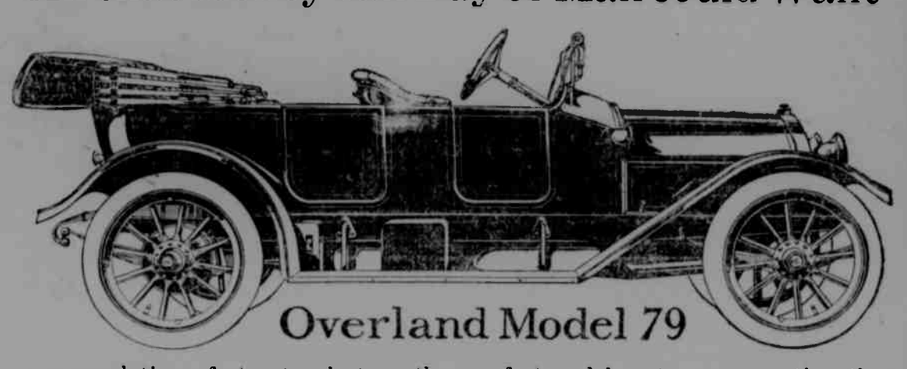
Columbus, O., May 19.—Orders declaring a strike of all soft coal miners in Ohio went out from headquarters of District No. 6, United Mineworkers of America, here. Miners' officials also began paying strike benefits of $3 per week to every member of the organization. The mines have been closed since April 1 by orders of the operators.

John Moore, president of the district, announced the international executive committee had ratified the recommendation of the Ohio committee for a strike last week.

"The strike will place the miners on the offensive instead of the defensive," said President Moore.

In the circular miners were notified to receive offers of settlement of the wage scale differences from individual operators, and to communicate these offers to district and subdistrict officials for consideration.

Tepic in Rebels' Hands.



Washington, May 19.—Tepic, a town on the west coast of Mexico, had fallen into the hands of the rebels, Admiral Howard telegraphed the navy department. Confirmation of the occupation of Sanblas by the revolutionists was also given by Admiral Howard.

Is Your Child Handicapped in his or her physical and mental development by defective vision? Out of 100,000 school children examined in New York city, nearly 30 per cent. were found to be in need of glasses. In Boston the percentage was found to be slightly over 20 per cent., and most of these children were down on the books as "stupid," "stubborn" or unruly. In Philadelphia 354 children were discovered who could not read ordinary writing on a blackboard at a distance of twenty feet. You should make sure by a thorough examination at the hands of a competent optometrist. That your child is not among this vast army of little citizens who suffer from defective eyesight, delays often result seriously. My examinations are made by the most scientific accurate methods. PUBLIC LOCAL LAWS.

CHAPTER NO. 601.

AN ACT to provide for a License Tax on Dogs to Create a Fund to protect the Sheep Industry in Garrett County

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Maryland, That the Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County be and are hereby empowered and directed to provide for a special license tax on all dogs therein, which shall be levied annually at a rate of not less than one dollar for each dog and two dollars for each bitch: and that the money thus collected, less the cost of collection, shall be placed in the hands of the Treasurer of Garrett County to the credit of a special fund to be known and designated as the sheep fund.

SEC. 2. And be it enacted, That the County Commissioners of Garrett County are hereby directed to designate one constable in each election district of said county, whose duty it shall be to annually enumerate and assess at a rate of not less than one dollar for each dog, and two dollars for each bitch in said district, and collect the tax levied upon the same, and pay the amount received by said collection into the county treasury, at such times as may be fixed upon by the said Board of County Commissioners, and the official bond of any said constable failing to account and make returns as aforesaid shall be held liable for such default, and all constables who shall faithfully account as herein required may retain a commission of twenty-five per cent. on the amount actually collected and paid into the county treasury, and the net amount of such taxes after the payment of all charges shall be placed to the credit of a special fund hereby created, which shall be known and designated as the sheep fund.

SEC. 3. And be it enacted, That the neglect of any constable to perform the duties required by the provisions of this Act shall be sufficient cause of forfeiture of office and the Board of County Commissioners are hereby directed to immediately remove from office any constable within their county who shall so neglect to perform said duties, and shall appoint another person to serve in his stead.

SEC. 4. And be it enacted, That the Board of County Commissioners shall furnish the constables appointed for the respective districts to carry out the provisions of this Act metal tags of not less than one and one-half inches in diameter, bearing the number of his election district and beneath it figures representing the number of the license, which tags shall be issued by the constable to the owner of each dog or bitch at the time when the license tax is paid, which tags shall be worn at all times by the dog or bitch for which the tax has been paid, and that each constable shall keep in an appropriate book a list of all license issued by him, which list shall contain the number of the tags issued, the name and residence of the owner, a short description of the dog or bitch for which issued, and the date, together with the amount collected a duplicate of which shall also be filed with the Clerk of the Commissioners.

SEC. 5. And be it enacted, That the license tax provided for in section 2 of this Act shall be due and payable upon the first day of September of each year to the constables in the several districts, and when paid to the constable he shall give a receipt for the same which shall have upon it the number of the license, and a short description of the dog or bitch for which it is given, and the number upon the tag which is given shall correspond with the receipt; and in case of the loss of any tag, a duplicate may be furnished for the same on application to the constable who originally issued it on the payment of ten cents and satisfactory evidence being furnished that the tax has been paid for the current year on the dog or bitch for which it was issued.

SEC. 6. And be it enacted, That after the expiration of thirty days after the first day of September in each year, if the license tax has not been paid on all dogs and bitches, it shall be the duty of the constables appointed in the several election districts to proceed to collect the same, and upon the refusal of any owner or keeper of a dog or bitch to pay the required annual license tax, he shall be called on to kill said dog, failing in which the constable shall kill said dog and shall receive from the sheep fund for said killing the same amount as he would have received for collecting the tax upon the said dog or bitch.

SEC. 7. And be it enacted, That if any dog shall be found going at large on the premises of the owner or keeper of said dog without bearing such tag as is provided for in Sec. 4, any resident or landowner may kill such dog found going at large without wearing the aforesaid tag, and that any person may kill any dog, whether tagged or not, which may be caught in the act of killing, destroying, worrying or chasing sheep, as provided in section 7 of this Act, shall be liable to the owner of said dog in an action for damages for the full value of said dog, which value shall not be less than ten dollars, to be recovered by the usual proceedings in such cases

SEC. 9. And be it enacted, That any non resident of Garrett County may obtain a license tag for any dog in the same manner as provided in sections 3 and 5 of this Act upon the payment of the tax provided for in Section 2 of this Act, but that if any non resident can furnish satisfactory evidence to the constable by receipt or otherwise that he has already paid an annual license tax upon the dog or bitch for which license is sought, the constable shall then issue to the owner a tag upon the payment of ten cents, and shall keep a record of the case as provided in Section 5 of this Act.

SEC. 10. And be it enacted, That any person whose sheep has been killed or injured by any dog shall go at once before a justice of the peace in his district and make affidavit before him of such loss or injury, where upon said justice shall immediately issue a summons for the owner of such dog, and for such witnesses as may, in his judgment, be necessary to ascertain the amount of damages sustained by such killing or injury; and if the owner of the dog causing the injury is known, the justice shall forthwith give judgment for such damages as may be ascertained, in the name of the Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County, which shall be collected as other debts in this State are collected, and placed by them to the credit of the sheep fund, and the assessment upon ascertaining that the witnesses in the case the fact that certain sheep were killed or injured by a dog or dogs, whether the owner of the dog has been proved or not in the trial, is due to the owner of such sheep killed or injured a certificate for the full amount of damages which shall have been proved to have been [illegible] by said owner, which certificate, [illegible] be filed with the clerk of the board of [illegible] Commissioners shall be presented to [illegible] Treasurer of Garrett county, who shall pay all certificates when ordered so to [illegible] by the Board of County Commissioners [illegible] shall. If it shall be found that the amount of money to the credit of the sheep fund is not sufficient to pay all the certificates in full, then the board of county commissioners shall pay each person, who has filed certificates, an equal percentage on the certificates so filed, and it shall be found that there is more money to the credit of the sheep fund than is necessary to pay the certificates, such balance shall each year be transferred to the credit of the school board; that if the ownership of the dog or the dog is known, and the dog has not already been killed, the [illegible] of the peace shall require the constable to proceed forthwith to kill the dog, and said constable for such killing shall be allowed the sum of one dollar for each dog killed by him upon such order by the justice of the peace aforesaid, to be taxed against the owner of such dog as a part of the costs in such case taxed; and that where the ownership of any dog which has killed or injured sheep has not been ascertained, the costs in the case shall be paid out of any money which may stand to the credit of the sheep fund; in case of judgment being rendered against the owner of any such dog he shall not be allowed the exemption from execution as provided by Sections 8 of Article 83 of the Code of Public General Laws.

SEC. 11. And be it enacted, That all Acts and parts of Acts which are inconsistent with the provisions of this Act, in so far as they relate to Garrett County, are hereby repealed.

SEC. 12. And be it enacted, That this Act shall take effect from the date of its passage.

SEC. 3. And be it enacted, That the neglect of any constable to perform the duties required by the provisions of this Act shall be sufficient cause of forfeiture of office and the Board of County Commissioners are hereby directed to immediately remove from office any constable within their county who shall so neglect to perform said duties, and shall appoint another person to serve in his stead.

SEC. 4. And be it enacted, That the Board of County Commissioners shall furnish the constables appointed for the respective districts carry out the provisions of this Act with metal tags of not less than one and one-half inches in diameter, bearing the number of his election district and beneath it figures representing the number of the license, which tags shall be issued by the constable to the owner of each dog or bitch at the time when the license tax is paid, which tags shall be worn at all times by the dog or bitch for which the tax has been paid, and that each constable shall keep in an appropriate book a list of all license issued by him, which list shall contain the number of the tags issued, the name and residence of the owner, a short description of the dog or bitch for which issued, and the date, together with the amount collected a duplicate of which shall also be filed with the Clerk of the Commissioners.

THE REPUBLICAN,
Oakland, Md.

THURSDAY, MAY 21, 1914.

THE days of the saloon of Garrett county are numbered.

THE REPUBLICAN is the county paper. Always boosting, never knocking.

WHO will be the new postmaster at Oakland? There are several gentlemen "watching and waiting" for the answer to this question.

DID you know that in the United States there are three times as many native born women as all the foreign born men and women put together?

WILL President Wilson's Democratic Congress vote on the Hobson prohibition amendment to the constitution before it adjourns? We do not believe it will. The Congressional election is too close.

THERE is a report in railroad circles that the Wells-Fargo Express Company will take the place of the U. S. Express Company now operating on the B. & O. system, on the dissolution of the latter company.

THAT THE REPUBLICAN is generally read by the citizens of Garrett county is clearly proven by the fact that eighteen persons whose properties were advertised in the tax sales published in this paper, called upon the treasurer in one week, and paid their taxes and saved all further costs.

THE REPUBLICAN would suggest that a great Garrett County Local Option rally be held at Mountain Lake Park some time during the month of August. An all day meeting, including a worker's conference and the planning of a county-wide campaign for every church house, school house and public hall in each and every neighborhood.

WE submit the following facts to the voters of Garrett county: "Dry Kansas has fewer murders, fewer suicides and fewer deaths by accident, proportionately, than any other state in the Union. Just think over this statement and discuss it with your neighbors. By so doing you will increase the majority for local option next fall.

THE most exhaustive of tests have shown that it takes only one-twentieth of a second for a wireless signal to pass across the continent from Washington to San Francisco. Remarkable! How long does it take your words to reach New York City by telephone, when you call up a friend? As you speak your friend hears you and follows instantly your conversation. Remarkable! Is it not?

SCAN that roll of honored dead whose heroic deeds were acclaimed at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, Monday, and reflect on the cementing ties of a reunited country. The States represented by those who gave up their lives in defense of undimmed "Old Glory" were Illinois, New York. Mississippi, Louisiana, Pennsylvania, Alabama, Massachusetts, New Hampshire Georgia, Virginia and Iowa—East, West, North and South.

THE REPUBLICAN wishes the Garrett county High School graduates a long, successful and happy life. May the happiness that will be theirs Friday and Saturday nights continue throughout the years to come. May the knowledge they have gained throughout their school life be put into practical use and may each and every one of them occupy some useful place in lifting this county into a higher and more successful educational and social condition.

AMERICA, the land of the free and the home of the brave, is illustrated in the death of the marines at Vera Cruz, Mexico.

Patrick Cleburen, American.
Daniel A. Haggerty, Irishman.
John Schumacher, German.
George Poinsett, Frenchman.
Samuel Meisenberg, Hebrew.

No matter where born, they were American citizens, America heroes, and in burial received the honor due American patriots. This is indeed the home of the free and of the brave.

FOR the first time in the history of the world water-borne traffic is now passing through the Panama Canal. Reports from the Isthmus say Colonel Goethals instituted a barge service on the 9th of May and a steady stream of barges with a cargo of steamships on either end of the canal is passing through the great waterway. Suspension of traffic over the Tehuantepec Railway across Mexico owing to war conditions brought about this rather premature opening of the canal to trade. The Panama Railroad has been unable to handle all the traffic offered for the transportation across the Isthmus since the closing of the Tehuantepec railway.

Colonel Goethals has not yet reported when the canal will be open to the first steamship.

"IF Americans no longer want liquors and if Uncle Sam no longer wants the revenue from our products," declared Debar, Secretary of the National Wholesale Liquor Dealers Association in a speech delivered, "we ask to be honestly compensated for investments we have made under the encouraging and fostering care of the Federal government in the practical copartnership which has existed for more than 60 years between the government and liquor dealers."

Christian people of Garrett county what do you think of the above statement? Is it not true that they (the liquor sellers) made their investments "under the encouraging and fostering care of the Federal government in the practical copartnership." etc. If it is true, how do you like the partnership? Has not the vote of the church members of this great Nation permitted the existence of the saloon? Is it not about time to dissolve the partnership as far as Garrett county is concerned?

THE great states of Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Virginia and West Virginia have once a year two days designated as Good Roads days, when all the people living along the roads of each district turn out and give their time and energies in improving their respective roads. The experiment has been productive of splendid results. May 28 and 29 have been designated by the Governor of West Virginia as Good Roads days, when every able bodied man is expected to be out on their neighborhood public road to do his best in making the road better. Why not try this plan in Garrett county? Make it a neighborhood rally. If once undertaken there is no question of its continuance through the years to come. Loose stones, imbedded rock, deep holes and dangerous places would soon disappear. Said a farmer to the editor of this paper, a few days ago, "Agitate this subject, get the people aroused. We need just such a work here." What say you Mr. Farmer, and other users of the public roads?

DO YOU APPROVE OF THIS WORK.

Said the carpenter, pointing to a beautiful house "That is a fair specimen of my workmanship." It was certainly an honor to build such a house.

Pointing to a splendid display of potatoes, corn, wheat and oats, exhibited at the Garrett county fair, said the farmer: "I raised those samples on my farm" and he was proud of his work and had a right to be.

The manual training department of the Oakland High school last fall had a splendid exhibit of the work of its students, in furniture, etc. We all felt proud of the work done. Said Prof. Loraditch: "That is the kind of work we are doing in the High School."

Down in the gutter of Oakland's street is a poor, wretched drunkard, ragged, filthy. Once he was a noble upright man, a kind father, a good husband. Now his family is in rags and poverty. He is and they are specimens of the work of the saloon keeper.

Will your vote, next fall, be for the continuance of the saloon and its debasing, destructive, demoralizing work, or for its overthrow?

By your ballot you will approve the saloon and its work, or you will banish it forever from Garrett county.

Which shall it be?

Our Sick Neighbors.

Gambling.

Let us notice the claim of some that they are conscientious. I ask, is their conscience educated and governed by the word of God? This is the final court of appeal. Conscientious! Then why so anxious to conceal it? If it is a laudable thing, why try to keep it out of the daily papers, or why ashamed to have it known that you won the first prize or the booby? Why slip into a parlor and carefully shut out the gaze of the world, just like they do in a den? Or why not ask the ministers and their wives to come in and join you? Should he chance to drop in for a call, why hustle the spots into the dark and look as innocent as a goat, or as scared as an owl? Why publish the eucher or bridge party under another name, designed evidently, to mislead, conceal and deceive? I'll tell you why. It's a lying institution and you know it. One that loves darkness, yet professing Christians are partakers of the unfruitful works of darkness. When around the tables and the cards are before you, have you ever asked yourself, as you reached for the spots, whose goods they are? Let the owner step up and claim his goods. If the evil one can claim them by right of heathen invention and priority of use let it be understood, but when the strong man is cast out, if we would keep him out, we must spoil his goods. Do it, give them away or lend them to your neighbors, but spoil them. Don't sell those goods, but spoil them. Don't shuffle them with baptized fingers to kill time. You may kill something else besides the hours.

It is because fashionable society is saturated with card playing that the strong armed man defies the authorities of the land.

Society favors and defends what gratifies the palate, the sense of beauty and the love of admiration. The world, the flesh, run riot in society, while the devil has things pretty much his own way in what calls itself high toned society. Extravagance, immodesty in dress, hypocrisy in conversation, affectation in deportment, revelries, petty jealousies and dishonesties characterize what poses as fashionable society. The poor are snubbed, the rich are courted, while simplicity is ridiculed, yet such society dictates to Christian people what they shall do or allow. Shall its sneer at modesty, good taste, trim culture and christian conscientiousness have weight with the followers of the Hero of Nazareth.

It is true man is a social being, but he is also a rational being. Unless the gratification of his element tends to intelligence, grace and character, solitude were better. Yes, better no society at all than such.

The spirituality of the church is spoiled by the baneful influences of card parties. Men and women who could and should grace the church by good works and holy influences, and who should be lights in the Lord, become stumbling blocks with characters as dark as a lamp without oil. Though they stand in high places, they are an offence to the halting and lame.

Here is a safe and sane test for society. Does the card table with its prizes promote higher elements of character? A writer some time ago said, "Monkeys may play tricks on each other and grin over their success at a comrades' expense; pigs may eat and eat and grunt and sleep; pet dogs may perform their antics, peacocks may strut, but do these constitute society for rational beings and shall their human representatives be a greater or less degree, with or without refinements of the times, dictate the condition of social recognition to scholars, to women of purity; to dignified matrons, to believers in the majesty of the soul and the love of God, the splendid aims of science, literature and art, and to the saints who seek God's image and desire the fellowship of royal souls in the kingdom everlasting." Ponder this well. Let society go its low ways of selfish pleasure. It has nothing worth the Christians search. Resent its dictation in the spirit of noble manhood or womanhood.

What! Shall we give up all society? No, only all such society. There is rational society. Organize such as benefits christian conception which is as far above the other in high andhonorable things as the dome of St. Peter's is above the fever breeding marshes of the Campagna. A society that exalts the enjovment of intelligent conversation, music and art studies; that meets for improvement, that finds rest and recreation in rational activity, that violates no law of physical health, that fosters no aminal passions or propensities, that imperils no young life by exciting latent energies of evil, but which points upward towards the clear heaven of honorable and useful character. I charge this fashionable practice of being the instigator to evil actions, the beginning of course which may end in disgrace and death.

The ordinary young man will avoid the gambler if he knows him, but he does not always detect him. He is well dressed, friendly, a bit profuse with jewelry and somewhat officious. He wants to know all about your business, tries to get your confidence that he may steal your money. He tries to poison your mind by hinting at the easy ways of getting a living. He says "the world owes every man a living." The old gag. But you are expected to hustle around and collect the debt. This means honest work. A more dangerous enticement for the young man is the parlor gambling. He has never played. Tables are placed and cards are on them. The hostess, smiling, beautiful and winsome, asks him to join the game. He pleads ignorance of the game. We'll teach you. He becomes a learner. He plays for the excitement and the pleasures of society. He progresses rapidly. Soon he wants to play elsewhere. It's too tame in the parlor. The spirit of gambling is awakened. The fatal excitement of winning money is kindled. By whom? Women, social leaders, church members. Tell me, ye nominal Christian, did you ask God to bless you in the nefarious work of starting that young man down the incline of hell? O, woman, you whose home may be desolated, whose heart may be wrung with sorrow, whose brow may be wrinkled prematurely by this fiend, what plea have you to make for using your influence and charms to lead the young into dangers of gaming? Do you say it is a harmless amusement. Can that be harmless, that so often leads to poverty and vice. Is moderate drinking harmless when in most cases it leads to a drunkard's grave? Stop the accursed practice at once. Burn your cards and vow before God never to play again. This is your only safety. It may save your boy, as well as your neighbors'.

Can't I regulate this amusement, so as to stimulate the danger of it and make it harmless? Well, honestly, I must admit you can, though there is only one way.

I was going home from a service in the mountains one moonlight night. I was trudging along in the road, with a rough walking stick in my hand. Suddenly there arose a shriek from the group of young people, a few steps ahead of me; another shriek, "look out, it's a big snake." A few steps brought me to where his snakeship was ready for business. One stroke of my stick arrested him, another set him squirming and a few more and the flat copper colored head of the reptile was in a pulp. I regulated the copper head for all time, This is the quickest and most effective way to regulate parlor gambling—crush it, kill it. Touch not the cards, lest you be polluted.

"Where're the gaming board is set.
Two classes of mankind are met;
But if we count the greedy race,
The knaves fill up the graater space."

Yours truly,
JOHANNES.

Reduced Tariff Hits Factories.

That the reduced tariff would cut deep into the revenues of the country was generally expected and as much was conceded by its Democratic advocates who proceeded to make up the deficiency by providing an income tax, but the claim was made that American-made goods would be as much in demand as ever and that manufacturers would not suffer.

According to late reports this expectation has not been realized. During the six months in which the new tariff act has been in force, there has been a reduction in factory work of $13,000,000, showing conclusively that the finished product in this country when put into competition with the goods made abroad must suffer by reason of the difference in the cost of labor. At the same time the placing on the tree list of foodstuffs has not reduced the cost of living as the producer, realizing the demand in this country, has increased the original purchase price to an amount equal to the duty before imposed.

So that while importation of the finished product has shown an increase there has been little or no improvement in the importation of food supplies, proving conclusively that the changes made have not benefitted either manufacturer or consumer.

Up to this time there is a deficit of $57,000,000 as against a surplus of $7,000,000—a net loss of $44,000,000.

For the ten months of the fiscal year the receipts at this port show a decrease of $588,000. Three months should be taken out, because the old tariff prevailed and in these there was a loss of $76,000 as compared with the same period the year previous. This drop can be accounted for by the fact that it took in the transition period when importers held out expecting reduced rates. The net loss since the new tariff went into effect amounts to $512,000—while during the four months of the calendar year, the loss amounted to $401,000.—Baltimore American.

A GREAT TEMPERANCE MEETING.

Opening of Garrett County Local Option Campaign.

On Friday evening, June 5th, at 7:30 p. m. there will be held at Mt. Lake Park a temperance rally. It will be the opening of the local option campaign in Garrett county The Epworth League of the Oakland district, at that time, will be holding a convention in the Park. Delegates from all over the Oakland district of the Methodist church will be in attendance. The league devotes the night of the 5th to the cause of temperance. President White has secured the services of Rev. Dr. Hare, Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Maryland, as the speaker of the hour.

Dr. Hare took quite an active part in the campaign which placed West Virginia in the dry column. The Doctor is an enthusiastic, interesting and forcible speaker.

At the request of President White, Senator Harvey J. Speicher will introduce Dr. Hare. This is a most fitting recognization of the service rendered Garrett county by the Senator, in securing the passage of Senator Bill No. 1, better known as Speicher's local option bill for Garrett county—one of the most drastic temperance bills ever passed by a Maryland legislature.

There will be appropriate music for the occasion. From beginning to ending there will be an interesting time. Let every friend of local option make it a point to be present at this rally. Urge your neighbors to come with you Bring the entire family. It will be a good meeting for the boys and girls to attend. Come, help inaugarate a movement that shall sweep over Garrett county with mighty force. Encourage the Epworth League delegates by your presence, so that they shall return to their homes full of enthusiasm and determination to carry on an uncompromizing and unceasing warfare until the close of the polls on election day.

B. & O. Taboos Smoking

Smoking must come to an end among trainmen employed by the B. & O., according to orders of officials. Orders have been very strict, almost as strict as against those drinking and smoking when on duty is no longer practiced. Traveling representatives of the road, however, report that men are to be seen smoking on freight cars and box cars when not on duty. Following this report, all trainmasters of the several divisions of the B. & O. were instructed to warn employes against the practice.

Aurora Road Meeting.

The Good Roads meeting held in the I. O. O. F. hall at Aurora is reported to have been the most enthusiastic one held so far this week. A large subscription for work has already been promised and the whole community is much interested in the work to be done. Following are the officers of their organization: Allen Forman, president, Miss Odessa Stemple, secretary and L. J. Stemple, treasurer.—They will observe the two days designated by Governor Hatfield and do some good work on their neighborhood roads. It is to be hoped that our Garrett county farmers, seeing their West Virginia neighbors at work, will catch the spirit prevailing in that State, and get to work on the county road joining the Aurora road.

THE DEATH RECORD

MRS. RACHEL HARVEY.

Mrs. Rachel Harvey, wife of Mr. Alf Harvey, died Thursday morning at an early hour at her home in Kitzmiller, Md., after a protracted illness. She was aged about 45 years. Interment took place Friday in the Hamill cemetery.

MRS. P. J. ROSS.

Mrs. Daisy V. Ross, wife of Mr. P. J. Ross, of Piedmont, W. Va., died at her home Tuesday, May 12, of a complication of diseases, aged 26 years, 6 months and 26 days. She was before her marriage Miss Daisy Wolfe, of Bloomington.

The Roadside Tree Law.

With the advent of summer and the season when so much attention is given to outdoor life, news regarding a well framed roadside tree law passed at the last session of the State Legislatue is received with interest by Maryland citizens.

The contrast between a road lined on either side with a row of handsome trees, and one unprotected from cold winds, and the glare and heat of a hot summer's sun is at once apparent to anyone. There is a contrast, too, between the street or country highway with its well-cared for, ornamental trees and the road whose trees are covered with numerous signs and advertisements which are not, to say the least, ornamental in any way.

All of these things have received attention in a law which is sure to contribute much to the appearance of the state, beautifying the landscape, and making Maryland roads and streets comfortable and more attractive to the passerby. For this law gives the State Board of Forestry power not only to care for and improve trees already planted along any highway, but provides for their proper planting in desirable places.

It is forbidden under this law, and a penalty provided, to trim, cut down, or in any way to mutilate roadside trees without the approval and permission of the State Forest Officers. And further, the placing of any advertising matter on fences, stones, trees or building in or upon the public highways is now prohibited, and a fine provided for the enforcement of this provision.

The direct benefits to be derived from such a law are only too apparent, and the State Board of Forestry proposes in the immediate future to show the people of this state how they may themselves assist in carrying out this new law and aid in improving the appearance of their particular district.

The Situation Today

The following forcible illustration of the condition of business activity, as it exists today, is taken from an exchange:

Buyer (to traveler) No, no; nothing at all, thanks. We're overstocked now.

Traveler—Very well, but won't you just look at my samples?

Buyer—Not a bit of good. Nothing going.

Traveler Well, then, look here! Do you mind if I take the blessed things out and look at 'em myself. I haven't seen 'em for three weeks.

Temperance Victories.

The cause of temperance is advancing right along. New victories are being won every few days and the liquor cause is feeling the power of united effort on the part of the temperance people. Marvland is moving on toward State wide prohibition. At Havre de Grace the number of saloons have been reduced from 16 to 5, after a hotly contested fight before the courts of the county. Said a distiller to the writer: "Maryland inside the next five years will be dry territory. I will not invest another cent upon my distillery." He has the correct idea. Garrett county will be dry territory in less than one year.

Charles county went dry in the special election held Saturday to decide the question of license or no license. The overwhelming majority in favor of the abolition of the saloons astonished the leaders of the wet forces. The new law goes into effect May 1, 1915.

The leaders of the wet forces attribute their defeat in a measure to the utterances of Cardinal Gibbons, who before leaving for Europe, said, he hoped Charles county would go dry. The wet forces say that the Cardinal was not familiar with conditions in the county and that his statements turned the tide toward the abolition of the saloon in this county.

The dry forces are jubilant over the result, and they make the prediction that Charles county will now face an era of prosperity never before equaled in its history.

The question of license or no license will not come up before the people of St. Mary's county, which adjoins Charles county, until August. Both sides there say that they beleive that it, too, will enter the ranks of the dry counties of the state.

GENERAL OBREGON.

AMERICANS AID URRUTIA

Former Huerta Cabinet Member Guarded in Vera Cruz.

Vera Cruz, May 19.—Dr. Aureliano Urrutia, who was Huerta's minister of interior for three months last year, arrived at Vera Cruz, having slipped out of Mexico City with his wife.

Armed soldiers guarded him from infuriated Vera Cruzans while General Funston awaited orders from Washington whether to allow him to remain here or to ship him out of the country as an undesirable citizen. He wants to come to the United States, for it is not safe for him either in Vera Cruz or any other part of the republic.

It is not known why Urrutia left Mexico City except that in Huerta's determination to exile, imprison or do away with every man who might rise up against him he saw a rival in Urrutia.

Circulars were scattered through the streets here calling upon the people of Vera Cruz to drive Urrutia out of the city. By the time he had reached his hotel a mob had gathered shouting for his life.

TOMMY ATKINS TO GUARD

Mediation Conferences Will Be Held Behind English Guns.

Niagara Falls, Ont., May 19.—All is in readiness for the meetings of the men who are about to try to find a solution to the Mexican tangle tomorrow under the roof of the Clifton hotel around which will stand a guard of British soldiers.

Dr. Romulo S. Naon, minister of Argentine to the United States, and Senor Da Gama, ambassador of Brazil, are already here.

Dr. Suarez Mujica, the minister of Chili, will arrive today. Justice Lamar and Frederick W. Lehmann, the United States representatives, will reach the Falls tomorrow and will go to the Prospect House on the American side, where they are going to stop.

A request for a military guard, it is learned, is said to have been prompted by mysterious reports being circulated of the presence here of a number of Mexican spies of all factions. There is evidently, however, no foundation whatsoever for these rumors.

REBELS WANT MORE

Retirement of Huerta From Mexican Presidency Not Enough.

Juarez, Mex., May 19.—The news that General Huerta had authorized his delegates to the conference with the South American mediators to present his resignation should that act be necessary to restore peace elicited the statement from Constitutionalists here that such an action would not at all compose the situation.

They assert that their plans contemplate not only the elimination of Huerta, but also of his party.

A movement of rebel troops will be directed against the bandit with all possible dispatch. Consul Letcher advised the state department.

Going Up and Down Stairs.

Going up and down stairs properly is one of the best physical exercises It strengthens the heart, expands the lungs by inducing deep breathing, strengthens muscles of the back, shoulder and abdomen. It promotes elasticity of the foot and leg muscles and above all, brings about poise of the body.

The correct, healthful way to mount stairs is as follows:

First.—Place the ball of one foot on the step, raise the heel of the other foot, carrying it inward so that it is in line with the heel of the foot in front.

Second.—At the same time raise the body by transferring the weight to the ball of the foot already on the stair The relative positions of the different parts of the body are precisely the same as in walking on a level surface —head up, chest up and out, arms hanging free from the shoulder blades

To descend stairs the following are the correct positions:

First.—Body erect, point the toe downward, heel turned inward.

Second.—Touch the step, sinking gradually, lightly upon the ball of that foot, at the same time carrying the weight to it by raising the heel of the foot on the stair above, swinging the heel inward on the toe as a pivot, as in mounting stairs.

Keep the heels in line all the time. Spreading the feet is not only awkward, but unrefined. Swaying also is awkward and unnecessary. Practice rising on the toes and sinking on the knees, slowing rising again. It will help make the ankle muscles flexible so that the little pivot movement can be done freely.

A Valuable Cream.

One of the most delightful creams to use on the face is the orange flower cream. It will soften and whiten the skin and is also good for massaging It is not as greasy as most creams. It may be prepared as follows:

Take spermaceti, six drams; oil of sweet almonds four ounces, white wax, six drams; glycerin, one and one half ounces; borax, two drams; orange flower water, two ounces; oil of olives fifteen drops; the oil of neroli, fifteen drops; oil of bigarade (orange skin), fifteen drops Warm the spermaceti, wax and almond oil in a double boiler until they become creamy; then add the glycerin to the orange flower water and let the borax dissolve in this Pour this mixture into the first one, stirring constantly. Just before the cream congeals pour in the perfumed oils drop by drop

For Oily Skin.

Oily skins are often caused by indigestion. If your skin is olly pay strict attention to your diet, eating only the simplest foods at regular hours and absolutely avoiding all greasy foods A couple of times a day sponge the following witch hazel lotion on the face: Take four ounces of distilled witch hazel and one dram of boric acid and mix together

Do not use any cream on the face, but protect it as much as possible from all sudden changes of temperature and any undue irritation. Build up the general health, paying particular attention to the circulation. Once the blood is in perfect condition it will remedy the shriveled skin of which you complain.

To Reduce Waist Line.

To reduce the size of the waist and hips stand with the feet eighteen inches apart. Raise arms above head and bend body from waist only until the finger tips touch the floor. Raise the body and repeat. Practice this for five minutes and then put the feet together and go through the same movements for another five minutes. At first you will not be able to touch the floor, but the necessary flexibility will come in time. Repeat the exercise frequently at first.

Two Kinds of Powder.

If you are up to date in the use of face powder you should have two sorts of powder—one to use in the daytime and one to use in the evening. The evening powder, because of the fact that it will be shown under artificial light, is colored slightly mauve. This sort of powder must be expensive to be delicately and naturally colored and for a good quality. The daylight powder has a pinker tinge.

To Clean the Face.

Japanese tissue paper is convenient in cleansing the face. It may be used instead of a face cloth. It possesses the big advantage that it can be thrown away after it is used and therefore appeals to the fastidious woman as cleaner than any cloth. These little sheets of tissue paper can be used to apply lotions, cold cream or water to the skin. It is thin, soft and at the same time firm.

Hand Lotion.

A formula for a hand lotion that has proved to be a delightful toilet article is as follows: Take thirty grains of gum tragacanth, soak in seven ounces of rosewater for three days, stirring occasionally with a wooden spoon. At the end of that time strain and add one ounce of glycerin and one of alcohol.

LENTILS FOR LENTEN FARE.

LUNCHEON.
Lentil Cutlets Lettuce Salad.
Mock Cherry Pie.
Tea.

The nutritious qualities of lentils make them an ideal food to substitute for meat. In Lent, when meat is banished from the bill of fare on so many days, lentils may be used to great advantage.

Some appetizing recipes for cooking lentils are given here:

Lentil and Rice Saute.—To a cupful of soaked and boiled lentils add one cupful of boiled rice. Fry a minced onion in two tablespoonfuls of butter, then turn in the rice and lentil mixture and saute for ten or fifteen minutes, stirring constantly. Serve with tomato sauce seasoned with curry powder.

A Meat Substitute.

Lentil Cutlets.—Take a cupful of lentils soaked and cooked in water to cover until tender; then add three grated onions, chopped parsley, thyme to season and enough breadcrumbs to make a stiff mixture. Turn on a large plate, flatten with a broad bladed knife, then as soon as stiffened cut into triangular sections and shape like cutlets. When quite cold roll in beaten egg and fine crumbs, insert a small piece of macaroni in the small end of each cutlet to imitate the bone and fry in hot fat. Serve with mint tomato sauce or apple sauce.

A Kitchen Economy.

Lentil Hash. Take one pint of lentils that have been soaked overnight, then cooked until tender and add to them a half pint of cold boiled potatoes chopped fine, two tablespoonfuls of chopped onion, one tablespoonful of salt, a half teaspoonful of pepper, two tablespoonfuls of butter or oil and a half cupful of milk. Put into a frying pan that has been greased and set in the oven or over the fire until one side is browned; then turn and brown the other.

Wholesome Fare.

Baked Lentils Take one pint of lentils, three ounces of salt pork, half a clove of garlic or half a small onion, half a teaspoonful of salt, a dash of pepper and one pint of water. Wash and soak the lentils overnight in cold water Pour off the water and put into a stewpan with two quarts of cold water. As the water begins to boil the lentils will rise. Skim them off and put into a dish with pork and onions in the center. Put the pepper and salt into a quart of boiling water, pour over the beans and bake in a moderate oven four or five hours. Add boiling water when needed.

DELICIOUS CONSOMMES.

Consomme is a clear soup with the nutritive properties of the meat extracted by long and slow boiling It must be of a clear, bright, transparent color. To accomplish this it is strained, cooled and skimmed and cleared with the white of an egg.

Vegetable Stock.

To make a clear vegetable or maigre stock, as it is called, proceed as follows: Take two very large onions, peel and slice them thinly and place them in a clean saucepan. Add to them two large carrots, carefully scraped and cut into small pieces; two turnips peeled and sliced, two heads of celery carefully washed and cut into one inch lengths, herb for seasoning, half a dozen peppercorns, half a teaspoonful of salt, if obtainable a tiny bit of basil and a quart of water. Bring very gently to the boil, remove any scum which may chance to arise, and then add a gill of cold water. Draw the pan to the side of the fire. Leave the lid off and simmer very slowly for nearly two hours, taking care that the liquor does not reduce. Then strain through a soup cloth into a clean basin and use at once or reserve till needed.

A Vegetable Soup.

Green Pea Consomme.—This is consomme to which some previously cooked green peas have been added. About a small breakfastspoonful should be allowed for each person. They should be cooked in salted water with a sprig of fresh mint, if possible, and a tiny piece of loaf sugar.

Consomme Royale.—Whisk the yolks and whites of two eggs to a froth, then add to them a gill of new milk, or, if expense is no object, a gill of cream may be used instead. Season with pepper and salt to taste. A tiny grate of nutmeg may be added also if the flavoring is liked. Color a pale green by means of a few drops of spinach juice, or pink with a few drops of carmine. Butter a round dish very thickly, and then strain the mixture into this through a fine gravy strainer. Place in a saucepan half full of boiling water and steam till firm. The water should come only halfway up the dish. Leave till cold, then cut into strips, and each strip into tiny squares or fancy shapes. Rinse quickly in very warm water and then add the soup.

CHECKED FABRICS.

They Are to Be Very Popular For Spring Wear.

NEW BLACK AND WHITE GOWN.

The common sense costume shown here is a Poiret creation. It is intended to be worn under a spring coat, and its lines particularly adapt it for youthful figures. Black and white checked serge is combined with plain black cloth. It is ornamented with ball buttons in black and white. The vogue of checks is foreshadowed in this as in many other spring models.

Much attention may be given to buttons, as on all the well made tailor mades the buttons are a striking note The lesser precious stones are being used for these trimmings, so we see buttons in jade, amber, lapus lazuli, cornaline, agate, etc.

Moreover, it is not an extravagance to pay a good price for a set of buttons, as they can always be used on something if they have intrinsic value, no matter what the fashions. And just now they have a very obvious value, for it is in details chiefly that the marks of good dressing are to be found.

NECKWEAR A LA MODE.

High Collars Are Favored For the Coming Season.

The neckwear fashions of the present season are destined to please women who have thin necks. The high medici and the Mary Stuart collars are favorable to the concealment of gaunt neck lines.

Illustrated here is one of the new plaited neck frills with satin tie to be worn with a simple morning blouse.

The butterfly bow is used in every conceivable way by spring fashion designers. A bow in wired black tulle is also illustrated here.

At present the lavish display of beautiful neckwear in the shops indicates a continuance of the styles of the midwinter season and the introduction of many new novelties. Designs vary from the small, trim roll back collars to the full, lace edged, quaintly fashioned berthas.

The distinguishing feature about these new collars is their extreme sheerness. Even the Plauen collars are lacier than ever and some very prettily designed. These show up particularly well on a dress of dark serge.

Collar and cuff sets of dainty embroidered batiste are so sheer that they have the appearance of gauze.

A SYMBOLIC DEATH AND RESURRECTION

Real Baptism Is Burial of Human Will Into God's Will.

Baptism a Symbol of Consecration. The Old Creature Buried In Baptism. The New Creature Arises to Walk In Newness of Life — Baptized With Christ's Baptism—Importance of the Symbol—Greater Importance of the Real Baptism—Dead to Everything Except the Will of God.

May 17.—Pastor Russell, whose Photo-Drama of Creation not only presents the story of man's redemption, but also outlines earth's history from its beginning, preached today upon Baptism. His text was, "Therefore we are buried with Him by baptism into death: that like as Christ was raised from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life."—Romans 6:4.

Water baptism, the Pastor declared, is merely a picture of the real baptism. The Apostle explains from various points of view the real baptism, without which the symbol is a mere form. Whoever receives the real baptism, thereby becomes a member of the Body of Christ, the New Creation; but whoever has it not is not a New Creature, a member of the Body of Christ, though he were baptized in water a thousand times.

The Pastor then showed that the real baptism is into Christ's death, not into water. This baptism takes place at the moment of full consecration to God—complete surrender to do the Divine will, even unto death. This burial of the will into God's will is reckoned to be the death of the human being. Therefore the Apostle says to the Church, "Ye are dead, and your life is hid with Christ in God." Thenceforth the consecrated are no longer counted as human beings, but as New Creatures in Christ. This burial of the will into the Divine will is instantly followed by the begetting to newness of life—to a new nature.

Water Baptism as a Symbol.

Next the Pastor discussed water baptism. Reviewing the various theories of the different denominations, he explained wherein these are not in harmony with Scripture. Neither sprinkling nor pouring could in any way be considered a picture of death and burial. He called attention to the fact that the Greek word baptizo signifies immersing, covering, plunging; and that wholly different words are used in the Greek when sprinkling, pouring or raining is meant.

The Pastor then discussed immersion as set forth by the Baptists and the Disciples. Both denominations have the right form; but the Disciples preach the baptism taught by John the Baptist, not baptism into Christ; and the Baptists emphasize the symbol rather than the reality—consecration unto death. Apparently the speaker sustained his point; for he certainly harmonized all the Scriptures bearing upon the subject

The Real Baptism Into Christ.

Having established the facts that water baptism is a symbolic picture of consecration, and that immersion is the Scriptural form of baptism, the Pastor next considered the subject as presented in Romans 6. There the Apostle sets forth the deep significance of burial with Jesus. From the moment of consecration the Christian should walk in newness of life, and his daily course should be altogether different from that of the world.

The Pastor then explained this walking in newness of life. To the Christian, "Old things have passed away"—old hopes, ambitions, motives, etc. These have given place to new hopes, higher ambitions, better motives. To these the first general Law is given—the Golden Rule. To be the Lord's representative, every Christian must love his neighbor as himself—must deal with him as he would have that neighbor deal with him.

How the Christian Fulfils the Law.

The Pastor showed that God has made a provision for the Church which He did not make for the Jews. Israel had a typical mediator, who could not offer real atonement for their weaknesses and have them judged according to their mind—their intentions. But, through Jesus Christ, the Father has made this very arrangement for the Church. When these keep the Golden Rule to the best of their ability, the righteousness of the Law is fulfilled in them.

But in his consecration vow, the Christian agreed to do much more than merely keep the Golden Rule. He covenanted to give up all of his earthly interests to do the Divine will and to drink the cup which the Father pours for all of Jesus' footstep followers. He must accept whatever the Father permits to come to him: he neither pours his own cup nor buries himself. This is beautifully pictured in water baptism. There the candidate submits to the will of the administrator. Figuratively the Lord lets the consecrated one down into death, and will one day raise him to perfection of life.

28 YEARS TO ACCEPT DIVORCE

When Husband Returns Wife Pays Cost and Gets Decree.

Towanda, Pa.—Feeble with the weight of years, yet determined in manner, Mrs. Hanna Harrison entered the courthouse and demanded the papers in a divorce granted her twenty-eight years ago. Prothonotary E tel spent two hours searching the records and finally found that back in the eighties Mrs. Harrison had been granted a divorce from James Harrison on the grounds of desertion. The decree was to become effective when Mrs. Harrison paid the costs of the case. The conditions were explained to the aged woman, and she said she knew all about it and was ready to pay the costs as required.

Then she explained that about the time the divorce was applied for she heard her husband was dead, and she decided that a divorce was not necessary. A few days ago he returned after an absence of over thirty years, and she decided to lift the decree. She accordingly paid the costs and was given the papers, which restores to her her maiden name.

"I put him out of my life forever when I applied for that divorce, and now I intend to keep him out," said the woman as she placed the court's decree in her hand bag and left the courthouse.

REBELS COIN MONEY.

Coins Not Pretentious and Look as if Made by Amateurs.

Juarez, Mexico.—It is not generally known that the Constitutionalist forces in Mexico have coined money in silver and copper. These coins were struck in Chihuahua and are very crudely done—in fact, are about the most amateurish pieces of money that have been produced in many years. The peso or dollar has on one side simply "H del Parral, 1913," in a wreath, and on the other side, "1 peso."

The half dollar is more pretentious. On one side is the inscription, "Fuerzas Constitutionalistas, 1913" (Constitutional forces), and in the center a liberty cap surrounded by rays, a copy of the older style of Mexican coins. The reverse has "50 centavos" in a wreath, a poor copy of the present coinage of Huerta. The copper piece, which is said to have been made from trolley wire melted down, is similar to the 50 centavos, but has a "2 C" in a wreath for 2 centavos.

EDISON BRAVES DOCTOR'S IRE

"Wizard" Burns Midnight Oil to Perfect Talking Movie.

West Orange, N. J.—Much against the advice of his physician and his family, Thomas A. Edison is again burning the midnight oil. It became known here that in a week Mr. Edison has spent less than six hours in his home, Glenmont, in Llewellyn Park.

Practically all day long and the better part of the night the "wizard" is on the third floor of his laboratory working on the talking movie.

"Any person who knows Mr. Edison is acquainted with the fact that he will never give up interest or work or experiment with a thing until it has become as nearly perfect as possible," said William H. Meadowcroft, his private secretary.

Bedridden Twelve Years.

Akron, O.—Jacob Herr, seventy-five, who had not been out of his bed in twelve years, is dead. Twenty-five years ago he was stricken with paralysis and twelve years ago his condition became such that he was unable to leave his bed. In the last ten years he had prayed silently for death to relieve him.

"A NO. 1," FAMOUS HOBO, MARRIED

Romance Halts Roaming of Best Known Tramp.

HIS REAL NAME A SECRET.

Thirty Years' Tramping Around the World at Total Expense of $7.61 Railroad Fares—Learned Four Languages. Now Prominent Citizen of Erie, Pa., Where He Settled Down.

Erie, Pa.—"A No. 1," the "champion hobo" of the world, has settled down and married. The wanderer who made his home from Suez to Sitka has crammed himself up in a six room apartment. The tramp who has been sleeping in box cars for full thirty years now has a mahogany bed.

For a third of a century he drifted aimlessly from Chile to Alaska. He "rode the rods" for more than half a million miles. He saw more scenery at less overhead cost per look than any man living. In thirty years he paid only $7.61 railroad fare. But he never smokes, drinks or gambles. His only great passion was the wanderlust. And now this hobo has forsaken the road, fallen in love and married.

One night in February, 1911, a freight train chugged into the yards at Erie, Pa. The night was cold and a stinging sleet was falling. "A No. 1" was hidden away in one of the box cars arriving. The car inspector routed him out and found that he was half frozen. He took him to his shanty and shared his midnight lunch with him. The remainder of the night "A No. 1" spent sleeping on a bunk covered with black cushions in the glare of a red hot stove. It was an unusual act of kindness for a hobo to receive. "A No. 1" vowed that he would never forget it.

Last November "A No. 1" visited Erie again, and this time he brought a present for his true friend, the car inspector. He was invited to call at the inspector's house. He accepted the invitation. Then he met the inspector's daughter, Miss Mary Abigail Trohoski, a high school graduate, twenty years of age and a finished musician.

In that one night Cupid accomplished for the roamer what "A No. 1" had been trying to do for himself for a quarter of a century.

Love was stronger than wanderlust, and they were engaged. The announcement caused consternation among the ladies of Erie. They whispered about the outrage of pretty Miss Trohoski throwing herself away on a hobo. Some of her friends came to her with tears in their voices and pleaded with her to reconsider it. All in vain. Miss Trohoski replied that hers was not the common variety of hobo. She was right. He is the most remarkable roamer in trampdom.

"A No. 1's" history is too well known to require any detailed comment. He ran away from home when he was eleven years of age and became a yeggman kid. A yeggman tramp doesn't beg; he robs; he would blackjack a man for a meal. He always has a kid to travel with him, for the child can stand outside while he is cracking a safe and give him the signal when a "copper" approaches. Besides, the kid, with the appeal that his tender years makes, can get food for both by begging for it, while a regular old tramp would be more likely to get jail.

The yeggman that this hobo traveled with thirty years ago called him "A No. 1" kid. The boy got his "monicker" from this; tramps never have real names. They are called "Alkali Ike" or "Box Car Bennie" or the like. Ask "A No. 1" his real name, and he will reply, "Sh—sh—just 'A No. 1.'"

He has a picture of himself and Jack London taken during their companionship on the road in 1894. "A No. 1" also possesses autographed cards from Thomas A. Edison, Luther Burbank and William H. Taft. Another card has this terse note: "I know 'A No. 1' to be O. K. Theodore Roosevelt."

"A No. 1" has prevented twenty railroad wrecks in as many years. He has letters from three different railroad presidents thanking him for his saving of property and life.

"A No. 1" won a $1,000 wager once by "deadbeating" his way from New York to San Francisco in eleven days and six hours. With $750 of this he bought a tomb at Cambridge Springs, Pa., and inscribed this epitaph on it:

"A No. 1"
The Rambler
At Rest at Last

The remaining $250 he spent in rescuing boys from the hard life that had held him in its grip for so many years.

The Baltimore American Monday morning had a telegram from Cakland (special) telling about the dedication of the new Methodist church. It should have been Dodson. The Cumberland News and the Cumberland Times announced the opening of the season at Deer Park June 1 and gave the date of the Epworth League convention to be held at that place. It should have been Mountain Lake Park, not Deer Park. Just a mistake of the printer.

Bears Emulsion is the Best Made.

John D. Bear, Elkton, Va.

Dear Sir: My wife had a long, lingering cough all the fall, and nothing seemed to do any good, until Dr. Gordon gave me a prescription for Bear's Emulsion. After the first few doses I could see that she was much better and was continuing to improve every day. I can honestly say it is the best thing for cough, colds and run-down system I ever saw. Joe Cook,
Elkton, Va., R. F. D.

Don't let your cough go until it weakens your lungs so that it will be easy for the tuberculosis germs to get hold of them. Stop and think how awful it is that 5,000 people died last year in the State of Virginia from consumption. And do you think you are doing the right thing by not taking something to build up your body so it will withstand the action of this awful germ. A weak run-down system is the one that furnishes the best feeding place for the germ. If your druggist does not have it, ask him to get it for you. Or we will prepay express on it to you until he does get it. One dollar a bottle, or six bottles for five dollars. John D. Bear & Bro. Elkton, Va.

COUNTY NORMAL SCHOOL.

To the Public—

The County Normal School will open in Oakland, Monday, May 25, 1914, for a term of seven or eight weeks. It will be devoted particularly to preparing those who contemplate entering the profession of teaching, as well as providing an opportunity for those already in the profession to qualify themselves for better work. Arrangements have been made for a course of lectures in pedagogy and kindred subjects.

Opportunity will also be provided for students about to enter the State High School to prepare themselves for the work, as well as for those students who are now in the high schools to qualify themselves more thoroughly in any subjects in which they find they are somewhat handicapped.

With the teaching force of the normal school numbering three instructors, we shall also be able to give ample work and instruction to those pupils of the sixth and seventh grades of the county school system, in order to strengthen them in the work that they have before covered, so that they will enter the coming year's work with many advantages.

The tuition fees are payable in advance, and for the teachers' course they will be six dollars; and for pupils of the public schools both high and grammar, the tuition fee will be five dollars.

The instructors are making special arrangements with residents of Oakland for boarding and rooming of students at the best rates possible.

Last Saturday evening some Oakland young people went to Mt. Lake Park to spend the evening with a lady friend. A can of lemon ice was frozen for the company's enjoyment, and placed on the back porch to keep cool. When the time for refreshments came the lemon ice was missing and could not be found. Coffee and cake were substituted. Sunday morning the ice cream freezer was found in the ditch near the house, but empty. The question is, who got the cream?

A MOTHER FALLS AND BREAKS HER NECK

Untimely End Of Mrs. George Magrude., Who Resided Near Finzel.

Mrs. George Magruder, aged forty one years, was instantly killed on Wednesday night when she fell headlong down the stairway of her home, the tall resulting in the dislocation of her neck.

Mrs. Magruder was the mother of nine children, one of them being addicted to walking in its sleep. Hearing the child in another part of the house Mrs. Magruder arose from her bed and it is presumed by her family she became bewildered and instead of going to the room where the child was she went in the opposite directon with the result as above set forth,

Besides her children she is survived by her husband and a large circle of relatives and friends, Her funeral occurred on Friday with interment in the Laruel Hill cemetery. Rev. Jewell. of the Presbyterian church, officiating.

Returned From Hospital.

On last Saturday morning Col. A. G. Sturgiss, of Oakland, who spent the past two years in a goverment hospital in the Black Hills, arrived in Oakland, accompained by his son, Mr. W. A. Sturgiss, who went went west the preceding week to bring his father home, whose condition is such as to make it impossible for him to travel alone for so great distance. He was met by many friends at the train who gave him a hearty welcome home. While the Colonel is far from enjoying the robust health with which he was blessed several years ago, he is much better than when he went west and has hopes of regaining his old time vigor.

WILLIAM ELLIOTT KILLED

At Bloomington by B. & O. "Parcel Post Train" Tuesday.

William Elliott of Bloomington, aged 46 years, was killed about 11 o'clock Tuesday morning in the cut just west of Beryl or two miles south of Piedmont on the B. & O. railroad by train No. 48, west bound—"Parcel Post Train. '

It was clearly an accident and Dr. Z. T. Kalbaugh, his brother and another witness was examined by J. Forsyth Harrison, acting coroner, who deemed an inquest unnecessary, and at the request of his family, no inquest was held.

Elliott was a coal miner by trade, and was a member of the Order of Owls. Deceased was an unmarried man. It was the case of trains—one west—one east, and he apparently did not see or hear the west bound one. His body was not mangled and there was not any blame attached to any one for the sad accident.

Selling "Little Cigars" to Miners Unlawful.

For the benefit of Garrett county merchants, we publish the following decision of a West Virginia Judge. We have heard of these "little cigars" being sold in this county. Those who are interested should inform themselves as to what a cigarette really is. Judge Alan H. Robinson has defined the word for once and for all the time, or at least for as long as he remains in office in ilning the Atheninian Amusement Company of Wheeling for selling to minors. Judge Robinson ruled that "little cigars" are cigarettes, in the eyes of the law.

The court said: "A cigarette is a small cigar made of finely cut tobacco rolled in an envelope of tobacco, corn husk or thin paper, generally rice paper, so as to form a cylinder open at both ends." Those who insist that the government stamp on little cigar boxes is stamped "cigars" gives them the right to sell had better refrain from selling the cigars as cigarettes. Prosecutor Addleman has expressed an intention to demand the arrest of all violators.

UNVEILING OF MONUMENT TO MORGAN EAIRCRILD

By The Woodmen of The World In Oakland Last Sabbath.

As announced in The Republican last week, the unveiling of the monument erected over the grave of Morgan Fairchild in the Oakland cemetery by the fraternal order of the Woodmen of the World, occurred last Sabbath afternoon. The exercises were very appropriate and impressive and attracted a large number of people both on the streets of this city to witness the parade, and at the cemetery to witness the unveiling of the monument and hear the splendid address of the speaker of the hour, Honorable D. W. Thayer, of Washington, D. C.

The parade formed on Liberty street opposite the B. & O. railroad station and was composed of the Uniform Rank from Fairmont, W. Va., Oak Camp No. 11 of Crellin this county, of which the deceased had been a member, a few members from Oakland and Mountain Lake Park and the Camp from Deer Park and reached the corner of Alder and Third streets. The Woodmen marched to the cemetery, headed by the Mountain City band of Oakland. About 250 Woodmen were in the procession.

The address of Mr. Thayer, as was expected, was of great interest, especially to the members of this growing organization. The committee of arrangements are to be congratulated in securing such a good speaker. His entire address was full of thought, beautifully illustrating the teachings and benefits of the order and doubtless created a most favorable opinion of the organization.

The unveiling of the beautiful monument was according to the rules of the Woodmen and beautifully illustrated the fraternal character of the order which not only cared for the individual member when in life, or when nearing the border land, but which after death had taken its victim, did not forget him, but over his grave placed a monument which should stand throughout the coming ages.

Time For Congress to Adjourn.

Nothing furnishes a more withering indictment of the New Freedom, as applied to business than the enormous decline in the American trade] balance. In the past six months during which the Wilson tariff has been in full]operation, the excess of American experts over imports has declined to $217,000,000, compared with $414,000,000, during the same period in the preceding year.

Last month the United States actually owed foreign banks over $10,000,000 as the result of international trade. In the last three months our excess of exports has amounted to a puny $31,000,000, compared with $129,000,000 in the same months last year when the Payne law was still operative.

This is a genuine national calamity. Already a stream of American gold is flowing from our shores to pay our obligations abroad, when ships should be carrying instead full cargoes of American-made merchandise. Any business program, under whatever name, which makes the United States buy from foreigners more than it sells to them is a fraud.

Any program which harries our industries at home so that they are no longer able to fill the markets of the world with our products must end in financial and industrial disaster. When American workingmen are idle instead of busy manufacturing things for Old World consumption, it is time for Congress to adjourn and go home.

Democratic Meeting in Oakland.

Last Monday night Hon. Isaac Lobe Straus addressed the Democrats of this vicinity in the Empire Theatre on the topics of the day. John R. Neil, secretary of the Maryland State Federation of Labor, also spoke. The meeting was presided over by Attorney A. T. Matthews. A fair audience was present to hear the speakers. The Mountain City band furnished the music. Mr. William Miller of Accident, was present.

Mr. Straus and Secretary Neil came to Oakland from Frostburg, in an automobile, via Grantsville and Accident. At both of these places they shook hands with members of the Democratic family.

Mr. Straus seems to be making a favorable impression upon the public and doubtless gaining votes for his candidacy for United States Senator. He is a strong man and well qualified for the position he seeks.

SUFFRAGE CAMPAIGN IN GARRETT

Just Government League to Hold Many Meetings In County.

The Just Government League of Maryland is persistent in wanting votes for women. Garrett county already has 151 enrolled members of the Suffrage organization, and the suffragists want every person in this section to know why all women need votes.

About June 8th, Miss L. C. Trax, Secretary of the State organization, will visit Oakland, to confer with the local League concerning plans for meetings in every district of the County. The campaign will take the form of a walking trip. The party, made up of Miss Trax, Mrs. Edna S. Latimer, Miss Minnie Jackson, Miss Thurlong, a Goucher graduate, Adeline Ehrlich and Sadie Caplan, of the Fife and Bugle corps of the J. G. L., will leave Frostburg on June 16, and touch the following towns; Grantsville, Bittinger, Accident, Friendsville, Sang Run, McHenry, Hutton, Crellin, Oakland, Mt. Lake, Deer Park, Swanton, Kitzmiller, and Bloomington. Evening meetings will be held in the majority of these towns, though Sang Run, Hutton and Mt. Lake may not be on the list of towns for the 8 o'clock visit. The schedule is as yet immature, for the State organization has not yet had an opportunity for planning in detail with the local suffragists.

The campaigners, who come from the State headquarters in Baltimore, are greatly encouraged by the sums of money donated for this especial work. An appeal was made for raising money for this county, and contributions came from all over the state. The walking trip is being watched with great interest, as Garrett county is the first in this state to have such a campaign. The suffragists ask for the co-operation of all sympathizers, and urge suffragists and anti-suffragists to attend the meetings, the dates of which will be published later.

How Good Roads Prevent Disease.

That good roads prevent disease is a novel proposition, and it will strike many people as fanciful—until they have thought it over. Yet we have not seen an argument more convincing than that which the Kansas State Board of Health advances to prove that there is a direct association between good roads and good health.

Weeds and other rank vegetable growths are prolific breeders of flies, mosquitos, and other disease-carrying insects. Sound road-building causes the removal of weeds and similar trash. Weed undergrowths by the roadside invite the deposit of garbage and offal. Good roads do away with these disease breeding agencies.

Good roads also prevent disease by providing good drainage. Many farms have no drainage except by ditches along the side of the road. Open ditches, clear of brush and debris, of hard surface and proper fall, afford farmers an opportunity to rid themselves of stagnant pools.

Oiling of roads destroys insect larvae. Dry, hard roads enable thousands of pedestrians, especially the thousands of school children who in country localities walk quite a distance to and from school, to keep their shoes and stockings dry, thus preventing colds and their frequent consequences, pneumonia and tuberculosis.—Buffalo Times.

Speicher's Sell Another Fine Horse.

From the Brownsville, Pa., Press, we learn that H. J. Speicher & Co., the pushing horse importers of Accident, this county, have sold one of their fine imported horses, which they purchased in Belgium early last spring. The horse was named Walther, weighed 2,000 pounds and is pronounced a very fine horse. The sale was made by the company's local agent, Mr. J. A. Hileman, and brought the snug sum of $3,000. The paper speaks of a very delightful banquet given at Hotel Storey on last Friday, which was attended by the purchasers of the horse, fourteen Uniontown and Brownsville farmers, Mr. Hileman and Senator Speicher and the newspaper men of Brownsville were also present. The horse is considered one of the finest horses ever brought into that community. Enroute home Senator Speicher stopped in Oakland Saturday, for a few hours. This firm is pushing their business to the very front rank of importors of high bred horses. They deserve the greatest success because of their efforts to secure the best horses in the market for their trade.

SALOON BURGLARIZED; SUSPECTS CAOGHT IN KEYSER

"Cat" Shaw and "Red" Gallagher Charged With Robbing Casteel's Place

Tuesday night the saloon of Harry H. Casteel, located on Second street, was burglarized, entrance to the building having been effected through a side door leading from a passageway between the Offutt building and the saloon. Money to the amount of $20 was taken from the cash register and a large amount of favorite brands of liquor was pilfered.

The robbery was not detected until the following morning and at once the finger of suspicion was pointed at "Cat" Shaw, who was loafing about the saloon until a late hour the night of the robbery, and who was just recently discharged from the Moundsville penitentiary. Shaw, along with another man named Gallagher, who bears the euphonious name of "Red," was located in Keyser and arrested. Both men were brought to Oakland last night and are now in jail. Sheriff Scott and Policeman Nethkin brought the two men here from Keyser.

Undisputed Facts.

This is the season to swat the fly and the saloon.

What sort of a place could be given in the Brotherhood of Man to a person engaged in the liquor business?

It is impossible for a citizen of this republic to be indifferent to the great evil that is going on around him, between righteousness and the saloon, unless he is dead and buried.

No man can touch fire and not be burned. No man can come in contact with liquor and be unaffected. Even the moderate drinker is worse off than the man who never touches liquor at all.

Ingham county, Michigan, in which is the capital city of Lansing, went wet two years ago after being dry for two years. This spring the county went back into the dry column. There was no margin about it; either, for the dry majority was 1,200.

Liquor is a fraud it lies to the man who takes the first glass. It is a thief—it steals manhood, virtue, health, money, brains. It is a murderer—it kills men, women and children by the thousands. Liquor is guilty of all the crimes and misdemeanors in the catalogue. There is not one of the ten commandments it has not caused men to break. Do you want such a criminal business in your town, your county, your state, your nation?

Last Saturday a country man came to Oakland to get some supplies for his family. He met some companions. They found the saloon. Wife and children at home without proper food. Two men in jail at the expense of the county and they remained there several days. This is only one illustration of the license system.

The American Issue gives this picture: Saloon—a laboring man at bar. He had just drawn his wages and asked the bar-tender "How much is my bill?" The reply was "$12." The laborer took from his pay roll one $10 bill and two $1 bills and gave them to the Saloon man. Just then, the son of the liquor seller came into the scene. "Pop, mamma wants $12 to pay for her new hat." Pop hands the $12 that paid the drink bill. The laboring man, "I refused my wife $4 for a new hat. Said I could not afford it. I see now I can afford to pay $12 for my rum-seller's wife's hat. I am done buying hats for other men's wives."

Garrett County High Schools Closed.

Last Friday evening the Oakland High School held its commencement exercises. The program as announced in these columns was successfully carried out. Those who were present were delighted. Those who took part in the program acquitted themselves splendidly. The faculty may justly feel proud of the graduating class. The various exercises of commencement week proved that the work of the past school year was the best in the history of the High School. Progress has been made in all lines. The faculty each and all have faithfully performed their duties.

The closing exercises of the Friendsville High School were very satisfactory. It was without question one of the most encouraging and successful commencements of the schools history. Judges William's address made a favorable impression and was helpful. The address was well received and suitable for the occasion. It was a great night for Friendsville, and in the years to come will be looked oack to with much pleasure.

THE DEATH RECORD

JAMES TREACY SR.

Last Friday morning at 9 a. m., in St. Peter's Catholic church this city, Father Connell celebrated requiem mass and conducted the funeral services of the late Jame Treacy, Sr. There was a large attendance at this service, as this old man had many friends, in fact all who knew him were his friends. She was buried on Wednesday, in the Laurel Hill cemetery, at Barton, Md. Funeral services were held at the M. E. church at Barton at which church she had attended Sunday school from a child to womanhood. Auto Party Have Experience.

While David Long and party were returning trom Cumberland to Keyser by automobile, they were annoyed by a bald eagle darting near their machine. After they had passed Frankfort the eagle came so near the automobile that it could be seen that it carried a snake in its talons. The eagle followed the machine for some distance and finally dropped the snake and it fell beside the automobile as it was running.

To this rally every man and woman interested in the banishment of the saloon and its ruinous work from Garrett county is invited. Let the enthusiasm to be kindled at this meeting be sogreat that there shall sweep all over this county such a mighty influence which will swell the majority for the Speicher Local Option bill up into the thousands. That there shall be a movement started which shall reach every school house, every church edifice and every public hall in the county. That shall enlist to the support of the bill every minister of the gospel, every school teacher, and every well wisher for the greatest good to every man, woman and child in the county.

Make this the first meeting of the campaign a great success. We do not simply want to carry Garrett county for this remarkable bill, but we want to carry it by an overwhelming majority.

Dr. Hare took an active part in the campaign which placed West Virginia among the prohibition states. He will also take an active part in the Garrett county campaign. He is an able speaker, interesting and entertaining. You will be delighted in hearing him. He is well posted on the liquor question. He presents facts which carry with them conviction. Do not miss hearing Dr. Hare, Friday 8 p. m., June 5th.

Every arrangement has been made for a successful meeting. All that is needed is your presence.

THE PEOPLE'S FORUM.

Gambling.

To the Editor of The Republican:

Resuming the subject where I left off in my last, let me ask if you would have ministers and their families engage in the game? How, then, can Christians do it? Would you have the Master come into your company while engaged in the game? Would He not be grieved and look sad at the party there present? When He was hanging on the cross there was a contention regarding the division of His clothing. One would take one part and another another part, and another would take the robe. What! that seamless robe? There was a contention as to who should have it. How settle it? It was suggested that they gamble for it. To that they agreed. So they gambled for it at the feet of the dying Saviour. At the cross where God's Son was writhing in agony, under the hiding of the divine face, while friends were heart broken, disciples cast down and enemies scoffing, while nature groaned and the universe was shocked, the heavens were darkened and the earth quaked, the sun refused to shine and the heathen thought the world was at an end or the God of Nature suffered, yet they gambled for the Lord's seamless robe. That was the only gambling party that we know of Jesus being at. If the Lord would not attend them a Christian should not.

You know the story of the pet tiger, the playful kitten-like thing, when it grew into a strong animal one day got the smell of blood on the master's hand and instantly the sleeping instincts of the wild tiger flashed in its blood-thirsty eyes. The pet was aroused to kill and devour.

Not many years ago this social game was an innocent pet, but now it is a fierce, cunning, lithe beast with fiery eyes kindled by the rapacious instincts of the gambler. Oh, you silly mother, you simpleton of a father, you make-believe Christians, killing the innocent by your selfish amusements! Women rage with anger and cry cheat, fraud, and give each other the lie.

Look at the bridge party, mostly composed of church members. They play sometimes into the wee small hours of the morning, then hurry home. Such can't stand a spiritual sermon.

At the home of a church officer a lady boasted she had made twenty dollars one afternoon at the card table. Another won fifty dollars worth of jewelry, yet they were unconscious of this moral degradation. Officers of a church were present at a eucher party at which prizes valued from ten to two hundred dollars were offered. Some of these men dared at the next Sabbath to pass the emblems of the dying Saviour at the communion of the Lord's Supper!

How much better are these than the soldiers at the foot of the cross?

To what does it lead?

Listen! A man refused to give his wife money to gamble with—and he was right—but she told her friends to buy at the store what tney wanted and have them charged to her account, and she would collect the money of them and her husband would pay the bills and be no wiser. Is Monte Carlo worse than this?

A mother, the morning after a eucher party, said to her son, "see, I won that beautiful vase at the party last night." "Oh," said the boy, "that's nothing. See what I made," pulling out a roll of bills. "I made this last night." No wonder that mother was horrified. In her own parlor she had made a gambler of her son.

"Be not deceived, God is not mocked, for whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap."

Empires as well as families have been brought to destruction by gambling. We may ignore the warnings of truth, but our sanguine hopes ot prosperity will not save us. Underneath our mont mental egotism and self assurance the fire of our lust and greed will burn until the whole structure is brought to ashes. I could give you enough testimony against it to convince a mummy, but what is the use. A physician said: "No one but those employed like me by the society I serve know the extent of gambling both in and out of church membership. Why, I took the sacrament in my church with six members adepts in gambling near me." Fearful to think of it!

Oh, Christians, cards weaken your health by late hours; they take away your thoughts from serious things; they weaken your Christian influence. Said a Sabbath school boy to his teacher: "We boys had a dispute. Jim said you were playing cards last night. I said you would not do such a thing. You didn't, did you?" Do you wonder that her sense of grief made her want to crawl into a hole and pull the hole after her? The Christian to have power in the world must be distinguished from it.

Some people think the church narrow when it prohibits such things. A child wanted to play in the gutter and was soiling his clothes. Of course, his mother remonstrated. He cried: "It 'tain't worth living any more. I can't play in the dirt, nor nothing." How many people think life is shorn of its pleasures when they are prohibited from playing in the dirt.

Parents, the burden of responsibility is with you. The voice of the church is of little authority if you are indifferent. You mould character. Leaders of society, you impose on young people for personal gratification customs which parents, ministers and conscientious persons oppose, things in which there is no benefit but they are full of peril, physical, social and moral. You give no tonic to moral character to neutralize the effects of that baleful yielding to popularity, fashion and society, which you induce. You virtually set children against parents and church and open pathways of temptation to them. You take terrible risks and cause others to do the same for the sake of fashion and self indulgence.

If you would shun the professional gambler and warn your children against him; if you would be ashamed to have it known that he was your companion; if you would resent his fawning, officious approaches and teach your children so to do, then do not convert your parlors into gambling places and yourselves into gamblers on a fashionable scale, just for fun or gratification. Would you give them the first lessons in that which may ruin them, then go ahead, and when the little one says, oh, mamma, or papa, 'where did you get that pretty picture; did anybody give it to you? You can slyly wink at your partner in vice and answer: yes; but you know it is a lie. Come, be honest and tell the child that you gambled for it. Show them the cards and the tricks and tell them to go win for themselves pleasure and fortune from the cards. Will you dare do it.

I entreat you parents, one and all, stand for consistency, for righteousness and for Christ. Stand courageously. Seek divine strength to live your convictions in all wisdom and gentleness. You cannot serve God and mammon, Jesus and Satan at the same time. I entreat you fix your eye on gory Calvary. Whom do you see? Behold the annointed of God and and hear Him pray: Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do! Look! He bows His head; that loving heart is broken; His life is gone. Did He atone for your sins? Has He carried the burden of your guilt? Will you crucify your Lord by rejecting and grieving Him by worldly conformity? He is your best friend and therefore commend Him to the world.

"For you He left the courts above,
For you He felt redeeming love,
For you He bore accursed death!
O live to Him your every breath."

With thanks, Mr. Editor, for your forbearance, to this I write "Finis."

O.K.LAND.

A Temperance Talk to Voters

BY JASON KEP

Once upon a time when the earth became densely populated in the section near the sea, a bunch of hardy pioneers banded together and departed upon a journey westward, to seek out a new home.

They traveled on and on until they came to a beautiful high plateau of fertile land, watered by sparkling springs and silvery streams.

Here they settled down and builded homes. As it was the top of the Appalachian range of mountains next to the roof of the earth, they called their section the Garrett and so it it is known even unto the present day.

Then they decided to build a city (for all rich sections must have a city to move into after they become wealthy and independent), so they picked out a beautiful spot just where the B. & O. intended to run when it started on its western journey, and everybody was happy for awhile.

About that time some enterprising individual said, "a city without factories is on the bum." So they called a meeting and organized a board of trade and the board of trade got busy.

The first in order was to name the city. After due deliberation they decided that as everything was O. K. to call the city O. K. Land, and so O. K. Land it was named.

Then they began to hustle for factories. The first thing they did was to take up a subscription and build five Angel making factories and two Educational factories. These factories grew apace for there was abundance of good timber and the people were prosperous, happy and contented, and it became known throughout the whole universe that O. K. Land was a fine place to live and raise a family.

Then the live-wire board of trade decided that they must have a diversified line of industries, for if they built any more Angel factories they might overstock the market, raise the price of wings and haloes, bring on a panic and much suffering and misery be caused thereby.

So they diversified.

After deep thought and much labor they succeeded in bringing in the following factories.

A Jim-Jam factory.
A Delirium Tremen factory.
A Pauper factory.
An Insane factory.
A Home-Wrecking factory.
An Orphan factory.
A Criminal factory.
A Murderer factory.
A White Slave Traffic factory.

And last, but not least, a Circus-Busting factory.

These new factories flourished like a green bay tree, waxed opulent, fat and powerful.

The board of trade's cup of joy was full; indeed it was intoxicating.

But somehow it did not work out just as they had figured. The new factories formed a trust and took possession of the city, and to show their power changed the name to Soak Land, and so it is known in the neighboring sections even unto the present day.

They also decided that the Angel factories must go, as they interfered with their business, besides they needed their laborers.

Soon the Angel factories began to go "on the bum," and were working only one day in the week and the laborers were few.

The stockholders kept cutting down expenses until about the only laborers left were the "Sky Pilots," and their wages were cut to the minimum, and paid partly by donation parties and in mottoes, "God Bless Our Home," "God Will Provide," "Jesus Paid It All."

When at last the people began to see a light and murmured, the trust sent smooth diplomats to inform the people that they had grown too great and powerful to be put out of business; it had become a "divine right." They said, "you can't stop us, you must regulate us, so we will ruin only part of the people and the balance can work hard and support them. And so it drifted along for years, collecting $150,000 a year from the people and causing $150,000 loss of labor each year from drunks and getting over drunks, or $300,000 a year taken from the community, besides the wrecks, deaths, widows and orphans.

Their burden was indeed grievous to bear.

You can try an American's patience so far and then there is something doing.

They called a consultation of all the people in the whole Garrett and formulated a plan to put the whole bunch ot Rum factories out of commission, to throw off the yoke and become free men, to change the name back of O. K. Land and make it once more a good place to live and raise a family.

Will they do it? Have they enough backbone? We hope so.

Sold a Drove of Cattle.

Henry Smouse, Oakland's stock dealer, purchased the past several days 91 head of two year old cattle in the vicinity of Markleysburg, Pa., and Accident, this county. He had them driven to his farm near Oakland, where they arrived Tuesday evening. He is resting them in pasture until tomorrow when he will start the herd for Durbin, W. Va., where he will deliver them to J. Ed. Arbogast, the purchaser.

Temperance Gleanings.

The State of Virginia will vote next September for or against the license of whiskey, with a strong probability of the State becoming dry. If it does there will not be a legalized saloon between the District of Columbia and Alabama, a distance of 1,000 miles.

Judge Adkins, of Easton, Md., said in his charge to the grand jury: "Unquestionably conditions in the country have greatly improved since the passage of the Local Option Law."

Captain Edward Parry, after 12 years' experience in the Arctic regions, said: "Are ardent spirits necessary? I say decidedly, No. It is said they keep the cold out. I say they do not; they let the cold in."

Last week there was a lively contest in Charles county between the "Wets" and "Drys." There have been several heretofore, in which the "Wets" have invariably won. This time the "Drys" downed the "Wets" by a safe majority of the popular vote. This is the first breach in the Southern Maryland tier of counties, and puts Charles at the head of the column. Her sister counties will follow when given the vote.

NOT IN KANSAS SCHEME.

"It was a hot summer day," says the Emporia (Kan.) Gazette. "It was also dusty. One hundred and fifty men were riding from town to town in Central Kansas, in autos, on a trade extension tour. They were Kansas men—merchants, lawyers, doctors, editors, clerks, mechanics, bankers, farmers. From time to time they stopped at thirteen towns during the day's run. No one in the crowd spoke of beer. No one had any beer. No one at the thirteen towns offered anyone any beer. At most of the towns there were great, deep, stone jars of iced lemonade on the side walks with bright tincups hanging from the jars, and a sign up, 'Welcome, Emporians.' There was no whiskey, wine or beer in the crowd. No one missed it. No one spoke of it. For these men, ranging from thirty to sixty years of age, had lived in Kansas thirty years under absolute prohibition, most of them had never been in a saloon in their home town in their lives. 'Booze' was as remote from their consciousness as carbolic acid. 'Booze' is not in the Kansas scheme of things. No one thinks of it. Its presence or absence is not considered by the Kansas mind."

THE WAY THE TRADE SEES IT.

Three men talked together in one of Chicago's big hotels a few days ago. The eldest, about sixty-five years of age, had been in the liquor business since he was a boy of eight; the other two had spent the larger part of their lives in it. Their conclusions was that its days are numbered. The older man, a wholesale dealer of some reputation, at last gave it as his opinion that they would all have to get out of the business by 1920.

IT DOES THE WORK.

Testimony of Emory Shifflett on Bear's Emulsion.

Bear's Emulsion can be given to children as well as grown people, because it does not contain any opiates. But builds up the run down system, improves the appetite, and stops your coughs.

John D. Bear, Elkton, Va.,

Dear Sir: I have used Bear's Emulsion in my family for coughs and colds among my three children and can honestly say there is nothing I have ever used or heard of that will cure a cough like it does. It also gives them an appetite and makes them feel better in every way. I don't expect to use anything else as long as I can get it.

HOME RULE IS ASSURED

House of Commons Quiet When Passage Vote Is Announced.

London, May 26.—The floor and galleries of the house of commons were filled to the limit for the third reading and final passage of the home rule bill.

There was at first a feeling of expectancy—a feeling that something might happen, but nothing did, and the bill passed with a majority of seventy-seven, of which seventy-four votes were cast by Irish Nationalists.

In the chamber the result was received with wonderful calmness. There was cheering but no great demonstration. Outside in the central hall the enthusiasm of the waiting Nationalists was more unrestrained.

Following are some of the terms of the home rule bill:

Imperial parliament remains supreme, but Ireland is given real authority in regard to purely Irish affairs, subject to certain reservations and safeguards.

Irish parliament, to sit in Dublin, consisting of a senate of forty members and a house of commons of 164 members, elected by existing constituencies.

Power of Irish parliament subject to "territorial limitation." No authority to deal with questions of peace and war, army, navy or treason.

Irish parliament prohibited from directly or indirectly establishing or endowing any religion, from giving any preference or privilege or imposing any disability on account of religious belief.

Lord lieutenant, appointed by crown, will have power to veto laws which go beyond constitutional powers of Irish parliament.

Forty-two Irish members will sit in imperial parliament at Westminster, instead of 103 as at present.

MORGAN ANSWERS MELLEN

Defends Father and Says Ex-Railroader Was Fibbing.

New York, May 26.—J. P. Morgan characterized as untrue the testimony of Charles S. Mellen, former head of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, before the interstate commerce commission in Washington last week, that J. Pierpont Morgan concealed from Mr. Mellen facts regarding the New Haven road which Mr. Mellen should have known.

Mr. Morgan offered to produce before any proper tribunal at any time the records of J. P. Morgan & Co. and the personal records of his father.

Taking full responsibility upon himself for the change in the road's presidency by which Mr. Mellen resigned and gave way to another, Mr. Morgan said it was untrue that his father in any sense took from Mr. Mellen the management of the road or any part of its affairs.

MORE PROBES OF RAILROADS

Rock Island and Pere Marquette Lines to Be Investigated.

Washington, May 26.—An inquiry into the financial affairs of the Rock Island and the Pere Marquette railroads similar to the pending probe of the New Haven system will soon be undertaken by the interstate commission.

Information to this effect has been received by Representative Adamson of Georgia, chairman of the committee on interstate and foreign commerce, from Chairman Harlan of the commission.

Serious charges relative to the financing of the Rock Island and Pere Marquette roads were made in resolutions presented in the house. These resolutions were referred to Mr. Adamson's committee.

Will Not Cheat Law by Starving.

New York, May 26.—Peter Robacci, who is condemned to die in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison on June 22 for the murder of "Tony" Marro, has decided not to cheat the law by starving to death. His hunger strike, begun a week ago, ended when other inmates of the death house advised him to eat and not be so downcast.

GEN. CROZIER BOSS OF ARMY'S GUNS

As Chief of Ordnance Bureau He Supplies the Weapons.

NO BOMBS IN AEROPLANES.

Characteristics of the Man on Whose Shoulders Rests the Responsibility of Having Ammunition Ready For Any Emergency—Proud of Soldiers and Their Appearance In Public.

Washington.—By and by some inspired war correspondent will sneak a letter through the censor's lines down in Mexico. He will tell of a uniformed aviator's performance on a hydroplane "laden with bombs," the correspondent will say.

But there's no need of going any further, because the hydroplane will not be laden with bombs—at least not with bombs that are spelled with two b's; because that sort of thing is against the conventions of The Hague—and because that particular prohibition was put in those conventions at the suggestion of General William Crozier, chief of the bureau of ordnance—and because General Crozier is just the sort of soldier who would have an aviator crucified for disobeying an order of that kind.

Aeroplanes may sail through the blue empyrean until the air men get dizzy, observing the movements of the enemy. But that is all. Stories in which aviation and bombs get all tangled up are hereby officially discounted.

Crozier isn't particularly well known to the country, but he is one of the strongest men in the United States army. As chief of the bureau of ordnance his duty will be to see to it that the army has all the guns it needs when it needs them, and all the ammunition, and that the ammunition fits the guns, a detail that has been overlooked in some previous affairs.

And he likely will see to it. He has served well in the field—somewhat hampered because things had been forgotten—and after he got back home he has raked the coals to a nice, glowing center and placed a few superior officers on them and then watched their intellects during the process of reduction to bone ash. Crozier is frank—frank to a fare-you-well. And fearless. He has said things that he positively knew were going to hurt some of the very highest and most influential feelings we have. But he has never yet had to take anything back.

He was a captain, for example, in that march to Peking during the Chinese trouble. He saw Japanese soldiers bayonet helpless Chinamen and Russian soldiers kick little Chinese children in the face and British soldiers loot cities with the advice, approval and assistance of their officers.

Crozier told about it. Whereupon those told on started to say it wasn't true in clarion tones that gave every evidence of getting more clarion as the day brightened. But after thinking it over—and thinking Crozier over—all the clarion came out of those indignant yelps. Their owners knew he had the goods. When, just to make every one happy, Crozier allowed that the American soldiers on that march were good soldiers—fine, honest, hard fighting men—but sloppy.

"It was the fault of the American officers," said Crozier. "They permitted their men to go about slouchy in dress and carriage. There was no excuse for it, for there are enough officers graduated from West Point every year to teach the service better manners."

Mind you, he is enthusiastic about the quality of the American soldier—but he isn't enthusiastic about dirty collars and open blouses and greasy bridle bits. Our arms were better than those of any nation in that Peking parade, he said, and our clothes were the equal of the best. In spite of the raptures that some critics went into every time they saw a Japanese cart, hauled by a pony and led by a coolie, Crozier demonstrated that the good old four mule army wagon of our daddies is the best means of army transportation invented.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson IX.—Second Quarter, For May 31, 1914.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Luke xvii, 11-19 Memory Verses, 17-19—Golden Text, Luke xvii, 18—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

Before we consider the grateful Samaritan it will be helpful to look at the Whitsuntide lesson on the revealing spirit in 1 Cor. ii, 1-10. Whether it be the Old Testament or the New, the great truth stands that "the things of God knoweth no man, but the Spirit of God," but what a comfort it is that the believer has received the Spirit of God that he may know the things that are freely given of God. To the natural man who has not been born again these things of God are all foolishness, for only the spiritual man can discern the things of the Spirit (1 Cor. ii, 11-14). The whole Bible has been written by the Spirit of God and is forever settled in heaven (II Tim. iii, 16; Ps. cxix, 89), so that it may truly be said to be the Spirit's Bible copyrighted in heaven. He therein tells us of the living and true God, His love for the lost, His great salvation, His coming kingdom and glory. He also tells us of the devil as the great enemy of God and man, the father of lies, the murderer, the god of this world, who will to the last make war with the Lord and the saints, but who will finally be sent to the lake of fire forever.

As to the inability of the wisdom of this world to grasp things spiritual, consider the revelations of God given to the kings of Egypt and Babylon, the utter helplessness of all the wise men of those lands to grapple with them, and the ease with which Joseph and Daniel, men of God filled with the Spirit of God, solved every difficulty. The Spirit is ever ready to convince of sin and lead the sinner to Jesus Christ the Saviour. Then by His word He gives assurance of salvation, then makes the body of the believer His temple, revealing Christ to him and through him and working in him all the good pleasure of the Lord unless hindered by pride, unbelief or self in some form of working.

No one was ever so filled with and controlled by the Holy Spirit as the Lord Jesus Christ, and in Him the Spirit wrought perfectly and unhindered (Acts x. 38). It was so in some measure with prophets and apostles (II Pet. i, 21; Acts i, 8; ii, 4; iv, 31, 32; vi, 3; vii, 55; xiii, 2), and there is nothing we should so earnestly and constantly desire as to be filled with and controlled by the Holy Spirit, remembering that nothing can ever be accomplished for God by the might or power or wisdom of man, but only by the Spirit of God (Zech. iv, 6).

Turning to the regular lesson, we see our Lord on His way to Jerusalem, whither His face was steadfastly set, for the time was drawing near for Him to be received up, or, in other words, to be slain and be raised the third day (Luke ix, 22, 51). Although He and His messengers were sent primarily to the lost sheep of the house of Israel and not to gentiles or Samaritans (Matt. x, 5, 6; xv, 24), for the kingdom was for Israel, and He was Israel's Messiah, yet He was ever ready to bless all, and the time was drawing near when He would be rejected and crucified by the Jews, then the kingdom would be postponed and the gospel given to all the world to gather from thence in this age of "the mystery" his body, the church, to share with Him His kingdom and glory. As these ten lepers stood afar off and cried, "Jesus, Master, have mercy on us," His heart of compassion went out to them, and He sent them to the priests, which implied that their request was granted and the work was done (Luke v, 14; Matt. viii, 4). They evidently so understood it and started on their way, and as they went they were cleansed. One of the ten was so full of joy and gratitude that he at once turned back to thank his healer, and glorifying God with a loud voice fell on his face at Jesus' feet and gave Him thanks. He was a Samaritan, which seems to imply that the rest were Jews. How pathetic seems our Lord's question, "Were there not ten cleansed, but where are the nine?" None to give glory to God save this stranger. Is it so still that He finds gratitude only in one out of ten? How is it with you?

Leprosy was one of the emblems of Israel's national condition before God, as when Moses' hand was made leprous and then healed (Ex. iv, 6, 7) God would teach Moses and Pharaoh that, though Israel was in the sight of Egypt as unclean as a nation of lepers, He could easily cleanse and deliver them. The serpent sign was to teach Moses not to fear to approach the king of Egypt, and the water of the Nile turned to blood that God would humble the pride of Egypt.

How happy this grateful leper must have been to hear the Lord Jesus say to him, "Arise; go thy way; thy faith hath made thee whole." We think of His word to the penitent woman in the house of Simon, the Pharisee, "Thy sins are forgiven; * * * Thy faith hath saved thee; go in peace." Also to the woman who had been twelve years sick and growing worse, "Daughter, be of good comfort; thy faith hath made thee whole; go in peace" (Luke vii, 48, 50; viii, 48).

IDAHO'S MINE PROFITS BIG.

Sixteen Concerns In One County Noted $4,776,775 In the Aggregate.

Wallace, Ida.—Net profits reports of sixteen producing mines in Shoshone county filed with the assessor for assessment purposes for the present year based on the operations of the year 1913 show a total net profit of mines of $4,776,775 as against net profits of $3,589,501 for the preceding year, or an increase of $1,187,274 in the face of an adverse lead market which, during the year, has gradually fallen approximately $1.40 per hundred pounds.

The gross output of the sixteen big producers for 1913 amounted to 2,039,030 tons, an increase of 150,786 tons over the preceding year, while the gross value amounted to $17,670,083, an increase of $2,391,020. The cost of extraction amounted to $6,786,784 as against $5,926,374 for the year 1912; transportation and smelter charges amounted to $5,767,412 as against $5,659,612 for the preceding year, and improvements and betterments decreased from $908,785 to $637,376.

The most remarkable showing made by any single producer is that of a mine which this year jumps into first place, eclipsing the Bunker Hill by $144,814 in net profits.

Still another remarkable showing is that of a mine which this year displaces the Stewart for third place in the producing list with net profits of $838,140; the Stewart ranks fourth with $564,432 as against $395,344 last year. The Morning Mine at Mullan holds its position at fifth place, with a decrease of $19,632 in its net profits, while the Hecla drops from fourth last year to sixth this year.

GOOD TO JACK'S GIRL.

Daniels Allows Sailors on Shore Leave to Stay Away Later.

Washington.—Secretary Daniels demonstrated again his friendship for Cupid by letting it be known that he purposes to extend the shore leave of sailors when their ships are in port. Incidentally Secretary Daniels expects thereby to decrease the number of technical desertions.

Under present regulations, when a sailor gets shore leave, he must return to his ship by 11 o'clock, when the last boat to the ship leaves shore. There have been many desertions because of failures to catch the last boat, and Secretary Daniels has issued an order providing that there shall be a 12 o'clock and a 1 o'clock boat between shore and ship.

"It is quite unfair," said Secretary Daniels, "to expect that a sailor can take his girl to a theater, have a little supper afterward and get back in time for the last boat at 11 o'clock. I have ordered that the last boat between shore and ship leave at 1 o'clock. I understand that navy desertions have been due to sailors missing the 11 o'clock boat, because they have feared the results."

MONUMENTS MARK U. S. BOUNDARY

Surveyors Fix Line Between Alaska and Canada.

Sitka, Alaska.—Scarring a broad line across 600 miles of wilderness in the far north in order that the possessions of the United States and Canada may have a distinct separation at every point will be completed during the coming open season. The work has been in progress since 1907 under the direction of Thomas Riggs, Jr., civil engineer, representing the United States Alaskan boundary commission, and T. D. Craig, representing a similar commission of Canada.

Although the United States and Canada have been neighbors in the far north for almost half a century, the exact dividing line between their possessions, especially as to the northern portion, was, previous to this survey, indefinite and conflicting. Many disputes arising, the two governments decided finally, through their commissions, that an absolute survey, clearly established and marked for all time, should be made along the one hundred and forty-first meridian, from the Mount St. Elias Alps, on the Pacific, to the Arctic ocean, a distance of approximately 600 miles.

The United States surveying party consisted of from sixty to eighty men each season since the work was undertaken. Chief Engineer Riggs, himself a young college man, selected his aids from the hardiest classes—cowboys, forest rangers, prospectors, timber cruisers and frontiersmen, with a liberal sprinkling of engineers. New expeditions were organized each spring, although many of the men who started at the beginning have remained in the service up to now. It was the custom, too, to leave a few men in the north each winter to care for equipment and supplies.

The actual visible result of the six or seven years of efforts is a twenty foot vista, cut, like a gigantic avenue or lane, through all timber and brush districts, together with monuments set at intervisible points from three to four miles apart.

MORNING COMES! AWAKE! ARISE!

Majority of Humans Pass Through Life as If Asleep.

Some Asleep In Death—Others Asleep In Ignorance and Superstition—Still Others Asleep In Worldliness—Some Christians Half-asleep—The Awakening of the Soul—Mental Eyes Opening to See Things In a New Light.

May 24.—Pastor Russell, whose Photo-Drama of Creation is awakening new zeal in Bible study everywhere it is presented, preached today from the text, "Awake, thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light."—Eph. 5:14.

The Pastor holds that the majority of humanity pass through life in a dreamy state, thinking about trivialities—what to eat, what to wear, where to go, etc.—rather than about things pertaining to God and the future life. This state of mental inactivity, he declared, has been brought about by Adam's disobedience to the Divine command. Our first parents sinned; and their posterity shared with them the penalty, "Dying, thou shalt die."

But God foreknew the fall of man, and purposed to redeem the human family from death, the speaker declared. In the Divine Program Jesus was the Lamb of God slain from the foundation of the world. Therefore when communicating with those who believe His Word, God always speaks of death as a sleep.

The Awakening of the Soul.

The Pastor discussed his theme in three divisions: the awakening of the world now, the awakening of the Christian, and the future awakening of humanity during the Messianic Kingdom. There is a time, he claimed, when men begin to think of God and the world to come. Before that time some had been steeped in sin; others had lived merely for the things of the present. But somehow or other they began to realize that they were sinners under Divine sentence. Perhaps they got the right view—that the sentence was one of death; but usually they got the wrong one—that it was a sentence of eternal torment.

The majority of children, the Pastor declared, reach this crisis between the ages of twelve and fifteen years. At that period there is a great change in human nature, and therefore it is a most advantageous time for spiritual growth. The speaker dwelt upon the duties of parents and teachers. While from the very beginning of its existence the child should be trained in the nurture and admonition of the Lord, yet both parent and teacher should be especially alert with children at this most favorable time for opening their mental eyes to look beyond the trivialities of the present life to the higher things pertaining to the life to come.

"Arise From the Dead."

The Pastor pointed out the fallacy of the belief that the young must "sow wild oats," and regretted that even Christian parents seemed imbued with this erroneous idea. According to the Scriptures, "Whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." The child mind should ever be kept near the Divine standard.

Those awake to a sense of responsibility to their Creator should arise from the dead condition as far as possible, the Pastor holds. As when one awakens in the morning there is a mental freshness which is invariably lost if one falls asleep again, so the moment of the soul's awakening is a favorable time of which to take advantage. If the soul receives no encouragement at that moment, it may drop asleep again.

"Christ Shall Give Thee Light."

Those who have awakened are approaching righteousness, the Pastor declared. The Scriptures represent the dead as being down. Those who arise from the dead become upright in character, in desire. But merely to awake to a realization of one's condition is not to become a Christian. While Christ gave the light which enabled one to see that the wages of sin is death, and that the gift of God is life through the Redeemer, yet the newly awakened must accept Christ as their Ransom-sacrifice and lay hold upon Him before they may be considered Christians.

The Pastor explained that we do not become Christians, members of the Body of Christ, when first we awake or when first we arise from the dead. We are merely awakening to see that harmony with God and escape from condemnation for sin are possible. As St. Paul intimates, from the moment we get into Christ we pass from under the Adamic condemnation. No one can have an individual trial until he is freed from that condemnation. A mere realization of one's condition does not constitute a trial for life. Only the Church are now on trial.

For nearly nineteen hundred years the judgment of the Church has progressed. The first to be tried was the Head of the Church, our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. He was found worthy and was glorified. All through the Gospel Age the individual members have been tried. Soon the trial of the Church will have been finished.

THURSDAY, MAY 28, 1914.

THE country is "waiting and watching" for some of that prosperity that was promised in 1912.

THE voting machine is not a success. After three years' experience they offer to sell 375 voting machines which cost the State $477 a piece for $23 each.

ANOTHER $2,000,000 in gold was sent abroad last week to pay for excess of imports over exports. Another example of how the Wilson tariff has benefited the country.

CONGRESSMAN Palmer, Democratic candidate for Uuited States Senator in Pennsylvania, says President Wilson's administration is on trial in Pennsylvania. Better move for a change of venue.

THE dismissal of 17 Civil War veterans from the Washington postal service is likely to make trouble for Postmaster General Burleson, as a Senate resolution is pending asking that official to explain the "reason why."

THE Senate has agreed to the James amendment to the Agricultural Appropriation bill, calling for an additional $50,000 for farm demonstration work. If the amendment remains in the bill, Maryland will be given a total of $40,000 for demonstration work.

BIDS for a year's supply for the United States Navy have been received and two English concerns have underbid American manufacturers and one or the other may get the order. It is not a large contract, amounting to only $40,000, but the principal involved is of large importance.

IF there has been a time in a quarter of a century when Memorial day could be described as more significant than usual that time is the year 1914. Even the possibility of war arouses the patriotic spirit from one end of the country to the othor. Naturally thoughts turn to national events and espically to "the boys of '61."

THE State survey of the public school system of the State, for which provision was made by the recent Assembly, makes it highly desirable that patrons and friends of the school get together for discussion and consideration of school matters to aid in securing the best results from the survey or investigation which will begin next fall.

THE Board of Education of the Pittsburgh, Pa., public schools advertised for bids to supply the public schools of that city with lead pencils. When the bids were all in and opened it was found that a German firm was the lowest bidder, by 17 cents a gross. The board rejected all bids and finally made the award to an American firm, to their honor and patriotism. Free tariff enables foreign manufactures with their low wages to undersell and undermine American industries. Just the other day the dispatches told us that the lowest bid for making flags for use of the army and navy was submitted by a foreign manufacturer. When it comes to the danger of having "Old Glory" made by foreign hands, isn't it time to enquire about the sanity of the minds that inflicted the Underwood bill on the country?

ON another page will be found the Speicher Local Option bill, passed at the recent session of the legislature. It is published today by order of the County Commissioners. It is a correct copy of the law as signed by the Governor of the State. Give it your most earnest reading and study. When through reading it, carefully lay it away, as you will want to refer to it during the approaching campaign. It was the first bill offered in the Senate of 1914. Senator Speicher lost no time in having it enacted into a law. During its consideration in the legislature it awakened much interest and at an early date the number of printed copies was exhausted. Many requests for copies of the bill could not be granted on that account. These requests came from citizens of many States, as also did requests for Senator Speicher's Cigarette bill. These two bills will have much to do with the future history of Garrett county.

OUR readers will enjoy reading the article published on the second page of this paper from the pen of our special writer, Jason Kep. It is a plain, pointed, truthful presentation of the condition of things in Garrett county, and the work before us in the great Local Option campaign to be inaugurated, Friday night, June 5th, in the auditorium at Mt. Lake Park. Dr. Hare's theme, "The Battle of Ballots for Garrett county," is most appropriate for the occasion. We urge every reader of THE REPUBLICAN who can possibly do so to attend this opening rally. Not only to attend the meeting but to urge others to be present. Let this first night of the campaign be one of greatest enthusiasm. We believe the citizens of Garrett county will drive this awful curse from the county. Do not forget to read this article of Jason Kep to your neighbors. Ask them to subscribe for THE REPUBLICAN and keep supplied with hot temperance ammunition. Jason Kep will be a regular contributor to this department during the campaign.

THE Baltimore News of Sunday says: Congressman David J. Lewis of Maryland is "in bad" at the White House. He is the central figure in a large sized and rapidly growing row between the President and the American Federation of Labor. From present indications the controversy bids fair to seriously jeopardize, if not kill, the President's anti-trust program.

The trouble involves the efforts of the Federation to have included in the trust legislation a provision which will give blanket exemption for all trade unions from the operation of the Clayton bill. This effort is part and parcle with the fight which has long been made by organized labor to escape the restraining power of court injunctions. The bill as it now stands provides that nothing in the act shall be construed as prohibiting the organizations of labor unions, co-operative farmers' associations and similar organizations organized for mutual protection. The labor people, headed by Lewis, are demanding that the act shall in no way be construed as applicable to trade unions; in other words, that they shall be specifically placed beyond the operation of the law.

President Wilson Tuesday morning definitely took his stand against Congressman David J. Lewis of Maryland and other leaders of the labor element in the House. Without mincing words, he emphatically informed the subcommittee of the House Judiciary that under no circumstances will he agree to the demands of Lewis and his colleagues to exempt labor from the penalties provided in the proposed anti-trust bills. Nor, he told this subcommittee, will he accept any compromise.

THE NEW REGISTRATION OF VOTERS.

The Democratic press is setting up an awful wail over the expenses the general registration of voters will cost the state this year. This is rather amusing to all who know the facts. One paper asserts that the cost of the new registration will cause an appreciable increase in the county tax rate of 1914 and 1915. Of course this is not true.

It is true that every person in the state who wishes to vote this fall, or at any time hereafter until there is another general registration will be required to go to the place of registration in his voting district and register again, just as if he had never been a voter in the State. But it is not true that this will cost the State a great deal more than it costs every year to keep the registration officers on their jobs for doing nothing for several days.

It does not matter that a voter's name is now on the list. He must put it there again if he expects to vote. Every year these officers sit around for days with nothing to do. This year they will have to work for their pay. The folloy of the business is not in having a new registration this year, but in the failure of the law to provide for a general revision every year. The registration officials could just as well as not be required to make a complete revision each year. It is done so in other states and there would not then be anything like the injustices suffered by voters such as we see every year in Maryland.

The real expense of a new general registration will fall upon the Central Committees of the leading political parties, for it will naturally be greatly to the advantage of each in the coming election to have every possible voter register. As between the parties the greater advantage will naturally accrue to the Republicans, who have suffered much from the abuses of the Democratic registration officials in all the counties for several years. This year there is a good prospect for fair play to all parties, as the Republicans will have control in every district.

MEMORIAL DAY.

Saturday next is Memorial Day. Throughout this American Nation will there gather in the cemeteries and burial places a patriotic people, to lay upon the graves of these heroes of the Civil war, a flower or two and m many instances plant a small flag of our country.

Business will be suspended; patriotic music will be heard and patriotic addresses be made. There will be parades of the aged members of the Grand Army of the Republic; of the sons and grand sons of the veterans who fought, bled and died for their country; of the school children who are growing up with deep love for the country's flag; there will be many prayers offered for this country of ours.

This is as it should be. The sacrifice these heroes made should never be forgotten. Their deeds of valor, their great victories will live forever. All honor is due to these saviors of the Nation.

THE following words of Rev. Lyman Abbott, one of America's great preachers, are well worth the most serious thought of every parent. The question was asked: "Must the newspaper give the public what it wants?" Dr. Abbott held that it did not have to do so, that the family newspaper did not and should not cater to the low tastes. He said: "A newspaper must be vital, human, and sympathetic. It must not be afraid to talk in the vernaculars."

Mr. Hamilton Holt, editor of the New York Independent, said: "An editor should not be allowed to appeal to the yellow streak in human nature to get a circulation," he said. "A paper does not have to descend to the level of the people. It ought to keep above them and lift them up. And if the real truth were known, I believe that it would be found that more people are interested in the wholesome things of life than in the sordid ones"

That the editor's duty is a sacred one was maintained by Dr. Charles M. Sheldon: "Every periodical has a duty to give people what they need instead of what they want," he said. "The printed page is under the high command of God to regenerate the world. It has true comradeship with the pupil and the school. We want a paper which can go into the home, and one which every child can read clear through. The newspaper ought to strike a cord with the church and the school, and then all would be trebly strong in their efforts to help humanity."

Such a paper we are trying to make THE REPUBLICAN. A paper that shall cheer and encourage its readers into a useful and happy life. We want this paper to be a weekly newsletter to the home circle. A booster of, not only Oakland, but of every town and village in the county. It advocates only the best interests of the citizens of this growing county. We want your help in extending our circulation. We want to reach more home circles. Will you give us your assistance in accomplishing this end.

Attention Sons Of Veterans.

The members of the Col. A. G. Sturgiss Camp of Sons of Veterans are requested to meet in front of Sturgiss drug store next Saturday morning at 10 o'clock to join with the Crook's Post G. A. R., in the services to be held in connection with decorating the graves of their fellow heroes.

All sons and grandsons of the veterans of the Civil war are earnestly requested to join the Camp on this occasion, whether they have joined the Camp or not.

The next regular meeting of the Camp will be held Wednesday evening, June 10th.

BLOWS THAT COUNT.

Arraignment of the Liquor Traffic By a Judge of Experience.

For ten years Judge Norman G. Kittrell, of Dallas, Texas, has occupied the circuit court bench. What he has witnessed as a judge has changed him from a passive advocate of the liquor traffic to its most implacable foe. His denunciations of the making and selling of liquor and his criticism of the so-called good citizens who tolerate saloons and find fault with those who seek to abolish them is about as strong as anything found in the English language. In part Judge Kittrell says:

Only God and the judges of the courts know how many hearts are broken, how many homes are darkened, how many lives are blighted, and how many innocent children are made to suffer because husbands and fathers are debauched by liquor which the Government, in exchange for money, gives men the right to make and sell.

If the evidence in even half of the divorce cases in Texas could be published, the people would be aroused to a realization of the sorrow and suffering brought to so many homes and lives by liquor.

They would come to know that every man who converts grain into liquor is a foe to society, humanity and to God—as he is.

I have in the last ten years heard enough of the fearful results of liquor-making and liquor-drinking to almost lead me to believe in the doctrine of total depravity and eternal damnation, because nothing but total depravity could prompt men to brew poisonous, debauching, maddening beverage for gain, and nothing but eternal hell can atone for it.

Texas needs no money which she must get at the price of the debauchment and brutalization of manhood, and the suffering and sorrowing of womanhood and children, and the wreck of the lives and homes of thousands of her citizens.

Every dollar she gets from liquor is tainted and unholy. Compared with it the thirty pieces of silver for which an avaricious thief and traitor sold a world's Redeemer was consecrated coin.

There are many for whom I entertain the most cordial friendship who differ from me on the liquor question, but I can but believe that if they had heard the distressing recitals I have heard in the last ten years, they would feel as I do.

It is amazing to me when the iniquities of the liquor traffic are so potent and so fearful and it is proposed to abolish it, that intelligent men and good citizens will begin to talk of "sumptuary laws" and "personal liberty" and "constitutional rights" and a lot of other wholly irrelevant stuff, which has no more to do with the question logically or legally than have the inscriptions on the pyramids.

Every man with intelligence enough to understand the question and honest enough to admit the truth when he sees it, knows that the people have the right in the exercise of the "police power" to abolish the liquor traffic, and knows too, that the highest interests of society demand that it should be abolished, and that every obligation of social duty demands that every good citizen should aid to bring about a consummation so devoutly to be wished.

The time will come, and come in the lives of the younger generation of this day, when fathers will tell their wondering and incredulous children that there was a time when men were allowed to make and sell liquor as a beverage, and the children will be loth to believe the story.

The world moves and grows better as it goes.

The liquor traffic is deomed, and may God hasten the day of its utter and irretrievable abolition.

Misses Gertrude Skelton and Mae Arnold, of the Oakland High School faculty have returned to their homes for the summer vacation. The former to Michigan and the latter to West Virginia.

Late Tuesday night some one broke into the soloon of Harry H. Casteel, this city, and robbed the till of $20 cash, and carried off some liquor. The enterance was gained through the back door of the room.

A. D. Naylor is having his house painted, as would be expected from such an enterprizing citizen. THE REPUBLICAN is always glad to notice the improvements being made on the homes of our citizens.

Messrs. Kemp, Harvey and Moon, Judges of the Orphan's Court held a session of their court Tuesday. The will of Capt. E. M. Friend, deceased, was probated and George W. Dunham and Leslie E. Friend qualified as executors. Frank Bill also qualified as executor of the estate of his sister Louisa Bill.

Mr. Hansel, Mine Host of Hotel Geisman is greatly improving the looks about his property. He has torn down the old house that stood on the lot opposite the hotel and will clean up the lot and make it a pleasant looking place.

The contractors for the Oakland-Gortner State aid road are opening a rock quarry on the Weber farm, near Oakland, and near the line of the new road. The rock quarried here are for use of the road for which they have the contract. It is a hard, flint rock and will make an excellent road bed.

Mr. and Mrs. Dr. Selby, of this city will leave Friday evening for an automobile trip to Howard county. Mrs. Selby will visit in that county for several weeks. The Doctor will be home for business Tuesday. Squire King Delawder and wife will accompany them to Cumberland, where the party will spend the night.

The state commissioner of motor vehicles insist that the law regarding markers on cars, both front and rear, be enforced. One of the officials spent part of last week in Oakland and vicinity and took notice of this violation of the State law and called the attention of the sheriff to it. If you are caught without markers on your car you will be fined not less than $5 and costs. He also called attention to the fact a number of cars exceeded the speed limit.

Mrs. G. A. Fraley, who was taken to Cumberland more than a week ago where she submitted to a delicate surgical operation, returned home Tuesday night somewhat improved. For some time past Mrs. Fraley's eyesight has been failing, recently so rapidly that she was almost totally blind. The operation performed at Cumberland relieved this condition to a great extent and now she is able to distinguish her friends at a distance.

A gentlemen from Thomas, W. Va., motored to Oakland yesterday, accompanied by his wife and three children. They reached this city about 3 a. m. Not knowing the dangerous condition of Second street at the rail road crossing, he drove his car on a line with the arc light on top of the hill, which carried him over the embankment with a tremendous jar, throwing the occupants against the side of the car, bruising the wife's hand and cutting the forehead of one of the children. It is most fortunate that they escaped with such slight injury. The axle of the car was bent slightly.

I have opened an office in The First National Bank Building in Oakland, Md., for the purpose of carrying on the business of engineering and land surveying .I also solicit the real estate business of all who wish to sell or to buy homes or farms.

POLITICAL POT STARTS BOILING

Colonel Roosevelt in Washington Taking Soundings

FUSION IS HEARD AT CAPITAL

Coalition of Republicans and Progressives Urged With Teddy as Candidate For President In 1916—Colonel Before He Sails For Spain Will Come Out With Attack on Wilson Administration Policies.

Washington, May 26.—Whether he stands a better chance of winning the Republican party nomination for president in 1916 by fighting that party at the coming congressional elections or by remaining out of the fight is a question that will be decided by former President Roosevelt in this city today. The colonel is here to tell the National Geographical society of his river discovery in Brazil.

As for a fusion of the Republican and Progressive parties there is a rapidly growing feeling that such a coalition with Roosevelt as its candidate for president would be successful in 1916.

So far there has been no formal negotiations between the leaders of the two parties. However, since the return of Mr. Roosevelt to the United States there has been talk in both camps that Mr. Roosevelt could win in 1916 if it was possible for the two forces to coalesce.

Formerly Progressive leaders declared that the two parties were divided on fundamental issues and that it was idle for any one to speculate on the probability of amalgamation. These views have been modified recently.

Representative Hinebaugh of Illinois made this statement:

"The Progressive party will nominate Mr. Roosevelt as its presidential candidate in 1916. If the progressives of the Republican party are in control of that organization they will indorse Mr. Roosevelt."

Teddy to Go After Wilson.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., May 26.—Theodore Roosevelt has decided to open up on the Wilson administration before he sails for Spain on Saturday. In a word he is going to take the big stick out of its moth ball repository and make one big swipe at the present political complexion of the Democrats.

This will be done either in an interview or a speech—preferrably in a speech if the opportunity offers. The colonel has lost not a moment in picking up the loose ends of national events since his return from Brazil.

The colonel's first attack on the Wilson administration will deal with the project to pay Colombia $25,000,000, the question of Panama tolls exemption and the handling of the Mexican situation. There will be a good deal, too, in the colonel's attack regarding the Colorado coal mine trouble.

The Underwood tariff bill will undoubtedly be another point of attack against Wilson. Roosevelt's advisers have without exception told him that it has proved anything but a panacea for the high cost of living and that instead of improved business resulting from its operation quite the opposite has been the case.

COXEY BACK ON FARM

Thinks His March to Washington Has Done Some Good.

Massillon, O., May 26.—General J. S. Coxey and family arrived here from Washington and went at once to their country home north of here, where Coxey says he will attend strictly to the business of managing his quarries for some time to come.

Coxey said that Representative Isaac Sherwood of Toledo had promised to introduce into congress Coxey's bill to permit states, townships, cities and villages to issue non-interest bearing bonds to be exchanged for money for public improvements to give employment to the unemployed.

The general stated that while he didn't expect immediate results from his second march to Washington he believed he had sowed some seeds which ultimately would bear fruit. He said he was very well pleased with the manner in which his plan was received all along the line.

Titanic Victims Losers in Court.

Washington, May 26.—As a result of a decision by the supreme court practically nothing may be recovered by those who lost relatives or baggage in the Titanic disaster. The court held that the liability of the company against the $13,000,000 in claims against it as owner of the Titanic is limited in suits in the United States by the American limited liability law of 1851 to the value of the salvage recovered and the freight and passage money, received on the Titanic's voyage. That amounts in all to about $91,000

Cattle Brings High Price.

Kittanning, Pa., May 26.—W. J. and J. M. Alcorn, who live near Echo, Armstrong county, sold ten head of two-year-old cattle here for an even $900, or an average of $90 per head. This is the highest price ever paid for two-year-old cattle here and probably a record price for Pennsylvania.

VITAL ISSUES ARE REACHED AT NIAGARA

Real Business of Settling Mexican Situation Discussed

Niagara Falls, Ont., May 26.—Although the mediation conference has been on for several days only preparatory work had been done until today. Consequently no idea as to what form a definite settlement of the Mexican situation will take can be even guessed at.

Today the three South American diplomats began to take up the practical issues involved. No plan for a commission form of government for Mexico has been even discussed at the meetings held up to today.

It was stated on the very highest authority that the envoys of the three southern republics have no intention at any time of going beyond their task of mediators.

They will not attempt to select any president or commissioner to govern Mexico and will at no time seek to become legislators on behalf of Mexico.

Their rule will be confined throughout the conference to receiving the suggestions of the delegates of either side and to submitting these suggestions to the representatives of the other side, endeavoring at the same time to aid to the utmost extent of their ability both sides to reach common ground.

England Bringing Pressure to Bear.

London, May 26.—It is semiofficially stated that the British government is using all its influence in behalf of the mediators at Niagara Falls. It is very desirous of success because it believes a successful outcome now will establish a precedent for all of Latin America. The Mexican situation has been a cause of much anxiety to the government because of the large investments held in that country by Englishmen.

TROOPS ON WAY TO BORDER

Bands of Federals Hope to Bring About Intervention.

El Paso, Tex., May 26.—Flying columns of federal volunteers, mounted, are making their way through southwestern Coahuila toward the border with the avowed intention of precipitating intervention by attacking American border patrols when they reach the international line, according to private telegrams received by Rafael Musquis, rebel consul in El Paso.

One detachment of these federals has passed through Cuatro Cienegas, Coahuila, headed northward. Cuatro Cienegas is about 175 miles south of the frontier at Eagle Pass, Tex. Another column is reported marching toward Ojinaga, opposite Presidio, Tex., from the vicinity of Curevo, between Cuatro Cienegas and the border.

No exact estimate of their numbers is available, but it is reported that the three different groups will total 700 or 800 men. The names of their leaders are not known.

It is reported that these volunteers are ex-members of the volunteer commands under General Orosco and other leaders who took part in the Orosco revolution. Until recently they ware garrisoned at Monclava.

Among them, too, are troops who escaped the rebels after their defeat at Paredon last week.

REBELS LEVY ON FOREIGNERS

Tampico Captors Demand Money of Germans and Spaniards

SERIOUS TROUBLE MAY ENSUE

People Given Until Thursday Night to Raise Cash—Priests Ransomed by the Rebels—Peasants in Country Around Tampico Suffer From Foraging Parties of Both Sides and Are Gradually Starving.

Tampico, Mex., May 26.—The Constitutionalists demand that one million pesos be paid to them by the night of Thursday, May 28. Firms, consuls, priests and citizens have all received warning that they must raise this money while the oil companies must support the rebel army in Tampico.

This demand for money has gone even to the Spanish and German consuls and people of those nationalities are expected to contribute to the fund. Unless the million pesos are paid by Thursday night trouble may be expected.

All will probably pay or endeavor to pay the sums assessed against them except the German consul, who has refused, saying: "Germany will protect her subjects without the payment of a single peso."

The money is demanded of the consuls for protection of their subjects. Small shop keepers who cannot pay actual money to the rebels are forced to give part of their stock to outfit the Constitutionalist soldiers.

The Constitutionalist leaders declare that as soon as they have the million pesos required they will reopen the banks and leave the customs house alone. They allowed ten days for this money to be raised and unless it is forthcoming by then everyone here feels that a new crisis will be reached and much more blood spilled.

The rebels have closed the Catholic churches, accusing them of being traitors and the priests guilty of treason against their government. All of the priests fled the city with one exception and he was immediately imprisoned. A ransom of 50,000 pesos is demanded for his release. Five hundred women parishioners are trying to raise the money and it seems likely they will succeed.

In the country around Tampico hundreds of peasants are literally starving and nothing can be done for them. Many of them have been beaten or wounded by rebel and federal soldiers and the retreating federals in leaving Tampico took from these peasants their last food. In many instances the wives and daughters of the men they had robbed were taken also.

Real war prices prevail. It is impossible to eat a meal for less than $10. Fever is so prevalent that the only water that is safe to drink is that coming in bottles and it costs a dollar a drink. Eggs sell at fifty cents each, gold, and everything else is correspondingly high when it can be bought and many times it is not to be found.

Although peace reigns in Tampico today a big battle is sure to come off soon at Panuco, sixty two miles up the Panuco river. There are no less than 4,000 federals entrenched there and they have had ample time to recuperate from the ill effects of their defeat at Tampico.

On a huge bluff almost inaccessible in time of peace and directly overlooking Panuco river they have mounted their heaviest fieldpieces and artillery. A last desperate stand will be made here before the Huertaists finally yield the entire state of Tamaulipas to the rebels.

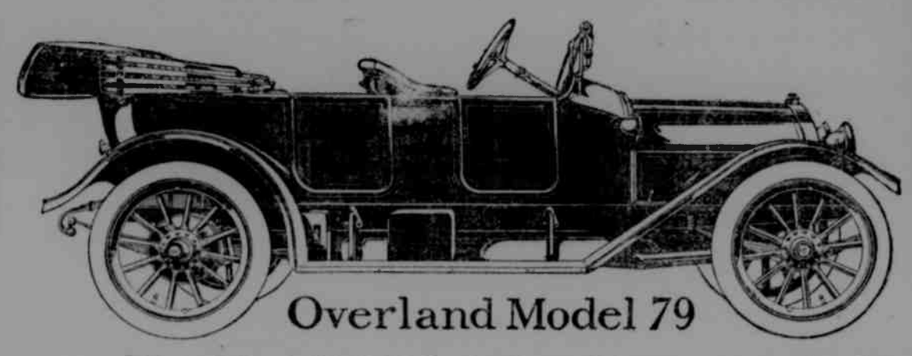
Twenty-five hundred rebels carrying with them several fieldpieces and four machine guns have been hurried out of Tampico to reinforce the column of rebels that is already in the field outside of the fort and the rebels are drawing nearer the federal entrenchments every day.

MONEY REACHES VERA CRUZ

Million Dollars Carried From Mexico City Without Guard.

Vera Cruz, May 26.—One million dollars in Mexican currency was brought to Vera Cruz by the Mercantile bank to break the attempt of local business men to force Mexican money to a premium.

They have been withdrawing all silver from circulation and have been holding peso notes of small denominations, demanding a slight increase for them.



The money which came down from the capital was brought by the bank's managing director and three employes in six dress suit cases. They did not advertise the fact neither in Mexico City nor on the train which brought them here.

They did not travel together and as each man carried two bags the six cases were not especially noticeable.

When they got to the railway break below Soledad they put their precious luggage on burros along with other bags and walked coolly but with some inward fears seven miles down the track to the American terminus. They came safely through without guards in a country infested with bands of irregular troops no better than bandits.

OPTOMETRIST

IS Your Child Handicapped in his or her physical and mental development by defective vision? Out of 100,000 school children examined in New York city, nearly 30 per cent. were found to be in need of glasses. In Boston the percentage was found to be slightly over 20 per cent., and most of these children were down on the books as "stupid," "stubborn" or unruly. In Philadelphia 354 children were discovered who could not read ordinary writing on a blackboard at a distance of twenty feet. You should make sure by a thorough examination at the hands of a competent optometrist. That your child is not among this vast army of little citizens who suffer from defective eyesight, delays often result seriously. My examinations are made by the most scientific accurate methods. If it is found that glasses are not required you will be told so frankly and no charge made for the examination.

CHAPTER NO. 157.

AN ACT to pay to the School Commissioners of Garrett County a sum of money out of the State school tax.

Whereas, In view of the pressure of the present apportionate, especially upon Garrett County, of the State School tax, and the inability, without larger increase of County taxation, to keep her schools open for seven and one-half months, and in view of the fact that mountain ridges so divide the population of Garrett County, the largest county in the State in area, as to render school facilities for all of the children more expensive than in more central parts of the State; and

Whereas, It has been unanimously recommended by the State Board of Education that such sum of money should be paid out of the State School fund to the board of School Commissioners of Garrett County; therefore,

Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That the Comptroller of the treasury be and he is hereby authorized and required to draw his warrent upon the Treasurer in favor of Garrett County School Board for the sum of four thousand dollars per annum for two years out of the proceeds of the State School Tax before making apportionment thereof: provided, however, that no portion of said four thousand dollars, per annum, shall be used for any other purpose than for salaries and ordinary running expenses of said schools.

Sec. 8. And be it enacted, That if any druggist or pharmacist shall violate any of the preceding sections he shall be liable to the same penalties which are set forth in Section 6.

Sec. 20. And be it enacted, That any pharmacist or druggist who shall violate the provisions of the preceding sections, or refuse to produce the book before any court or justice when so asked to do, shall render such druggist or pharmacist so failing, liable to the same penalties as if he had sold intoxicating liquors without a license. Sec. 26. And be it enacted, That any vendor of spirituous or fermented liquors sold in Garrett County, shall be liable to pay damages to any husband, wife, parents, child, employer or other person, injured by reason of any person being intoxicated by liquor sold by said vendor in violation of any of the provisions of this Act, to be recovered in the same manner as debts for like amounts are now recovered by law.

Sec. 28. And be it enacted, That in any prosecution under this Act it shall be only necessary to state that the traverser did sell or give away spirituous, fermented, or malt liquor without specifying the particular kind of liquor given away.

Sect. 29. Sec. 31. And be it enacted, That all prosecution for violation of any of the provisions of this Act shall be upon presentment and indictment, and it shall be the duty of any Justice of the Peace of Garrett County upon information received and confirmed by the oath of a creditable witness to have any person arrested and committed to the County jail for a violation of the provisions of this Act, unless such person shall give sufficient bail or recognizance with sureties to appear before the Circuit Court for Garrett County at the next succeeding term thereof to answer the charge.

Sec. 32. And be it enacted, That no license shall be granted under the provisions of this Act (1) any person other than a bona fide citizen of Garrett County, and who shall have been such for at least one year prior to the date of his application, and no license shall be granted to any applicant to sell spirituous or fermented liquors anywhere in Garrett County except within the corporate limits of the incorporated towns in said County.

Sec. 33. BUTTERFLY FARM OWNED BY GIRL.

Makes Good Income by Raising Hundreds of Insects.

FINDS A READY MARKET.

Catching the Butterflies and Moths Only a Small Part of the Work, as Real Difficulty Is Experienced In Raising Them—Interesting as Well as Profitable Duty.

Truckee, Cal.—A California girl with the astonishing name of Ximena Mc Glashan has the distinction of being the first professional "butterfly farmer" in this country. She began the work by mere chance, but she has made a success of it by dint of hard work and attention to scientific detail.

It sounds very pretty to be called, as Miss McGlashan frequently is, "the butterfly princess." But this particular princess is a mighty industrious one. In the spring and summer she is often busy from daylight until after 10 o'clock at night.

This little fact is worth mentioning, as Miss McGlashan has received hundreds of letters from women and girls who apparently want to found a whole dynasty of butterfly princesses. They have heard that this young girl, without capital or previous experience, is making $50 a week out of butterflies and moths. That sounds pretty good to them. But their enthusiasm may suffer a relapse when they read the whole story.

She started her "farm" near here a year and a half ago. She was planning then to be a teacher, and when one day she saw her father showing his little grandchild how to capture a butterfly it occurred to her that the knowledge might come in handy in her own career as an instructor of school children.

Her father readily consented to show how the trick was done and casually hinted that she could make more money out of butterflies than in pedagogy. He "sugared" some trees for her, fixed her up a lantern and some cyanide in jars, showed her how to catch moths at night by placing the mouth of the jar over the unwary feaster on the sugar, and without more ado she was launched on her career.

Inside of two weeks she shipped 1,500 moths and butterflies and received $75 in return. In ten weeks she sold over 10,000 specimens at a flat price of 5 cents apiece and had over $500 in return. In addition, she had on hand about 20,000 eggs, larvae and pupae, which would hatch out in due season. These really constituted her farm and are the important end of the business.

Catching the butterflies and moths is only a small part of the work. The real job is raising them. Only perfect specimens are saleable, and it is a ticklish undertaking to capture these fragile creatures without injuring them. Many of them are already a trifle damaged. They may have lost an antenna or a piece of a wing.

The first thing this young entomologist does with her captured specimens, therefore, is to sort them over carefully. She liberates the males that are not perfect so that they may go out and propagate more of their species. The imperfect female specimens she puts in paper bags, one to each bag, so that she will have their eggs to add to her stock.

This is where the real work begins. In each bag she puts food for the occupant. Butterflies will not deposit their eggs unless confined in a gauze bag or its equivalent and supplied with their particular food. Every day Miss McGlashan feeds her butterflies with dried apples soaked in water containing a little honey or sugar.

With this treatment she persuades them to lay their eggs on the inside of the bag. Some of them deposit as many as 200 or 300 eggs. When they have finished they die. The eggs hatch in varying periods, some in a few days, others only after the lapse of months. Miss McGlashan has them in test tubes where she can keep track of their development. During the winter she puts the tubes in cold storage to prevent the eggs hatching before the proper food plants are ready.

When the eggs come out she has another period of feeding before her. She caters to the tastes of these little worms as carefully as if she were a high salaried chef supplying a cuisine for a lot of epicures. She experiments with all kinds of leaves till she finds what seems most tempting to the appetites of her charges.

Some of these she keeps in candy jars. If she has many hundreds of one kind she places them in a tight barrel, covering the open head with gauze. In the bottom of each jar or barrel she puts several inches of dirt or leaf mold, as the larvae like to hide in it in the daytime. Fresh leaves must be put in every day, the old food taken out and the receptacle kept clean.

When the perfect moths and butterflies finally emerge from the pupae they are ready for shipment and prices are good.

Sell Eggs by the Bushel.

Columbus, Ind.—Eggs are so plentiful in Jackson county that they are being sold there by the bushel. When a huckster called at the home of John Manion, a farmer in that county, the farmer sold him two bushel baskets full of eggs at $0 each.

FRENDSVILE.

Our school term has come to a close. Thursday evening Class night was held by the graduating class of 1914. The opera house was filled with friends and relatives of the seniors. To mention one of the entertainers as being better than the other, would be wrong, all doing their part splendidly, and all went home having enjoyed themselves. Saturday evening the commencement exercises were held. The hall, which had been tastefully decorated for Thursday evening was made more beautiful in bunting of pink and white, which were the class colors, foliage and flowers, great jars of the choicest roses and carnations ornamenting the stage. Long before eight o'clock, when the exercises were to commence, the house was packed with people, many not being able to get in at all. Judge Williams, of Cumberland, and Professor Rathbun were the orators of the evening, although Professor Browning and Mr. Sliger, of Oakland, spoke very interestingly. The Class did splendidly. A male quartette rendered some nice selections, and the orchestra augmented by C. Livengood, of Meyersdale, and Dr. Robinson of Accident, charmed everybody. The song rendered by Miss Marie Custer brought rounds of applause. Mrs. Iva Statler was pianist. Among others that were present from Oakland was Professor Bender. Following is the program:

Invocation, Rev. Young; Music, Orchestra; Foreword, Professor Browning; Salutatory, Byard Liston; Music, Orchestra; Essay "Music" Marie Custer; Instrumental Solo, Irene Whetstone; Essay, "The value of the Commercial Department in Connection with Our Public Schools" Milton Kamp; Music, Orchestra; Essay, "The Woman of To-day" Iva Savage; Address, Judge Ferdinand Williams; Solo, Marie Custer, Presentation of Diplomas, Supt. Rathbun; Valedictory, Clyde Knapp; Song "Farewell" Class; Music, Orchestra; Quartette, F. G. Fox, Rev. Young, Earl Stotler, W. F. East.

Clifford Friend had a barn raising Thursday.

Forest fires are doing much damage in this vicinity. L. H. Johnson is among those who have suffered loss.

The road supervisors are surely doing good work in this section.

C. Q. Hook is building a fine tool house and a large barn.

Martin Falkner has purchased a Ford car.

Playford Friend is waiting for the arrival of a car he purchased.

A Sunday school picnic will be held at Blooming rose on next Saturday. Everybody invited to be present, with well filled baskets. Refreshments on the ground.

Wm. H. Friend's daughter died in the City hospital, Pittsburgh, Pa. The remains will be shipped home for interment.

Jake Myers says that he has the champion colt, but John Hoff says he can beat it. Both of them ought to be taken to the county fair.

May the good road improvement spread all over District No. 2.

THE ELBOW.

The extreme dry weather for the past two weeks, together with the frosts, are having a bad effect on the meadows.

The orchards give evidence of a fair crop of fruit although somewhat injured by the frosts.

The Magruder Bros., our enterprising farmers and mill men, have erected a large barn on their home farm.

The farmers east of the Allegunies in district No. 11, are very much alarmed at the ravages of the San Jose scale in their orchards. Several orchards of fine apple trees are being entirely destroyed and the trees of the forest, especially the lynn and locust, are being attacked. Unless the State or National government renders aid they very much fear that all their orchards will be destroyed.

Frank Green is cutting his tract of timber on Savage river.

The North Maryland Lumber Co. will finish cutting their large tract of timber within the next year.

Joan Broadwater is building a new bank barn on his farm on Savage river.

The farmers of district No. 11 are talking of erecting a monument on one of the high cliffs along Savage river and placing on it this epitaph, "Sacred to the memory of General Prosperity, who was killed by an overdose of Underwood's tariff medicine."

Working for You

From the moment you give your number to the telephone operator, an unseen force of men and women are working for you. The operator who takes your call, the wire-chief who tests the line, the man who repairs the instruments, the operator at the distant central office, the traffic inspector, the central office manager—all these and a most complete equipment—are working that your call may be "put through" in a satisfactory manner.

When you telephone—smile.

The mule was caught between the loaded car and the trip of empties and was so badly crushed that it lived only a short time after the accident. Kackley's escape from death was almost miraculous. Outside of numerous bruises about the legs and arms and a pretty rough shaking up, he sustained no serious injuries.

STATE ROAD GRANTSVILLE TO ACCIDENT BEING RUSHED

Large Force of Men and Teams Employed by the Pushing Contractors.

The Rob Roy Construction Co., who have the contracts for building the State road from Grantsville to Accident are driving their work as fast as men and machinery can do it. They are hiring all the men and teams they can get. They have not less than twenty five farm teams at work on the road from Grantsville to Keyser Ridge and about 90 men. On the road to Accident they are employing over sixty men and teams, who are widening the road bed and grading the road. A large steam shovel is expected to be at work on this section within the next few days.

The Rob Roy Company have a large stone crushing plant in operation west of Grantsville and are establishing another plant at the Phillip Miller farm near Keyser Ridge. They use steam power as well as horse power in hauling rock. The company have an abundant supply ot all kinds of road machinery and tools. They have been taking advantage of the line weather of the past weeks and are making rapid headway with their work.

The farmers, merchants and laboring men of that section of Garrett county are greatly benefiitted bv the building of this State road. There is a large demand for feed and produce of all kinds, which means increased bank accounts, reduction of indebtedness, and improvements to home property, besides good roads to drive over. When the road is completed Oakland will be crowded with automobiles filled with a delighted people.

Five new denominations of postage stamps are to be issued by the postoffice department, and it is said in their behalf that they will be the most beautiful ever offered to the public.

MEAT MARKET ROBBED

Saturday Noon Thieves Robbed Andrew Shartzer of Twenty-two Dollars.

About noon last Saturday during a few minutes absence of Mr. Clyde Shartzer from his father's meat shop, in the Empire theatre building this city, some thieves entered the shop, by the back door and robbed the cash register of $22.00. There was in the drawer of the register two $10 bills, one of them a new bill, two $5 bills and two $1 bills. The new bill was on top of the other bills. The thieves took all the bills but the new bill, leaving it, it is thought to cover up the theft. The loss was not discovered until Mr. Andrew Shartzer went to cash a check, when he found only the new bill. There is no suspicion of who stole the money. This is the second time within a year that the cash register has been robbed.

County Commissioners Meet.

The Board of County Commissionsers met in their office Monday morning and continued in session until about noon today. There was special work before them.

The Commissioners informed The Republican reporter that they expected work to begin on the Oakland-Gortner State-aid road next Monday and that contractors were ready to take hold of the work with vigor.

The Commissioners are greatly interested in the public road question and are giving the county roads earnest attention. From many parts of the county come reports of efficient work being done by the road supervisors.

There is no question of the present Board of Commissioners faithfully looking after the best interests of the couuty.

The Bernard—Cuppet road has been cleared out and put in good shape by Road Supervisor James Simms. A great improvement over the past condition of the road. The county has good returns for the money appropriated for this piece of road.

JUNE TERM OF CIRCUIT COURT IN SESSION

Much Business Has Been Despatched By The Court.

The June term of the Circuit Court convened Monday morning at 10:00 o'clock, Judge R. R. Henderson, of Cumberland, presiding. The roll of grand jurors was called. Captain James A. Hayden, of Mountain Lake Park, was sworn in as foreman and then the oath was administered to the other jurymen. This is the first grand jury selected under the new law passed by the recent session of the legislature through the efforts of Senator Speicher who is a member of the grand jury.

Judge Henderson's address to the grand jury was brief. He spoke of the importance of the jury being expeditious and systematic in their deliberations, in order that all matters coming before them be disposed of at the earliest date possible, which would save money for the county.

He also called their attention to the statutes which are required by law to be presented to the grand juries, such as the mining laws, selling cocaine, the local fish law, the liquor law. He stated that he knew of no special outbreak of crime in the county. He called special attention to the importance of the most persistent effort to prevent forest fires and the preservation of the forests. That it was the duty of each and every citizen to strictly observe the laws, relating to forest fires. He stated that Garrett county contained the greatest area of woodland in the State. He laid stress upon the duty of notifying forest wardens of fires whetever noticed. He also referred the duty of all persons who were summoned by the fire wardens to respond at once to the call.

After making some suggestions as to the best methods of conducting their investigations, in order to expedite their work, the Judge directed the Jury to retire to their room and enter upon their duties.

The several dockets were called and judgments entered in uncontested cases.

President Changed His Mind.

Realizing at the last minute that his refusal to speak at the G. A. R. Decoration Day ceremonies at Arlington Cemetery had aroused resentment at Grand Army Posts throughout the country that might be expressed in many speeches, President Wilson informed the master of ceremonies that he would deliver an impromptu address. This he did Saturday afternoon, and, while he was received with proper applause when he entered the Arlington amphitheater and when he concluded, it was evident that his presence would have been appreciated more if his acceptance had come earlier.

The demonstration of the day went to Champ Clark, Speaker of the House, and the throng of veterans and spectators got the impression that there was an intentional difference between the perfunctory sentence with which Dr. J. K. Gleeson, Commander of the G. A. R., Department of the Potomac, presented the President, and his warm words for Mr. Clark. Mr. Clark is an avowed candidate tor the Democratic presidential nomination in 1916, and the fact that he had cut his vacation at Atlantic City short in order to accept the invitation to address the old soldiers added to the enthusiasm of his reception.

Lewis Gortner's Store Robbed.

Saturday night late a number of persons were in Lewis Gortner's store room, among them was Dick Male. After a while Male was seen going out the door on Railrood Street. He made several trips. During one of these trips it was noticed that he had a pair of shoes under his arms. Mr. Gortner sent for the policeman, but before he arrived Male was gone. A warrant was sworn out before Squire Freis. Male was arrested shortly after midnight and locked up in the jail. And on Monday tried and committed to jail for action of the grand jary. Foar pair of shoes were recovered.

PAY TRIBOTE TO OLD SOLDIERS OF CIVIL WAR

How Memorial Day was Observed In This Vicinity.

Decoration Day was one of the most delightful days of the season as far as the weather was concerned. Thanks to the thoughtful and industrious ladies of the Civic Club the cemetery had been put in splendid order. The lots of non-residents had been mowed off and the grass and weeds removed. Early in the morning those who had loved ones buried in this City of the Dead had been on the ground with flowers for the graves. On the graves of those who had done service in the Civil war was placed a small National flag. Much good work had been done by lot owners. We do not believe ever before did the cemetery present such an attractive appearance. It made one feel good to see the spirit of improvement which had prevailed.

Automobiles, carriages and buggies made their appearance on the streets of Oakland early in the morning. Nearly every part of Garrett county was represented, to assist in decorating the graves. Messrs. Howard Echols and family, Reed Smouse and boys, and Ed. Smouse of Fairmont, motored here to join in the duty of the day. The streets of Oakland were pretty well filled with well-dressed and well-behaved people. The day was sanely and appropriately observed.

The banks were closed for the day; the postoffice observed Sunday hours, and the business houses closed from ten a. m. until noon. The parade formed in front of Sturgiss' drug store and was headed by the Mountain City band. In the procession were members of the Grand Army of the Republic, some few Men who wore the gray, the Junior Sons of Veterans, Knights of Pythias, Woodmen of the World, the Owls and a number of children carrying flags and banners. At the cemetery the Rev. Dr. Ely delivered an appropriate and splendid address. As a whole it was an ideal Decoration Day and free from all objectionable features.

Lutheran League of America.

Determined that no detail, looking to the success of the Lutheran League of America which will be held in Baltimore next September, shall be overlooked, the various departments of the Lutheran churches of the city are busily engaged in perfecting plans for the big event. This league is declared to be one of the largest and strongest young people's organizations in the country and arrangements are being made to entertain about 5,000 delegates from all over the country.

September 22 to 24 has been definitely settled upon for the convention and the day session will be held in St. Mark's church, St. Paul and Twentieth streets, while the night sessions will be held in the Lyric. One of the distinct features of the meeting will be the singing. Professor Edgar T. Paul, of Baltimore, has gotten together about 250 of the best singing talent in Baltimore and proposes to make this part of the program a revelation to the visitors. The chorus is practicing several nights each week and will have reached the proficient stage by the time the sessions are opened.

The Luther League of America is an organization composed of the various young people's societies of all Lutheran churches, irrespective of what name the individual societies may possess or to what synod it may belong. The league is 25 years old and claims a total membership of at least 100,000. It is represented in no less than 17 states, 85 districts in this country and in four foreign countries--Japan, Canada, Porto Rich and China.

Doubtless the leagues of the Lutheran church in Garrett county will send delegates to this convention.

Antomobile Smash Up.

H. H. Calderwood, of near Deer Park who had just purchased a Ford car with three friends started out on the State road on a learning-to run trip, with Gorman Thayer as instructor. Calderwood was running the car when about two miles out from Oakland, when all hands were chatting together and running at a pertty good speed, the car ran into a culvert, throwing two of the inmates out of the car and jolting the other two severely. Thayer went out through the wind-shield, cutting both his wrists severely, and his clothing. The car is badly wrecked. The car was taken to Lawton's garage for repairs.

Misses Rose and Ada Murphy spent Saturday at Oak Park attending the picnic.

OAKLAND DISTRICT E. L.

Convention Now in Session at Mountain Lake Park.

The twenty-third annual convention of the Oakland District Epworth League is now in session in the Methodist church at Mountain Lake Park. Delegates from all over the district are in attendance, as well as many ministers.

Rev. Dr. King, of Elkins is the speaker for tonight. The doctor has the reputation of being a strong preacher.

There will be sessions to-morrow at 9:00 a. m. to 12 m.; 2:00 p. m. to 4 p. m. At the afternoon hour Miss Grace Loar, the successful leader of the Oakland Junior League, will give a practical demonstration of "The Junior League at work." This will be one of the interesting hours of the convention.

At 7:45 p. m. in the old auditorium will be held a Local Option rally, to set in motion the work of placing Garrett county in the dry column. The league contributes this night to this object to show their sympathy and interest in the movement.

Rev. Dr. Hare, of Baltimore, and superintendent of the Anti-saloon League of Maryland-Delaware is to deliver an address on "The Battle of Ballots for Garrett County." This address will be the opening gun of the campaign. To those who do not know Dr. Hare we want to say. Do not fail to be at this meeting tomorrow night. Dr. Hare is an expert campaigner. He performed telling work in the West Virginia campaign and helped make that State dry.

Senator Harvey J. Speicher will introduce Dr. Hare. It will be a great evening.

The transfers will be in full operation from Oakland to the Park.

Seventeen Year Locust Coming.

The seventeen-year locusts are making their appearance in West Virginia. Anyone can see them cling to trees.

The locusts come up out of the ground during the evening and begin climbing up the trees, but so far birds have been eating a majority of them. The English sparrow appears to be the busiest in this respect.

Brood 5 of the periodical cocada, commonly known as the seventeen-year locust, is expected to make its re-appearance in Ohio, West Virginia, Virginip and Pennsylvania early in June. This is the territory which brood 5 of these insects visited in the summer of 1898. The insect when it appears causes considerable damage to newly planted orchards and shade trees in this territory. The scientists of the bureau of entomology of the department of agriculture are there watching this territory where the insects are due to re-appear with a view of minimizing its damage.

The locusts are due to appear in the following counties bordering on Garrett county: Preston, Grant, Mineral and Randolph.

State Tax Commission Organized.

The State Tax Commission organized Monday by naming Allan C. Girdwood as secretary and State Senator Edward M. Hammond as counsel. Comprising the State Commission are A. P. Gorman, chairman; Lewis W. Wickes and Oscar Leser. Their task is to adjust the taxable basis throughout the State so that equity will prevail. Now property in one county is assessed on a 60 per centum basis, and in another on a different basis. In some securities are located and taxed. Other counties ignore their existence. The Commission will try to locate "hidden" property, as well as equalize the tax on existing property. It supplants Tax Commissioner Schley. This office goes out of existence.

Notices were sent to the respective boards of commissioners in the counties of Maryland, and the Board of Estimates in Baltimore asking for a list of five men from each from which the commission will select the assessors for the counties and for the city. In several of the counties keen rivalry exists for these places, the pay of which varies from a few hundred dollars to $2400 a year.

Wells-Fargo Express Company will Serve Oakland.

July first the Wells-Fargo Express Company will take charge of the express business on all the lines of the B. & O. railroad. The United States Express Company having sold out to them. After that date the U. S. Express Company will cease to exist in the territory covered by the B. & O.

Wells Fargo is the largest express company in the world and the agreement entered into by the B. & O. lines will extend the shipping service in the communities served by the railroad, the Wells Fargo having through transcontinental service in the United States as well as its own agencies in the big cities of Europe and other parts of the world and exclusive service to the Hawaiian Islands and Alaska.

SUFFRAGE HIKERS ARE TO INVADE GARRETT COUNTY

To Tramp for Eleven Days Over the Alleghenies.

Dressed in pretty blue gingham frocks and wearing white Panamas simply trimmed with white scarfs, "General" Edna S. Latimer's "army" will set out on June 19 to win Garrett county for the "cause." The campaign will be made on foot and will last 11 days.

Those who have enlisted besides "General" Latimer are "Lieut. Gen." Lola Carson Trax and "Colonels" Madge Thurlow, Minnie Jackson and Sindler. Miss Thurlow is one of the distinguished members of this year's graduating class at Goucher.

Miss Thurlow will not only "hike" and help to distribute literature but will be one of the official speakers of the army. Misses Jackson, Trax and Mrs. Latimer will share the oratorical honors.

Except for bags that will be slung across their shoulders and which will contain copies of the Maryland Suffrage News, the hikers will not be encumbered with any baggage. Arrangements will be made whereby toothbrushes and other accessories will be sent from place to place as the army moves forward on its march. Not even court plaster will be included in the impedimenta, and the carrying of powder puffs and face powder has been declared unnecessary by the "General," who insists that the Panama hats will be a sufficient protection from the glare of the sun to prevent freckles and other mishaps to the complexion.

Owing to the fact that the towns of Garrett county are very close together, the "army" does not expect to move many miles on any one day. Probably the greatest distance traveled a day will be 10 miles and the smallest 6, making an average of from 8 to 9 miles a day.

At the following places and on the dates the army will be present:

Bittinger, 17; Accident, 18; Friendsville, 19; Sang Sun and McHenry, 20; Oakland, June 21; Hutton and Crellin, Jnne 22; back to Oakland 23; Mountain Lake and Deer Park, 24; Swanton, 25, Kitzmiller, 26, and Bloomington, 27. This makes a total of 11 walking days.

"We are not trying to establish a speed record," expostulated "Colonel" Trax. "Our object in taking the 'hike' is to reach as many county people as possible and to enlist their sympathy and influence. We want to give every person in Garrett county a chance to hear a suffrage argument who wants to. Our object is entirely educational, and not in any way to create a sensation.

Constable William Savadge Robbed.

A week ago Constable William Savadge of Deer Park, hung his coat in the hall of the Deer Park hotel, where he was doing some work. When he went to get his coat it was missing. Investigation showed that the thief, doubtless, was a colored man who was seen about the hotel, but was missing. No trace of him could be found. Tuesday two colored men arrived at Mountain Lake Park hunting work at one of the hotels. One of them found employment. The other did not, consequently he went to Deer Park. Mr. Savage saw him and for some reason suspected him as the man who stole his goat, and put him under arrest. The man said, "I did not steal your coat, but I know who did." When questioned on the subject, he said, "The man is at Loch Lynn." Mr. Savadge took the man with him to Loch Lynn on train No. 55. They went to the hotel. The culprit was pointed out, his suit case was examined and the coat was found. The thief was taken to Deer Park and tried before Squire William Hoye, who committed him to the county jail to await action of the grand jury.

E. Rathbun. Refreshments will be served at the picnic grounds.

Strawberry Festival.

The Ladies of the Presbyterian church will hold a strawberry and ice cream festival on the lawn adjoining the church, Saturday evening, June 6th. If the weather is not favorable it will be held in the basement of the Lutheran hurch.

IDEAL HIGHWAYS IN MARYLAND.

Forestry to Plant Shado Trees Along State Roods.

Happily, the Forestry Board now has the right to plant roadside trees. Think of it! No more long, dusty, sunny roads in the Maryland of the future, for according to the technicality of the law, "roadside trees" mean all trees planted by the forest wardens or existing trees. Likewise this encouraging piece of news is announced by the Forestry Board that no one can trim a roadside tree without permission, and as for mutilation or injury, he will now be liable to arrest and fine. So much for the paternal protection thrown over our trees by the laws of Maryland for 1914. I timidly asked if we couldn't plant fruit trees along our roads, as they do in Germany, and the Forester refused emphatically.

"Fruit trees? That wouldn't work in America," he said. "The American boy would take all the fruit. Other countries are more law-abiding in that respect and have so many police. No, we couldn't plant fruit trees on our roads."

The latest and most effectual move of our active Forestry Board is for the improvement of the Maryland roads and landscapes by the elimination from all public roads of billboards, posters and signs. An unsightly, bad habit, which some coming century will quote as an ancient and barbarous custom. The State Forester now asks the co-operation of every public spirited person who is willing to watch out for posters and signs, for the reveille has been sounded. June 20th is to be a "Billboard Day."

"A day of concentration upon this purpose," he said, "so that the work may be done systematically under supervision."

The Forestry Board asks every one who will volunteer for that day to report to the Forester, or local Forest Warden, stating which road or section he will supervise. He who acts for the day as the Forester's assistant will be supplied with a badge, a copy of the law and full instructions as to how he may help the State and beautify our roads. Large sums are being spent to improve roads, while they are disfigured by unsightly signs and posters. But this is now a "misdemeonor," and the billboard must go; so says a late act of the Legislature.

Another Dream Shatteaed.

Much has been said by the newspapers of the great success the town of Sisseton, Minnesota, has had the past year in operating a municipal saloon. The town took charge of the saloon, ran it strictly within the law, so it is said, and cleared $10,000 last year. From newspaper reports the people of Sisseton were tickled to death over the success of the venture, for they not only had a "model" saloon, but it was run at a big profit to the town.

Evidently the voters of Sisseton thought better of being saloonkeepers, at least they voted the town dry last month and one more dream of regulating the saloon is over.

If You Must Drink Booze.

Mrs. James Watson, editor and publisher of the Dearborn, Mo., Democrat, has the following suggestion to make to boozefighters: "To the married man who cannot get along without his drinks, we suggest the following as a means to freedom from the bondage of the habit. Start a saloon in your own house. Be the only customer. You will have no license to pay. Go to your wife and give her $2 to buy a gallon of whiskey and remember there are sixty-nine drinks in one gallon. Buy your drinks from no one except your wife, and by the time the first gallon is gone, she will have $8 to put in the bank and $2 to start business again. Should you live ten years and continue to buy booze from her and then die with snakes n your boots, she will have money to bury you decently, educate your children, buy a house and lot, and marry a decent man and quit thinking about you."

Temperance Campaign in Frederick County.

To set in motion forces which will line up Frederick county for county-wide and State wide prohibition, a big mass meeting will be held in the Methodist Episcopal church, Frederick, on Thursday afternoon and evening, June 11, under the direction of the Rev. Thomas M. Hare, Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Maryland.

The convention which is to be held in Frederick on the afternoon and evening of June 11, is one of the many conventions that are now being held through the counties of the state under the direction of Superintendent Hare, for the purpose of making a complete overhauling of the organization of the temperance forces of Maryland. Admirers of Superintendent Hare claim that a hobby for organization is one of the strongest characteristics of the leader of the temperance forces of Maryland, and that a great movement for the elimination of legalized liquor traffic in Maryland may be expected at the coming election.

HIS CASE AT NIAGARA FALLS.

JOIN THE BOY'S POTATO CLUB.

Age, Acrage and Basis of Award Requirements.—Part of Goverment Work.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture is at present establishing Boy's Potato Clubs throughout the State and offers as an inducement special awards for the best results obtained by the contestants. The conditions of the club make it necessary that at least three boys form a club. The ages may be from 10 to 18 years, the acrage ¼ of an acre.

The ground should be plowed about June 1st, the potatoes not being planted before July. The seed is to be selected and sent by the department, the Department, the boys paying for the seed and fertilizer and bearing all other necessary expenses, but getting all the crop.

The basis of award:

Greatest yield per ¼ acre	40 per cent.
Best showing of profit	30 per cent.
Best exhibit of one peck of seed potatoes	15 per cent.
Best history on "How I made my crop of potatoes"	15 per cent.
Total score	100 per cent.

What club members should agree to do:

To study and follow the instructions of the Farmers' Cooperative Demonstration Work.

To plan his own crop and to do his own work. (A small boy may hire help for heavy plowing in the preparation of his seed bed.)

To make an exhibit of one peck of seed potatoes at a place designated for the purpose in county.

To keep an accurate account of all items of expenses, receipts, etc., in connection with his plot. His own work to be charged for at 10 cents an hour.

To have his land carefully measured and the potatoes gathered and measured in the presence of two reliable disinterested witnesses.

To send report at the end of the season together with an account on "How I made my crop of Potatoes," to the State Agent in Charge of Club Work.

For further information write to the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. It is to be hoped that a number of Garrett county boys will become interessed in this club, and not only win the National prize, but compete as well for the prize at the Garrett county fair next fall. Farmers will do well to interest and encourage their boys to join this club. It means much for the boy not only for this year, but throughout life.

KEEP THE LUNGS CLEAN.

Bear's Emulsion heals the lungs and throat and builds up the system, regulates the bowels and improves the appetite.

Don't blame your parents for giving you consumption. The best way to keep from having consumption is to keep the lungs and throat in a good healthy condition. You do not inherit consumption, but you can inherit weak lungs. And as the air is filled with Tubercule bacilli germs, your weak lungs are a fine feeding place for them. Now what are you going to do—let your lungs get weaker each year by the action of the standing coughs on them?

If you want to heal the lungs, don't get these patented cough remedies that are doped up with morphine, codeine, or some drugs that will temporarily sooth the throat, and leave the throat and lungs in a worse condition than before.

Temperance Notes.

Garrett county has only eleven months more of saloons and saloonism to endure.

The voters of both the Republican and the Democratic parties in Pennsylvania are demanding that candidates for the legislature declare themselves for or against license. The cause of temperance is taking deep root in the thought of the people.

The licensing of men to make drunkards of the citizens of this commonwealth will soon be ended. Whiskey making like slavery, will soon be a thing of the past.

The Farm Journal says: "No school house ever set a neighborhood back, but many a neighborhood has been ruined by its tavern." Yes, and the Journal might have added saloons.

In twenty-six more days the State of West Virginia will be rid of the liquor makers and sellers. Only twenty-six more days until the bar rooms will be closed and whiskey become an outlaw. May they remain closed forever more.

The liquor traffic is about as popular in America as the little animal called skunk. It has less real value, for the skunk's hide is worth something.

Now let the rum demon howl. The state supreme court of Arkansas has handed down a decision ruling that the Going law which made Arkansas practically a dry state is constitutional.

Seven out of ten counties in California are dry, and only 25 cities out of 175 cities have saloons. Sixteen years ago all of the ten counties had saloons, and only ten of the cities were without saloons. Rum and rum selling is going out of business all ever the United States.

How Prohibition Kills A Town.

The last of Bluffton's sixteen saloons closed February 4, 1909. Since that time our deposits have increased over three hundred thousand dollars. Our deposits are now more than one million two hundred thousand dollars, the largest line of deposit of any bank in Indiana of a city this size, wet or dry. This gives you our opinion of the effect of a dry town on the banking business. Bluffton has had three successful remonstrances and two successful elections, and at each succeeding fight more and more of our merchants become ardent dry advocates. Fort Wayne, twenty four miles north, and Montpelier, sixteen south, both reached by hourly interuban service have saloons, but almost without exception those who go there for liquor, do not purchase merchandise. I feel safe in predicting that Bluffton, Indiana, will always remain dry not only as a moral but as a business proposition.

When you visit your neighbors call their attention to the Local Option campaign and the necessity of carrying Garrett county by an overwhelming majority. Make it your personal duty to get every voter in your district to vote for no license.

GOMPERS ANSWERS PASTOR

Cleveland Clergyman Who Defended Rockefeller Is Attacked.

Cleveland, June 2.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, in Cleveland to aid the school teachers who are striving to form a labor union in opposition to the wishes of the board of education, attacked Rev. W. W. Bustard for his sermon in defense of the attitude of John D. Rockefeller in the Colorado mine strike. Bustard is pastor of the Euclid Avenue Baptist church of which Rockefeller is a member and Sunday school superintendent.

Bustard declared in his sermon that complete unionization of the miners was the cause of the upheaval and that less than a third of the miners belonged to a union.

"His whole sermon showed mental bias," said Gompers. "Rev. Dr. Bustard said: 'And then what did the miners do?—they shot the guards and the guards shot the miners.' Why didn't he say the guards shot the miners first?

"He says the miners brought with them to this country all the pent-up hatred and ignorance of foreign countries. If that is true so is is all the more true that the mine companies, their agents and representatives have induced this immigration to fill the places of American miners who can't work under the present conditions."

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson X.—Second Quarter, For June 7, 1914.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Luke xvii, 20-37. Memory Verse, 33—Golden Text, Luke xvii, 21—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

Every instance of healing or making the blind to see, the deaf to hear, the lame to walk, was a sample of the kingdom which will be set up on earth when the Lord shall take vengeance upon His enemies and recompense His people, when Israel shall obtain joy and gladness and sorrow and sighing shall flee away, when the inhabitant shall not say I am sick and the people shall be forgiven their iniquity (Isa. xxxv. 4-6, 10; xxxiii. 24).

When the twelve and the seventy were sent forth they were to heal the sick and preach that the kingdom had come nigh. Our Lord Himself also as He preached the gospel of the kingdom healed all manner of sickness and disease (Matt. iv. 23; x. 7, 8; Luke x. 9, 11). When the Pharisees asked about the coming of the kingdom we must remember that they thought of the kingdom as described by the prophets, and in this they were not wrong, for such a kingdom was even then at hand and will surely come at our Lord's return, according to Luke xix. 11, 12; Acts iii. 21.

Perhaps there is no saying in the Scriptures more misquoted, misinterpreted and misapplied than the words of our Golden Text as they stand, "Behold the Kingdom of God is within you." From these words it is generally taught that our Lord will never have a kingdom on this earth, when the nations will learn war no more and all kings and nations shall serve Him (Isa. ii. 4; Ps. lxxii. 11), but that His kingdom is wholly spiritual in the hearts of His people, that the church is His kingdom, that it began to come at Pentecost and has been coming ever since, and that we are here to extend it, and that some day the church will convert the whole world. Then he will burn up the world and take all His people to heaven. Those who so teach have no use for a literal Israel, or for the coming of Christ to reign or for prophecy generally, or Daniel or Revelation in particular. The New Testament is quite sufficient, and much of that may be omitted.

In reading our Bibles we must always notice if God is speaking either directly or through His servants or if the devil is the speaker. Otherwise we might make the same mistake as the judge who said, "We have the highest authority for saying all that a man hath will he give for his life," the judge not having noticed that these words were from the devil (Job ii. 4). We must also notice to whom words are spoken, whether to sinners or saints, to Pharisees or disciples. The words of the Golden Text were spoken to Pharisees, whom He elsewhere called "whited sepulchers, full of hypocrisy and iniquity, children of hell" (Matt. xxiii. 17, 27, 28). Our Lord would no more say to such that the kingdom of God was within them than you or I would say it to a drunken man who was full of cursing. What our Lord did say is more correctly rendered in the margin "among you" or in the R. V. margin, "in the midst of you." He himself as the King, greater than Solomon, represented the kingdom, but although in their midst and ready to set up His kingdom they would not have Him, but said, "We have no king but Cæsar." "Not this man, but Barabbas." Then He turned to His disciples (verse 22) and spoke to them of His future coming as Son of Man in His glory (verses 24, 26, 30), telling them that He was about to be rejected by the Jews and suffer at their hands (verse 25), and that when He came again it would be as suddenly as the lightning shining from one part of heaven to the other, and that He would find at His coming again a condition of affairs on earth similar to that in the days of Noah and as it was in Sodom in the days of Lot. This does not look like a converted world to welcome Him, but rather as it is described in Rev. i. 7; xi. 18, all kindreds of the earth wailing because of Him, and the nations angry, because it will be the day of His wrath, when He will judge the nations and dash them to pieces like a potter's vessel (Ps. ii. 9; Isa. xxxiv. 1, 2; lxvi. 15, 16; Zeph. iii. 8; Matt. xxv. 31, 32).

This coming of the Son of Man to judge and reign is not His coming to the air for His church, but His coming in glory with His saints, when they, too, shall share this honor with Him as it is written in Ps. cxlix. 5-9; Rev. ii. 26, 27; Col. iii. 4. See how our Lord indorses the truth of the record of the deluge, the destruction of the cities of the plain by fire and brimstone from heaven, the judgment upon Lot's wife, and because of the judgments which will surely come urges His people to think more of the life that is life indeed than of this present life, except as it can be used for Him.

There must be no looking back to the things of this evil age nor conformity to it, but a life of separation from it, occupied with Him who is our life and the things which concern Him and a readiness always to be taken away from the earth. Things are bad enough on the earth even now, but iniquity will not be full until after the church is taken away.

FILIPINOS USE LESS OPIUM.

Habit Checked, Consumption Reduced, Says Government Report.

Washington.—Consumption of opium among the Filipinos has been completely checked, if not entirely eradicated, says a report to Brigadier General McIntyre, chief of the bureau of insular affairs, from the collector of internal revenue in the Philippines. He says that as a result of laws on the subject "the use of opium is now confined to a comparatively small number of confirmed users of the drug, practically all of whom are Chinese, who cannot give up the vice and who will go to any length to obtain it."

While there are in many parts of the islands scattering instances where Filipinos still indulge in the use of opium, it is reported that less than 5 per cent of the former Filipino users, who had numbered 40,000 in 1906, were still victims of the vice in 1911 and that since then conditions in Manila have greatly improved. Conditions in the provinces are said to be fairly satisfactory.

"It is perhaps too much," the report says, "to suspect that the opium evil will ever be absolutely suppressed in the Philippine Islands. It may be said, however, that almost without exception Chinese users of opium in any of its forms are today using a much smaller amount than that used by the same persons a few years ago. This is shown by the comparative ease with which Chinese users sent to the hospital today are cured. The only hope of approximating total suppression lies in making indulgence in the habit so difficult that the younger generation will not acquire it, and in this direction the progress made has certainly been most satisfactory."

18 MOUNTAIN LIONS BAGGED.

Success of Hunt Conducted in the Yellowstone Park.

Gardiner, Mont.—One of the most unique hunts in history and one that is being conducted on a large scale is the mountain lion drive in the Yellowstone National park. Within fifteen days eighteen lions were bagged, including the largest specimen ever seen in this region. The hunt is going on by permission of the government.

The largest lion was jumped at a point near Gardiner and led the hunters and dogs a chase of forty-five miles before it was killed near the starting point.

The method pursued in hunting the lions is to trail a beast to a tree or some spot where he seeks safety after desperately trying to outwit the pack of dogs chasing him. The lion then is shot.

Much Confusion as All Clocks Are Moved Forward an Hour.

Cleveland.—Eastern time has officially superseded central standard time here. Clevelanders are fitting their appetites and sleeping hours to the new time.

The new time had a preliminary tryout in many business places and homes. In offices clocks were turned ahead an hour at noon lunch period. Employees returned to work on central time, thus getting an extra hour. The majority of Clevelanders, however, lost an hour when clocks were turned ahead.

The Cleveland Athletic club observed the change with an "eastern time" party, and factory whistles announced the shifting of clocks. Clocks in public schools were moved ahead. In many buildings special exercises were held. Churches, both Protestant and Catholic, will go by eastern time.

At the new courthouse central time prevails, a state statute prescribing central time must be used. So far as the chamber of commerce could learn, not a Cleveland factory or business house will continue to be governed by central standard time. All churches conduct their services under the new order. Theaters, saloons and professional and amateur baseball organizations observe the change.

The dairymen and truck gardeners have arranged to make their rounds an hour earlier, so breakfast need not be late. The movement for eastern time became state wide last winter, but the legislature failed to provide for the change. Cleveland then took the initiative.

DELIVERS POSTAL TO DOG.

Carrier Calls "Tige" to Every One Until Right Tail Wags.

Hammond, Ind.—A postal card came from Hot Springs, Ark., directed to "Tige, Hammond, Ind." Postal authorities pondered over it long. It read: "Darling Tige, are you a good dog?" and was signed "Mother."

Julius Kosanke, a mail carrier, agreed to deliver it. He called "Tige!" at dogs all day and was chased by them. He at last came to a house where a bow legged, swaybacked bull pup came out to meet him.

The dog growled savagely, and Kosanke said, "Hello, Tige!" and the dog wagged his stubby tail. The carrier asked the woman of the house whether her dog's name was Tige.

"It is. Have you a letter from his mother?" she asked Kosanke, and then continued: "Well, here is a letter to his mother; please mail it."

A GREAT CONQUEROR A GRAND TRIUMPH

Jesus "Put to Death in Flesh, Made Alive in Spirit."

Our Lord's Ascension—Purpose of His Manifestations to His Disciples—Pentecostal Blessings—The Apostles as Witnesses of Jesus' Resurrection. Our Lord's Extreme of Humiliation and of Exaltation—The Triumph of a Great Conqueror—Following Him the Royal Priesthood — Then Countless Hosts of Every Nation.

May 31.—Pastor Russell's famous Photo-Drama of Creation beautifully pictures our Lord's ascension and the subsequent outpouring of the Holy Spirit at Pentecost. The public seem very appreciative of the Drama as a means of Biblical instruction. Large crowds are in daily attendance.

The Pastor's text today was, "When He ascended on High, He led a multitude of captives."—Eph. 4:8, margin.

The speaker declared that in one sense of the word our Lord ascended from the human nature and the tomb to the Divine nature and immortality at the time of His resurrection. He tarried for forty days with His Apostles, however, for their establishment and instruction. Being then a Spirit, He was invisible to them, except when He materialized in various forms to convince them that He was no longer confined to human conditions. His resurrection had made Him a spirit Being on a higher plane than where He was before He took the human nature for the suffering of death, in order to redeem humanity.

The Pastor demonstrated that our Lord taught His followers these important truths by both word and conduct. As they had not yet received the Holy Spirit, they could not appreciate spiritual things, but must be instructed along natural lines. Had He ascended without manifesting Himself to His disciples, they would not have understood the truth of the matter, and could not have borne witness to His resurrection. Hence their lessons were given them in pantomime, corroborated by the Master's explanation that Messiah must needs die to redeem mankind, and then ascend on High to be the more capable of filling the duties of His great office.

The Outpouring of the Spirit.

The speaker then reviewed the wonderful manifestation of the descent of the Holy Spirit at Pentecost. This manifestation evidenced to the disciples the fact that their sins had been freely forgiven for Christ's sake, that their consecration to sacrifice themselves had been accepted by the Father, and that henceforth they might count themselves part of Abraham's Seed, who would bless all humanity.

The Apostles were to bear witness to Jesus' resurrection. Hence when Saul of Tarsus was given Judas' place, it was proper that he also should be able to bear that witness. His experience on the road to Damascus convinced him, that Jesus had risen from the dead and that He was the Messiah.

The Pastor then showed that the descent of the Logos to the human plane and the ascension of Christ to the Divine plane were related as cause and effect. Our Lord now fills the highest position in the Universe, next to the Father. To suppose that our Lord went to Heaven a man is to mistake the significance of His title, Son of Man, which He maintains as identifying Him with His great redemptive work for humanity. To suppose that He is still a man is to overlook the Scriptural statement that man is "a little lower than the angels," and that since our Lord's ascension angels and men are commanded to worship Him.

As usual, the Pastor discussed all texts bearing upon this point and fully sustained his position. He went into details respecting the transfer of the Logos from Heavenly to earthly conditions, and proffered his hearers, free upon application, a treatise entitled "The Undefiled One," which he believes shows scientifically the process by which the Logos was changed from spirit to human conditions, yet was preserved immaculate.

A Multitude of Captives.

Then the Pastor considered his text, which figuratively represents Jesus' ascension as the triumph of a great Conqueror. Sin and Death had gained ascendency over Father Adam and his race, and had brought them down to the dust—mentally, morally and physically. Moreover, this victory had been won legally—by one man's disobedience. But the Logos was made flesh, proved Himself competent to pay the sinner's ransom-price, and paid that price. Having finished His sacrificial work, He was again received to the spirit plane, and exalted to the right hand of God.

The speaker depicted our Lord as returning to the Heavenly state, acclaimed of the Heavenly host. Far down the centuries, the prophetic eye saw following Him, first the Church, the Royal Priesthood, delivered from the power of Sin and Death; and next the millions upon millions of humanity, rescued from the bondage of corruption.

GOMPERS ANSWERS PASTOR

Cleveland Clergyman Who Defended Rockefeller Is Attacked.

Cleveland, June 2. Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, in Cleveland to aid the school teachers who are striving to form a labor union in opposition to the wishes of the board of education, attacked Rev. W. W. Bustard for his sermon in defense of the attitude of John D. Rockefeller in the Colorado mine strike. Bustard is pastor of the Euclid Avenue Baptist church of which Rockefeller is a member and Sunday school superintendent.

Bustard declared in his sermon that complete unionization of the miners was the cause of the upheaval and that less than a third of the miners belonged to a union.

"His whole sermon showed mental bias," said Gompers. "Rev. Dr. Bustard said: 'And then what did the miners do?—they shot the guards and the guards shot the miners.' Why didn't he say the guards shot the miners first?

"He says the miners brought with them to this country all the pent-up hatred and ignorance of foreign countries. If that is true so is is all the more true that the mine companies, their agents and representatives have induced this immigration to fill the places of American miners who can't work under the present conditions."

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson X.—Second Quarter, For June 7, 1914.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Luke xvii, 20-37. Memory Verse, 33—Golden Text, Luke xvii, 21—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

Every instance of healing or making the blind to see, the deaf to hear, the lame to walk, was a sample of the kingdom which will be set up on earth when the Lord shall take vengeance upon His enemies and recompense His people, when Israel shall obtain joy and gladness and sorrow and sighing shall flee away, when the inhabitant shall not say I am sick and the people shall be forgiven their iniquity (Isa. xxxv. 4-6, 10; xxxiii. 24).

When the twelve and the seventy were sent forth they were to heal the sick and preach that the kingdom had come nigh. Our Lord Himself also as He preached the gospel of the kingdom healed all manner of sickness and disease (Matt. iv. 23; x. 7, 8; Luke x. 9, 11). When the Pharisees asked about the coming of the kingdom we must remember that they thought of the kingdom as described by the prophets, and in this they were not wrong, for such a kingdom was even then at hand and will surely come at our Lord's return, according to Luke xix. 11, 12; Acts iii. 21.

Perhaps there is no saying in the Scriptures more misquoted, misinterpreted and misapplied than the words of our Golden Text as they stand "Behold the Kingdom of God is within you." From these words it is generally taught that our Lord will never have a kingdom on this earth, when the nations will learn war no more and all kings and nations shall serve Him (Isa. ii. 4; Ps. lxxii. 11), but that His kingdom is wholly spiritual in the hearts of His people, that the church is His kingdom, that it began to come at Pentecost and has been coming ever since, and that we are here to extend it, and that some day the church will convert the whole world. Then he will burn up the world and take all His people to heaven. Those who so teach have no use for a literal Israel, or for the coming of Christ to reign or for prophecy generally, or Daniel or Revelation in particular. The New Testament is quite sufficient, and much of that may be omitted.

In reading our Bibles we must always notice if God is speaking either directly or through His servants or if the devil is the speaker. Otherwise we might make the same mistake as the judge who said, "We have the highest authority for saying all that a man hath will he give for his life," the judge not having noticed that these words were from the devil (Job ii. 4). We must also notice to whom words are spoken, whether to sinners or saints, to Pharisees or disciples. The words of the Golden Text were spoken to Pharisees, whom He elsewhere called "whited sepulchers, full of hypocrisy and iniquity, children of hell" (Matt. xxiii. 17, 27, 28). Our Lord would no more say to such that the kingdom of God was within them than you or I would say it to a drunken man who was full of cursing. What our Lord did say is more correctly rendered in the margin "among you" or in the R. V. margin, "in the midst of you." He himself as the King, greater than Solomon, represented the kingdom, but although in their midst and ready to set up His kingdom they would not have Him, but said, "We have no king but Caesar." "Not this man, but Barabbas." Then He turned to His disciples (verse 22) and spoke to them of His future coming as Son of Man in His glory (verses 24, 26, 30), telling them that He was about to be rejected by the Jews and suffer at their hands (verse 25), and that when He came again it would be as suddenly as the lightning shining from one part of heaven to the other, and that He would find at His coming again a condition of affairs on earth similar to that in the days of Noah and as it was in Sodom in the days of Lot. This does not look like a converted world to welcome Him, but rather as it is described in Rev. i. 7; xi. 18, all kindreds of the earth wailing because of Him, and the nations angry, because it will be the day of His wrath, when He will judge the nations and dash them to pieces like a potter's vessel (Ps. ii. 9; Isa. xxxiv. 1, 2; lxvi. 15, 16; Zeph. iii. 8; Matt. xxv. 31, 32).

This coming of the Son of Man to judge and reign is not His coming to the air for His church, but His coming in glory with His saints, when they, too, shall share this honor with Him as it is written in Ps. cxlix. 5-9; Rev. ii. 26, 27; Col. iii. 4. See how our Lord indorses the truth of the record of the deluge, the destruction of the cities of the plain by fire and brimstone from heaven, the judgment upon Lot's wife, and because of the judgments which will surely come urges His people to think more of the life that is life indeed than of this present life, except as it can be used for Him.

There must be no looking back to the things of this evil age nor conformity to it, but a life of separation from it, occupied with Him who is our life and the things which concern Him and a readiness always to be taken away from the earth. Things are bad enough on the earth even now, but iniqnity will not be full until after the church is taken away.

FILIPINOS USE LESS OPIUM.

Habit Checked, Consumption Reduced, Says Government Report.

Washington. Consumption of opium among the Filipinos has been completely checked, if not entirely eradicated, says a report to Brigadier General McIntyre, chief of the bureau of insular affairs, from the collector of internal revenue in the Philippines. He says that as a result of laws on the subject "the use of opium is now confined to a comparatively small number of confirmed users of the drug, practically all of whom are Chinese, who cannot give up the vice and who will go to any length to obtain it."

While there are in many parts of the islands scattering instances where Filipinos still indulge in the use of opium, it is reported that less than 5 per cent of the former Filipino users, who had numbered 40,000 in 1906, were still victims of the vice in 1911 and that since then conditions in Manila have greatly improved. Conditions in the provinces are said to be fairly satisfactory.

"It is perhaps too much," the report says, "to suspect that the opium evil will ever be absolutely suppressed in the Philippine Islands. It may be said, however, that almost without exception Chinese users of opium in any of its forms are today using a much smaller amount than that used by the same persons a few years ago. This is shown by the comparative ease with which Chinese users sent to the hospital today are cured. The only hope of approximating total suppression lies in making indulgence in the habit so difficult that the younger generation will not acquire it, and in this direction the progress made has certainly been most satisfactory."

18 MOUNTAIN LIONS BAGGED.

Success of Hunt Conducted In the Yellowstone Park.

Gardiner, Mont.—One of the most unique hunts in history and one that is being conducted on a large scale is the mountain lion drive in the Yellowstone National park. Within fifteen days eighteen lions were bagged, including the largest specimen ever seen in this region. The hunt is going on by permission of the government.

The largest lion was jumped at a point near Gardiner and led the hunters and dogs a chase of forty-five miles before it was killed near the starting point.

The method pursued in hunting the lions is to trail a beast to a tree or some spot where he seeks safety after desperately trying to outwit the pack of dogs chasing him. The lion then is shot.

THE REPUBLICAN,
Oakland, Md.

THURSDAY, JUNE 4, 1914.

IT was a sage who exclaimed: "What fools we mortals be."

THE appropriations by Congress will exceed one billion dollars, which is the largest in the history of the conntry, and the end is not yet.

THE unexpected generally occurs in the far west. A San Francisco undertaker has an automobile hearse-carriage which is thirty feet long, and has accommodations for the casket and thirty seven people.

THE recent legislature of this State appropriated money to buy an automobile for Governor Goldsborough. The Governor selected a Lozier car No. 82, finished in a Richelien blue body. The car has been delivered to the Governor.

SENATOR Lewis Putzel, of Baltimore, died in Dr. Kelley's Sanitorium Saturday night. Mr. Putzell was a prominent Republican of Baltimore, and served one term in the House of Delegates, and a term in the Senate, and at the time of his death was president of the board of election supervisors.

THE President still insists that the business depression is "mainly psychological." Now, if business men could meet their bills with psychological currency and ordinary humanity could get along with psychological food and psychological clothes, everything would be all right. What a blessing it would be if we could have the late Mary Baker G. Eddy in the Cabinet.

THEY have a queer way of doing things in China. A law was passed recently to prevent the use of opium. The law is drastic. For instance. After June 1st, any person under 40 years of age found smoking opium in Sze-Chuen province will be shot forthwith. Suppose we had as strenuous a liquor law. Think out the results that would follow the enforcement of such a law.

THE first cargo of freight received in New York coming through the great Panama Canal was a load of free trade sugar? This sugar had to pay a toll of $1 a ton to get through the canal—but it dosen't pay a cent to get into the America market to undersell American manufactured sugar or American raised and manufactured beet sugar. It does not reduce the price the consumer has to pay for sugar. Free sugar means enlarged profits to the whole sale people and manufactures, and nothing to the consumer.

THE prophicies of Uncle Joe Cannon and other Republican leaders are being fulfilled now-a-days. The Wilson administration facing a treasury deficit and fearing destruction of both cane and beet sugar industry through free sugar is about to reverse its free sugar policy by amending the Underwood tariff law to retain a duty of one cent a pound on sugar. It is estimated such a duty would yield about $37,000,000. The treasury is now running short on revenues about $500,000 a day while awaiting collections from the income tax and other sources.

LAST Friday morning Col. John W. Avirett, editor and proprietor of the Daily Times of Cumberland, Md., was found dead in his bath room. Death was due to heart failure. He had walked from his sleeping room to the bath room, just across the hall. In less than ten minutes he was dead. Mr. Avirett is survived by his wife, a dauhgter and two sons. He was a cousin of Judge Boyd. Mr. Avirett was a progressive citizen. He was always ready to give a helping hand to every enterprise that had for its object the building up of his home town or county. He was an active man and will be greatly missed in Cumberland.

FREDERICK county Republicans plan to rent a large hall for headquarters and to open the rooms within the next few weeks and maintain headquarters until after the election of 1915. The reclamation of Frederick county by the Republicans is declared to be the object, and it is claimed that this fall, with a general registration, much of the ground work for the success of the county ticket in 1915 must be done. This is a move m the right direction. The Republicans of the Sixth Congressional district ought to elect the Congressman this fall, and will if they get together and make an united effort to do so. Garrett county is all right.

JUNE 14 will be Flag day, the 137 th birth of "Old Glory." The day will be generally observed all over the United States. Owing to the recent Tampico incident and the demands made upon the Mexican government to fire a salute Flag day will be of greater significance than ever. On Saturday, June 14, 1777, Congress "Resolved, That the flag of the United States be 13 stripes alternate red and white, that the Union be 13 stars, white in a blue field representing a new constellation." In an act approved January 13, 1794, Congress provided the flag should have fifteen stars, as there were, at that time fifteen State in the Union. It was a flag of this type that Key saw "By dawn's early light." In 1818 Congress reestablished the flag of thirteen stripes and provided that there should be one star for each State in the Union.

WE are fully convinced that THE REPUBLICAN isgrowing in the estimation of the public. We have three very good reasons for our belief. First the complimentary words we receive from the people all over the county; proof that we are publishing a paper for the people, of the people and with the people. Second, by the many new subscribers we are adding to our subscription list, which proves that our readers are speaking kind words in our behalf. Third, by the way our exchanges clip items from THE REPUBLICAN. A Pennsylvania paper used two columns of our local news last week. Two or three West Virginia papers used from one half a column up to a column and a half and some of our Maryland neighbors just waded in and helped themselves. Just help yourselves gentlemen. You are pertectly welcome. You certainiy know a good thing when you see and read it, and your Garrett county readers will appreciate the good things you clip from Garrett county's leading paper. Thanks for the credit given us.

Yes, They Let It Alone.

Out in Everett, Ind., a drunken man clubbed his wife to death with an axe, then slashed her face and neck with a razor. Then he sent his oldest son for a rope, intending to hang himself. The state will attend to that detail, and then nine children will be orphans.

The husband and father who did this awful, brutal deed was intoxicated on liquor bought at a licensed saloon. There is no evidence that his wife and children used liquor, but whiskey did not let them alone.

There are a lot of fools who declare that whiskey will let you alone if you let it alone.

The newspaper accounts of the murder say that the man's wife had been a constant sufferer from her husband's drunkenness. Although the man started out well in his business, he became first a "moderate" drinker, just all of 'em do, and wound up a murderer and would-be suicide.

There is nothing in the papers to the effect that the saloonist who sold him the liquor will be tried for murder or that the men who voted for the saloon will be held for complicity in the crime. —The American Issue.

BITTINGER.

The ladies of the Lutheran congregation held a successful and largely attended lawn fete on the evening of May 30th.

On last Saturday afternoon the funeral and burial services of the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Legeer, were conducted by Rev. E. E. Oney, and interment was made in the village cemetery.

Rev. Oney, of the Lutheran church, entered upon his duties as supply pastor at this place on last Sunday morning, preaching a very interesting sermon to a large and attentive congregation.

E. J. Frantz, proprietor of the Frantz Hotel, of Oakland, was a business caller in this neighborhood recently.

John Lichleiter, of Meyersdale, was in this territory last week buying up the season's crop of maple sugar and syrup.

Mrs. Benjamin Bittinger, of Cumberland, is spending some days with relatives and friends here.

John Beitzell is preparing to erect a new dwelling on the farm recently purchased from John H. Stark.

Mrs. David Miller and son Irvin, of near Deer Park, visited their old home here last Sunday.

A match game of base ball recently played between the Jennings and Bittinger teams, resulted in a score of 13 to 26 in favor of the Jennings boys.

Mrs. J. Messersmith and sister, Miss Clara Lininger, of Hagerstown, Md., are spending the week with their parents here.

Deputy Treasurer B. H. Wiley and sister, Miss Leonora Wiley, of Oakland, spent Sunday at their home near this village.

PANAMA EXPOSITION COMMISSION

Senator Harvey J. Speicher Appointed on Commission by the Governor.

Last Monday, Senator Harvey J. Speicher received a telephone message from Governor Goldsborough, announcing his appointment as a member of the Maryland Commission at the Panama Exposition at San Francisco next year. This Commission is composed of 25 members, ten of whom are appointed by the Governor. President Price and Speaker Trippe, each appoint four members. The Governor, President Price and Speaker Trippe are ex-officio members of the Commission. The Commission has $75,000 available for all expenses.

Plans have been prepared by architects for a state building on the exposition grounds to cost about $20,000. The executive committee will arrange to visit San Francisco at an early date and will select a site for the building and award the contract for its construction. The main body of the Commission, Governor Goldsborough, possibly members of his staff and other Marylanders who desire to accompany the party, will visit the exposition next year, the observation of Maryland Day on September 12 to be the main feature of their stay.

THE REPUBLICAN assures the Governor that Garrett county appreciates the compliment he has paid the county in selecting the Senator for a place on this commission, and congratulates Senator Speicher on his appointment to the same. Garrett county feels that there is nothing too good for this man, whom we delight to honor, for his splendid service in the best interests of his native county.

Civic Club Municipal Cleaning.

The Civic Club reports that during the spring cleaning, which was completed some days ago, fifty-one loads of trash were hauled out of the town at a total cost of $25. The ordinance prohibiting the dumping or throwing of trash into the streets and alleys will hereafter be enforced, and those responsible for the untidy and uncleanly condition of the throughfares will be held accountable.

Echard, Landon & Co., contractors for the Oakland-Gortner State Aid road, are receiving the machinery needed in the building of the road. They are also placing along the road site the galvanized casing to be used in the construction of the culverts. The work of opening the stone quary is progressing satisfactory. If the Court refuses the order asking for an injunction, the contractor will be ready for immediate work on the road.

Memorial Day—One more year—then many more graves to be decorated—and the veterans will nearly all be in their graves. Honor them while they are living, as well as when they are dead; remembering it was they who helped make this great and glorious republic what it is today—the land of the free and the home of the brave! We would urge the sons and grand sons of the men who served in the Civil war to unite with this splendid organization. It is a great honor to belong to it. Call on Commander, Mr. Norman Sanner at Harned's drug store for particulars.

The annual meeting of Amish Mennonite churches of Garrett county Md. and Somerset connty, Pa., have formed an association to establish an Amish Mennonite Orphan's Home. The scheme has been approved by the congregation of that demonition in Grantsville and Cherry Glade this county. The object of the association is to maintain a Home for orphaned, needy and dependent children, regardless of parental religion, and for placing such as are advisable into private homes to be cared for and brought up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord. The Home is to be temporarily established in Garrett county, Md., but eventually at the discretion of the trustees, in Somerset county, Pa., the association to be incorporated under the laws of Pennsylvania for that purpose.

Last Sunday 27 persons were baptised in Buffalo Run, about four miles distant from Friendsville, by the pastor of the Church of God, who had been holding a revival meeting in the church in that neighborhood. The arrangements had been made to immerse 52 candidates, but for some reason only 27 were on hand. Of course a large crowd of people was present.

ALL values are judged by comparison. You size up the worth and quality of any one article, by comparing it with several other similar articles. Then, and only then, you are in a position to make the most practical, intelligent and economical choice.

Therefore, before you choose your automobile, carefully compare the specifications, quality and equipment of the $950 Overland with the description of any of the $1200 cars. You'll find no material difference.

For instance:

The $950 Overland has a wheel base of 114 inches. A good many $1200 cars have even a shorter wheel base than this.

The $950 Overland has a thirty-five horsepower motor. Do you know of any $1200 car that can give you more power?

The $950 Overland has 33 inch x 4 inch tires. Again the same—in both size and quality—that you find on most $1200 cars.

The $950 Overland has electric lights throughout—exactly the same as on any of the higher priced cars.

The $950 Overland is as roomy, comfortable and as luxuriously finished as any $1200 car.

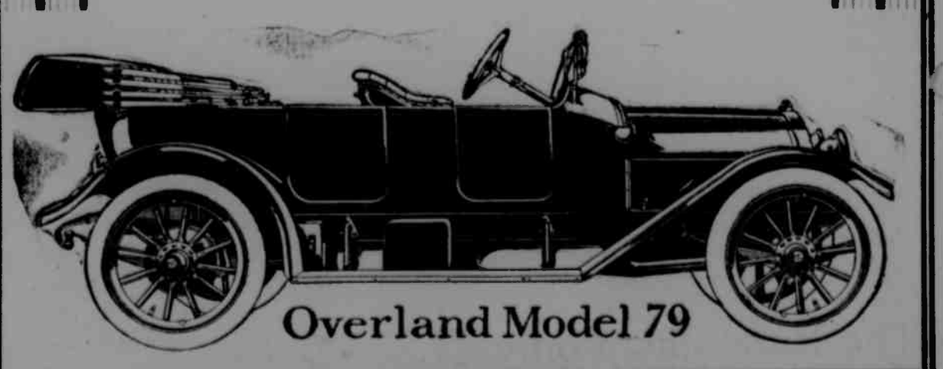
The Overland equipment is just as complete, and of just as high a quality as the equipment of any $1200 car.

The steels used in the Overland are of the very highest grade; in fact the metals and materials used in the Overland are of the same quality as those found in the most costly cars in the world.

The Overland is just as accurately and precisely produced as any car on the market—regardless of price.

The more you compare this $950 car with cars costing 30 per cent. and even 40 per cent. more—the more you are brought to realize that to pay more than $950 for this type of car is absolutely unnecessary.

The Overland costs you less because of our great production Other manufacturers must charge you more, because of their smaller production.



And that is why the Overland is outselling every other similar car made. 5000 Overlands a month are being delivered right now.

WRECK PROBE TO BE WARM FIGHT

Captains Accuse Each Other For St. Lawrence Disaster

INQUIRY STARTS NEXT WEEK

Friends of Both Kendall and Anderson Are Lining Up and Admiralty Court Will Witness Bitter Struggle. Anderson Says Kendall's Story Is Untrue and Mrs. Anderson, Who Was on Storstad, Defends Husband.

Montreal, June 2.—The bitterest fight in the history of admiralty courts is likely to spring from the investigation of the St. Lawrence disaster.

Already marine interests, navigators and officials are at issue, one side charging that Captain H. G. Kendall of the Empress of Ireland was to blame, the other accusing Captain Thomas Anderson of the Storstad.

It was officially announced that the government investigation would be held here beginning Tuesday, June 9.

The investigation will be conducted by a board composed of two judges of the Canadian admiralty, to be appointed by the dominion government, and one representative of the British admiralty, appointed by the imperial government.

Each commander almost unqualifiedly places the responsibility upon the shoulders of the other. Captain Kendall maintaining that his ship was practically motionless and that the Storstad blundered into the Empress despite repeated warnings.

Captain Kendall is supported in his story by his officers and to a large extent by the survivors.

Captain Anderson declares that the Empress was moving at "a good speed" and that her rapid headway prevented the Storstad from plugging the hole.

Captain Anderson seemed to be indignant over an official statement purporting to exonerate Captain Kendall.

"Captain Kendall is a sailor and I don't want to say anything about him," said the Storstad's commander. "The facts are these:

"When Captain Kendall shouted through the megaphone as the ships were drawing near each other I shouted back, but I did not have a megaphone. I shouted as loud as I could. Our man on the lookout heard me call. And I did not go full ahead. I kept my hand on the telegraph to the engine room and the very moment we touched the other ship I rang for full speed ahead. But the Empress was going at good speed ahead and it was impossible for me to keep our boat in the hole. She was going fast. She disappeared from this ship and for a long time I kept blowing my whistle, but I heard nothing till the cries."

In reply to statements made by survivors of the Empress that most of them were saved by the Empress lifeboats, Captain Anderson said:

"I haven't got any words to talk about that. I don't know what to say. It is so wrong that there's no use to reply. It is beyond anything, beyond all reason. Some people have said strange things. They said I was smiling when I came in here. If I was smiling then why should I be crying now?"

Captain Lindsay, wreck commissioner of the Dominion of Canada, began a preliminary inquiry which will probe into causes of the horror preliminary to a full investigation by a royal commission.

Captain Kendall of the lost liner, his crew and Captain Thomas Anderson of the Storstad, with his crew and officers, also may tell their sworn stories. It is barely possible that the two captains, however, will not give their testimony until later.

Mrs. Anderson, wife of the Storstad's captain, gave all of her clothing to survivors, keeping only a blue cotton dress which she wore when the disaster occurred.

She asserted that three officers of the Empress of Ireland refused to leave the Storstad after being rescued to help save those afloat in the water.

"After the crash," she said. "I ran upon the bridge where Captain Anderson was. Everything was dark and quiet. There was no excitement among the crew and I was cool. I said to my husband, 'Are we going to sink?' and he said, 'I think so.'

"I couldn't cry, although I felt like it. I said to myself, 'My place is here, I will die by my husband.'

"Captain Anderson told me he was trying to keep the Storstad in the hole and that if the liner had not been speeding they would have stopped together for a time at least.

"Again I asked him if we were going down and he answered, 'I can't tell yet.' He said he thought the Empress was all right.

"I think it was five minutes later that I heard screams and cries and I shouted to my husband: 'Oh, they are calling.' At first it seemed as if the cries were coming from shore. The captain gave orders to go in that direction and proceed very slowly. Everywhere around me now I could hear screams. My husband gave orders to send out all the lifeboats and that could not have been ten minutes after the vessels had collided.

"I gave all I had to the passengers and have only what I am standing up in."

SLEUTH QUITS WINTERS CASE

Says Politics Has Interfered With His Plans.

New Castle, Ind., June 2.—Robert Abel, a private detective, who has been investigating the disappearance of Catherine Winters, left this city and will not return. He left after an altercation with W. P. Myers, prosecuting attorney, in which each accused the other of suffering an attack of "cold feet."

The charges against the parents of the girl, Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Winters probably will be dismissed and the search for the body of the girl will be abandoned. The parents and Ross Cooper, star boarder, were charged with conspiracy to commit murder.

Abel went to Indianapolis, taking with him his magnifying glass, his "Sherlock Holmes" hat and some dictagraph records. He said no prosecution could be made without the evidence contained in the dictagraph report. "Politics and cowardice have ruined my case," said Abel as he left

VOLCANO NOT FEARED

Old Mount in California Emits Fire and Rocks.

Redding, Cal., June 2.—Mount Lassen, a peak in the Sierra Nevadas between Plumas and Shasta counties Cal., is in eruption. A new crater has opened in the side of the mountain with literal fissures running in all directions. Ashes cover the ground for three miles. Large boulders have been ejected from the crater. A cloud of smoke and steam hangs over the mountain.

Word of the eruption was conveyed to this city in an official report from forest rangers. No great damage is possible as the country in the vicinity of the ancient volcano is sparsely settled. Mount Lassen is 10,447 feet high and of volcanic origin. There is evidence that it was in eruption at a comparatively recent period, although antedating the entry of the white man into California.

DEPRESSION NOT GENERAL

So Says President Wilson—Railroad Offices Worst Affected.

Washington, June 2.—President Wilson again expressed his conviction that any present unsatisfactory condition in business was not general and was less felt in the United States than any other part of the world.

In reply to inquiries concerning the business situation as discussed in his statement last week to representatives of the Illinois Manufacturers' association and other similar organizations, the president said it was his impression that any unsatisfactory condition centered very largely about the railway offices and that was reflected in the steel industry and in other industries closely allied which depended especially upon railway development for prosperity.

LION LOOSE IN WOODS

Countryside Near Coatesville, Pa., Being Scoured by Armed Men.

Coatesville, Pa., June 2.—A large posse of men armed with rifles and shotguns is scouring the woods and thickets for miles around here in search of a lion which escaped from a circus at Thorndale. The last seen of the animal was when it disappeared in a dense growth of underbrush a half mile from the village. The entire countryside has been terrorized, women and children refusing to leave their homes.

The circus people say that the lion is dangerous and no effort will be made to take it alive.

CONFUSION OVER EMPRESS BODIES

Relatives of Victims Find Trouble in Identifying

IRVING'S BODY NOT YET FOUND

Quebec Will Bury Nine of the Sailor Dead at Public Funeral—Bodies Held in Hull of Empress of Ireland May Be Released by Dynamite. Vessel Cannot Be Salvaged, Says Naval Officer.

Quebec, June 2.—Identification of bodies is causing great confusion at the temporary morgue in Louise basin where the dead from the Empress of Ireland are resting. In consequence eighty-nine bodies still remain without names.

Relatives of passengers who sailed on the ill fated steamer identify bodies as belonging to them and as quickly decide that they have made a mistake. There are cases where two or three persons are claiming a body as that of a relative while the remains of a baby found five claimants demanding it.

It is quite probable that bereaved relatives have picked bodies of persons who are not their relatives and consoled in the belief that they have the right body have shipped them away for burial.

The officials of the Canadian Pacific and of the Canadian government refused to hand over the body of the baby to any one of the five claimants and have insisted on a thorough proof of identification before yielding it.

So badly bruised were some of the bodies that two men picked out bodies as those of brothers only to be informed by the officials that the bodies were those of women.

The body of W. Leonard Palmer of the London Times was identified. The report that the body of Laurence Irving had been found along the St. Lawrence river was denied.

On the body of Albert Anderson was found a wallet containing $6,000. It was taken in charge by officials and will be handed to his relatives.

Public funeral services over the bodies of nine sailors will be held tomorrow. The entire city will participate in it. Sailors from the cruiser Essex, soldiers and the crews of merchantmen in the harbor with other officials will be in the parade.

The sharp point of an anchor projecting from the twisted bow of the Norwegian collier Storstad may explain why that vessel did such terrible execution when she rammed the Empress of Ireland.

An examination of the collier's shattered plates revealed the anchor jammed in a position where the anchor could have ripped through the hull of the Empress like a great can opener. The anchor point and portions of the battered steel surrounding it bore stains of blood.

May Dynamite Empress.

Rimouski, Que., June 2.—The spot where the Empress of Ireland went down is marked at night by an illuminated buoy. Launches remain near the flare all night while their crews wait for bodies to rise to the surface. The work of recovering bodies is very slow.

In the opinion of Commander Tweedle of the British cruiser Essex it will be impossible to salvage the liner.

Commander Tweedle believes that it will be necessary to send divers into the hull, place charges of dynamite and blow the ship to pieces in order to recover bodies and enable divers to bring up the $1,000,000 in silver bullion that was part of the liner's cargo. The bodies of hundreds are locked within the hull, it is almost certain. The cruiser has offered the services of her divers.

Wilson Sends Condolences.

Washington, June 2.—The president sent the following message of condolence to the king of England: "I beg of your majesty to accept my deepest sympathy in the appalling catastrophe to the steamship Empress of Ireland which has brought bereavement to so many English homes."

Cupid Defies Father Time.

Newark, O., June 2.—Samuel Alpach, aged eighty, secured a license to wed Mrs. Rebecca Scarbrough, aged seventy-two. A license was also issued to E. S. Brownfield, aged seventy, and Nancy Adams, seventy-nine. It is Brownfield's second venture and her third.

OPTOMETRIST

Is Your Child Handicapped in his or her physical and mental development by defective vision? Out of 100,000 school children examined in New York city, nearly 30 per cent. were found to be in need of glasses. In Boston the percentage was found to be slightly over 20 per cent., and most of these children were down on the books as "stupid," "stubborn" or unruly. In Philadelphia 354 children were discovered who could not read ordinary writing on a blackboard at a distance of twenty feet. You should make sure by a thorough examination at the hands of a competent optometrist. That your child is not among this vast army of little citizens who suffer from defective eyesight, delays often result seriously. My examinations are made by the most scientific accurate methods. If it is found that glasses are not required you will be told so frankly and no charge made for the examination.

Great Motion Pictures to be Shown 4 Sundays in Gumberland.

Beginning at 3 p. m. next Sunday afternoon, June 7th, at the Maryland Theatre, Cumberland, Maryland, the wonderful motion picture drama of Creation and the Bible will be shown free to the public. This great picture is in four parts as it is too lengthy to be shown at one sitting. Instead one part will be shown the first Sunday, the second part the next and so on. Next Sunday, June 7th, at 3 and 8 p. m. the picture will be shown, requiring two hours. To see the entire production will be necessary to spend two hours at the Theatre each week for four weeks. Seats will be absolutely free and no collection will be taken.

The old Bible stories are brought home to us in the movies. After three years' of preparation in which the Holy Land and Egypt were visited by the picture makers in order to illustrate sacred history, the International Bible Students Association has prepared a wonderful series which will be shown in every city of the world. The Bible "Movies" are divided into four sections. Part 1, which will be shown Sunday afternoon and night, is termed "The Creation" and carries us from the star nebula to the creation of the world and down to the deluge down to Abraham's time. Part 2 will be shown the following Sunday afternoon and night, and tells the Bible story from Israel's deliverance out of Egypt, the wilderness experience, etc., down through the period of kings to the time of Elisha, the Prophet. Part 3 continues the story from Daniel's time down to the time when the Logos was made flesh at the birth of Jesus. His boyhood, manhood, baptism, ministry, miracles, crucifixion, death and resurrection.

Part 4 begins at Pentecost and traces the experiences of the church during the past nineteen centuries to our day and beyond for a thousand years to the glorious consummation. The plan is to encourage Bible reading and the movement is non sectarian. Famous paintings will be shown of great events in history, and there will be pictures tracing history through the various epochs down to the present era. The pictures will be accompanied by voices evolved from a phonographic attachment keeping exact time with them.

The photo drama of Creation has been vividly portrayed and lasting impressions will be made on the minds of the people who see this wonderful film.

It is the greatest achievement in the simplification of Bible study since King James of England ordered the translation of the Bible from the Latin into English. Through the efforts of the International Bible Students Association, of which Pastor Russell of the London and Brookly Tabernacle is the head, it is now possible to study the Bible thro' the medium of forceful, dramatic moving pictures. It has been arranged that the Drama of Creation shall be exhibited in every portion of the world and that those who see them will not be taxed a penny for that purpose. This is made possible through private subscription and financial means at the command of the Association.

OVER TWO MILES OF FILM.

In all there are over two miles of film to be shown in the complete re-production of the story of "Creation." In addition to the portrayal of things Biblical and scientific the films also show reproduction of over 500 paintings with a Bible value These have been gathered in all parts of the world and each reproduction is that of a masterpiece some hundreds of years old.

Livengood, of Meyersdale, Pa., flitted through town in Mr. Black's Cadillac and stopped at "Gnagey Farm" for an hour to look at Samuel Hershberger's fine herd of Jerseys, his up-to-date silo and other handy feeding arrangements, for all of which Gnagey Farm is noted. Mrs. Black, who is a successful farmer herself, and Mr. Hershberger were soon deep in the subject of the breeding of high-grade Jersey cows and all that pertains to successful dairy-farming, and it goes without saying that both were benefited by the exchange of opinions and experiences. The party returned to Meyersdale via Niverton and Salisbury after a very pleasant afternoon's outing, not the least enjoyable feature of which was the visit to Mr. Hershberger's model dairy farm.

Revised Calendar Would Caus Easter to Fall on Fixed Date.

Paris.—Recommendations by the International calendar commission at the meeting to be held in Berlin shortly by the International Association of Academies include the adoption of a perpetual calendar and a fixed, unchangeable date for Easter. The commission also advocates giving thirty one days to June and September, thirty days to February and cutting down other months.

The idea is to give to each month an equal number of working days, and it has been so arranged that the first, fifteenth or thirtieth of the month never falls on Sunday. So far as Easter is concerned, the commission will take no action unless it is sanctioned by the religious authorities.

M. Lecointe, director of the Royal Belgian conservatory, one of the men interested, says the warmest partisans of the proposed reform are not utopians, but practical men. They are, he says, financiers and business men.

M. Lecointe recalled that at a meeting of chambers of commerce the German delegates declared that German commerce lost millions of francs when Easter came in March. The two academic semesters, separated according to universal custom by Easter, are declared also to cause inconvenience in teaching, while spring vacations are apt to come during bad weather when Easter falls too soon.

As to the actual division of the year, it is true, say those interested, that one is accustomed to the anomalies, but that it is nevertheless highly desirable to do away with them.

We understand the County Commissioners have appropriated $200 for the repair and improvement of the Bloomington road between this place and the Allegany county line near the Buxton mine. Certainly not before it was needed. Last fall, all winter and up to the present time, this road has been closed to all kinds of traffic. Think of a county road that has been the main thoroughfare and outlet as far back as the oldest citizen can remember between Bloomington and its surrounding neighborhood and all the towns in the State of Marvland east of us, closed for nearly a year, and no effort made to open it. In vulgar parlance, "if this ain't going some, I am a liar." Never a better time to get to work, than now. The weather conditions could not be better and plenty of idle men glad of the opportunity to earn a few dollars to tide over dull times and the slack work at the mines are willing at a moment's notice to grab the pick or shovel and help us out. Even if it is only a bridal path between Bloomington and Luke hill let us have it before the summer is over.

Hon. Geo. L. Michael of Firm Rock, was in town on business Tuesday.

Mrs John C. Brydon, wife and family, of Somerset, Pa., are in town this week, the guests of Mr. Brydon's mother, Mrs. S. V. Brydon at Borderside.

Mr. Charles Rizer of this place, was called to Cumberland on last Sunday, on account of the death of his brother, Engineer Harry Rizer, who died in the Allegany hospital as the result of injuries received in a railroad accident near that city.

Never were miners more surprised as on last Monday morning when they received the extraordinary announcement from the superintendent that the Davis Coal & Coke Co., would close down the mines for a period of six weeks or two months or longer, until the coal market warranted a resumption. This action is something unusual in the history of the Davis Coal & Coke Co., as it always had the reputation, that no matter how dull the market seemed to be or how slack the work at other mines, this company never failed to keep their employes going and at the dullest periods found sufficient work to provide the miner for his ordinary expenses. Retrenchment, cut down expenses all along the line, even to the stoppage of the coal mining seems to be the only practical economy the company can pursue as a protection to itself on account of the unprecedented slump in the price of coal. The several openings of the different veins at Gobblers Knob were boarded up on last Monday, fires drawn from under the boilers, equipment housed and stored away, mules and horses used about the works sent to Elk Garden and put on pasture to await resumption. This order, not only effects the mines in this particular region, but applies, we understand, to the colleries operated by the same company along the line of the W. M. R. R., at Thomas, Coalton and other points, with the exception of the Shaft at Henry.

Mrs. H. M. Kemp of this place, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. F. E. Rathbun of Oakland, who has been the guest of the Kemp family for the past few days, attended the Kight—Norris wedding at the residence of the bride's father, Capt. Samuel Kight, of Keyser on Tuesday evening.

THE PEOPLE'S FORUM.

Gen. King Congratulates Sons of Veterans.

To the Editor of The Republican:

I am greatly pleased to read in your valuable paper of the successful organization of a Camp of Sons of Veterans in Oakland. Having been indirectly a party to the project, in calling Division Commander Keefauver's attention to the desire of the patriotic young men of your community to form a camp, it is with pardonable pride, therefore, that I note the successful outcome.

Commander Keefauver is an able and energetic officer and stands high in the National Organization, as I had occasion to notice at Chattanooga last fall during the National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic. The Sons of Veterans were much in evidence at that Encampment. For the first time in the history of the Grand Army the Sons of Veterans were accorded the proud distinction of being the official escort of the Commander-in-Chief, thus having the right of the line in the great parade and I trust the young men will be accorded the same honor at Detroit at the next encampment.

I cannot too strongly urge the young men, Sons of Union Veterans, to enroll themselves in this auxiliary to organize so that in the years to come they may on all proper occasions represent their fathers. The day is not far distant when the sunset gun will be fired and the flag lowered for the last survivor of that great epoch and it behooves their sons and grandsons to form a strong, compact oaganization and be proud everyone of them to say "My Father was a Soldier."

Respectfully,
JOHN R. KING,
Past Commander in-Chief G. A. R.

FIRST SHOT OF LOCAL OPTION CAMPAIGN

Fired at Auditorium, Mountain Lake Park, Friday Night.

Friday night last there was held one of the most enthusiastic temperance meetings in the history of Garrett county, in the auditorium at Mountain Lake Park. There were from 1250 to 1400 people assembled, from all parts of Garrett county.

The large platform was filled with representative citizens and clergymen of the several religious denominations. Such men as Revs. Dr. W. D. Reed, Dr. J. C. Ely, Dr. Archibald Moore, Isaac Abernathy, J. L. Marquess, Mr. Helmich, E. P. Idleman, J. M. Davis, Dr. Hare and Senator Speicher.

Mr Albert T. White of Mountain Lake Park, presided. The Oakland orchestra and a large choir furnished delightful music throughout the evening.

The opening prayer was made by the Rev. John M. Davis of Oakland. The prayer elicited many hearty amens from the audience. The clergymen earnestly prayed that the day of rumselling and rum making might speedily come to an end; that the campaign to be instituted tonight might result in an overwhelming victory and that this great Nation of ours should become free from the influence of rum.

The committee on resolutions presented the following report:

We rejoice at the rapid progress being made in the prohibition of the beverage liquor traffic. The day of eternal prohibition will soon come to West Virginia, as July 1st will see the going of the saloons from "The Little Mountain State" never to return; Garrett County, Maryland, will vote on the question November 3rd, and when that goes "Dry" the Oakland district will be freed from the bondage of this monstrous iniquity forever. State wide prohibition is apparently in sight for Maryland and the battle lines for National Prohibition by means of the submission and ratification of the Hobson—Shepherd joint resolutions are being drawn.

In view of the victories won and conflicts pending, be it therefore

Resolved, That the Oakland District Epworth League renews its vow of eternal hostility to the liquor traffic, and while rejoicing over victories won, pledges anew to remain in the army as soldiers of righteousness until the Nation is dry.

Be it also resolved, That we urge the most zealous cooperation upon the part of our people in the campaign for prohibition for Garrett county. And be it farther resolved that we pledge our unwavering support to the fight for National Prohibition and recommend that a petition be sent to both houses of Congress requesting the submission of the Hobson—Shepherd Prohibition Amendment.

Whereas The opportunity for Garrett county to destroy the beverage liquor traffic came through the efficient efforts of the Hon. H. J. Speicher, Senator for Garrett county through the preparation and introduction by him and the successful pushing through the legislature by his strenuous activities of the Garrett county Local Option Bill, be it therefore

Resolved, That the Oakland District Epworth League extends its hearty thanks to Senator Speicher for the earnest and tireless efforts he put forth in behalf of this measure and also extend thanks to the members of the House of Delegates from Garrett county who worked and voted for the passage of this measure.

ARCHIBALD MOORE,
JAMES L. MARQUESS,
P. B. GOUGH,
E. C. CUPPETT,
Committee.

The presiding officer asked the members of the League who favored the resolutians to stand up. They were unanimously adopted. He then called for a rising vote of the audience, which was quickly responded to, by practically the entire audience, with applause.

The president introduced Hon. Harvey J. Speicher, the Senator who gave Garrett county the remarkable Local Option bill which brought these enthusiastic Garrett countians together. As Senator Speicher arose from his seat these hundreds of fellow citizens arose to their feet, some clapping hands and others giving the Chautauqua salute. Some one in the audience cried out, "What is the matter with Hon. Harvey Speicher?" From the platform, from all parts of the audience came the quick response, "There is nothing the matter with Harvey J. Speicher. He is all right." It was a magnificient endorsement of the Senator's great work in securing the passage of the Local Option bill and for his manly stand for temperance and sobriety.

The Senator in well chosen words introduced the Rev. Dr. T. M. Hare, the live wire superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Maryland and Delaware. He told of the Doctor's great work in the West Virginia prohibition campaign which resulted in that State going into the Dry column. He said, "There has never before been a time when the temperance cause was so earnestly and successfully championed as today." He referred to the magnificient temperance victory in Charles county, which recently took that county out of the wet and placed it in the dry column. He said Garrett county will not be satisfied until the last drop of liquor is banished from our midst, then turning to Dr. Hare he said, "Ladies and gentlemen, I take the great pleasure in introducing to you Dr. Hare the speaker of the hour, who will discuss the question of "The Battle of Ballots for Garrett County."

As Dr. Hare arose to his feet he was greeted with a most enthusiastic welcome. He began his address by saying, "I am glad that I am here. I am glad that you are here. I am dry and I hope you are dry, if you are not you will be before many months. I hope you are going to put forth your best efforts to make Garrett county dry by tremendous majority. Baltimore is becoming the whiskey camp of America.

He discussed the question of how the liquor traffic was kept before the public. It was through five big lies of the devil, by which he deluded and deceived the people. It was a red hot arraingnment of the liquor business. Alcohol is a poison he declared. He quoted the testimony of a number of prominent physicians, who declare that alcohol is not necessary in the practic of medicine, as was formerly believed.

Some people claim that prohibition does not prohibit. He compared the theory of regulating the liquor question with prohibition. He dealt in cold facts, gave telling incidents, and vivid illustrations on the subject. He described the partnership business existing between the whiskey seller and the public. He quoted the words of the President of the Liquor Dealers' Association, claiming that the Government was in partnership with them in the sale of liquor, because it licensed them to do so and received part of the profits in the shape of licensed fees. He asked the audience if they were not ready to dissolve the partnership and go out of the business.

He referred to a trip he made through Kansas, the State where prohibition is and has been a success. He spoke of its great prosperity. In one town he visited the lockup was used for storing ear corn, not for the imprisonment of the man with corn juice in his stomach. He described a trip he made through the State of Maine; of signs of prosperity and the absence of the saloon; of visiting the State Prison with only 127 inmates; of one county, a wet county, in his home State, West Virginia, which furnished 127 prisoners for the State penitentiary at Moundsville.

This is to be a hand to hand conflict. A house to house canvas. A campaign of personal effort. Sit down by the side of your neighbor and have a heart to heart talk with him. Public meeting are all right They create enthusiasm. Arouse the community and do good, but this campaign upon which we are entering is one of personal work, house to house visitation. It should have the strongest and most earnest support of every man and woman in the county.

He closed his address with an earnest, pathetic appeal to those present to do everything they could do to win out by a tremendous majority. To get at work immediately and keep at work until the polls close on election day. He asked most earnestly, "Is there a man or woman here tonight who can not win at least one vote for Local Option?"

The entire address was full of pathos, humor and logic. It was a strong presentment of facts that cannot be successfully contradicted. It was listened to with great interest and repeatedly applauded. It was a magnificent, telling and enthusiastic opening of one of the greatest campaigns started in Garrett county.

Miss June Dunnington recited appreciatively a telling temperance story, and a quartette sang "A Saloonless Nation in 1920."

At the close of the meeting a number of voters met and decided to arrange for the organization of the working forces of the county. A committee composed of Messrs. Dr. Moore, A. D. Naylor, R. E. Jones, S. T. Jones and Rev. Issac Abernathy was appointed to prepare a call for a meeting at the auditorium at Mt. Lake Park for June 17. This call will be found in another column of The Republican.

Gortner State-Aid Road.

Judge Henderson has fixed Tuesday, June 23d, as the date for hearing the motion for granting an injunction against the County Commissioners and others from building the Oakland-Gortner State-aid road.

The contractors have the casings for the culverts placed along the new road. The concrete mixer, the water wagon and a number of road scoops are standing on the Mt. Lake Park road, between Oakland and Webers.

The stone quary on the Weber farm is being enlarged, and stone are being gotten out, and a road from the quarry to the line of the new road is being made.

Work on crushing stone will commence in a few days. The contractors have all their plans made for rushing the work as soon as the State Road engineers get here, to give them the road levels.

A building to be used as a blacksmith shop has been erected near Weber station on the B. & O. railroad, where all tools will be sharpened and repairs to machinery made.

PLANS FOR WALKING TRIP.

Suffragists Prepatring for Long Hike Through Garrett County.

The Just Government League of Garrett county is very busy—busy planning for the suffrage campaign to begin on June 16. Monday evening the officers met with Miss L. C. Trax, the State Secretary, went over the route, and discussed the meeting to be held at Oakland. The meetings in all the towns will be open-air, in the most central part, unless otherwise advertised. In case of rain, Mr. Rathbun, superintendent of the county schools, has given permission for the use of the school buildings, provided of course, the trustees have no objection.

The route is as follows:

June 16, Tuesday, Grantsville, 8 p. m.; June 17, Wednesday, Bittinger, 8 p. m.; June 18, Thursday, Accident, 8 p. m.; June 19, Friday, Friendsville, 8 p. m.; June, 20, Saturday, Sang Run, 2 p. m.; McHenry, 8 p. m.; June, 22 Monday, Hutton, 12 noon; Crellin, 8 p. m.; June 23, Tuesday, Oakland, 8 p. m.; June 24 (Wednesday) Mt. Lake, Deer Park, 8. p. m.; June 25, Thursday, Swanton, 8 p. m.; June '26. Friday, Kitzmiller, 8 p. m.; June 27, Saturday, Bloomington, 8 p. m.

Seven suffragists will make the trip, which covers about 110 miles. Mrs. Edna S. Latimer, who led the Army of the Seven to Annapolis last January; Miss L. C. Trax; Miss Thurlow, a graduate of Goucher College, Miss Minnie Jackson, Miss Mary Brennen of Washington State, Mrs. F. H. Snell and one other from Washington, D. C. They will bear letters to the mayors of the various towns.

The suffragists of Oakland are preparing to entertain the hikers while they are visitors in the town. Mrs. B. H. Sincell has been appointed chairman of the hospitality committee, and she is planning plenty of good cheer. The county commissioners have granted the use of a room in the court house, where an informal reception will be held after the meeting, when the people of the town may have an opportunity to meet the visitors. Refreshments will be served. The meeting will be held on the court house corner, or in case of rain, in the court house itself. Mayor Matthews will respond to the letter of greeting presented by the suffragists—personally, if his professional duties do not interfere, or by letter if he shall be unable to attend the meeting.

Garrett is doing its best to make the visitors feel that they will have a heary welcome, and will be the guests of the county. Mrs. Latimer invites all sympathizers to walk with the hikers, even if they can make only several miles away from their own town. Everybody is invited to the meetings. for the object of the walking trip is to tell as many people as possible why women want to vote.

State Normal School Graduates Receive Increased Salery.

The 1914 graduates of the State Normal Schools of Maryland will enter their professional careers under better conditions in every respect, but particularly so with regard to salaries, than any teachers previously graduated in this State. This is so by reason of an act of the Maryland Legislature, passed at its last session, that will be a law August 1, 1914.

This act relates to minimum salaries for teachers and provides that no Normal graduate shall receive as a salary less than four hundred dollars ($400) per annum; and after having taught for a period of three years in any of the public schools of the State of Maryland shall receive as salary not less than four hundred and fifty dollars ($450) per annum; if such teacher has taught as above for a period of five years, he or she shall receive as salary not less than five hundreds dollars ($500) per annum; it such teacher has taught as above for a period of eight years, he or she shall receive as salary not less than five hundred and fifty dollars ($550) per annum.

This raise in the salaries of teachers and the creation of a minimum salary will undoubtedly make the teaching profession more popular than ever.

Farmer's Institute.

The Farmers' Institute season for Garrett county will open at Grantsville on Monday, June 22nd. Dr. Richard S. Hill director, with his coworkers, will arrive in Grantsville on Sunday, the 21st coming by way of the Western Maryland R. R. to Frostburg. Among the subjects discussed will be, Live Stock, Poultry, Potatoes, Grass and Hay Crops and Soil Fertility. Meetings will be held as follows:

Grantsville, Monday, June 22nd, 10 a. m. 1.30 p. m. and 7.30 p. m.; Accident, Tuesday, June 23rd 10 a. m. 1.30 p. m. and 7.30 p. m.; Oakland, Wednesday, June 24th, 10 a. m. 1.30 p. m. and 7.30 p. m.

A FRANK CONFESSION.

A Whiskeyseller's Opinion of the Liquor Business.

The following is a copy of an advertisement of Mr. McMurtrev, which appeared on a business card he put in circulation. His place is called "The Temple Saloon," is located at Flagstaff, Arizona. On the other side of the card was printed, "Dealer in whiskies, wines, beer and cigars. His announcement reads:

Friends and Neighbors: I am grateful for past favors, and having supplied my store with a fine line of choice wines and liquors, allow me to inform you that I shall continue to make drunkards, paupers and beggars for the sober, industrious, respectable part of the community to support. My whiskies will excite riot, robbery and bloodshed.

They will diminish your comforts, increase your expenses and shorten life. I shall confidently recommend them as sure to multiply fatal accidents and incurable diseases.

They will deprive some of life, others of reason, some of character, and all of peace. They will make fathers fiends, mothers widows, children orphans, and all poor. I will train your sons in infidelity, dissipation, ignorance, lewdness, and every other vice. I will corrupt the ministers of religion, obstruct the gospel, defile the church, and cause as much temporal and eternal death as I can I will thus "accomodate the public," it may be at the loss of my never-dying soul, but I have a family to support—the business pays—and the public encourages it.

I have paid my license and the traffic is lawful and if I don't sell it somebody else will. I know the Bible says: "Thou shalt not kill." No drunkard shall enter the kingdom of heaven, and I do not expect the drunkard-maker to fare any better, but I want an easy living, and I have resolved to gather the wages of iniquity and fatten on the ruin of my species.

I shall therefore carry on my business with energy and do my best to diminish the wealth of the nation, and endanger the safety of the state. As my business flourishes in proportion to your sensuality and ignorance, I will do my best to prevent moral purity and intellectual growth.

Should you doubt my ability, I refer you to the pawn shop, the poor house, the police court, the hospital, the penitentiary, and the gallows, where you will find many of my best customers have gone. A sight of them will convince you that I do what I say. Allow me to inform you that you are fools and I am an honest saloonkeeper.—J. J. McMurtrey.

We appeal to the citizens of Garrett county. Is not this a truthful statement? It is not an honest presentment of the liquor business of this country. Now, that we are to have the right to say whether this business is to continue by our vote, will we use our influence to wipe the saloon out of existence, and cast our vote against this awful curse. It has reached a point where it becomes the personal duty of every voter to take sides on this issue. The continuation of the saloon and its awful results rests upon the Christian, moral men of the county. We have the power to close the saloons; if we do not we must answer to God for the result. R

Tear Down Roadside Signs.

It is a misdemeanor to place bill boards or tack advertisements upon private property without the consent of the owners.

Saturday, June 20th, is Sign Board Day. Let it be observed all over Garrett county by tearing down the unsightly signs tacked on trees and posts on the public roads.

Do not destroy sign boards erected along the public road for the purpose of showing direction, distance, speed limit, or other notices relating specifically to travel along the roads, providing these sign boards carry no advertising; if part of the sign the whole sign should come down.

It is a misdemeanor to place bill boards as advertisements along the public roads, except notices of registration, election, or any notice issued under the name and title of a public official. Tear all others down when you come across them.

Silos Needed in Garrett County.

Every farmer who winters as many as twelve or more cattle should have a silo. A silo is the best investment a Garrett county farmer can make. Ask the farmer who has one, if this is not a fact. It will pay you to make the investigation. Silage it has been proven can be put up at less than half the cost of hay. One ton of silage occupies only 1-10 as much space as an equal weight of hay. One acre of good hay will make about 1½ tons; one acre of good corn will make ten tons of ensilage. Corn can be put in a silo for about one-half as much as it costs to cut it, shuck it, and haul the ears and fodder separately.

Silos may be built of wood, cement, tile or iron. One material is about as good as another. If well put up, any of these silos will keep ensilage almost perfectly. Good wooden silos, with tight hoops and an occasional coat of paint, should last twenty years. A 10x30 wooden silo can be bought in a car lot for about $130. It can be erected at a cost not exceeding $25. The tile silo of the same size will cost about $285 erected. A 16x35 foot silo, holding 142 tons, can be be built of cement for about $275. Wooden forms can be built for $25 to $75; these can be used over and over. Enough cement to build a 100-ton silo can be bought for about $50. If sand, gravel and labor are all easily gotten, the cash outlay need be very little.

HIS INCOME TAX ONE CENT.

Collection From Detroit Citizen Costs Uncle Sam the Sum of $1.50.

Detroit, June 5.--A Detroit citizen yesterday paid into the local revenue office a federal income tax of one cent.

If the income of the taxpayer had been one cent less in the ten months since the law became operative, he would have to pay no tax to pay at all. His income for the ten months was $2,500,51. Of this sum $2,500 was exempt from tax.

Nothing less than $1 is taxed but where the amount exceeds 50 cents it is counted as $1. This man's net income exceeded the turning point by one cent, so he was taxed 1 per cent. of a dollar. He wrote his check for one cent and received the government receipt.

A deputy figured that it cost the department about $1.50 to collect the tax.

Report of The Grand Jory.

To the Honorable, the Judges of the Circuit Court for Garrett county:

The Grand Jury for the June term, 1914, of the Circuit Court for Garrett County, respectfully beg leave to make the report of their proceedings and receive their discharge.

We have had before us and have examined 115 witnesses, and have found 32 presentments and 31 indictments.

We have found presentments in all those cases in which we believe the evidence warranted and justified, and have ignored such cases in which the evidence did not warrant presentments.

In accordance with Your Honor's instructions and in compliance with the law, we have visited and inspected the several county buildings; the county jail is in excellent condition and well kept, we would however recommend that some of the wood work of the jail building be given a coat of paint, and that several of the banisters on the front porch of said building be repaired and that the kitchen floor be painted.

We find the interior of the Court house to be in good condition. We would recommend the painting of all outside wood work, including the sash that is exposed to the weather.

Additional shelves should be placed in the Orphan's Court room to meet the requirements thereof.

We would especially recommend the placing of a toilet on the third floor of the Court-house for the use of the Grand Juries.

We have examined the records of the County and find them neatly, carefully, and excellently kept.

We desire to acknowledge the courtesy shown us by his Honor, Judge Henderson, and all of the officials of the County, with whom our duties have brought us in contact.

We desire also to express our appreciation and thanks to State's Attorney, J. C. Renninger, for the courtesy shown and the valuable assistance which he has rendered us while in the discharge of our duties.

We now beg to be discharged.

Adams Express Has Scheme for Delivering Farm Produce.

Vieng with the new parcel post regulations, the Adams Express Company is preparing to deliver food products direct from the producer to the consumer.

As a beginning, the express company has established an order and food product bureau with headquarters at Eighteenth and Market streets, Philadelphia. If the bureau is successful it is proposed to establish such stations in other cities.

According to the scheme, the farmer quotes prices on his products. The prices quoted are then issued in the form of a circular and distributed through the different agencies of the company. The circular also contains full particulars of ordering.

The orders will be sent direct to the farmers to be shipped through the local offices of the company. By this plan there will be no middle man to handle the farmers products.

Anxious Voter's Communication Gets An Answer

A Temperance Talk to Voters

BY JASON KEP

Jason Kep,—

DEAR SIR:—They are telling in my section that if the saloons were abolished blind tigers and boot-leggers would spring up and more liquor be drank than before the saloons were closed. If that is so would it not be better to vote against the dry.

ANXIOUS VOTER.

That statement is quite common and is used by every saloon keeper. It is one of their big games.

It catches quite a few men who do not take time to annalyze the statement. I take it that you are honest in your inquiry and will show you the absurdity of the statement.

The blind tiger and boot-legger is not the creature of dry territory; his range is large, and thrives best in wet regions.

In Chicago, a wide open wet city, there are 4800 blind tigers who have government license and not local license, more than m any four dry states combined.

It is easier to suppress blind tigers and boot-leggers than saloons. They are outlaws from the start and have no standing in court.

There is no one who will back a bootlegger when caught, and the poor cuss invarably gets a heavy sentence and big fine and soon discovers that the business does not pay.

The saloon is legalized by law and backed by the brewers and distillers, and when in difficulty can get all the help needed, even to debauching the officers of the law in many cases.

The poor boot-legger sells down the back alleys. His stock is small and his sales amount to little.

The saloon is on the main street, fancy front and interior, cut glass, music and lots of light, and is as attractive as they can make it. The saloon sells barrels while the boot-legger sells pints.

The boot-legger sells to the man with the confirmed habit. The saloon does the same, and in addition makes new recruits– starts our boys. Without our boys their business would soon loose out.

The saloon is the meeting house of all the toughs in the district. Most of the robberies and murders are hatched up in some back room of a saloon.

The murder of our three martyred Presidents were planned in saloons and the murderer of President McKinley was brought up in a saloon The man who shot Roosevelt was a saloon keeper.

The saloon is the mother of all the violent sins in the Decalogue. In comparison the boot-legger would pass for a saint, even if there might be a little soot on his wings.

Of course you know the boot-legger is a low down follow. He only sells a little bit of booze, and takes great chances of going to the pen. He is not respectable; no, sir.

In order to be respectable you must pay a high license, fix up a fancy place. Mahogany, cut glass, lots of light, music, etc. Then sell champagony water, cocktails, highball, ginrickies, mint julip and schnapps, have a side entrance where a fellow can quietly slip in with his lady friend and have a glass of lemonade, and behold he immediately becomes respectable and is elected alderman. And we go to church and pray. "Oh, Lord, deliver us from this curse of intemperance," and then go out and vote wet. Oh, prunes.

If there were more liquor drank in a dry territory than in wet: why do the brewers and distillers spend so much money fighting to keep a territory from going dry?

You certainly can not accuse them of not having good business sense.

Stop and reason it out. Take your own section. If you wanted it dry, which would you rather tackle, a saloon or boot-legger?

Don't you think it would be easier to put the boot-legger out of business?

All the saloon keepers will vote wet and some of the church members, but no christian. "Birds of a feather."

Very few will be fooled in the fight, and you can bank on it that those who vote wet do so because they want the saloons. Do you?

If you do, would you want it next door to your home? If not why would you want it next door to some other man's home?

It is an insult to the good citizenship of Oakland and Garrett county to say they are incapable of having laws enforced; to say some low-down bootlegger can break their laws with impunity; is to say they are a bunch of spineless rabbits; a streak of yellow.

I have met quite a number of the citizens of Garrett county and Oakland and am convinced that there is a lot of good red blood mixed up in their anatomy, and the fellow who thinks he can make a monkey of the voters of Garrett county will get the surprise of his life this fall.

Gentlemen the question is before you. On the one side is home. wife, children, piece, happiness and God. On the other, humiliation, misery, despair and death, hell and damnation. Get busy and take your choice.

By-the-way, I dont believe hell would be a very pleasant place to live. They don't have ice water or good citizens there.

JASON KEP.

Nursery Rhyme Revised.

Sing a song of Temperance
A pocket full of gold,
Four and twenty bank notes,
In a cupboard rolled;
When the door is opened,
Out the notes we bring;
Tell me where's the drinking man
Can show you such a thing.

The brewer's in the counting house,
Counting out his money;
His wife is in the parlor
Eating bread and honey;
The drunkard's in the tap-room
Dressed in ragged clothes,
Soon may he be made to see
The cause of all his woes.

MAIL ORDER DEPARTMENT

Dealers in General Hardware, Stoves, Tinware, Chinaware, Paints, Oils, Roofings, Washing Machines, Sewing Machines, Eic.. Etc.

GOODS shipped from factory at factory prices. From stock at lowest cash prices. From supply houses at wholesale prices. Terms cash with order unless by special agreement. Stock orders shipped from Oakland, Md. Supply houses, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Chicago. Add to price postage for shipments by parcel post

We are ready at any time to quote you our lowest prices, at wholesale or retail, according to quality and quantity required, and to send samples or special circulars on all lines; quotations for thirty days only subject to changes in the market.

ANNOUNCEMENT:—In presenting this advertisement to the public, we hope to bring to you each week, not only an advertisement, but such knowledge as will lead to a large and more direct patronage on many lines and specialties handled by us. Realizing that the parcel post and direct shipment from the manufacturers, catalogue and supply houses has come to stay and that the trade is constantly solicited for shipment direct instead of through the home dealer, it becomes a necessity for the merchant in order to meet such competition, to advertise and quote prices on direct shipment on same terms, namely: cash with order. This is quite a saving to the merchant as well as to the buyer; and requires less labor and capital to those willing to buy and wait on shipments made in this way. Then again there are many lines of goods that are distributed from our store to better advantage both in price and quality than can be furnished by direct shipment but on which the general public is hard to keep informed without extended advertising, and many articles are sent away for on lines we carry in stock and higher prices paid than we are selling same at, quality considered, and without any investigation as to what we could furnish the same quality or article for. We cannot furnish our trade with a large or extended catalogue, but hope by more general advertising to receive many inquiries for prices and orders from stock or factory shipment. PRICE AND DISCOUNTS: Goods are manufactured and sold according to their quality and cost of distribution. There is a cheap, medium and high grade of goods manufactured in almost every line. It requires close investigation and knowledge to determine values and select standard goods. The amount of purchases, cash or time sales, direct or factory shipments, have much to do with the price and make it almost impossible to name prices and discounts that are subject to frequent changes, but we are ready at any time to quote you our lowest prices both wholesale and retail according to quality or quantity required. Very often large shipments can be made direct from factory. This saves time and expense when a large assortment of goods are needed for the building of a barn or house and when the new housekeeper requsire a large variety of household goods. It would be a pleasure to us to quote prevailing prices and your privilege is to investigate our lines. If same is not satisfactory to you or our prices and qualities are not equal to what you can do elsewhere, then the fault lies with us and not with you. All we ask is a fair chance. We will at least give you the best information we have as to quality, price and years of experience in regard to same.

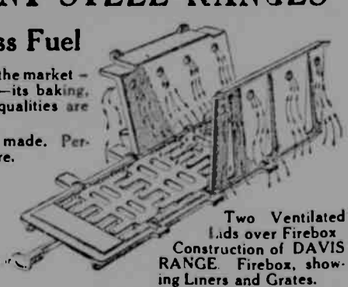
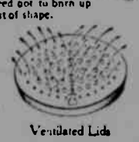
DAVIS' PATENT STEEL RANGES



Burn More Air Less Fuel

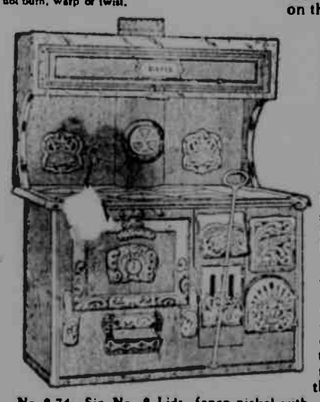
Excels any high-class range on the market—matters not what price you pay—its baking, cooking, broiling and roasting qualities are unexcelled.

The handsomest Steel Range made. Perfect Satisfaction with it everywhere.



Rocking Grates with poker and hand shake, for wood or coal. Guaranteed not to burn up warp or twist out of shape.

Two Ventilated Lids over Firebox Construction of DAVIS RANGE. Firebox, showing Liners and Grates.



Section of Davis Grate, Poker and Shaker that will not burn, warp or twist.

Ventilated Lids

Compare the DAVIS Range with any other range on the market and you will find the DAVIS has more advantages and has the only hotblast firebox with ventilated lids and liners offered the public.

The SPECIAL Feature of Grate Rests, Rocking Grates, Poker Shaker, Ventilated Lids and Liners are found complete only on the DAVIS.

No. 8-74. Six No. 8 Lids, fancy nickel with Reservoir and Kindling Box. Double weight Cast Iron Tops that will stand the heat and strain, wearing twice as long as light weight tops. Shipping weight 500 pounds.

OVERDRAUGHT—An overdraught to the firebox is obtained through holes made in front of the liners near the top, forming a hotblast firebox that requires less fuel, burns up the gasses, has a much better combustion and adds materially to the life of the firebox. Ventilated lids are placed over the firebox that makes it possible for one to see the fire burning and to cook on top instead of removing the lids and blacking up your cooking utensils. Smoke will not escape through the ventilated lids, as there is a down draught and with the ventilated liners a draught on all four sides of the firebox: through lids on top, through the grates and liners.

Heated Air Saves Fuel

In the DAVIS RANGE the air is heated as it passes from ash pit behind and through the ventilated liners to firebox, supplying heated air and a saving of 50 per cent. or more of your fuel bill.

BURNS MORE AIR, LESS FUEL—NOTHING LIKE IT ON THE MARKET. By the use of our ventilated lids, liners and rocking grates you have a construction that will not burn up, warp or twist out of shape, and is the only true construction used in building a firebox. THEREFORE WE SAY, BUY A DAVIS. BURN MORE AIR, LESS FUEL, and save liners, grates and lids.

Catalogue and Price List FREE setting forth 25 reasons why you should buy a DAVIS' PATENT STEEL RANGE. We solicit your order if in need of a Range. Shipment made from stock or factory. Freight prepaid on factory shipments. Address.

THE REPUBLICAN,
Oakland, Md.

THURSDAY, JUNE 11, 1914.

POSSIBLY our Congressmen are afraid to go home.

CHEER UP. Every day brings us nearer to the adjournmet of Congress.

SECRETARY Bryan trying to trade space in the Commoner for an automobile might throw in a lecture, or at least an ambassadorship to boot.

THE state of Pennsylvania celebrates two arbor days each year, one for spring planting and one for the fall, in April and October respectively.

THE New York Telegram thinks that if Noah had swatted those two flies as they started up the Ark's gang plank, he would have saved a heap of trouble.

NINETEEN states now require an examination in agriculture to be passed before a teacher may obtain a certificate to teach.

A CANADIAN harvester machine factory is to be built at Dundas, Ontario, by Americans from Walla Walla, Wash. Cheap labor and a free tariff will enable them to build up a profitable trade in the United States.

THE editor of THE REPUBLICAN is under obligations to Congressman David J. Lewis for a set of the Presidents' Messages and Documents. They will make a valuable addition to our office library.

SAYS Cardinal Gibbons, "the great Catholic leader, "I do believe in local option, and where the saloons are a menace to the community, I believe they should be abolished. That is why I advocated the abolishment of saloons in Charles county."

LAST Saturday was observed as Confederate Memorial Day. Appropriate exercises were held in which the Gray and Blue united and flowers were placed on the graves of those who died fighting for the Southland. There is no North or South, in its stead is a united country. The spirit of enmity is no more, in its place the spirit of brotherly love prevails. The dead who fell on either side are the dead of our common country.

DR. Thomas M, Baldwin of the Laurel Democrat can justly lay claim to being one of the "original Bryan men" in Maryland, but the Doctor would not seem to be entirely pleased with the State Department. He says:

That mediation up in Canada seems a queer affair. It looks as though we are in favor of allowing Mexico and other nations to do as they please with our country and our people. This may be a Democratic Administration, but it does not seem to be American.

THE Maryland Suffrage News, in its current issue, comes out boldly for the disfranchisement of the horrendous male, on the ground that "men as a class are less educated than women, and therefore undesirable as voters." In support of this contention it brings forward three facts to wit:

1. One-third more boys than girls graduate from the high schools of this country.
2. Of the total number of illiterate immigrants addmitted to this country in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1913, 185,872 were men and 84,116 were women.
3. Few men have the all-around practical training that women have. They have no intimate knowledge of housekeeping.

THE REPUBLICAN is and has been an outspoken temperance newspaper. It will during the next five months, each week devote more or less space to the subject of temperance, showing the advantage of temperance and the losses sustained through the influence of intemperance.

It will fearlessly advocate the adoption of the Speicher Local Option bill by the voters of Garrett. It will endeavor to create sentiment in favor of the bill.

Believeing that a general reading of THE REPUBLICAN would be helpful in the Local Option camgaign we have decided to make a special campaign price to new subscribers, who will receive the paper from the date the subscription is received until Nov. 11 for 50 cents, or in clubs of 10 at 35 cents each, papers mailed to any name included in the club, and to any post office designated.

There are persons, doubtless, who would gladly contribute something to help circulate temperance literature throughout the county. This is an excellent opportunity to do so, at a low cost.

There are doubtless individuals in many communities who would be willing to aid the cause by getting up clubs for this paper. There are those who ought to read such a paper as we are publishing from week to week. They need to be awakened upon the subject of Temperance. Their minds are open to conviction. They want facts. They should have them.

Let every subscriber of THE REPUBLICAN get one or more other persons to subscribe for the paper. This is a great reduction on our regular subscription price. It is made for the good of the cause. Every voter in the county should have a copy of this paper to read until after the election. Shall they have it?

Sample copies mailed on request.

THE greeting given Senator Speicher last Friday, at the temperance rally was a magnificent endorsement of his labors last winter and a hearty approval of his county-wide local option bill. The people have been heard from and their verdict is "well done good and faithful servant."

OUR readers will doubtless enjoy reading the account of the opening of the local option campaign, at Mountain Lake Park last week. It was a rousing meeting, full of enthusiasm and indicates the great interest manifested in this all important question by the citizens of Garrett county. If such enthusiasm prevails in the very commencement of the campaign what shall we expect as the campaign progresses?

NEXT Sunday is flag day, the anniversary of the writing of the Star Spangled Banner. This National hymn was written during the war of 1812-4. On the night of September 13 the British bombarded Fort McHenry, Baltimore. All night long the continued fight General Armistead, the commander refused to surrender. Toward dawn the bombardment ceased, and all was quiet. The historian thus describes what follows: "Having no communications with the British ships the Americans did not know who was victorious until the dawn broke. Then Key seizing the glasses, turned them on the Fort and saw the stars and stripes still waving from the flagstaff. In a moment of patriotic excitement he drew an old letter from his pocket and wrote on the back of the envelope the words destined to become the national anthem of our great nation. As he finished the first few lines the dawn broke and he saw the British retreating to their ships. He then completed the poem as the little vessel carried him back to Baltimore. Thus the Star Spangled Banner was born.

Its inspiration was on the occasion of the triumph of American arms, its stirring, patriotic theme grew out of the anguish of a true American soul trembling alternately with hope and fear at the assault of the then most powerful nation of the world bursting forth at the first glimpse of ... into a poetic description of ... terrible night, the words and sentiment of which so touched the American heart that it became the patriotic hymn "of the land of the free and the home of the brave."

The bombardment of Fort McHenry lasted twenty-five hours and during that time Key had not slept, and on reaching Baltimore late in the evening of the fourteenth he went at once to a hotel and retired. Early the next morning he showed the poem to Judge Nicholson, his brother-in-law, and asked his opinion as to its merits. Judge Nicholson had just returned from the defense of Fort McHenry and he was so delighted with the poem that he at nnce sent it to the printer's and had a number of printed copies struck off.

SEVERAL PUGNANT IFFS.

The Cumberland News asks:

If the Democratic tariff had reduced the cost of living

If it had increased the number of men at work—

If it had brought the workingmen of the country higher wages—

If it had caused new industries to be erected—

If it had enlarged the factories and mills already in operation—

If it had made every builder busy in every community—

If it had set every wheel turning in every mill—

If it had caused smoke to issue from every one of our coke ovens—

In a word, IF it it had brought about prosperity—

Would it have to be explained upon the grounds of psychology?

BIG ATTRACTION

Daily Baloon Ascension and Parachute Leap at The Big Fair Next Fall.

The management of the Garrett County Fair to be held in Oakland, Sept. 30, Oct. 1 and 2, have secured at a considerable outlay of money, the celebrated Aeronaut, W. G. Flexon of New Jersey, who is well known for his skill as a baloonist in all the eastern section of the United States and he is under contract to make one ascension to the clouds each day and from there make a parachute leap to earth. Nothing of the kind has ever been seen in this section of the country and Mr. Flexon comes to our Fair with the very best recommendation and has given exhibitions at many of the largest Fairs in the country and always to the satisfaction of his employers.

In addition to this big free attraction, the management has secured a number of clean and entertaining smaller attractions that will have no equal in this state, including one of the best bands in the state and one whose reputation is known all over Maryland for their excellence in music. Other bands will be secured and patrons of the Fair will be highly entertained every hour of the day. Threr'll be something doing all the time.

Special effort will be made to entertain the children and young folks and Ferris Wheels and Riding Galleries have been secured as well as numerous features for their benefit.

The management have decided to abandon the three day or season ticket and admission will be only by membership or straight fare and the price will remain same as charged last year. Premiums are to be nearly doubled this year and every effort will be made to secure the best products of this and the adjoining counties of Pennsylvania and West Virginia for our exhibits.

The membership list is growing rapidly and many exhibitors have already applied for show space. Posters and advertising matter will shortly be distributed throughout this section of the country and nothing will be spared to give patrons of the Fair the best Agricultural, Horticultural and Live stock exhibit in the state of Maryland.

ALL values are judged by comparison. You size up the worth and quality of any one article, by comparing it with several other similar articles. Then, and only then, you are in a position to make the most practical, intelligent and economical choice.

Therefore, before you choose your automobile, carefully compare the specifications, quality and equipment of the $950 Overland with the description of any of the $1200 cars. You'll find no material difference.

For instance:

The $950 Overland has a wheel base of 114 inches. A good many $1200 cars have even a shorter wheel base than this.

The $950 Overland has a thirty-five horsepower motor. Do you know of any $1200 car that can give you more power?

The $950 Overland has 33 inch x 4 inch tires. Again the same—in both size and quality—that you find on most $1200 cars.

The $950 Overland has electric lights throughout—exactly the same as on any of the higher priced cars.

The $950 Overland is as roomy, comfortable and as luxuriously finished as any $1200 car.

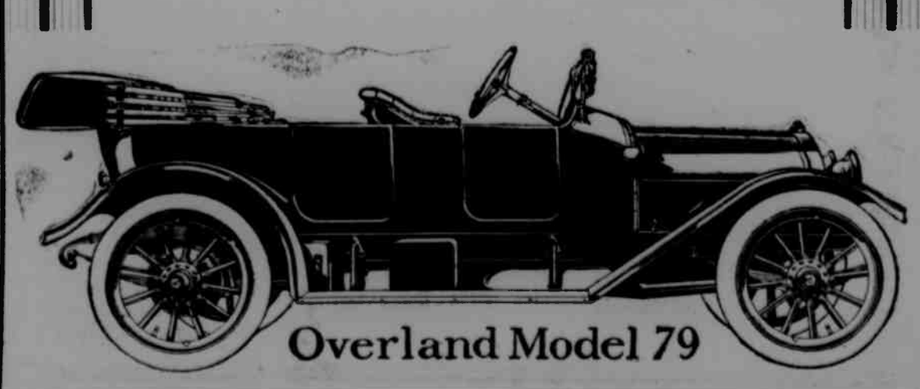
The Overland equipment is just as complete, and of just as high a quality as the equipment of any $1200 car.

The steels used in the Overland are of the very highest grade; in fact the metals and materials used in the Overland are of the same quality as those found in the most costly cars in the world.

The Overland is just as accurately and precisely produced as any car on the market—regardless of price.

The more you compare this $950 car with cars costing 30 per cent. and even 40 per cent. more—the more you are brought to realize that to pay more than $950 for this type of car is absolutely unnecessary.

The Overland costs you less because of our great production Other manufacturers must charge you more, because of their smaller production.



And that is why the Overland is outselling every other similar car made. 5000 Overlands a month are being delivered right now.

Last Thuesday Oakland had a record breaking rain which did incalcuable good to grass and growing crops. For a time there was a shower of large hail, about the size of small marbles. The next day the sun came out in its full strength and the way things grew was marvelous.

Mr. Edwin Walker is arranging to give a series of first class moving pictures at Mt. Lake Park. The three reels shown Tuesday night were splendid. The next entertainment will be Friday night with special pictures from Washington, D. C. The pictures are given in the old auditorium.

Country post-masters instead of the railway agent-operator-baggagemen at rural stations will have to "tote" mail sacks from depots to postoffices at thousands of village if a new law recommened today by the Special Railway Mail Pay Committee of Congress is enacted. A bill was reported by former Senator Bourne, of Oregon, chirman, by which a saving to the Government of $2,500,000 annually for railway mail service is planned.

The campaign for local improvement continues unabated. There is evidence of it, very pleasing evidence, everywhere. Nor is the improvement confined to the "front" of things—to the "outside of the platter," so to say. It is front, back and on the inside, on top and at the bottom. And how much it means to the town and to the comfort of those who live in it! How much it indicates to the stranger—the thrift, the cleanliness, the community interest, the progress, the just pride of Oakland citizens is that which is theirs.

The past week will be especially remembered for two reasons. The first, the two splendid rains, on Thursday of last week and on Tuesday of this week. The rain on the first day named was accompained by a heavy hail storm of a few moments duration. The rains were of incalculable value to this vicinity. The very best hot days we passed through, especially on Monday. It was an unusually hot day for this mountain region. Fortunately the nights were cool. Through the day coats and vests were laid aside.

NO PEACE FOR GEORGE AND MARY

That's New Slogan of Suffragettes of London

MILITANTS AT HORSE SHOW

Royal Pair Subjected to Harangue by Women Who Denounce Forcible Feeding In Prisons—Sentiment Is Growing That Suffragettes Who Go on Hunger Strike In Pen Should Be Allowed to Die.

London, June 9.—Another demonstration by a militant suffragette in the presence of King George and Queen Mary was carried out at the international horse show at Olympia.

Their majesties had hardly taken their seats when a young woman rose in the stalls opposite and in a shrill voice screamed denunciations of the forcible feeding of suffragette prisoners.

The police pounced upon her immediately, but the woman fought wildly and her ejection from the building was effected only after a fierce struggle.

Later two women at opposite ends of the arena harangued the royal box and made appeals to the king to stop forcible feeding. Angry shouts were raised by the crowd as the suffragettes were ejected.

"We have no king, but thank God we have Mrs. Pankhurst," was the defiant shout of Miss Napier, one of the brawlers in Westminster Catholic cathedral when she was led away to the cells after refusing to give a bond for her good behavior in police court.

"No peace for King George or Queen Mary," is the latest order given out by the headquarters staff of the militant suffragettes and their followers now allow few appearances of their majesties in public to pass without some kind of demonstration.

"Let them die" is becoming a rather popular slogan in connection with the "hunger striking" suffragettes since the public has become so profoundly resentful to the actions of the militant women.

It was reported that the government had decided to take a step in this direction by introducing legislation to indemnify the prison authorities against the consequences of allowing suffragettes to starve themselves to death while in prison.

The Evening Standard interviewed a number of prominent people, including clergymen, on the subject and all of the latter who are quoted by the newspaper express themselves in favor of the proposal.

Father Bernard Vaughan, brother of the late Cardinal Vaughan, replied:

"There would be nothing ethically wrong in letting them die. Let them start at once and make up for lost time."

Rev. Arthur Waldron, vicar of St. Matthew's, Brixton, said:

"If the women refuse food they should be allowed to die."

Rev. Richard Free, vicar of St. Clement's, Fulham, replied:

"I think the suggestion very good. I have advocated it for many months."

SHAMROCK TO SAIL ACROSS

Sir Thomas Lipton Doesn't Want Any Favors Shown Him.

London, June 9.—Either extreme confidence or some "soreness" was undoubtedly responsible for the announcement which Sir Thomas Lipton made here. The Irish sportsman said:

"I propose to sail Shamrock IV. to New York. I do not propose to ask the New York Yacht club for any further favors; that is, I will not request the privilege of towing the Shamrock. I will sail the challenger across. If she sinks well and good, but if she wins she will win without any concessions and the American public will grant me the honor of having won without any sympathetic violation of deed or gift or through any favors."

Sir Thomas is as optimistic as usual and believes that he has with the new boat the best chance he ever had of winning the cup. The Shamrock, according to present intentions, will sail for the United States on July 15.

CAN'T DIAGNOSE DISEASE

Strange Malady In Colombia—United States Asked to Help.

Washington, June 9.—Colombian Minister Betancourt called on Secretary Bryan to ask for the co-operation of the United States in obtaining expert information as to the nature of a disease which had broken out in several Colombian cities on the Atlantic coast.

Reports to the legation here do not state whether a quarantine has been declared, but it has been stated that the disease is not the bubonic plague, as feared. The malady is said to resemble pneumonia and is due to the excessive heat.

Free Speech Prisoners Released.

Tarrytown, N. Y., June 9.—The release of twelve free speech prisoners held in jail at White Plains for defying the authorities at Tarrytown were ordered by Justice Moorehouse when Alexander Berkman, anarchist, appeared before the justice and tendered bonds to the amount of $2,400. This was $200 each. The prisoners will appear for trial June 12.

HEAT GETS VICTIMS

High Temperatures Recorded All Over Country.

New York, June 9.—The Jersey coast was hit by a severe electrical storm. A bolt hit three farm laborers at Lincolnville and one was killed instantly. The others were knocked down and stunned.

Cities to the southwest, west and south had some real summer temperatures. In Philadelphia the thermometer marked 93, and there were twenty prostrations. June heat records were smashed in Pittsburgh with the temperature at 92. There were three deaths and many prostrations. Chicago had an official record of 92, which brought business almost to a standstill. Three deaths were attributed to the heat.

St. Louis sizzled under 96, achieving the distinction of being next to the hottest place in the country. Four residents were overcome. Springfield, Ill., held the record with 98. In Cleveland the official mercury registered about 90. A man and a lady were killed and more than a dozen persons prostrated.

Paris Shivers In June Snow.

Paris, June 9.—Two and one-half inches of snow and hail fell in one section of Paris last evening and the amazing spectacle was witnessed of horses struggling through snow on a June day in the Avenue des Champs Elysees.

ROOSEVELT IN MADRID

Colonel Ready For Marriage of His Son Kermit.

Madrid, June 9.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt arrived at Madrid on his first visit to Spain, completing his journey to attend the wedding of his son, Kermit Roosevelt, and Miss Belle Wyatt Willard, daughter of the American ambassador to Spain.

There was a small crowd gathered at the station, including a number of police in plain clothes, who were distributed about the depot as a result of the publication of several newspaper articles antagonistic to Colonel Roosevelt. The chief of police had feared the possibility of some evidence of an unfriendly feeling being displayed against the former American president, but none whatever was shown.

There was an affectionate greeting between Colonel Roosevelt, his son Kermit and his daughter, Mrs. Nicholas Longworth. Colonel Joseph Willard, the American ambassador, and the members of the embassy staff and Senor Mendez, the Spanish under secretary of state, also were at the station to meet Colonel Roosevelt. He was driven to the American embassy.

DREAM PROVED RICH

Man Sees Hidden Gold In Sleep. Treasure Found.

Santa Rosa, Cal., June 9.—Hidden treasure amounting to $42,600, won from the mines in the early days of the gold excitement and cached in a Dutch oven, has been found here by A. W. Lehrke. The discovery, Lehrke explained, was the result of a dream in which he saw the rich cache.

At first he attached no importance to the dream, but it kept him wakeful and restless and finally he went to his cellar and dug down where the strange vision had showed him the hidden gold.

The dream persisted for several nights. At length, restless and excited, he rose and went to the cellar, where he attacked the cement floor with a pick. In a short time he broke through a shell into an open space, which proved to be a Dutch oven in which the gold in bar form was found. For years it has been reported that the treasure was buried on the Lehrke place.

Diver Explores Sunken Ship.

Rimouski, Que., June 9.—The first step toward recovering the 800 or more bodies imprisoned in the wrecked Empress of Ireland was taken when a diver descended from the Canadian government lighthouse tender Druid and for more than an hour explored accessible parts of the sunken liner. The Empress was found to be lying on her side in about 180 feet of water.

U. S. SUBMITS NEW PROPOSAL

Mediators Giving Considerable Attention to Plan

HAS TO DO WITH CARRANZA

General Huerta Countermands Orders to Blockade Tampico When He Hears From Niagara Falls Mediators. Vera Cruz Mexicans Now Hear That Huerta Is Going to Resign Presidency.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 9.—The three mediators have in their possession a new and complete plan for the settlement of the Mexican situation which was submitted to them by the delegates of the United States.

This plan they have been carefully perusing and it will probably occupy almost all of their time today.

This new plan is a comprehensive review of all the vital points in the Mexican situation. Nothing definite has been given out regarding the new note, but it was learned that the plan contains a compromise offer through which it is expected to bring General Carranza into the conference.

Justice Lamar formally announced that the Tampico incident had been satisfactorily settled. Shortly thereafter the Mexican delegates issued a formal statement to the same effect.

In the latter note General Huerta's representatives explained that they had made a formal protest to the mediators after the sailing from New York of the Antilla for Tampico. They declare that the delay in the transmission of their cable messages to the Mexican government alone was responsible for the misunderstanding.

Justice Lamar said of the conference with the mediators:

"The mediators have heretofore submitted to us a complete plan and we have now submitted to them our plan.

"Our counter proposition contains not only the suggestions which we make and upon which there has been neither agreement nor disagreement to the plan, but also the points upon which we had already agreed. Some of the points suggested may have already been discussed."

Huerta About to Quit.

Vera Cruz, June 9.—Following the official announcement that President Huerta has rescinded his order for the blockade of Tampico the anti-Huerta newspapers of Vera Cruz came out with flaming headlines declaring that he is about to resign.

Refugees from Mexico City say further that his resignation has been in the hands of Sir Lionel Carden, the British minister, since last Friday and that the minister is holding it as a guaranty that the agreements of the Mexican mediators at Niagara Falls will be carried out.

The official notification to Admiral Badger about the lifting of the blockade amazed the Vera Cruzans, who looked to see Huerta use the incident to compel American intervention and thus defeat all the immediate purposes of the rebels.

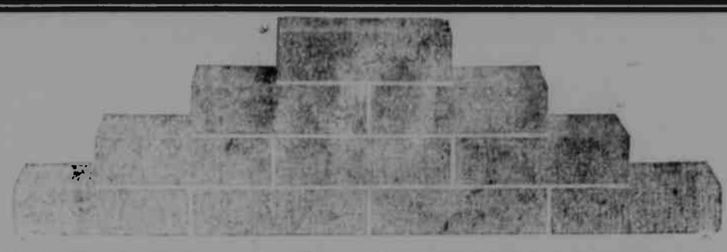
It is the opinion here without official confirmation that Huerta has taken this action at the request of the Mexican mediators at Niagara Falls and perhaps on the advice of the foreign diplomats at Mexico City.

General Funston has determined to check the smuggling of arms and ammunition into Vera Cruz. A squad of soldiers made a raid on two business houses, where 200 revolvers and some ammunition were found. All this they promptly confiscated while the proprietors were put under arrest. Mexicans who are satisfied with the present administration told the officers.

Think Huerta Is Tottering.

Washington, June 9.—Huerta's withdrawal of his order to blockade Tampico is interpreted here as an acknowledgement that he is tottering and has finally reached the point where he must make humiliating concessions in an effort to save himself and his government from the Constitutionalists.

Washington officials believe now that Huerta's sole hope lies in mediation and that he is willing to go to almost any extreme to bring about a settlement of the Mexican situation.



His reversal on the blockade questions quickly turned what was a very gloomy outlook into one of considerable brightness.

Second Lieutenant Samuel H. Houston, a descendant of "Sam" Houston of military fame, shot and killed a drunken Mexican at Vera Cruz who was engaged in a knife fight with the Mexican police. General Funston completely exonerated the officer.

Huerta Took Hint.

Mexico City, June 9.—Minister of War Blanquet formally announced that the order for the blockading of Tampico has been countermanded. Notification to that effect has been sent to the Mexican warships now proceeding to that point.

Without saying so officially it was intimated that President Huerta was guided in his action by word received from Niagara Falls. They first cabled that it would end the A. B. C. mediation plans and later came the cable dispatch from the Spanish minister at Washington that the United States would not permit the blockade.

PROF. SAMUEL T. J. PENCE

Of the Jr. O. U. A. M., Writes as Follows:

John D. Bear, Elkton, Va.

Dear Sir:—Last year my sister-in-law recommended Bear's Emulsion to me as a fine tonic and sure remedy for coughs, colds and weak lungs. I have used several bottles in my family since that time, and believe by experience it is one of the best remedies made for coughs, colds, bronchitis and weak lungs. At the same time it builds up the system, gives strength and health to the body. This year I took a bottle just before starting my daily walks of four miles to teach school and I have not felt better and stronger for years. I weigh ten pounds more than I have for years.

Respectfully, vours,
S. T. J. Pence.

Bear's Emulsion strengthens that weak run-down, nervous system, improves the appetite and builds up the weak lungs. Hundreds of people are using it and saymg it is the best thing they ever tried. But if it dosen't benefit you after taking a bottle it will not cost you a cent. Sold by Sturgiss Pharmacy. Advertisement.

The B. & O. to Give Hogs a Bath.

Gracious, but the B. & O. is getting sensitively clean. The company is preparing to give the hogs it hauls daily baths enroute—this will apply to the real swine, the four-legged kind. A statement from the publicity headquarters of the company says:

"Unique steps will be adopted to add to the comfort of summer travel on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, as set forth in a circular just issued providing for the deodorizing of live stock trains in transit. No longer will the sense of smell suffer shock, once the new rule goes into effect, nor will obnoxious odor be detected when passenger trains meet long strings of live stock cars on the way to the packing houses, for the new plan provides that hogs be showered. These shower baths will be administered at terminals and at resting stations at which the live stock is fed and watered. Attention will be given to the cleanliness of cattle, horses and sheep, so that the cars in which they are hauled may be cleaned enroute. The railroad has not decided how many live stock bath houses will be required to carry out the requirements of the new order, but it is argued that added to the comfort which the traveling public will enjoy as a result of it the animals will be in better condition upon arrival at destination."

THAW MAY GET LIBERTY

Chief Justice Gives New York Until Friday to Oppose Release.

Washington, June 9.—Harry K. Thaw's fight for freedom reached the supreme court of the United States when former Governor Stone of Pennsylvania, as counsel, asked for his release on bail pending a final decision of the proceedings by which the state of New York seeks to return the noted prisoner to Matteawan from his refuge in New Hampshire.

OPTOMETRIST

Is Your Child Handicapped in his or her physical and mental development by defective vision? Out of 100,000 school children examined in New York city, nearly 30 per cent. were found to be in need of glasses. In Boston the percentage was found to be slightly over 20 per cent., and most of these children were down on the books as "stupid," "stubborn" or unruly. In Philadelphia 351 children were discovered who could not read ordinary writing on a blackboard at a distance of twenty feet. You should make sure by a thorough examination at the hands of a competent optometrist. That your child is not among this vast army of little citizens who suffer from defective eyesight, delays often result seriously. My examinations are made by the most scientific accurate methods. If it is found that glasses are not required you will be told so frankly and no charge made for the examination.

Temperance Rally at Friendsville.

Rev. Thomas M. Hare, Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, opened the local option campaign in Friendsville Sunday night, in the Methodist church. The house was filled and the greatest enthusiasm prevailed. For more than an hour Dr. Hare held the large audience spellbound, while he told its members of "the curse that liquor had brought into our midst," and cited a number of anecdotes to carry out his argument.

He told how the people had driven the liquor interests out of West Virginia, and said that some people think the county is greatly benefitted because a number of the liquor representatives had rented business places and taken up their residence here. He told of the difference in the price of the saloon license in West Virginia and Maryland and said that the citizens of Oakland were "selling themselves to the liquor Devil for twenty cents each, while the citizens of West Virginia got one dollar and eighty cents each."

He recited the story of the two Irishmen buying a cow is partnership, and later dividing their property by "Mike" taking the rear end and "Pat" the head of the animal. He said that "Pat" was compelled to feed the cow, and when he asked "Mike to divide the milk with him he flatly refused. He said that "Pat" in figuring how to get one on "Mike" knocked his end in the head and the other end went dry. He declared that the citizens of Garrett county were partners with the liquor interests, and contributed to their support, and asked that they "knock their end in the head and see how quick the other end would go dry."

The Late George W. Kildow.

To the Editor of The Republican.

A time-worn land mark fell last week at the side of the mortal highway. Had Mr. George W. Kildow, who died in Keyser, W. Va., Wednesday, June 10th, 1914, lived until the 10th of next November, the ninety-fourth milestone on the long journey would have been reached.

A contemplation of that which has stood so long and witnessed so much in the shiftings of so many succeeding generations, can rarely lack in interest. While in the last year the machinery of life has been so diminished in lubrication as to weaken in all of its parts, he did not disappear from walks on the streets until a few days before the close of his far-spent career.

The funeral services were conducted by a former pastor of the deceased, the Rev. S. M. Engle, who once supplied the pulpit in Oakland and now fills a charge at Ellicott City, Maryland. Immediately following obsequies at the residence the remains were taken to Piedmont, the previous home of Mr Kildow, for interment, Friday afternoon, June 12th, 1914.

Not often does it transpire among such as are marvelously advanced in age where the mind has been so totally shattered as to recent happenings and so tenaciously observant of names, places and experiences in the long ago. About what period the lapse of memory had its beginning could not be determined, but the two extremes in such a memory open a field worthy of study. Last fall it was not possible to enable him to understand either the residence or street of this writer, less than two minutes walk from his door, but when I spoke of Oakland his mental faculties were instantly unclouded as to that town and people more than fifty years ago. His memory was at once perfectly at command, and his de-cription of the place and people as then existed was a wonderful contrast with the mental wreck of daily affairs. He gave a clear account of a mill with which he was connected, the distance from which customers came to the mill in that early day, spoke of an old Mr. McCarty, and Messrs Patrick Hamill, James Bishop, Daniel E. Offutt, the Delawders and others—particularly of Mr. Ralph Thayer. With a lightened face and dashes of humor, he related how a steer had strayed from him way down the commons below Altamont to the pasturage of the farm of Messrs Jonathan and "Abe." Wilson, and how he went down over such a road as could then be traced to the Wilson home while his boy took the train, and of the jokes he and "Abe." had no little to the confusion of the boy. How strange! Occurrences of near-by years and months had left no more impression on his mind than the fan or whisper of a passing breeze, while a vivid retention remained of so much so far back in life.

Prior to the services just mentioned a few very delightful minutes of conversation were had with the Rev. Mr. Engle. He knew me in the first glance, and I found him the same engaging gentleman that so distinguished him in and out of the church during his Oakland pastorate. The intervening years have dealt most leniently with him. If there is a little less hair upon the head there is much more flesh upon a frame of vigorous manhood and with these two exceptions he is the same polished friend as was formerly known and admired in Oakland. Mr. Engle asked by name of a number of old acquaintances and expressed warm affection and deep solicitude for Mr. Daniel E. Offutt in his present illness.

REPUBLICANS CAN DEFEAT SENATOR JOHN W. SMITH

The Case Presented by an Eastern Shore Editor.

The current issue of the Maryland Tribune, published at Salisbury, Md., contains a strong editorial, written by its editor, Mr. Charles O. Carter, on The Plain Duty of Maryland Progressives. The editoral reads, in part, as follows:

"Since the return of Theodore Roosevelt from South America a great many significant remarks alleged to come from him have been published. Some of these indicate that he is inclined to co-operate with the Republicans and, maybe, aspires to the Republican nomination for the presidency in 1916; others that he is uncompromisingly for an independent third-party course. We doubt if Mr. Roosevelt has vet uttered any of these statements. Undoubtedly he has talked politics since he has landed, but not with anyone who would be at all likely to quote him.

"All attempts yet at defining or predicting Roosevelt's attitude are mere guesses. But in making gresses it is well to remember that Roosevelt is the most superb politician living. He is scarcely more a leader than he is a follower of the people. He knows the popular will almost instinctively, but, added to this, he has innumerable sources of information as to the trend of public opinion. Where he has not led the public he has usually followed it.

His followers in Maryland are like those in every other state, under necessity of considering two things:

Their relations to the national movement to which thev are devoted and to local conditions in which they are most practically interested.

The Progressives are devoted to a set of principles. They are wedded to a party in the same sense that Democrats and Republicans are. Wherever these principles have been adopted by the Republicans before, the split in the party the Republican party is the progressive party. This is true in several of the states. For instance, the California Republican organization is composed of the Progressive leaders. The same is true in several of the states. For instance, the California Republican organization is composed of the Progressive leaders. The same is true in Kansas, Missouri, Iowa—in fact, in most of the Western states. in Wisconsin La Follotte and his followers compose the Republican party of that state. Senator Albert B. Cummins is along with Roosevelt and La Follette, one of the greatest of the pioneers of progressive thought in American politics and is in many respects a more capable man than either of these. He was nominated the other dav by such a majority that his reelection is conceded by all. His character as a progressive is recognized, notwithstanding he has remained steadfasfly a Republican. In Iowa we have a situation similiar to that in Maryland. The Progressives there recognize the futility of any attemps at a third party victory, and only those who would prefer a Democrat to a progressive Republican like Cummins will pursue the independent.

In Maryland the Republican party has become the Progressive party in a very real sense, for its platform last year was everything the Bull Moose could have made it. It was, m fact, the Bull Moose platform expression of the party will today more than on the day it was formulated.

No Progressive in Maryland can take exception to the Republican platform, and that the platform this year will be similarly progressive there is not the slightest doubt, for the Progressives already back in the party add much to the influence of the great number who never left it. Besides, every leader in the state, so far as we know, is fully convinced that anything but progressive action in harmony with the will of the majority would be supreme folly.

Maryland is disgraced by the most corrupt Democratic organization in any state in the Union, and this organization is domineered by John Walter Smith, by his own grace United States Senator. The Penrose Republicanism of Pennsylvania and the Tammany Democracy of New York are better known only because thev have been more tullv exposed. We do not condemn the Smith gang because of its Democracy. We would fight Penrose as hard in Pennsylvania, or Tammany in New York, as Smith in Maryland.

As Orlando Harrison said last fall, before Smith made him candidate for State Senator, "Smith ought to be defeated, and now is the time to do it."

The Republicans and Progressives, united, can defeat Smith. There is to be a new line-up throughout the state this fall in the general registration of voters, and an honestly made list of voters will result in several thousand more Republicans being enable to vote. Besides, if we will unite, there are several thousand independent progressive Democrats, many of them sincere supporters of the administration of Woodrow Wilson, who will assist us in overthrowing Woodrow Wilson's sly enemy in the United States Senate, John Walter Smith. Men may be true Democrats, or as they sometimes call themselves, "pure Democrats," and yet not be willing to swallow everything that is poked down their throats.

The united action of the Progressives with the Republicans at this time will work for the good of both parties. It will serve to reassure the Pregressives in the Republican fold that their party will remain sincerely progressive, and it will add in the immediate accomplishment for the Progressives of what they could never expect alone.

The united action of the Progressives with the Republicans at this time will work for the good of both parties. It will serve to reassure the Progressives in the Republican fold that their party will remain sincerely progressive, and it will add in the immediate accomplishment for the Progressives of what they could never expect alone.

Another matter it would be well for Progressives, as politicians, to think about is this: A show-down at the polls can be avoided for this year by cooperation with the Republicans without, for the present, abandoning the party organization, leaving the party in a position to deal with its future problems next year and thereafter, without having revealed a weakness, which even the most hopeful must realize is likely to prove a disappointment.

These are the facts as to the Republican and Progressive situation in Maryland. Men who are citizens first and partisans tor good reason will do well to consider these things right now, before the mistake is made that cannot be undone for another six years.

We appeal to the manhood, the patriotism, the decency that makes Maryland proud of itself. We ask for the united action of all the better elements of our citizenship as the only hope for the restoration of the government of Maryland to its people, not in the interest of any man or party, but in the name of the people themselves, so many of whom do not realize the weight of the tyranny that oppresses them.

Rev. A. R. Snedegar, the Bloomington M. E. pastor, who has attained quite a reputation in the eastern part of this state as an orator especially adapted to fraternal order occasions, left for Baltimore city on Wednesday morning, where he will spend a few days visiting friends, prior to an engagement to speak at Decoration Day services in a cemetery near Hagerstown, Md.

"Stand Patter's" Communication Gets An Answer

A Temperance Talk to Voters

BY

JASON KEP

Jason Kep.

DEAR SIR: A bunch of us fellows have been reading your articles and talking them over. We notice you have been answering some letters.

Now here is one that will hold you some: I don't drink, I live away back in dry territory and am not affected one way or the other by booze. Now why should I tear my shirt getting out hustling to make the balance of the county dry. Some of the boys say you will not answer. How about it?

STAND PATTER.

You started to write that letter as a joke, but by sizing it up carefully, I have come to the conclusion that back of your joke you are partly in earnest and will so treat it.

Booze does effect you and every one of us and generations yet unborn.

It may seem to affect you only indirectly at present, but at any moment it may come direct. Yes, too awfully direct. As an example of what I mean—

Some time ago a couple of young men, full of booze, were driving along the road having a bully time, as thev thought. The reflection of the son upon a window of a farm house attracted the attention of one of them and he pulled out his revolver and began shooting at it. The farmer, his wife and little boy were eating dinner. One of the bullets struck the little boy in the forehead, and his head dropped forward upon the table. He was dead. The farmer, his wife and little boy did not drink. Thev lived quite a distance from the Saloons. Did booze effect them?

A few months ago there was a terrible wreck on the Lackawana railroad and thirty-nine people lost their lives and eighty-one were injured. They did not drink, but the engineer was boozing the night before, and was full when he took out his train, disregarded signals and they are dead. Did booze affect them? Lackawana railroad did not drink, but it cost them about three hundred thousand dollars. Did booze affect it?

Some time ago on the train from Grafton to Elkins two or three young men, full of booze, began to quarrel and then fighting. One tried to hit another with a bottle missed bim and hit a passenger sitting four seats farther back, cutting his face and eye ball with broken glass and he may loose the sight of an eye. Another passenger had whisky spilled all over his clothes. Did booze affect them?

Lincoln, after years of observation, at the close of the greatest war ever fought, in the fullness of wisdom and experience, and at the verge of the grave, made this great prophecy:

"Now that slavery is settled, the greatest evil which confronts us is the liquor question, and the next great fight will be to blot it out and free not only the black race but the white race also."

Few saw it at the time, but the people have been studying the question and slowly, but surely, coming to the conclusion that the saloon must go.

You may say slavery did not affect that farmer away up in Maine, who probably never saw a colored man. Why should he leave his family, shoulder his gun and endure the hardships of a terrible war to settle a question which did not affect him a local question as some thought? No, Slavery affected humanity, and any thing which affects humanity is a world question.

Booze affects humanity, and the people are slowly but surley beginning to realize that it is a world question.

The sentiment is growing not only in this state and the United States, but all over the world.

The reason it was not blotted out before is because the people did not realize what a terrible havoc it has wrought, Like slavery, people looked upon it as a local issue.

Why do the churches send money and missionaries to convert the heathen? Your answer, "Religion." Right, go up head. Now here is one which will hold you some.

Why do a lot of church members (you notice I do not say christians) vote for booze, for wet candidates, for license? At what temperature do you think the thermometer will stand in the place when they will arrive and be about a hundred years from now?

Foolish questions, are they not? Yet honestly foolish as they are, don't they make you stop and think?

If we can get you to thinking, we have added one recruit to the dry cause.

Come out, and help fight to make Garrett county dry. You need not tear your shirt, but for goodness sake strain it like blazes for we need lots of help.

JASON KEP.

Temperance Notes.

By a majority of 361 in a total of 2,261 votes, the people of Visalia, California, have adopted the Wylie law and for the fifth time in four years recorded themselves against the granting of saloon licenses.

The biggest seisures of liquor ever made in the state of Iowa, took place at Ottumwa, when Chief Gallagher seized 210 cases containing 840 gallons of whisky, consigned from Peoria to several Ottumwans. The liquor was taken on a search warrant sworn by the Law and Order League counsel, under the Webb-Kenyon law. Two moving vans were needed to haul the shipment to the court couse, where it was stored. This seizure could not have been made before the Webb interstate law went into effect.

There is only one position for the church to assume in regard to the saloon and the use of alcoholic beverages. It is an unmitigated evil to the individual, society and the state. The church through its congregations should advocate total abstainence as the surest safeguard against the evils of intemperance and the elimination of the saloon as one of the great steps in the preservation of national integrity.

MAIL ORDER DEPARTMENT

Dealers in General Hardware, Stoves, Tinware, Chinaware, Paints, Oils, Roofings, Washing Machines, Sewing Machines, Eic.. Etc.

GOODS shipped from factory at factory prices. From stock at lowest cash prices. From supply houses at wholesale prices. Terms cash with order unless by special agreement. Stock orders shipped from Oakland, Md. Supply houses, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Chicago. Add to price postage for shipments by parcel post

We are ready at any time to quote you our lowest prices, at wholesale or retail, according to quality and quantity required, and to send samples or special circulars on all lines; quotations for thirty days only subject to changes in the market.

ANNOUNCEMENT:—In presenting this advertisement to the public, we hope to bring to you each week, not only an advertisement, but such knowledge as will lead to a large and more direct patronage on many lines and specialties handled by us. Realizing that the parcel post and direct shipment from the manufacturers, catalogue and supply houses has come to stay and that the trade is constantly solicited for shipment direct instead of through the home dealer, it becomes a necessity for the merchant in order to meet such competition, to advertise and quote prices on direct shipment on same terms, namely: cash with order. This is quite a saving to the merchant as well as to the buyer; and requires less labor and capital to those willing to buy and wait on shipments made in this way. Then again there are many lines of goods that are distributed from our store to better advantage both in price and quality than can be furnished by direct shipment but on which the general public is hard to keep informed without extended advertising, and many articles are sent away for on lines we carry in stock and higher prices paid than we are selling same at, quality considered, and without any investigation as to what we could furnish the same quality or article for. We cannot furnish our trade with a large or extended catalogue, but hope by more general advertising to receive many inquiries for prices and orders from stock or factory shipment. PRICE AND DISCOUNTS: Goods are manufactured and sold according to their quality and cost of distribution. There is a cheap, medium and high grade of goods manufactured in almost every line. It requires close investigation and knowledge to determine values and select standard goods. The amount of purchases, cash or time sales, direct or factory shipments, have much to do with the price and make it almost impossible to name prices and discounts that are subject to frequent changes, but we are ready at any time to quote you our lowest prices both wholesale and retail according to quality or quantity required. Very often large shipments can be made direct from factory. This saves time and expense when a large assortment of goods are needed for the building of a barn or house and when the new housekeeper requires a large variety of household goods. It would be a pleasure to us to quote prevailing prices and your privilege is to investigate our lines. If same is not satisfactory to you or our prices and qualities are not equal to what you can do elsewhere, then the fault lies with us and not with you. All we ask is a fair chance. We will at least give you the best information we have as to quality, price and years of experience in regard to same.

OVERDRAUGHT—An overdraught to the firebox is obtained through holes made in front of the liners near the top, forming a hotblast firebox that requires less fuel, burns up the gasses, has a much better combustion and adds materially to the life of the firebox. Ventilated lids are placed over the firebox that makes it possible for one to see the fire burning and to cook on top instead of removing the lids and blacking up your cooking utensils. Smoke will not escape through the ventilated lids, as there is a down draught and with the ventilated liners a draught on all four sides of the firebox: through lids on top, through the grates and liners.

Heated Air Saves Fuel

In the DAVIS RANGE the air is heated as it passes from ash pit behind and through the ventilated liners to firebox, supplying heated air and a saving of 50 per cent. or more of your fuel bill.

BURNS MORE AIR, LESS FUEL--NOTHING LIKE IT ON THE MARKET By the use of our ventilated lids, liners and rocking grates you have a construction that will not burn up, warp or twist out of shape, and is the only true construction used in building a firebox. THEREFORE WE SAY, BUY A DAVIS. BURN MORE AIR, LESS FUEL, and save liners, grates and lids.

GARRETT county dry is our slogan.

CONGRESS cannot be called a public utility merely on its output of natural gas.

YOU must admire Congress blowing soap bubbles with the taxpayer's money,

THE President has signed the Panama tolls exemption repeal bill, to the delight of our English cousins.

APRIL 30, 1915, the sale of alcoholic liquors in Garrett county will cease and the saloons go out of business.

THE New York World says that "A Democrat can believe in local option or county option or even in state-wide Prohibition as a measure of moral expediency.

THE dismissal of union veterans of the Civil War from Washington city post office has brought a storm of criticism on the Wilson administration. Senators and Representatives in Congress have taken up the veteran's fight and a thorough investigation is promised.

PRESIDENT WILSON'S idea that the present business depression is "merely psychological" is more satisfying to college professors on a salary than business men on the ragged edge. Somehow the theory that everything in the world is what you think it is does not extend to bank accounts.

SENATORS John Walter Smith and Blair Lee of Maryland are having a brotherly conversation through the columns of the Democratic press on the subject of government patronage. In the meanwhile, the President is watching and waiting and dreaming of the psychological condition of business and peace. Harmony and happiness does not prevail in the Democratic party of this state.

BRAINARD H. WARNER, JR., of Kensington, who was the Republican nominee for Congress in this District in 1910, is again desirous of being his party's congressional standard bearer. In his platform of principles he announces that he is opposed to a revenue tariff and favors a high protective tariff; opposed to the "iniquitous income tax;" favors free tolls through the Panama Canal for coastwise vessels; repudiates the $25,000,000 award to Columbia by this Government, and objects to Mr. Bryan addressing chautauquas. His announcement will be seen in another column.

THE General Synod of the Reformed church in the United States sent out this statement:

The General Synod announces its emphatic disapproval of the practice of engaging in the manufacture or sale of liquor, the renting of property for such purposes, the signing of applications for saloon licenses presenting such application in court, endorsing the bonds of saloonkeepers, or in otherwise abetting this most serious evil, and the request is made through Synod and Classes that members of our congregations refrain from the practices herein condemned as being directly opposed to Christ and Christianity.

EVERY church member in Garrett county should interest himself and herself in the cause of local option. No one questions for a single moment the fact that Garrett county will vote for the amendment and thus put the dram shops of the county out of business. But we do not want to simply carry the amendment by a small majority, but we do want to carry it by an overwhelmingly majority. We want to create such a mighty sentiment against the traffic that no boot-legger will have the nerve to undertake to sell liquors "on the sly." We urge the voters and friends of temperance to take nothing for granted. Be diligent, earnest, and determined from now until the polls close on election day. Talk temperance, sing temperance, think temperance and pray temperance.

Keep everlasting at it. Interest every member of your family in the work before us. Interest the children of the Sunday and public schools and set them at work. Get each and every member of the church interested.

Arouse the neighborhood. Be enthused on the subject. Hold temperance picnics, temperance socials, temperance meetings, in every church, house, in every school house, in every public hall.

When you make social calls, when you go from home on business, when you call at the store or post office urge the duty of voting for local option. Each one of us, all of us doing our best then will a glorious victory be ours.

OPTOMETRIST

IS Your Child Handicapped in his or her physical and mental development by defective vision? Out of 100,000 school children examined in New York city, nearly 30 per cent. were found to be in need of glasses. In Boston the percentage was found to be slightly over 20 per cent., and most of these children were down on the books as "stupid," "stubborn" or unruly. In Philadelphia 354 children were discovered who could not read ordinary writing on a blackboard at a distance of twenty feet. You should make sure by a thorough examination at the hands of a competent optometrist. That your child is not among this vast army of little citizens who suffer from defective eyesight, delays often result seriously. My examinations are made by the most scientinc accurate methods. If it is found that glasses are not required you will be told so frankly and no charge made for the examination.

RAPID ACTION NOW EXPECTED

Carranza Ban Marks Crisis In Mediation Situation

WASHINGTON WATCHES KEENLY

American and Huerta Delegates Are Said to Have Practically Agreed On Provisional President But That Rebel Leaders Will Have to Approve Before Administration Finally Indorses Selection.

Washington, June 16.—The action of the mediators in turning down Carranza again was regarded by officials here as marking a crisis in the situation.

Decisive developments are expected quickly now or not at all. President Wilson and Mr. Bryan remained in the closest touch with the American delegates at the conference.

They watched every development with the keenest interest feeling that any hour might bring news concerning the selection of a provisional president.

It was stated positively by members of the Constitutionalist junta that no representatives of Carranza will go to Niagara Falls except as fully empowered delegates to represent him at the conference.

It has been hinted by these same authorities before that possibly Calderon, Cabrera and Vasconcelos might be present at Niagara Falls to advise and consult with the American and Huerta delegates though not to take part in the conferences in which the A. B. C. powers were represented. Instructions have been received from Carranza forbidding this course.

It was suggested by officials that a compromise might be affected by the United States whereby Huerta and Carranza would agree upon the selection of a neutral Mexican to head the provisional government.

This, members of the rebel junta declared, will not be considered, as it would not hasten the pacification of Mexico and would be temporizing rather than a compromise. Trouble would spring up anew within a year if a deal was made with Huerta, and Carranza is well aware of this.

It was said unofficially that the American and Huerta delegates had about reached an agreement as to a possible provisional head, but that the rebel attitude toward the man in question had not been learned.

The belief is spreading that the only efficacious means of restoring peace in Mexico and settling the present vexing problems will be for the United States to withdraw from the question and permit the federals and rebels to fight out their grievances until one or the other is completely subjugated.

"We are still dealing with the second plank in the plan," said Justice Lamar. "It relates to the provisional government and that inevitably leads to a discussion of personnel."

Rebel Chief Reported Shot.

Mexico City, June 16.—Telegraph reports received at the capital from Zacatecas say that the losses of the Constitutionalists in the battle at that place are estimated at 3,000.

General Barron in his official report of the battle to the war office says that after an eight days' battle the Constitutionalists were repulsed and were pursued by him and by General Benjamin Argumedo.

Juan Cabral, a Constitutionalist chieftain, the federal commander says, was captured by the government forces and immediately put to death. The Constitutionalist leaders Caloca and Triana also were killed and General Natera, the commander of the attacking force, was seriously wounded.

The federals, according to the report, captured several machine guns, many horses and a great quantity of ammunition.

Mediators Marking Time.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 16.—No progress has been made in the mediation proceedings here. The delegates are debating over the selection of a provisional president and persons who are close to the Mexican delegates say that the situation will remain unchanged until the Washington government decides to change its attitude.

The Americans are still holding out for the Constitutionalist candidates who are being urged upon the Mexicans by President Wilson while the Mexicans refuse even to consider these candidates. Without the presence of the mediators no further discussion between the delegates is possible.

Ohio Coal Operators Lose Decision.

Washington, June 16.—The supreme court of the United States denied the petition of the soft coal operators of Ohio for an injunction to restrain the industrial commission of Ohio from enforcing the anti-screen law. The operators alleged the law was an infringement of the right of contract.

Extortion Costs Men Eight Years.

MONTANA ASKS TROOPS

President Requested to Send Soldiers To Calm Butte.

Washington, June 16.—Governor Stewart of Montana telegraphed President Wilson asking that federal troops be sent to restore order in the Butte copper mine districts.

At the same time the governor sent messages to the Montana senators and representatives in congress, urging them to call at the White House and support his request.

In the meantime no one would discuss the situation. The members of congress intimated that they were ready to stand behind the governor in any course he deemed wise to pursue, but it was evident that the call for aid from the national government had came as a surprise.

POLO GAME NO. 2 TODAY

Only Change In American Team Is Switch of Two Men.

New York, June 16.—Larry Waterbury and Devereux Milburn shift positions in the American polo lineup for today's game with England. Waterbury will play at No. 3 and Milburn will play as back. There were no other changes in the team. The rumors concerning the probable elimination of Rene La Montagne did not materialize. He will continue to play at No. 1 and J. M. Waterbury at No. 2.

Secretary Hazard in making the announcement stated that it was the opinion of the polo association that the present lineup was the best and most advisable combination to use.

BALLOON STILL MISSING

Springfield's Whereabouts Continues Matter of Conjecture.

Portland, Ore., June 16.—That the balloon Springfield, piloted by Roy Donaldson, which left Portland last Thursday in a race under the auspices of the Aero Club of America, has made a sensational flight, weathering the electrical storm that brought three other starters to earth, and crossed the Cascade range, was the theory of those who vainly have tried to find the only one of the four gas bags now unaccounted for.

Additional reports were received from farmers who sighted the balloon early Friday morning at a great altitude.

ROBBER BAND IN W. VA.

Work at Night and Hide in Abandoned Coal Mines In Day.

Charleston, W. Va., June 16.—Hiding in abandoned coal mines by day and raiding by night, a band of robbers has for two weeks terrorized the Paint and Cabin creek district. Their last exploit, the removal of $8,000 worth of merchandise from the coal company store at Crown Hill, was accomplished without detection.

Nineteen box cars on the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad have been looted and one of them, in which a railroad detective was believed to be hiding, was riddled with bullets from high-power rifles.

$25,000 Worth of Jewelry Gone.

WILSON EXPOSES ALLEGED LOBBY

Interests Behind Anti-Trust Legislation Fight

PRESIDENT WILL NOT QUIT

Sensation Caused In Washington When Chief Executive Makes Public Circular Letters Sent Out In Campaign to Bring Pressure Against Immediate Consideration of Anti-Trust Legislation.

Washington, June 16.—President Wilson made the direct charge that sentiment in favor of postponement of the administration trust legislative program was the result of a campaign by certain interests and intimated that it was the cause of the "psychological business depression" of which he recently spoke.

In support of the president's views copies of letters and telegrams circulated among business men calling for an adjournment of congress without completion of the trust bills, praying for the freight rate increase being asked by the railroads of the interstate commerce commission and calling for a halt of the "attacks on business," were made public at the White House.

President Wilson made it clear that the campaign, if such it may be called, would have no effect upon him, and that it was his plan to push the trust program through the senate with the aid of all the means at his command.

He expressed the view that business was as good, if not better, now than a while ago, and that it would be less harmful to the business of the country to have the trust legislation program completed than to be confronted with a period of uncertainty which would accompany delay.

News of what the president had said and of the giving out of the circular letters spread quickly to the capitol.

One of the circular letters was circulated by the Simmons Hardware Company of St. Louis. E. C. Simmons, the head of the company, had been selected for a member of the federal reserve board and his nomination was to have gone to the senate. It was announced at the White House that Mr. Simmons had declined the place and that Charles S. Hamlin of Boston, now an assistant secretary of the treasury, would be nominated in his place.

White House officials emphatically denied, however, that the circular letter sent out by the Simmons company had any connections with the declination of Mr. Simmons.

NO WAY TO DODGE

Income Tax Must Be Paid, Says Treasury Official.

Washington, June 16.—Treasury agents are making ready to trail income tax dodgers.

"A man is a fool who attempts to avoid the income tax," said Commissioner Osborn. "He is sure to be detected sooner or later. There is no chance that the tax dodgers can escape."

The time for payment of this tax does not expire until July 1, but it is known that the treasury department already has the information necessary for the prosecution of many persons who made false returns.

Decoration Day at Grantsville.

We are glad to publish the following taken from the Myersdale, Pa., Commercial, although a little late, it will interest our G. A. R. readers:

A detachment of M. C. Lowry Post, G. A. R. of Meyersdale, and the Drum Corps, left on the 8:20 car for Salisbury last Sunday morning on their way to Grantsville, Md., to decorate graves of comrades. They were met at Salisbury by a delegation of citizens from Grantsville with automobiles and by ten o'clock were landed in "ye ancient burg," just in time to march to the Lutheran church to hear a most excellent patriotic address by the Pastor, Rev. L. P. Young, D. D., of Salisbury.

The detachment was joined at Salisbury, and again at Grantsville by old soldiers who are not but ought to be, members of the M. C. Lowry Post, as it is the Post nearest and most convenient to them.

The street was lined with people and the Order of Woodmen awaiting the arrival of the "Boys" and most of them marched with the Post to the church but could not get in; three or four times the capacity of the church were on the outside.

After the services in the church, which was beautifully decorated with flags and flowers, line of march was taken up to the cemetery. The color bearer of the Post, John White, unfurled "Old Glory" and lead the column in the following order: Drum Corps, the Post and all Old Soldiers, the children, the Woodmen, the citizens, all carrying flags or flowers. It was an inspiring sight. Arriving at the cemetery the G. A. R. service was conducted under directions of the Post Commander, the burial ceremony being carried out.

Line of march reformed and returned to town, where the visitors were apportioned to the citizens for dinner. The generous reception given to the G. A. R. cannot soon be forgotten by the "Boys." All houses were open to them for dinner; many citizens regretted that they could not have at least one old soldier to take dinner with them.

One little boy took a member of the Post by the hand and plead, "Old Soldier, won't you go with me to dinner, we have nobody;" the Old Soldier went.

It was the greatest day of the kind that Grantsville ever had. Patriotic sentiment was evident on every hand and loving sympathy for all soldiers expressed by all.

This was a day long to be remembered by all. We believe that love of "country and the flag" was well watered on this occasion and the fruit will be great and abiding.

More Psychology.

The statement of unfilled orders of the United States Steel Corporation is regarded in industrial circles the world over as an unfailing barometer of conditions in the iron and steel business. The regular statement, made yesterday shows that the unfilled orders of the corporation at the present time total but little more than half the tonnage than was on the corporation's books one year ago.

What this means to the business and industry of the country is almost beyond comprehension. In part it means that thousands of skilled and unskilled labors have been thrown out of work, and that a huge amount of capital that should be bringing prosperity to the nation is lying idle.

But we presume that Mr. Wilson will still contend that the fact that the buying power of users of iron and steel has decreased one-half since his inauguration is "merely psychology."

BOULEVARDS OF PARIS DISAPPEAR

Streets In Promenade Section Suddenly Drop

Paris, June 16 During a terrific rainstorm a portion of the Rue du Faubourg, Saint Honore palace and the ministry of the interior caved in and six persons were rescued with the greatest difficulty.

Sides of excavations on the Place de la Concorde, the Boulevard Haussmann and the metropolitan tunnel collapsed in places and traffic had to be suspended.

Gas and electric connections were broken and this caused several explosions. A taxicab was engulfed in the Place Saint Augustin, but the chauffeur and his passenger were rescued.

The Place Saint de Philip Roule was engulfed for a distance of 2,600 feet and the cavein was sixty-five feet deep.

The locality where the accident occurred is one of the most fashionable in Paris, and is a favorite afternoon promenade for the Parisian "boulevardier." It contains a number of modish shops and exclusive cafes and is one of the most crowded quarters in the city.

The terrific winter which Paris has undergone, supplemented by hard rains for a week past, is believed to have so weakened a portion of the huge sewer system, which underlies Paris like a catacombs, to a point where it collapsed, engulfing the streets above and with their pedestrians.

CRUISER FOR GREECE

Warship Built For China May Fight Against Turkey.

Philadelphia, June 16.—The cruiser Fei Hung, built by the New York Shipbuilding company for the government of China but later sold to Greece, is lying at its dock at Camden ready for delivery, but its destination is being kept a secret. It is rumored that the vessel will leave this week for the near east under orders from Athens.

She possibly will take part in the impending conflict between Greece and Turkey. The vessel is a 2,600-ton cruiser. She will be taken to Greece by a merchant crew.

Explosion Claims Sixth Victim.

Columbus, O., June 16.—The death roll from an explosion of a gas main in East Fifth avenue was increased to six when another laborer employed with the men who were working in the ditch died at a hospital. In addition to six who died, seven others are in hospitals without chance of recovery, according to physicians. Eight others less seriously injured are expected to recover.

WARNER IN RACE FOR CONGRESS

Announces His Candidacy For Nomination on The Republican Ticket.

Kensington, June 10, 1914.

To the Republicans of the Sixth Congressional District:

At the instance of many friends, I have the honor to announce my candidacy for the Republican nomination for Congress and to solicit your earnest and active support at the coming primary election.

I am very mindful of the great honor which you conferred upon me in 1910 by selecting me as your Congressional candidate. I take this opportunity of again thanking you for your support at that time and of asking for a further vote of confidence by again naming me as your candidate. In return for your support I will be deeply grateful and will do all within my power to merit the same and endeavor to conduct myself in such a way as to reflect credit upon the people of this great district.

I desire to call your attention to the fact that four years ago, when this country was prosperous in all parts, the cry was raised, echoed and reechoed far and wide that the protective tariff fostered the trusts, which in turn, were responsible for the high cost of living. The cry was popular and prevailed, resulting in a Democratic victory in this district and throughout the country. Today, we have no system of protective tariff but a revenue tariff, and yet, the cost of living is higher than it was then, and no more are we nearer a solution of the trust problem. In addition there is upon us a period of business and commercial depression which is nationwide. Business is dormant while labor is being forced into the deepest humiliation as a result of idleness which means suffering and misery to so many of our deserving people.

In a word: four years ago, under a protective tariff the country was prosperous and the customs receipts together with our internal revenues were sufficient to meet the expenditures of our government whereas, today, under a revenue tariff the customs receipts have fallen off as have the internal revenues in spite of the addition of the iniquitous income tax until the receipts are not sufficient to meet the expense of this government'

I am in favor of the principles of a protective tariff. One that is reasonable with respect to the interests of the laborer, the producer and the consumer.

I am in favor of a solution of the trust problems by coercion rather than diversion, which means, harm not the innocent and law-abiding corporations, but tramp so hard upon the evil and conspiring officials of certain corporations that there is no chance for them to escape, rather than insist upon the passage of illusionary laws providing for the dissolution and destruction of corporations, not for any wrong doing but simply because they are corporations conducted in a safe, sane and business like manner, although on a gigantic scale.

I am in favor of a foreign policy which stands for the principles of peace and will fight if necessary in order to see that their principles are enforced; a foreign policy that protects the lives and property of our citizens and does not call upon them to flee for their lives when in a foreign country, because of the bursting of a bomb or the starting of a political insurrection.

I am not in favor of the so-called "Tolls Repeal Doctrine." To repudiate the legislation already passed with respect to canal toll, for which both great political parties declared in their respective platforms, without submitting the matter again to the people, is so un-American that it should not and will not be tolerated. It means favoring foreign shipping interests as against those of this country.

I am not in favor of having this Government pay Columbia $25,000,000 for the alleged wrongful taking of the Panama Canal Zone. Those who advocate such a scheme have not the proper regard for safeguarding the public funds.

I am now as I have always been in favor of a reasonable Parcels Post system, but not one which will throw our mills open to the transportation of any and all articles regardless of weight or size.

I am in favor of a revival of business activity. This cannot be brought about by proclaiming prosperity and placarding for Chautauquas, by intimidating labor, threatening capital and fettering the statute books with hasty legislation. It can, however, be accomplished by restoring confidence, and legislating for construction rather than destruction. This can be best done by returning the Republican party again to power at the next general election.

I cannot conclude without calling attention to the Democratic representative from this district. Please recall that four years ago he advocated reforming the trusts and aiding the toilers, at the same time bitterly denouncing the high cost of living. He also favored what was known as the establishment of an "Express Post." For the past two years, through adroit press notices, he is heralded as "The Father of the Parcel Post System." I would cast no reflection upon this political parentage of his but insist that he assume the burdens thereof. He must explain the enormous deficit that the "Parcels Post" imposes upon the Postal System, owing to the excessive weights and the sizes of packages carried. He must also explain the hard ships which are meted out to certain of our people owing to the practically unrestricted use to which the "Parcels Post" may be used. Recently this representative put forth a further socialistic propaganda, namely the postilization of the telephone and telegraph companies of this country. This too in spite of the fact that in every country where such services have been in the hands of the governments they have proved far from self-sustaining when considered from a vo-practical business standpoint. An advocate of any such doctrines should be relegated to the ranks of private life that he may have an opportunity at his leisure to make himself proficient along practical lines. Another thing that meditation should teach him; that he cannot be the means of holding out to the general public the fact that there will be civil service examinations for the various fourth class postoffices throughout the district which will be filled by those with the highest standingr After these examinations are held to disregard the marks of the various applicants and select only the most partizan is not the way to retain the confidence of the people.

I trust that you, one and all, will join with me in voting to have this socialistic-populistic-communistic gentleman, who votes for free trade, free wool and, worse than all, free coal, a product of this State, the source from which his early associates have of making a living, thus giving to the foreigner an advantage over his own people, stay at home in the future. His district wants protection. It insists that the farmer, the laborer and the manufacturer receive a fair measure of protection, as against any and all foreign countries. I ask you then to kindly lend your efforts to help nominate and elect me that I may vote and work to protect home interests

Yours respectfully.

BITTINGER.

A party of ladies, representing the woman's suffrage movement, is scheduled to arrive and hold an open air meeting in this village on Wednesday of this week. The event is being looked forward to with considerable interest, as this meeting will be the first of its kind ever held in this section of the country.

A reported dullness in the lumber market has caused Messrs. Baker & Nathan to suspend operations on their lumber plant near here.

Miss Myrtle Emory, of Jennings, visited relatives here on Sunday.

Charles Beckman and family, of North Glade, passed through this village Sunday afternoon.

Patterson Engle made a business trip to Grantsville one day last week.

James Speicher has had a new telephone installed in his residence and can now be called up by his neighbors.

Rev. E. E. Oney has gotton his church work well outlined for the summer and is now comfortably established in the home of Andrew J. Oester

Chauncey Broadwater spent last Sunday with his parents here returning to Grantsville in the evening.

Jacob Brenneman has a force of laborers at work making some much needed repairs on our public roads.

DAVIS.

Among the lumber towns that lately came into prominence as a hive of industry and mart of trade, Davis, Md., takes a high place. While this little town located at the forks of the Casselman, is not as large as many of its competitors, there is always something doing. The place was at one time known as Cleveland City, but the once thriving hamlet of that name became as dead as the statesman in whose honor it was named, and the new town that sprang up on the ruins of the old was named Davis as a compliment to the firm whose business enterprise again put the place on the map and made it what it now is, one of the neatest, most orderly and well conducted lumber towns in the tri-state territory where most of the lumber business is now conducted.

The town of Davis has not yet attained sufficient age to celebrate the first anniversary of its birth, the large sawmill having started to run late in 1913 and the work of perfecting the many details of the lumber operation here has not yet been accomplished.

Davis is located in a beautiful valley on the banks of the Casselman River, about four miles south of Grantsville. The surrounding scenery is not only picturesque, but the landscape also shows every sign of prosperity, the highway leading from Grantsville to Davis having flourishing farms highly cultivated on both sides.

Reaching the town the first object of interest to strike the visitor is the large sawmill and extensive lumber yards connected with it. The supply store between the mill and the main street and the superintendent's residence on a slight elevation at a short distance from the mill are other features. The dwellings occupied by the employes of the lumber company are neat and substantial and every house has a plot of ground 100x125 feet surrounding it. This ground being level and free from rocks and other obstructions, appears to be ideal for gardens, and many of the residents are taking advantage of these conditions and are cultivating the soil. There are good substantial plank sidewalks bordering all the streets.

The sawmill is 70x150 feet, built substantially and equipped with every labor-saving device that can be found in the most up-to-date mill. The power comes from two 60-horsepower boilers engine to match, and the saw is of the circular kind with a high rate of speed, so that the capacity of the plant exceeds 35,000 feet of lumber each day.

The dimensions of the store building is 21x100 feet, two stories high, the upper story being occupied as a residence by the manager.

The personnel of the firm and those connected with the different departments is as follows: The firm of J. B. Davis of Ursina, senior partner; John R. Davis, who looks after the interests of the firm in West Virginia; Frank W. Davis, superintendent at Davis, and Wilbur Davis. W. H. Moyer of Williamsport, Pa., is engineer, and has charge of all matters pertaining to the running of the machinery. S. I. Bowling, is Mill foreman; Claude Davis, yard foreman, J. E. Emeigh, saw-filer; D. H. Messersmith, locomotive engineer and Charles Speer, fireman. Jacob G. McClintock, an experienced woodsman, is woods contractor and keeps a large force of men employed and six or seven teams of horses. The loading in the woods is done by machinery, under charge of Charles Sandy. There are about 65 men employed around the mill and lumber yard and including Mr. McClintock's force in the woods, trackmen, etc., the whole force will exceed 100 men.

Thomas A. Fike is store manager, and this part of the business shows every sign of good management, the merchandise, store and all the surroundings being kept in good shape.

The employes of J. B. Davis & Sons, at Davis, are an intelligent and industrious class of men and the very best of conduct can be seen at all times where they congregate.—Republican Meyersdale, Pa.

Something new, J. M. Davis & Sons have on sale Bug Death, sure death to potato, squash and cucumber bugs, currant and tomato worms. Only 10 cents a pound. Adv.

Flies are A Peril.

Typhoid fever is a summer danger on account of flies. This dangerous disease and other intestinal troubles are largely due to the little insects that are permitted to buzz around your kitchen and dining room table. One fly has been found to have enough typhoid fever germs on its feet to inoculate a dozen persons. How do you know that the fly that sips from your glass of water or milk may not be a typhoid breeder?

Some Wheat Field.

Here is a Kansas story which appeared in the daily papers of last Friday:

Topeka, Kan., June 11.—Out feasting his eyes on his bumper wheat crop, Daniel Eernie, a Rush county farmer, lost his way in his 1,200 acre field and wandered about 12 hours until neighbors found him at midnight.

Story of a "Dead" City.

The Dry Goods Economist has been making a little investigation into the business effect of prohibition upon the city of Rockford, Illinois, a city of 55,000 people, a large percentage of whom were foreign born. Every dry goods dealer interviewed said that he had no desire to have the city go back to license. They could not see that the saloons drew any business for them mto the city, while those who went out of town on Saturday night to purchase liquor were, they believed, men with little money to spend. A drummer doing business with these merchants was asked by the reporter how he was effected, and he answered that twenty-seven of his twenty-eight customers were contented to have the city stay dry.

If Rockford is a "dead" city as the outside liquor men declared during the recent campaign, it would be a great boon if some of the Illinois whiskey cities were killed in the same way.

127 B. Instead of causing the names to be written upon ballots and placed in and drawn from a box, as provided in section 8 of Article 51 of the Code of Public General Laws, the Judge or Judges of said Court may in his or their discretion in lieu thereof require the Clerk of said Court to provide a box of sufficient dimensions, and to have the same divided into two compartments, and further, to provide one hundred and fifty white balls, each of the same size, plainly and clearly marked with numbers from one to one hundred and fifty, respectively, which said balls shall be paced in one of the compartments of said box and thoroughly shaken and well mixed, and after the list of one hundred and fifty names shall have been selected and certified to, as provided in the preceding section the said Judge or Judges shall then cause the Clerk or one of his deputies, whom the said Judge or Judges shall designate, neither the one nor the other who may be so required to act to be present at the selection of the said list of one hundred and fifty names, to appear before him or them, and then and there in the presence of said Judge or Judges and such other persons as may choose to be present to draw from the compartment in which said balls have been placed, through the opening made by removing the sliding top thereof as will only conveniently admit the hand and without in any manner looking into said box, one by one forty eight of said balls, and as each of said balls is drawn from said box, it shall be handed to the said Judge or Judges, who shall announce the number thereon, together with the name on the list of one hundred and fifty names corresponding to said number so drawn, and the said forty-eight names corresponding to the forty eight numbers so drawn shall with said numbers be duly recorded by said Judge or Judges, or by the Clerk or one of his deputies in their presence and under their direction, and in the order in which they shall be drawn.

127 C. Of the forty eight jurors so drawn, as provided in the preceding section, the Judge or Judges on the day on which they were so drawn shall select and appoint one as the foreman of the grand jury at the next ensuing term of said Circuit Court, and of the remaining forty seven names, the first twenty-two in the order in which they were drawn shall with the foreman selected as aforesaid constitute the grand jury, and the remaining twenty-five shall constitute the petit jury for the term of court for which they have been drawn, and said names shall be recorded as drawn for the respective juries to which they belong; and thereupon the said Judge or Judges shall forthwith order a venire facias, directed to the Sheriff of said county, commanding him to summon as grand jurors to attend on the first day of the next ensuing term of said Court the several persons whose names have been drawn and selected as grand jurors as aforesaid, and also commanding the said Sheriff to summon as petit jurors to attend on the first Thursday of the next ensuing term of said court the several persons whose name have been drawn as petit jurors as aforesaid. If any such persons whose names are so drawn and embraced in said venire facias should be dead, sick or otherwise unable to attend, or should be absent and therefore not be found, it shall be the duty of said Sheriff forthwith to return the fact of such death, disability or absence; and the said Judge or Judges shall cause to be drawn from said box, in the manner hereinbefore directed, other names in the place and stead of the original grand or petit jurors who may be dead, sick or otherwise unable to attend, or absent and not found, or who are disqualified, or who are for sufficient cause excused by the Court prior to that time, the first named in order drawn to constitute additional grand jurors to fill vacancies occurring as aforesaid, and the remainder drawn to be petit jurors to fill vacancies occurring; and shall cause the name or names of such person or persons so as last aforesaid drawn, to be inserted in the venire facias, to be summoned as grand or petit jurors, as the case may be, and it shall be the duty of the Sheriff to summon the persons named in said venire facias and make return thereof to the said Court at or before the beginning of the term.

If the person selected as aforesaid as foreman of the grand jury be not present at the beginning of the term for which he was selected, or be excused by the Court from serving as such foreman, the Court shall on the first day of the term select as foreman some other person drawn and summoned to serve as a grand juror, but one so excused from serving as foreman may in the discretion of the court be required to serve as a grand juror, unless disqualified or exempt.

If vacancies are to be filled before the beginning of a term as herein provided for, the court may by its order in writing authorize and direct the Clerk of the Court to draw from the box such additional jurors as are necessary to fill vacancies, and such drawing shall have the same effect as if made in the presence of one or more of the Judges of the court.

D. Immediately after the said forty eight have been so drawn and the numbers there and the names corresponding thereto have been recorded as provided in Section 127 B, the Judge or Judges shall place the aforesaid forty eight balls in the compartment of said box other than the one from which they were drawn, together with the certified list of one hundred and fifty names, and shall cause the said box to be closed and locked securely, and keeping the keys thereof, shall deposit the box with the Clerk of the said Court, to be by him safely kept, free from any handling or interference by any person whatever, unless it be in the presence or by the direction of one of the Judges of said Court, and then only in the manner herein provided, and if at the beginning of the term for which they were drawn any grand juror shall be absent or unable to attend for any cause whatever, or be disqualified or excused by the court and additional grand jurors be needed, the Judge or Judges of the said Circuit Court may select from the list of names constituting the petit jury such juror or jurors as to him or them may

PROTECTS "DRY" STATES.

Constitutional Amendment Introduced By Senator Dillingham.

A constituonal amendment designated to protect "dry" states has been introduced in the United States Senate by Senator Dillingham, of Vermont. Instead of prohibiting the sale for beverage purposes of intoxicating liquor, as the Hobson-Sheppard consitutional amendment would, the Dillingham amendment would merely prohibit the transportation of liquor into any state for sale or use for any purpose contrary to the laws of such state.

Its purpose is similar to the existing Kenyon law, but it would remove all question as to the validity of the legislation embrased in the Kenyon law.

The following states will vote on prohibition this year: Colorado, California, Oregon, Virginia and Washington. In 1915 Ohio and Idaho vote on the same question.

Sign Board Day Observed.

Sign Board Day was observed all over Maryland. It is estimated that more than two thousand persons engaged in the work of removing signs and advertisements from fences and trees along the public highways. A number of citizens of Garrett county county took part in the good work.

The Legislature has decreed and public sentiment has proclaimed that the advertising signs within the highways of the state must come down.

Any one who attempts to restore these advertising signs to the public roads will be liable to a fine and prosecution as it is a misdemeanor under the new law.

This movement for the elimination of sign-boards is an expression of the interest in preserving the beauty of the natural surroundings unmarred by hideous signs and posters, not only unsightly in themselves but often obscuring the most beautiful landscapes. We take pride in the many miles of improved roads in the State and we are also coming to realize that the attractiveness of these good roads is immeasurably increased by shade trees with the sign board nuisance eliminated.

Vindicated and Received His Own.

Last week the case of William C. Bond vs. an Insurance Co., was tried in Tucker Couhty, W. Va. It will be recalled that last year Mr. Bond was arrested by the Insurance Company, which carried the insurance upon his mill property which had burnt up, upon the charge of setting fire to the mill. Mr. Bond had no trouble in proving his innocence. He then brought suit against the company for his losses. The company undertook to establish a claim that Mr. Bond did not have property enough to cover the insurance. Each side presented their testimony and the case was given to the Jury, which retired and in less than ten minutes they returned a verdict in favor of Mr. Bond for the full amount of his insurance and interest to date. This action completly vindicated Mr. Bond and gave him the insurance he had purchased, and which should have been paid to him just after the fire.

$500,000,000 TO AID FARMERS.

Williams Points Out That Mortgage Loan Clause Is In Force.

Comptroller of the Currency Williams estimates that about $500,000,000 in national banks throughout the United States is available for farm mortgage loans under the provision of the Federal Reserve act making it possible for national banking associations to lend money on improved farm lands.

Scores of inquiries concerning this provision reach the Treasury Department daily, and there does not seem to be a general understanding that the farm loan clause of the act is now in force, and makes it possible for national banks to make farm loans before the normal organization of the Federal Reserve Board.

Farm loans under this act are not to be made for longer than five years, and the amount of each loan is not to exceed 50 per cent, of the actual value of the farm offered as security.

Carter Auto. Climbs Courthouse Steps

Thursday afternoon last a representative of the Rittenhouse-Winterson Co., of Baltimore, Md., in company with W. W. Savage, the Garrett county agent, was in Oakland, showing off the advantages of the Cartercar. It is a car with gearless transmisison. The car used was the model 5-A It is a car for comfort and possesses all the latest auto improvements. It brought together quite a few of Oakland's "autoists," who were greatly pleased with the movements of the car. The car was run its full length up the Court house steps without any difficulty. The hind wheels resting on the second step from the pavement. Stewart the photographer, secured a picture of the car as it made the climb. In the car were the operator, Messrs Harry Sincell and L. A Rudisill, of Oakland, and Agent W. W. Savage of Friendsville. At least fifty persons witnessed the climb up the steps and pronounced the car "a winner." This model has 116-inch wheel base, 36x4 tires. The width of the front seat is 38 inches, rear seat 50 inches, right hand drive. Body straight line full tonneaued handsome English type, with plain panels, concealed door handles and hinges, color, raven blue with black chassis. It has electric lighting and starting system. WORK ON GARRETT ROADS PROGRESSING RAPIDLY Steam Shovels. Auto-trucks. and Experienced Engineers Moving Things.

THE REPUBLICAN hears many complimentary remarks about the progress being made by the State road contractors of Garrett county, especially of the work being accomplished by the Rob Roy Contracting Co. This company are pushers from Pusherville, and have all the latest machinery for quick road work. Their thirty ton steam shovel is busy at work, removing approximately eight hundred cubic yards of dirt daily.

They have installed a rock crusher at Accident and in a few days will instal the third crusher. They have en route to Grantsville, four high-powered auto trucks, which will be used in hauling material from the railroad cars to the work. The use of these auto trucks will in nowise decrease the number of teams in use on their several contracts.

The work of this company in Garrett county is under the personal supervision of John E. Consalus, possibly the most noted engineer in the country. Mr. Consalas has been engaged twenty-five years in building railroads and road construction. He has as assistants, Harold J. Shields and David Schoentag, both graduated engineers from the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, at Troy, N. Y. Consalas is also from the same institute, class of 1889. This class turned out some famous engineers, among them, John Chaplaugh, Surveyor General of the Dominion of Canada, Hon. John H. Benced, present State Engineer of New York, who is completing the $90,000,000 barge canal from Buffalo to New York City, and Paul Schaltze, Deputy Highway Commissioner of the State of New York, in charge of maintenance and repair of 7,000 miles of State road. From this it will be seen that Garrett county is fortunate in having experienced men in charge of its road building.

The Rob. Roy Contracting Company is rushing their work so as to secure the completion of their contract at an early a date as possible.

We have interveiwed a number of persons who have traveled from Cumberland to Oakland over the route of the State road and all of them speak of the remarkable progress being made and the splendid work being done by the contractors along the entire route.

There is always more or less complaint from farmers and automobilists, who think that road building consumes too much time, but when the many difficulties are considered, such as wet weather, the long haul of material, difficulty of getting good men to work on the road bed, one is surprised to see the progress made.

Messrs. Echard, Landon & Co. are certainly pushing the work on the Oakland-Gortner State aid road. They have made a most creditable beginning. If the weather is favorable, they will complete the section of the road from Oakland to the point where the road enters the Weber property by the middle of July.

They have several forces of men at work on different points of the road to the railroad crosing will be completed by August first. About 70 men are now at work, all citizens of Garrett county but ten.

We also want to speak a word of praise for the County road supervisors who have given unusual attention to the public roads under their supervision. Time and patience is working wonders.

Good progress is being made on the road from Hoyes to Friendsville. It is a great undertaking to build that road, but good and satisfactory work is being done. In the supervisor we have a Friend who is making a reputation for thorough work.

The road from McHenry to Accident is receiving special attention and progress is being made. We are hopeful of the road from Oakland to Grantsville this year, which will prove to be a great event in the history of Garrett county.

ACCORDING to the figures of Mr. Charles D. Hilles, Chairman of the Republican National Committee, the Republicans will control the next Congress by a close margin. According to Mr. Hilles the Republicans will have 222 members and the Democrats 213. The Republicans will fight to the finish to regain control of 165 districts now represented by Democrats. They enter the fight confident of success in at least 90 of these districts. Should they win out on this proposition, the Republicans would number 222 members in the House. That Mr. Hilles predictions may prove true is not improbable.

THE DEATH RECORD

AMOS BROADWATER.

Amos Broadwater, formerly of Garrett county, Md., died at his home near Burkley's Mills June 8th. He was aged 71 years, 3 months and 29 days. His death was due to a carbuncle, after about two weeks' serious illness. Mr. Broadwater, who had been a widower, was married to the widow of the late William D. Bear, about two years ago, and the couple lived happily at the latter's farm home. He had four sons and two daughters by a former marriage, who will probably share his estate with the widow. He was possessed of considerable property and left a will, the contents of which have not yet been made public. The funeral took place last Sunday at his former home at New Germany, Md., the funeral services were held in the Methodist church. It was the request of the deceased that Rev. Silas Hoover, of the Church of the Brethren, who had baptised him many years ago, should preach his funeral sermon. and he did so, his discourse being pronounced one of the best ever heard in that neighborhood on such an occasion. The funeral was one of the largest ever held at New Germany. Mr. Broadwater was widely known and people came many miles to pay their last respects. The children of his second wife, including M. E. and W. P. Bear, respected him as a stepfather who was kind to their mother, and his death is mourned by two families as well as by a large circle of friends.

DANIEL B. ARNOLD.

The sad news of the death of Daniel B. Arnold, one of the best known and highly respected men in this community, was received here on the 17th inst., having died that morning at his home in Eglon, Md. Before moving to Oakland, where he lived for about four years with his daughter, he resided for a number of years on Beaver Run, W. Va. He had only lived at Eglon about four months, and from which place burial was made Sunday at 10:30 a. m. He is survived by his wife, a daughter and son and three brothers.

MRS. MARY A. FRIEND.

Mrs. Mary A. Friend, wife of Andrew Friend, died at her home near Friendsville, June 3, 1914, after an illness of seven months. She had been failing in health for a number of years. She was aged 60 years, 4 months and 25 days; she was born in Garrett county January 9, 1854 and united to Andrew Friend in marriage January 29, 1878. To this union were born eight children, two of whom preceeded her to the spirit world several years ago. She leaves to mourn her sad taking away a husband and six children, five daughters and one son. three brothers and three sisters, Josiah and Smith Lish and Mrs. Judson Runyan of Mountain Lake Park, Mrs. Luvina Brobst, Swanton; Mrs. John Reid, Confluence, Pa., and John Lish of Friendsville.

Mrs. Friend was a daughter of Francis J. and Elizabeth Lish Mr. Lish was born and reared in Batin, Germany. He came to this country a short time before his marriage

Mrs. Friend was loved and respected by all who knew her. She was a devoted wife and mother, a true friend and neighbor, always ready to lend a helping hand to all. She will be greatly missed among her friends and neighbors.

Mrs. Friend had been a member of the M. E. church for 48 years. She could not attend church regular for several years on account of bad health, but she never forgot God. God was always with her and was with her until the end. She was a true Christian woman and always taught her children the word of God. Her last words were, "My Saviour is calling me and I must go. I want you all to be good and meet me in heaven."

Mrs. Friend bore her suffering without murmuring. She was able to be up until about five weeks before her death. All that thoughtful love and devotion could do for her comfort was given by her devoted children and husband. The funeral took place Friday, June 5th, at 2 o'clock, in the Blooming Rose church, Rev. Hamrick of the M. E. church of Friendsville, officiating. The floral tributes were very beautiful, mostly white lilies and white roses.

BLETON COUNTY AS SEEN BY A STAFF WRITER

A Magnificent County Far From Noise And Smoke.

Last Friday the writer accompained Dr. Reed, of Oakland, in his Overland car on a trip into Pendeleton county, W. Va., leaving Oakland Friday evening, via Kelso's and Gormania to Mt. Storm where the night was passed at the pleasant home of J. H. Schaffer. The road from Mt. Lake Park to Gormania is being very much improved by Road Supervisor Abraham Moon. It is a hard road to put and keep in order.

Saturday morning Mt. Storm was left at 7 a. m. and the journey to Upper Tract, Pendleton county, began. It was a delightful ride of 56 miles, through a picturesque county, in and among the hills of Grant county, via Greenland Gap and Petersburg. The valley in which are located Petersburg and Upper Tract is very fertile, and has many cheerful looking homes and splendid farms. The church buildings and school houses indicate the thrift and pride of the people, and impress the traveling public favorably. The public roads are fine. The scenery through Greenland Gap is enjoyable and well worth going to see. One is pleasantly impressed by the well kept yards of the homes of the farmers. Flowers abound, crimson roses predominate. They were beautiful. As a general thing the homes were neatly painted.

The crops of barley, rye, wheat, corn and potatoes were fine. Many potato patches were in bloom. The rye and wheat will be ready to cut in about a week. Grant county presents a splendid showing of the prosperity and happiness of a contented people. The traveler can tell when he enters Pendleton county. A great change occurs. The roads are poor, the school houses paintless and the homes and farm buildings less attractive. Of course there are exceptions, splendid homes and large barns. Every several miles country stores are seen; burr and roller mills are frequent. Most of the grain raised is ground into flour and feed, on account of the distance from the railroad. Good flour is put on the market by these millers and sell at a less figure than the Minnesota flour.

Upper Tract was reached in time for dinner, which was greatly enjoyed by two hungry, tired travelers, at the home of Rev. Idleman. After dinner the automobile was vacated and the writer took passage in Rev. Idleman's buggy for Fort Seypert, twelve miles distant, over one of West Virginia's high mountains and over what is designated as a road. The road from Hoyes to Friendsville is a fine road when compared to this road, rough, stony, steep and as crocked as the letter S. It took us three hours to reach Fort Seypert, a historic village, located in the South Fork valley and on the Smith Fork river. The view from the mountain summit is magnificent. The valley is about three-fourths of a mile wide, and several miles long, dotted with the fine homes of thrifty farmers, with well cultivated, fertile farms, with a bountiful harvest before them. The grain fields are yellow with ripening grain.

Fort Seypert in the early history of the country was considered the boundary line of civilization; beyond it was unknown, unexplored great west. Here was built and maintained a fort. Sometime in 1758 a band of Shawnee Indians, on the war path, attacted the fort and defeated its defenders. Those not killed during the assault were killed after the surrender, except two young men, Seypert and Dyer. The chief took a fancy to young Seypert, who intended killing him, but was prevented from so doing by his father, who struck his arm and destroyed the aim of the rifle. Young Dyer had tried to escape and manifested much bravery, hence secured favor and escaped death. The Governor of Virginia sent soldiers to the scene, but alas, too late to save the fort. The soldiers buried the dead on the hill above the fort. The graves of these prisoners may be seen today.

It was the writer's privilege to spend the night at the home of the venerable William Miller, a descendent of one of the early settlers of the valley, the home being located on the site of the old fort. We shall pleasantly remember the delightful visit to this home and of this scenic valley, and the people we met. Fort Sypert is only five miles from the Virginia State line, which is located on the top of the Shenandoah mountains.

Monday we dropped into one of the country stores of Upper Tract and saw the large country cured meat room of the store. It was a sight of old style, home cured sides, shoulders and hams, most delicious meat. We sampled it while in that vicinity. They were sold at prices much lower than the Armour ham can be bought for, and a better ham.

This is a great fruit country. The cherry crop is fine and abundant. Just before leaving Oakland, I bought two small boxes, supposed to hold a quart, of cherries with stems on for 25 cents. Near Upper Tract they sold at 12½ cents a gallon without stems. With Dr. Reed the homeward journey was begun. Monday was a delightful day for travel and we made good time, stopping for a short time in Petersburg, a villags of beautiful homes, good churches and an up-to-date school house. Home was reached at 1:30 p m.

At several places during the trip we heard the 17 year locusts. Caterpillers were eating the leaves from the apple trees in the mountains between Upper Tract and Fort Seypert and were in large numbers.

MY FRIEND

He may be six kinds of a liar,
He may be ten kinds of a fool;
He may be a blooming high flyer
Without any reason or rule.
There may be a shadow above him
Of ruin—and woes that impend;
I may not respect—but I love him—
I love him because he's my friend.

I know he has faults by the billion,
But his faults are a portion of him.
I know that his record's vermillion,
He's far from a sweet seraphim.
But he's always been square with
"Your's Truly,"
Ever ready to give or to lend.
And though he is wild and unruly
I love him, because he's my friend.

I knock him, I know; but I do it
The same to his face as away;
And if other folks knock—well they rue it
And wish they'd had nothing to say.
I never make diagrams of him.
No maps of his soul have I penned;
For I don't analyze—I just love him,
Because—well, because he's my friend.

Whisky Traffic Ceases Next Tuesday In West Virginia.

Next Tuesday the liquor traffic must cease in West Virginia. The first day of July every saloon, brewery and distillery in the Little Mountain state must be permanently closed under statewide Prohibition adopted at the November election in 1912 by nearly 100,000 majority.

The law enacted to carry into effect the Prohibition amendment is perhaps the most stringent statute of the kind in America. Experts declare there is not a loop-hole in it. Every time attorneys for the liquor interests examine it they throw up their hands, for they can find no way to escape its provisions.

Under this law it will be unlawful to manufacture, sell or give away intoxicating liquors anywhere within the state. It is also unlawful to ship intoxicating liquors to violators of law. It is unlawful for druggists or club houses to keep intoxicating liquors. The druggists of the state, at their annual meeting, asked the legislature to insert this prohibitive provision in the statute. It is also unlawful to advertise liquors by bill boards, circulars, newspapers or otherwise.

Any violation of this law is punishable by fine and imprisonment in the county jail for the first offense and by fine and imprisonment in the state penitentiary for the second offense. Prosecuting attorneys are allowed all necessary funds and officers to assist in the detection and punishment of offenders. The law moreover provides for a state superintendent of Prohibition who shall have general supervision of the state and who shall have power to see that the Prohibition law is enforced.

All producers and dealers are getting ready to quit business by July 1. The brewers have ceased making beer and are bottling or placing in larger receptacles their product. In several instances breweries are being transformed into other kinds of manufactories. Saloonkeepers have been dropping out of the traffic and going into other lines of activity.

Of course, some are hanging on until the last minute. As liquor that is not disposed of by midnight of the 30th of June will be destroyed, the dealers are getting rid of their supplies at bargain counter prices. Those persons who think booze necessary to their existence are buying wet goods in wholesale quantities and if the woods and mountains could talk, there would be some strange tales of hiding places of John Barleycorn.

Distillers say if they cannot sell their goods they will give them away. This will mean drunkenness and debauchery such as follow the running amuck of a lot of half-crazed drinking men.

So far as the drys are concerned there will be no jollification. Disorder of any kind will be avoided as far as possible.

The drys have won their victory and expect to come into the full fruits thereof.

In ten months more the sale of liquor in Garrett county will cease.

I have opened an office in The First National Bank Building in Oakland, Md., for the purpose of carrying on the business of engineering and land surveying .I also solicit the real estate business of all who wish to sell or to buy homes or farms.

National Prohibition.

Here is what a prominent liquor man says in a circular sent out to liquor dealers, for the purpose of arousing them to action against the proposed constitutional amendment:

The League has announced national Prohibition by constitutional amendment not later than 1920. The League has the power, unless checked, to accomplish its purpose.

The passage of a resolution by a two-thirds' majority of a quorum of each house of Congress would send such an amendment to the states for ratification or rejection. The president has no power of veto over such a resolution. Once remitted to the states its ratification by thirty-six of the forty-eight states would incorporate it in the supreme law of the land, making it irrevocable save by a two-thirds' vote in Congress ratified at the polls by three-fourths of the states.

There is grave probability that the League will send such an amendment first to Congress and then to the states within a year, or, possibly, even sooner.

Once sent to the states no power on earth can prevent its eventual ratification. While an individual state might reject the amendment twenty times, once submitted to the country it will never be withdrawn, and its ratification on the twenty-first, or the 121st ballot, would be effective. The League could take its time and take advantage of conditions, here and there, until it eventually secured ratification by the requisite number of states. Once this matter goes to the people, national Prohibition is inevitable.

CURE FOR CONSOMPTION

With all its horrors and ravages, consumption is nevertheless a curable disease. It is not hereditary; it is not beyond the influence of medical science. But do not wait too long. Start doing something for yourself when you get that dry lingering cough.

Bear's Emulsion will do away with your cough by healing your lungs and throat. If it doesn't give entire satisfaction your money will be refunded.

Price one dollar or six bottles for five dollars.

"I believe Bear's Emulsion is the best thing made for cough, whooping cough and to build up the systems of weak, puny children I ever saw. My little girl all her life had been very weakly, no appetite, and would get a cold on any little exposure. Three years ago she took whooping cough.

I gave her Bear's Emulsion and found that it not only cured the whooping cough but it was surprising to see how it built up her system. She began to fleshen up, color was better, she ate almost anything and is today as healthy a child as I have.

I myself have found that it would cure a cough for me when other preparations failed." Geo. Cash.

Idle Freight Cars.

Whether it be regarded as a cause or as an effect, there is no escaping the fact that there is a great lassitude at this time in the railroad business. A report recently given out in Philadelphia is to the effect that the Pennsylvania system alone has 86,000 cars idle out of a total car equipment of 250,000. It is estimated that this idle rolling stock represents an investment cost of $86,000,000. If this percentage of idle cars extend through all the systems, there are probably 1,000,000 cars now out of use, representing an unproductive capitalized investment of about $1,000,000,000.

It does not make much difference which end of the theory of cause and effect may be accepted—the come out is about the same. That is to say, if we assume that the off in railroad depression we land in just about the same place as when we assume that it is the widspread falling off in general business that is putting the railroads on the side track. As a matter of fact, however, the business of the transportation lines always reflects the high preasure or low preasure conditions of general business.

A Great Discovery. (!)

Uncle Sam has discovered that beer fools roaches as easily as it does man. Here is a receipt for destroying roaches, just given out by Government experts.

"A deep vessel or jar is partly filled with stale beer, for which roaches seem to have a special fondness. A number of flat strips of rough wood are placed at an incline against the vessel and bent over so that they project into the interior a few inches. The roaches climb up the inclined sticks to get the beer and slip off into the vessel."

Men go to the screened saloons, drink the stuff and finally slip off into the grave.

This is simply to remind you that we are going to have a fair in Oakland next fall. Every farmer and gardener of Garrett county should be interested in the fair. Give a little special attention to some article or two, for exhibition at the fair. Garrett county ought to have a splendid fair this fall. Raise something for the fair. Also interest your boys and girls in doing the same. It is everybody's fair. It is your fair. Get busy.

Essay on Man.

A little girl wrote the following composition on men:

"Men are what women marry. They drink and smoke and swear, but don't go to church. Perhaps if they wore bonnets they would. They are more logical than women and also more zoological. Both men and women sprung from monkeys, but the women sprung further than the men."—London Opinion.

THE citizens who make a town great says the Cumberland News are those who appreciate both their duties and responsibilities. They are alive to the needs of the community and are not afraid to spend both money and time in the effort to bring things to pass. They keep their eyes and ears open to every opportunity and achieve substantial success while others are sleeping or debating the expediency of a certain line of conduct. They think about their own affairs, of course, but they are wise enough to comprehend the vital truth that he serves himself best who never neglects an opportunity to be useful to his community. They are willing to take a part of their time and devote it to the public good. What is true of this town is true of the entire country.

Temperance Notes.

Printers have begun work on the Yost prohibition law, which makes West Virginia "dry" after July 1. The law will be printed in twelve languages. These will be distributed throughout the state in the effort to reach the 80,000 foreigners.

The department of prohibition also has begun catalouging all the habitual drunkards in the state. The lists are being compiled from the police chiefs and sheriffs. Through the habitual drunkards it is hoped to trace the bootleggers who, it is anticipated, will attempt to operate extensively throughout the state after prohibition goes into effect.

"APOLOGY" NOT BRYAN'S DOING

Secretary Calls It Legacy From Taft Administration

COLOMBIAN PACT EXPLAINED

Secretary of State Issues Statement In Which He Disclaims Responsibility For Clause In Treaty With South American Republic—Quotation From Paper Framed During Taft Administration Shown by Bryan as Proof.

Washington, June 23.—That the "expression of regret" in the Colombian treaty was inherited from the Taft administration is the contention of Secretary Bryan.

The secretary gave out a statement in which he tries farther to place the responsibility for the "apology" for the taking of Panama on the Taft government. The statement given out by Mr. Bryan says in part:

"Now that the treaty has been printed and made public by the senate committee I feel at liberty to answer your questions regarding the so-called 'expression of regret.'

"Article 1 of the treaty now before the senate reads as follows: 'The government of the United States of America, wishing to put at rest all controversies and differences with the republic of Colombia arising out of the events from which the present situation on the isthmus of Panama resulted, expresses in its own name and in the name of the people of the United States sincere regret that anything should have occurred to interrupt or to mar the relations of cordial friendship that had so long existed between the two nations.

"'The government of the republic of Colombia in its own name and in the name of the Colombian people accepts this declaration in the full assurance that every obstacle to the restoration of complete harmony between the two countries will thus disappear.'

"In what is known as the Dubois memorandum, adopted by the Taft administration, which presented the basis upon which he was authorized to negotiate a treaty, the following language is used: 'The government and the people of the United States honestly regret anything should have ever occurred to mar in any way the long and sincere friendship that existed for nearly a century between Colombia and the United States, and the latter country has for years earnestly desired to remove the ill feeling aroused in Colombia by the separation of Panama.'

"It will be seen from a comparison of the two paragraphs that they are identical in meaning and almost identical in language.

"This comparison is made to show that the two 'expressions of regret' are in all essentials the same."

$800,000 IS FORGOTTEN

Hollins Put on Feet by Good Fellowship of Vanderbilt and Morgan.

New York, June 23.—In settling the tangled financial affairs of H. B. Hollins & Co., bankrupt brokers, in the United States district court there was revealed an exceptional phase of the friendship that the late J. P. Morgan and the present William Vanderbilt held for Mr. Hollins.

On request Judge Hand ordered that the name of Mr. Vanderbilt and the estate of J. P. Morgan be stricken from the list of creditors. The Vanderbilt claim was for $546,596 and the Morgan estate claim for $309,850. These large loans are to be regarded as purely personal transactions between friends and not to be included in the schedules of the firm's liabilities.

Some day Mr. Hollins may be able to pay them back, but if he does not that will be charged to profit and loss account of good fellowship. Through this generosity Mr. Hollins finds himself rehabilitated.

They came at the invitation of Dr. John Price Jackson, state commissioner of labor at Harrisburg, who has had two men on the ground ever since the men walked out. This is the first time government aid has been sought to bring about a peaceful solution of the difficulty.

Mr. Mills and Mr. Gilday sought conferences with the striking employees, but left the meeting without accomplishing the desired result.

ASSERTS NEED OF U. S. UNIVERSITY

Chancellor Brown Urges Agitation For Institution.

GREAT FIELD NOW OPEN.

Many Reasons Why College Should Be Established In Washington—Its Scope and Effect Upon National Affairs. Both Government and People Would Benefit by Its Influence.

New York.—Several bills are now before congress providing for the establishment of a national university. The National Association of State Universities has for many years urged such a measure, but there has been little general discussion of the project. This seeming lack of popular interest is due, according to those most closely identified with the movement, to the fact that there has been no definite concrete statement of what a national university means nor of its scope and its effect upon national affairs.

Chancellor Elmer Ellsworth Brown of New York university, formerly commissioner of education at Washington, one of the foremost exponents of the project, said:

"I believe the time has come when there should be a general agitation for the establishment of a national university—not a nebulous, inchoate, intangible federation of our state universities and not even this combined with the various scientific bureaus of our government, but an actual, physical entity. We should have lands and buildings, a board of government, a strong teaching force, classrooms and students and a fund sufficient to maintain the highest kind of research.

ELMER ELLSWORTH BROWN.

"The economic demand for such a university is obvious and the field for its operations no less apparent. The great growth in usefulness of our state universities and the very trend of the growth of our private universities show it. Not so many years ago our private foundations were the intellectual homes of scholars, either in embryo or fully developed. They taught the three professions—ministry, law and medicine—and acknowledged no other callings or lines of work as entitled to that name.

"Today they have developed from scholastic institutions into educational institutions and have created a number of professions. For I hold that any field in which scientific knowledge is applied to the public welfare is a profession. Instead of treating only with books they treat with facts, applying the results of scientific research to every phase of economics, finance, commerce and industry. Indeed, I do not call to mind any phase of our industrial life which they do not touch.

"The idea of a national university is not new. It was strongly advocated by Washington, who bequeathed certain shares of stock as a nucleus for its endowment. Our governmental organization is and has been for many years working toward that result. We have no isolated bureaus, nor could have as a national proposition. The reports on the observations and investigations of the different stations established by the government all over the United States are concentrated at Washington, each in the bureau which has jurisdiction over it. The result is that all the information gathered by isolated stations of any one department has a place of concentration where the whole of the findings can be compared and the net result or conclusion arrived at.

"But without co-ordinating this information with economic conditions in other fields no adequate diagnosis of a condition of error can be made and no prescription for its correction can be written. Since it is impossible, in these days of interstate commerce and even of international commerce, for any community to live a life of isolation, since the lines of one industry touch and affect so many others, it must be apparent that there is great and pressing need for a central institution.

"But not only results of the activities of government departments should find such centralization. Here also should come the findings of state and private universities, both in this country and abroad, on any and every subject affecting our national life."

OIL FIRE DRIVES PEOPLE TO HILLS

Meadowlands, Pa., Threatened With Destruction

TWENTY-FOUR HOUSES BURNED

30,000 Barrel Tank Struck by Lightning and Boiling Fluid Flows Through Town—More Tanks In Vicinity of One In Flames May Explode—Oil Flowing Away on Creek's Waters Adds to Town's Danger.

Meadowlands, Pa., June 23.—Lightning struck a 30,000-barrel oil tank of the Standard Oil company here and a fire was started that has swept away twenty-four dwellings. Six other huge tanks are near the one in flames and are in imminent danger of explosion.

The white hot sides of the tank bulged and spread and the great mass of boiling oil broke and swept through the town. Houses afforded fuel to the onrushing fire. Residents to the number of 400 went to the hills for safety. One boy is missing, another is dead as the result of exposure.

Meadowlands is a mining village five miles east of Washington. The houses burned were the property of the Meadowlands Coal company. They adjoin the Rich Hill mine.

Immediately after the tank began to burn hundreds of workingmen were brought here to dig trenches, so that the oil could be drawn away from the tank. In this manner 6,000 barrels of petroleum were directed into the creek. The oil on the water, however, created a new menace to the town.

The creek passes through the village and under a railroad bridge. It was feared that sparks from locomotives might ignite the oil and wipe out the town. Workingmen set to work at once and the railroad bridge was covered with sheet iron.

Superintendent McCue, in charge of the pump station here, put 100 men directing water on nearby tanks. There are about twenty-five of the big oil receptacles within five or six acres. The wind bore the flames dangerously near other tanks. This was what caused the blaze to spread, destroying the twenty-four dwellings. Smoke fills the sky and shuts out the sun for several miles around.

All possible precaution is being taken to prevent residents from being trapped in their homes in case another tank takes fire and boils over. Excitement prevailed when the tank containing the burning oil collapsed. Oil flowed in every direction and the flames licked up all that came within reach.

W. R. Lehew, who came here from Pittsburgh, is directing the work being done by the railroad. All of the fast trains are running through here at a slow rate and guards are kept at the railroad bridge to give alarm in case the oil on the creek should ignite.

The oil now burning will not die out for two or three days, oil men say, and in this time other tanks close at hand may explode.

FIRE IN OHIO OIL FIELD

1,000 Barrels Consumed on Lease In Licking County.

Newark, O., June 23.—A destructive electrical storm visited Licking county, setting fire to two large tanks in the oil field east of this city, consuming over 1,000 barrels of oil on the lease owned by Benjamin Trees of Pittsburgh. Several barns were struck by lightning and destroyed. Hundreds of telephones were put out of commission.

Mrs. Mildred Nichols of this city was shocked and rendered unconscious by lightning which struck near her home. She will recover.

Forty Injured In Wreck Near Sandusky, O.

Sandusky, O., June 23.—Forty passengers were injured, several probably fatally, when a Lake Shore electric limited, bound for this city from Cleveland, split a switch and crashed into a work train at Wagners Corners.

Some of the injured were taken to the Soldiers' Home hospital. The less seriously injured were brought here.

Bridges Guarded Against Dynamiters.

Bridgeport, O., June 23.—The Baltimore and Ohio railroad has placed guards on its bridges throughout Belmont county to prevent their destruction by the Industrial Workers of the World. The authorities say they have unearthed a plot to dynamite the bridge crossing the Ohio river at Bellaire.

Fish $2,500 of Gems From Store.

Cleveland, June 23.—Thieves cut a circular hole in the window of Aaron Bergman's jewelry store just across from the city hall and using a pole, line and hook fished out $2,500 worth of jewelry. The vicinity was brilliantly lighted.

Looks Like Hamilton.

East Liverpool, O., June 23.—The forty-eighth annual Ohio G. A. R. encampment opened here last night. From indications J. Kemp Hamilton of Toledo will be elected as department commander.

THE REPUBLICAN,
Oakland, Md.

THURSDAY. JUNE 25. 1914.

GARRETT county is marching up to the dry column.

LAST Saturday West Virginia was fifty one years old.

NEWSPAPERS of the pro-Wilson stripe are having a hard time keeping up courage.

THE REPUBLICAN office issued a daily paper for the West Virginia Druggists Association, during their session at Loch Lynn hotel this week.

WHAT has become of the Wilson promise that with a reduction in the tariff would come a reduction in the cost of the necessities of living?

GARRETT County is a glorious county to live in. A land of milk and honey. Growing better all the time. Now is the time to give it a great big push to greater happiness and prosperity.

THE Republican party leaders of West Virginia claim that in the next congress West Virginia will have a solid Republican delegation in the House. Why not? West Virginia is a Republican State.

HAVING given our canal to Great Britian and our commerce to foreign nations, President Wilson now proposes to rush that gift of $25,000,000 to Colombia. What next will he find to give away?

A NEW use was made of the parcel post last week at Wellsburg, W. Va., when the ballot boxes for the primaries were sent to the election supervisors by registered mail. They arrived at their destination safely and promply. It was an experiment, and saved a large sum of money.

THE REPUBLICAN believes that it is the duty of the public to support the home merchant but, at the same time it is just as much the duty of the merchants to support the printing offices in their home town, instead of sending off for their printing, such as shipping tags, letter heads, etc.

PRESIDENT WILSON says that the condition of hard times now confronting the country is "purely psychological," but to the man who is out of work, with a family dependent upon him for bread, the condition is a stern reality, and it will require more than the fine-spun theories of the dreamer now in the White House to convince him to the contrary.

EVEN Democratic papers are admitting that business is bad and men are idle. The New York Times has made the statement that "in the middle states there are a million idle men with an average loss of $50,000 a day in wages." As an instance of this, in Chicago, it has been proposed to appropriate a million dollars to relieve idle wage earners.

WE have been growing almost all the potatoes we have needed. For instance the last two months of 1912, under a Republican tariff, only 41,000 bushels of potatoes were imported into the United States. In the last two months under a Democratic tariff, nearly 3,000,000 bushels of potatoes were brought into this country. This is something for the farmers to think about.

THE REPUBLICAN, as an advertising medium has no equal in Garrett county. Without question, it is the best local paper in the county. It is emphatically the people's paper of the people, with the people and for the people. The foregoing are indisputable facts. Moral read THE REPUBLICAN and be happy. Send it to the absent members of the home circle and make them happy also.

UP and down the mountains, through the valleys and along the highways will be seen the banners of the suffragists and will be heard the cry, "votes for women." Its coming, gentlemen, its coming. Like the local option it is a growing question. The hikers are coming and will stay with us for several days. Treat them well, boys, and give them a patient hearing. God bless them, but save us from the militants.

IS Your Child Handicapped in his or her physical and mental development by defective vision? Out of 100,000 school children examined in New York city, nearly 30 per cent. were found to be in need of glasses. In Boston the percentage was found to be slightly over 20 per cent., and most of these children were down on the books as "stupid," "stubborn" or unruly. In Philadelphia 354 children were discovered who could not read ordinary writing on a blackboard at a distance of twenty feet. You should make sure by a thorough examination at the hands of a competent optometrist. That your child is not among this vast army of little citizens who suffer from defective eyesight, delays often result seriously. My examinations are made by the most scientinc accurate methods. If it is found that glasses are not required you will be told so frankly and no charge made for the examination.

OPTIMISM AGAIN TO FORE

Mediation Conference Takes on New Lease of Life.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 23.—The American and Mexican delegates resumed today their conferences in the presence of the mediators.

Minister Naon of Argentina explained the reasons which have prompted him to urge his colleagues to continue their efforts to find a solution to the Mexican problem. It is evident that his appeal has been successful, for it is admitted on all sides that the mediation conference has taken on a new lease of life and that the end is not in sight.

In spite of protests made by the mediators that no "watchful waiting" will be indulged in here, it is the belief that the mediators have consented to mark time for a while, at least, pending the outcome of the great conflict which is imminent at Zacatecas.

It is understood that President Wilson is convinced that the Constitutionalists will be victorious at this point and that their victory will be the final blow for Huerta. The Wilson administration, it is said, has yielded slightly in its opposition to the present head of the Mexican government.

Missing Filipino Found.

Mexico City, June 23.—Gregorio Alcarez, the Filipino servant of Captain Rush of the United States battleship Florida, for whom the state department at Washington instituted a search, has been found. He walked into the Brazilian legation and introduced himself to the minister. The Filipino showed no signs of ill treatment.

BOY THROWN THREE STORIES

Man Resented Being Awakened and Throws Lad From Window.

Newark, N. J., June 23.—John Beyer, accused of throwing eleven-year-old Martin Kierstead out of a third-story window, is under arrest. The boy is in a hospital with his left arm broken and many bruises. The police say that Beyer, who is forty-three years old, was awakened from sleep by children at play and that he dragged the Kierstead boy upstairs, struck him and then threw him from a window to the ground. The boy landed in a pile of rubbish. This probably saved him from more serious injury or death.

Beyer, the police say, confessed that he threw the boy out of the window because he was aroused from sleep.

MISS STALLO TO BE PRINCESS

Heiress to McDonald Fortune Will Wed Rospigliosi.

New York, June 23. The wedding of Prince Francesco Rospigliosi of Rome and Miss Laura McDonald Stallo, heir to half the estate of her grandfather, the late Alexander McDonald, who made a fortune in Standard Oil, is to occur on June 30.

The Rospigliosi plans were disclosed in the supreme court when a suit of George G. Miles against Edmund Stallo, father of the bride-to-be, came on for trial. Counsel for Stallo told the court an adjournment was necessary, because Mr. Stallo left here on May 19 to be present at his daughter's wedding in Paris on the 30th.

Utilizing and Encouraging Drummers

Now and then I pick up a real live special on goods that I know and sell, just by watching the advertising pages of the journals I read. Some sales manager, I suppose, wants to make an extra big showing on that item by a certain date, and hands out an offer that is too good to miss. And very often a traveling salesman will have something special up his sleeve. When I know the man and the house, we can do business right there if it is anything that I can use.

Therefore I have a pleasant greeting for every traveling salesman until he proves himself unworthy of it.

More than that, I see to it that the boys on the road get a welcome from my clerks as well as from me. Traveling salesmen as a class are picked men. When they make good they are extraordinary men and I want to know them. They generally have ideas of their own, they pick up ideas everywhere they go, and I want them all. Ideas are the stuff that business is made of.

Funny how you can nearly always spot a beginner, isn't it? His nice new sample case, his scared look, his nervousness—all these things say in trumpet tones, "This is my first trip. Great guns, do you suppose I'll get an order?"

When one of these boys come in I take special pains to put him at ease and give him a chance to tell his story at the first opportunity. A little consideration at such a time doesn't cost anything and may be worth something to me later.

Watch Diphtheria.

What do you do when there is smallpox or diphtheria in your neighborhood? Why you do everything possible to keep from getting it. Because you know it is a germ disease and you know you are liable to catch the disease by coming in contact with the ones that have it or the ones that have been around the ones that have the disease. You go so far as to have yourself and children vaccinated against smallpox. Have emuninizing doses of Diphtheria Antitoxin injected into the body. Don't you know that consumption is a germ disease and you are liable to take it just the same? What are you doing to prevent it? It is in your town. The air is full of the germs. More people are dying each year from it than every other disease put together. Now don't put the members of your family out against the disease that is killing more people in Virginia than the civil war did. Now is the time to give them something that will build up the system give them health, strength and make for them a pair of lungs that will withstand the ravages of the awful tubercule germs.

Bear's Emulsion will do this. It has done it for others and will do it for you. At your druggist Sturgiss for one dollar a bottle or six for five dollars. Adv

The Salesman's Creed.

I believe in the goods I am selling, in the firm I am working for, and in my ability to get "results."

I believe honest goods can be sold to honest men by honest methods.

I believe in working, not waiting; in laughing, not weeping; in boosting, not knocking; and in the pleasure of selling goods.

I believe a man gets what he goes after; that one order today is worth two orders tomorrow, and that no man is down-and-out until he has lost faith in himself.

I believe in today and the work I am doing, in tomorrow and the work I hope to do, and in the sure reward which the future holds.

I believe in courtesy, in kindness, in generosity, in good cheer, in friendship and honest competition.

I believe there is an order somewhere for every man ready to take one.

I believe I'm ready—right now.

Splendid Crop Report.

A good crop is always gratifying and with business and industrial conditions as they now are, the government prediction of bumper yields for the present year is especially pleasing. We are sure that the farmers of Garrett county are always pleased to hear of crop prospects elsewhere. Wheat 638,000,000 bushels, and as the harvest has already begun, it is safe to say that nothing can materially diminish that amount. The predictions for hay, corn and other grains are almost equally good, and, barring unforseen developments, the total yields of all crops bids fair to be unprecedented.

In itself, this vast agricultural production will be a splendid addition to the wealth of the nation, and will go far toward making unfortunate conditions more bearable. Outside of the farmer and those with whom he deals directly, one of the greatest influences for good of the big crops will be on the railroads of the country. Freight traffic cannot fail to be heavy, and with the hoped for rate adjustment, the fine work of the old reliable farmer will, in a measure, remedy the evils that have been caused by political meddling.

SQUABBLE OVER WARSHIP

Greece Wants Idaho and Mississippi; Turkey Protests.

Washington, June 23.—A lively diplomatic controversy has been precipitated by the decision of the Wilson administration to urge the sale of the antiquated battleships Idaho and Mississippi to the Grecian government. Interest in the proposed sale lies in the tension now existing between Turkey and Greece.

Charge d'Affaires Voorhis of the Greek legation laid before President Wilson the arguments of his government for the immediate consummation of the sale of the two battleships. Hardly had the Greek charge departed when the president received the new Turkish ambassador, Rustum Bey, who called to present his credentials. Ambassador Bey took the occasion to make a protest against the sale of the battleships to Greece.

The president in admitting that he had approved the recommendation for the sale of the ships made it clear that he had done so with the understanding that the acquirement of the fighting vessels by Greece would encourage peace.

SLEDGE BROKE THE CHAMPAGNE BOTTLE

Flying Boat America Christened and Launched

Hammondsport, N. Y., June 23.—The flying boat America built by Rodman Wanamaker for a transatlantic flight was launched from the Curtiss aeroplane works here. Miss Katherine Masson christened the monster air craft.

Spilling the champagne over the America's bow proved not an easy undertaking. When Miss Masson released the bottle it rebounded without a crack. She tried again with the same result. Then Lieutenant Porte the aviator, tried twice without result. Finally he resorted to a sledge hammer and turned the trick.

Just before the craft was pushed down the ways into the lake someone asked why no British emblem was being put on her in honor of the Irish aviator. There wasn't a British flag to be had, but George Bateman, correspondent of an English newspaper produced an English postage stamp bearing a picture of King George which he formally affixed to the bow.

There are still some changes to be made in the machine before it can be called complete. It will be ready to fly as soon as the motors are synchronized, but before the start of the transatlantic trip there are many details to be worked out.

BEASTS NOT BLAMED BY HER

Fiancee of Man Killed by Lions Fondles Her Pets.

Chicago, June 23.—When an animal tamer falls in love he loses control over his beasts. Mlle. Adgie Costillo remembered this adage as she arranged to send east the body of her fiance, Emerson Dietrich, who had been killed and partly devoured by five of her lion cubs.

"Perhaps jealousy had something to do with it," said Mlle. Costillo. "The lions are just like dogs or cats. They know when someone else shares the affection of their owner." She went to the cages and kissed and caressed the lions which had torn her fiance to shreds.

OPTIMISM AGAIN TO FORE

Mediation Conference Takes on New Lease of Life.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 23.—The American and Mexican delegates resumed today their conferences in the presence of the mediators.

Minister Naon of Argentina explained the reasons which have prompted him to urge his colleagues to continue their efforts to find a solution to the Mexican problem. It is evident that his appeal has been successful, for it is admitted on all sides that the mediation conference has taken on a new lease of life and that the end is not in sight.

In spite of protests made by the mediators that no "watchful waiting" will be indulged in here, it is the belief that the mediators have consented to mark time for a while, at least, pending the outcome of the great conflict which is imminent at Zacatecas.

It is understood that President Wilson is convinced that the Constitutionalists will be victorious at this point and that their victory will be the final blow for Huerta. The Wilson administration, it is said, has yielded slightly in its opposition to the present head of the Mexican government.

Missing Filipino Found.

Mexico City, June 23.—Gregorio Alcarez, the Filipino servant of Captain Rush of the United States battleship Florida, for whom the state department at Washington instituted a search, has been found. He walked into the Brazilian legation and introduced himself to the minister. The Filipino showed no signs of ill treatment.

BOY THROWN THREE STORIES

Man Resented Being Awakened and Throws Lad From Window.

Newark, N. J., June 23.—John Beyer, accused of throwing eleven-year-old Martin Kierstead out of a third-story window, is under arrest. The boy is in a hospital with his left arm broken and many bruises. The police say that Beyer, who is forty three years old, was awakened from sleep by children at play and that he dragged the Kierstead boy upstairs, struck him and then threw him from a window to the ground. The boy landed in a pile of rubbish. This probably saved him from more serious injury or death.

Beyer, the police say, confessed that he threw the boy out of the window because he was aroused from sleep.

MISS STALLO TO BE PRINCESS

Heiress to McDonald Fortune Will Wed Rospigliosi.

New York, June 23.—The wedding of Prince Francesco Rospigliosi of Rome and Miss Laura McDonald Stallo, heir to half the estate of her grandfather, the late Alexander McDonald, who made a fortune in Standard Oil, is to occur on June 30.

The Rospigliosi plans were disclosed in the supreme court when a suit of George G. Miles against Edmund Stallo, father of the bride-to-be, came on for trial. Counsel for Stallo told the court an adjournment was necessary, because Mr. Stallo left here on May 19 to be present at his daughter's wedding in Paris on the 30th.

Utilizing and Encouraging Drummers

Now and then I pick up a real live special on goods that I know and sell, just by watching the advertising pages of the journals I read. Some sales manager, I suppose, wants to make an extra big showing on that item by a certain date, and hands out an offer that is too good to miss. And very often a traveling salesman will have something special up his sleeve. When I know the man and the house, we can do business right there if it is anything that I can use.

Therefore I have a pleasant greeting for every traveling salesman until he proves himself unworthy of it.

More than that, I see to it that the boys on the road get a welcome from my clerks as well as from me. Traveling salesmen as a class are picked men. When they make good they are extraordinary men and I want to know them. They generally have ideas of their own, they pick up ideas everywhere they go, and I want them all. Ideas are the stuff that business is made of.

Funny how you can nearly always spot a beginner, isn't it? His nice new sample case, his scared look, his nervousness—all these things say in trumpet tones, "This is my first trip. Great guns, do you suppose I'll get an order?"

When one of these boys come in I take special pains to put him at ease and give him a chance to tell his story at the first opportunity. A little consideration at such a time doesn't cost anything and may be worth something to me later.

Watch Diphtheria.

What do you do when there is smallpox or diphtheria in your neighborhood? Why you do everything possible to keep from getting it. Because you know it is a germ disease and you know you are liable to catch the disease by coming in contact with the ones that have it or the ones that have been around the ones that have the disease. You go so far as to have yourself and children vaccinated against smallpox. Have emuninizing doses of Diphtheria Antitoxin injected into the body. Don't you know that consumption is a germ disease and you are liable to take it just the same? What are you doing to prevent it? It is in your town. The air is full of the germs. More people are dying each year from it than every other disease put together. Now don't put the members of your family out against the disease that is killing more people in Virginia than the civil war did. Now is the time to give them something that will build up the system give them health, strength and make for them a pair of lungs that will withstand the ravages of the awful tubercule germs.

Bear's Emulsion will do this. It has done it for others and will do it for you. At your druggist Sturgiss for one dollar a bottle or six for five dollars. Adv

The Salesman's Creed.

I believe in the goods I am selling, in the firm I am working for, and in my ability to get "results."

I believe honest goods can be sold to honest men by honest methods.

I believe in working, not waiting; in laughing, not weeping; in boosting, not knocking; and in the pleasure of selling goods.

I believe a man gets what he goes after; that one order today is worth two orders tomorrow, and that no man is down-and-out until he has lost faith in himself.

I believe in today and the work I am doing, in tomorrow and the work I hope to do, and in the sure reward which the future holds.

I believe in courtesy, in kindness, in generosity, in good cheer, in friendship and honest competition.

I believe there is an order somewhere for every man ready to take one.

I believe I'm ready—right now.

Splendid Crop Report.

A good crop is always gratifying and with business and industrial conditions as they now are, the government prediction of bumper yields for the present year is especially pleasing. We are sure that the farmers of Garrett county are always pleased to hear of crop prospects elsewhere. Wheat 638,000,000 bushels, and as the harvest has already begun, it is safe to say that nothing can materially diminish that amount. The predictions for hay, corn and other grains are almost equally good, and, barring unforseen developments, the total yields of all crops bids fair to be unprecedented.

In itself, this vast agricultural production will be a splendid addition to the wealth of the nation, and will go far toward making unfortunate conditions more bearable. Outside of the farmer and those with whom he deals directly, one of the greatest influences for good of the big crops will be on the railroads of the country. Freight traffic cannot fail to be heavy, and with the hoped for rate adjustment, the fine work of the old reliable farmer will, in a measure, remedy the evils that have been caused by political meddling.

SQUABBLE OVER WARSHIP

Greece Wants Idaho and Mississippi; Turkey Protests.

Washington, June 23. A lively diplomatic controversy has been precipitated by the decision of the Wilson administration to urge the sale of the antiquated battleships Idaho and Mississippi to the Grecian government. Interest in the proposed sale lies in the tension now existing between Turkey and Greece.

Charge d'Affaires Voorhis of the Greek legation laid before President Wilson the arguments of his government for the immediate consummation of the sale of the two battleships. Hardly had the Greek charge departed when the president received the new Turkish ambassador, Rustum Bey, who called to present his credentials. Ambassador Bey took the occasion to make a protest against the sale of the battleships to Greece.

The president in admitting that he had approved the recommendation for the sale of the ships made it clear that he had done so with the understanding that the acquirement of the fighting vessels by Greece would encourage peace.

SLEDGE BROKE THE CHAMPAGNE BOTTLE

Flying Boat America Christened and Launched

Hammondsport, N. Y., June 23.—The flying boat America built by Rodman Wanamaker for a transatlantic flight was launched from the Curtiss aeroplane works here. Miss Katherine Masson christened the monster air craft.

Spilling the champagne over the America's bow proved not an easy undertaking. When Miss Masson released the bottle it rebounded without a crack. She tried again with the same result. Then Lieutenant Porte the aviator, tried twice without result. Finally he resorted to a sledge hammer and turned the trick.

Just before the craft was pushed down the ways into the lake someone asked why no British emblem was being put on her in honor of the Irish aviator. There wasn't a British flag to be had, but George Bateman, correspondent of an English newspaper, produced an English postage stamp bearing a picture of King George which he formally affixed to the bow.

There are still some changes to be made in the machine before it can be called complete. It will be ready to fly as soon as the motors are synchronized, but before the start of the transatlantic trip there are many details to be worked out.

BEASTS NOT BLAMED BY HER

Fiancee of Man Killed by Lions Fondles Her Pets.

Chicago, June 23.—When an animal tamer falls in love he loses control over his beasts. Mlle. Adgie Costillo remembered this adage as she arranged to send east the body of her fiance, Emerson Dietrich, who had been killed and partly devoured by five of her lion cubs.

"Perhaps jealousy had something to do with it," said Mlle. Costillo. "The lions are just like dogs or cats. They know when someone else shares the affection of their owner." She went to the cages and kissed and caressed the lions which had torn her fiance to shreds.

SUFFRAGISTS "HIKE" THROUGH THE COUNTY.

Great Success. Eight Hundred and Twenty New Members Enrolled.

With evidence that Old Sol accompanied them on their hike through Garrett county, the band of hiking suffragists arrived in Cumberland Sunday, where they planned a similar hike for Allegany county starting August 1. The speakers will be accompanied on their hike through that county by a dozen or more members of the Just Government League of Allegany county.

The leaders were highly elated over their victory Saturday night in a debating contest at Breedlove, W. Va., in which Misses Mary Brennan and Madge Thurlow for the affirmitive convinced the judges that women should vote. The negative side was headed by a local preacher who is strongly opposed to woman suffrage and denounced their move in very emphatic terms.

They received 820 new members on their Garrett county tour, and held twenty mass meetings. Kitzmiller led for new members, giving a total of 75, while Friendsville came second with 70. With the exception of a few sore feet and their complexions greatly shaded they all look well after their trip. They are greatly pleased over the hospitality accorded them by the Garrett county people, and their trip cost them less than one hundred and thirty dollars.

The citizens of Garrett county who met the ladies, speak of the highest terms about their visit in their respective neighborhoods, and of their presence in the homes. They were a cheerful, good natured and hopeful company of ladies, and if perseverance and determination count for anything they will win out.

JUDGE HENDERSON SUSTAINS DEMURRER.

Injunction Against Building Oakland-Gortner Road Will Not Issue.

As was anticipated by those who attended the court last week and heard the arguments of the attorneys for and against the demurrer to the order for an injunction prohibiting the State Roads Commission, the County Commissioners and the contractors from building the Oakland-Gortner State aid road, Judge Robert H. Henderson, who heard the case and took the matter under consideration, last Saturday announced his decision, sustaining the demurrer and gave the contestants ten days to fill an amended bill to show cause why the order should not be dismissed.

Work on this road is progressing rapidly. The first course of broken rock is being put down. The rock is secured from the Gonder land, adjoining Oakland, under contract of J. A. Kelly. A temporary bridge was built across the little Yough. The delivery of rock began on Monday and from that time until now teams have been constantly engaged in delivering the rock to the road bed, where it is broken to meet the requirement of the contract.

FOURTH OF JULY REFLECTION.

Garrett county is the youngest county of the State of Maryland, and the largest county. It is the mountain county of the State, and only a few years back was called the "back woods county," with poor roads, few school houses, many log cabins and plenty of woods. That day has gone forever.

Good roads, good as anywhere in the State, are spreading over the county, good school buildings, fine church edifices and modern homes are here. The wood lands are disappearing and in their stead are seen fertile farms. The telephone and telegraph lines are circling the entire county.

The tallow candle and oil lamp have been supplanted by natural or acetyline gas, and electricity in the village, cities and farm homes. The log stable is passing away and in its stead is the modern barn of today with all the latest machinery and a silo attached. Up-to-date farm implements are in use. The farmer and his family enjoy the rapid moving automobile for pleasure and the auto truck for business. Full blooded stock is increasing and splendid horses are taking the place of scrubs.

Garrett county is on the up grade, stepping to the very front, taking its place among the best and most prosperous counties of Maryland. Our boys and girls are taking a high rank in the business and professional world. Our citizens are refined, cultured and prosperous. These are facts. No one can successfully deny them.

THE REPUBLICAN believes in the best of Garrett county; rejoices in its marvelous success and development and in its great possibilities, in a great, bright, happy coming Garrett county.

Great has been the stride made in the past, but a grander, more glorious day is in sight. Happy homes, more prosperous homes, a united, wide awake intelligent people are being developed. By reason of the Speicher Local Option bill next November Garrett county, the mountain county, the most western county, the back woods county will banish the foul fiend, the destroyer of manhood, the wrecker of homes, the curse of our land, forever from its midst and take one grand, mighty step to the very foremost rank of civilization and Christianity.

THE REPUBLICAN is thankful to be connected with this people and have a humble part in their great achievement. Here is to a greater, a better, a more prosperous Garrett county.

HOYES METHODIST CHURCH WAS STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

Thursday's Loss Will Reach Several Hundred Dollars.

During the very severe rain storm which passed over that section of the county north of Oakland last Thursday, lightning struck the Methodist Episcopal church at Hoyes, causing a loss of several hundred dollars to the building. Fortunate it was that the church was not entirely destroyed. To the credit of the trustees of the church, the building was insured, hence the loss will be covered by insurance. The lightning struck the top of the cupola, ran down the side of the cupola, tearing up part of the slate roof, following a chimney, tearing up the roof rafters, the lightning reached the floor carrying destruction in its pathway.

The ceiling was more or less damaged. The building was visited by many persons who desired to see the havoc played by the storm. As soon as the insurance adjuster investigates the amount of loss sustained, work will begin on restoring the building to its original condition.

SHORT RUN

The weather has been extremely dry for the past two months, and the meadows and pastures are very short on account of it. Harvest will be lighter than for years, but it seems that the farmers are not to be discouraged, as there are five large barns being erected in our immediate neighborhood.

Our woman folks have been very busy picking strawberries, while the men were plowing corn.

Mesdames S. S. Bender and O. V. Fortney, of Kitzmiller, drove out to Daniel Wilson's farm last Friday, and spent the day picking wild strawberries.

Mrs. Granville Harvey and little daughters Edna and Sicely, of Kimball, W. Va., are visiting Mrs. Harvey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wilson, at this place.

Mr. Granville Harvey left Sunday night for Kimball, W. Va., where he is employed.

Mr. Porter DeWitt, of near Deer Park, was in our village last Saturday.

Miss Lois Harvey spent Sunday with friends in Kitzmiller.

Those who were visiting at Mr. J. H. Wilson's Sunday were: Miss Anna Harvey, Messrs. Jonas Harvey and George Kimmell, of Armstead; James Cullen, of New York City, and George W. Moon, of Eagle Rock.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Fichtner, of Kitzmiller, spent several days here last week, visiting Mrs. Fichtner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Wilson.

The many friends of Mr. Charles Brown, of Kitzmiller, were pained to learn last week that Mr. Brown was preparing to leave for Oklahoma on Sunday evening. Mr. Brown spent Saturday evening here bidding his friends "good bye," but the latest report is that at the last moment he changed his mind for the time being and has decided to remain in Garrett county, at least for the summer.

Messrs. Robert Harvey, George, and James Wilson attended the humorous lecture, "Just For Fun," by Rev. H. S. Bumgardner in the M. E. church, at Kitzmiller, Wednesday evening.

Mr. Claude Harvey was a business called in Oakland last Saturday.

Mr. James Wilson is confined to his room on account of a very sore foot, caused by stepping on a nail which penetrated the sole of his shoe and went almost entirely through the foot.

Mr. Scott Harvey was a week end visitor at Blaine, W. Va.

The heavy frost which was so destructive in many parts of the county last week showed only its slightest appearence here and did no damage whatever. Despite the very poor and other disadvantages, this makes us fell that district No. 13 is'nt the worst place in the world to live.

We are glad to notice the great improvement in THE REPUBLICAN for the past few months. It is "always boosting, never knocking,"—just the kind we like to read.

GARRETT COUNTY CHERRIES RIPE.

Everybody Picking or Buying Cherries at Orchards.

For the first time in many years certain localities in Garrett county have an abundant crop of cherries. The trees are loaded with delicious ripe fruit. In the neighborhood of Eglon, Hoyes, Accident and McHenry cherry pickers are busy at work. From far and near buyers have called at the farm homes to buy this enjoyable fruit. Even on Sunday scores of people picked cherries. By buggy, carriage and automobile came cherry buyers. The price was, pick your own cherries 10 cents a gallon; already picked 25 cents a gallon, sweet or sour, and free from stems. On one farm twenty pickers found employment Monday. Ten cents a gallon was paid for picking. Hundreds of gallons were sold in Oakland at 25 and 30 cents a gallon for clean, fine cherries. Fortunate indeed were those farmers who owned cherry trees and happy were their wives and delighted were those who purchased the fruit.

Farmers' Institutes in Garrett County

The Annual Meetings of the Farmer's Institutes of the Maryland Agriculture College began this year at Grantsville, on Monday morning,

The lecturers under Dr. Richard S. Hill, Director, were brought to the meeting by Mr. L. H. Diefenbach, who will take them over the county.

Well attended meetings were held at Grantsville in the new hall, at Accident in the school house, and at Oakland in the Court house; today they will be at Bittinger, then go on to Allegany county.

The Director is this year calling particular attention to the adaptability of certain crops to this county and urging the farmers to give more attention to the changed conditions and begin to meet them, referring to the good State Roads and the gasoline engine, he said that new markets would be open to our people.

Potato culture in Garrett county for seed was discussed by Mr. W. R. Ballard. He referred to Bulletin No. 172 of the Experiment Station, where it is shown that Garrett county seed grown side by side with Maine seed for three successive years the yield being Garrett county potatoes 172 and Maine seed 130 bushels per acre. He stated that Garrett county potatoes would soon be as celebrated for seed as are Maine potatoes.

Mr. C. L. Opperman discussed hog growing, giving figures to show how very few hogs were grown in Garrett county, and how easy many more could be grown, and also the favorite subject on farm poultry.

Dr. J. R. Mahaffy, a veterinarian, of Wilmington, Delaware, in speaking of the horse, referred to the number of high class draft horses he sees in Garrett county, urging the farmers to grow more. He gave many valuable suggestions in breeding, feeding and the care of the horse, giving much attention to the rearing of the colt, particularly advising the feeding of grain together with grass from four months on and not weaning until at least six months old. Very many questions were asked and the doctor answered each in detail and gave many home remedies for relief of the ordinary horse and colt ailments.

The meetings ended with a talk on grass and hay crops, and the proper application of manure, by the Director.

At the Oakland meeting reference was made to the Oakland Agricultural Fair and to the State Horticultural meeting in Baltimore, and the farmers urged to support each.

CHILDRENS DAY SERVICES.

Attracted Great Crowps at Pleasant Valley Last Sunday.

The Children's Day services at Pleasant Valley came off Sunday. The day was ideal as to weather. The largest number of people ever assembled in the grove was present. They came from almost every part of the county. The children's service was held in the Methodist church in the morning. The program had been arranged and the children drilled by Misses Georgia Davis, Athea Bittinger and Edna Beckman and they did their work well, as was shown by the children in carrying out the most interesting program, which was greatly enjoyed.

After dinner the memorial services of the Order of Odd Fellows was held. They were not only interesting but impressive. The speaker was Rev Bauman, the popular pastor of the U. B. church. Rev. Henry Friend was also present. Pastor Marquess was not present to take part as was arranged. The deceased members were: Robert Devling, H. J. Bittner, Eugene Wilson, C. W. Moore, G. P. White, C. M. Rathbun and Perry Bittinger. Long will the day be remembered as an occasion of profit and worship.

PROHIBITION A GREAT SUCCESS.

Proven by Splenpid Results at Emporia, Kansas.

The following facts clipped from Collier's Weekly strongly prove the value of prohibtion and should greatly encourage the people of Garrett county to vote for local option.

"Emporia is a town of 10,000 people. There hasn't been an open saloon in the place in more than twenty years. It is a town of schools and churches, and the sentiment against Barleycorn always has been so strong that even in the free-and-easy days before the advent of Stubbs it never occured to anybody to open a grog parlor. No booze is sold in Emporia, and even the cork screw has become obsolete. If a man appears on the main street with a bad breath, it is safe to assume that he is a stranger and that he will be run in before he is an hour older. Bootleggers now and then attempt to establish an infant industry, but they're always rounded up before they have sold enough to pay the freight on their shipment from Kansas City. No town in the world wears a tighter lid than Emporia. And Emporia should be a bankrupt community if there were truth in the old argument that saloons are necessary to business. It is a favorite claim of the saloon men that they support the schools, their license money usually going to the school fund.

The answer to this is that Emporia has just built a high school costing $135,000—which is going some for a town of 10,000 people.

And all the grade schools are housed in handsome buildings, and the best teachers obtainable are hired, and none of them ever has to sue for his wages.

Old John Barleycorn says that taxes would be increased immensely if the saloons were abolished, but the taxes in Emporia are not so high as, for example, in some Nebraska towns of equal size which are blessed with saloons.

Emporia has more than twenty miles of beautifully paved streets, and every year she paves a few more miles; and when she has paving bonds for sale they are snapped up by home citizens.

Several Nebraska towns could be named which gifted with saloons, have not one-fourth as much paving.

There are no abjectly poor people in Emporia, because none of the money of wage earners goes for booze.

The savings banks and building and loan associations do a big business for the same reason.

Comfortable homes are being built all the year round by men who work for small wages.

Their money goes for lumber and furniture instead of long, cold bottles. The churches are well attended because men wake up on Sunday mornings without that dark green taste which makes the idea of devotions abhorrent.

Emporia celebrates the Fourth of July, Groundhog Day and other national holidays and the police have nothing to do. There is no drunkeness, because there is nothing to drink stiffer than pink lemonade.

You will see a unicorn as soon as you will see a drunken man on the streets of the town.

And Emporia has reared a generation of young men who don't know what alcohol tastes like, who have never seen the inside of a saloon. Many of them never saw the outside of one. They are the town's best advertisement. They go forth into the world to seek their fortunes without the handicap of an acquired thirst and nearly always distinguish themselves.

All her future generations of young men will be similarly clean, for the town knows that a tight lid is the greatest possible blessing and nobody will ever dare attempt to pry it loose.

She was barefooted at the time, the fangs entering the right foot near the ankle. She screamed when she found she was bitten by the snake. Fortunately her father was near by and ran to her assissance. He incised the wound freely with a pen knife and applied his mouth and sucked the wound until it ceased to bleed then applied turpentine. Despite the early and vigorous treatment, the foot and limb swelled considerably up to the body, where it stopped. Prof. Frazee Accepts.

There were doubts expressed whether Prof. B. T. Frazee would accept the position of principal of the Confluence schools. It is understood that he has accepted the position at the compensation of $115 per month for an eight month term. Taking into consideration his well known reputation as a successful instructor, his compensation appears very moderate. One advantage he will have that he is near his home in Garrett county where his father resides and whom he frequently visits. Considering the condition into which some of the grades have fallen from the incompetency of some of the instructors and the way in which the high school was conducted last year, Prof. Frazee will not have any sinecure for the coming term, and therefore no tax-payer should find any fault with the amount that will be paid to him.—Republican Myersdale, Pa. The Republican congratulates Prof. Frazee on his election to the principalship of this school and wishes him the greatest possible success.

MOUNTAIN LAKE PARK.

One of the most delightful functions of the convention was the brilliant garden party given Wednesday afternoon by Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Tierney, at the "Fairoaks," their beautiful summer home, at Mountain Lake Park.

The spacious lawn, pergola and veranda were exquisitely decorated with vines, rhododendrons, hemlocks and mountain flowers, while the flags and gay Japenese lanterns added brightness to the scene.

During the afternoon about one hundred and fifty guests enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Tierney. The guests were received on the veranda by Mr. and Mrs. Tierney, Mrs. A. M. Thompson and their house guest, Mr. McGrath of Baltime.

From a bower of native rhododendrons Miss Gertrude Humphreys, of Parkersburg, W. Va., and Miss Margaret Smith, of Bellefontaine, O., served delicious claret fruit punch, concocted by Mr. Moreton the official punch maker of Sandusky.

The coffee urn was presided over by Miss Birdie Ferrell, of Parkersburg, W. Va.

Mrs. Davison, Parkersburg, W. Va., the Misses Geraldine Wallace, of Clarksburg, W. Va., Beatrice Heyward of Mt. Lake, Margaret Dixie, New York, Rose Mary Tierney, Mary Heyward, Olive Heyward of Mt. Lake, assisted in serving the refreshments and caring for the guests, while music was furnished by Whites orchestra, of Oakland, Md.

Professor Remington of Philadelphia, was honor guest of the occasion.

The annual grand ball of the West Virginia PharmaceuticalAssociation was held at the Loch Lynn Hotel ball room Thursday night and was one of the most delightful functions of the meeting. Youth and beauty, age and wrinkles tripped the light fantastic toe in the most up-to-date and blithesome fashion until the early hours of the morning.

The ball was opened with a grand march led most ably and gracefully by Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Ream, the premier dancers of the Association. The Castles, Joe Smith and others of the ilk that worship at the shrine of Terpsichore, were reported to have had scouts concealed in the Spanish moss that garland ed the ball room. It has also been reported that the said scouts turned gree with envy as they gazed at the gliding dancers that thronged the floor.

The costumes worn by the ladies were the most charming creation of the modiste's art. Among those worthy of particular mention were the gowns of Mrs. W. A. Ream, white lace; Mrs. S. M. Scott, yellow charmeuse with a neck lace of amber beads; Mrs. John Farrell, effective gown of black crepe meteor, Miss Emily Hobbs, black crepe de chine; Mrs. W. W. Harrison, pale blue chiffon; Miss Dittmeyer, a charming grown of white, and Miss Mary Eleanor Ream, a very beautiful white frock.

During the intermission a buffet luncheon was served and enjoyed by the dancers, who returned refreshed and invigorated to the floor.

Theirs not to reason why
Theirs but to dip or die
Bully one-steppers.

The music was furnished by the hotel orchestra and the tingle of the tunes they dispensed lingered in the feet of the dancers long after the last strains of the last waltz had spent its echos and the dancers had relucantly left the floor.

Altogether the affair was one of the most enjoyable of the meeting and the thoughts of it will linger for many days of "pill rolling" in the domes of the "dope droppers."

Not satisfied with the ball some of the party are playing "drop the hand kerchief." Funny what this mountain air does for some.

Needs Attention of City Fathers.

A number of the alleys in the rear of properties of this city are being made unsightly by property owners throwing tin cans and other rubbish over the fence, into the alleys. This is contrary to the city ordinances and these offenders are liable to a fine, etc. There is no excuse for such "doings." After all the expense and labor gone to in the spring for a clean city, it is a shame to litter up the alleys at this early date. The city authorities ought to investigate this matter at once and put into effect the law on this subject. Oakland cannot afford to take a backward step.

THURSDAY, JULY 2, 1914.

Mr. WILSON is still dreaming.

NEXT Saturday is the Fourth of July. Let every business house and home display the Stars and Stripes on this anniversary day of American independence.

"THE God who raised up Washington and gave you liberty exacts from you the duty of cherishing it with a zeal according to knowledge."—J. M. Mason

ONLY four months more until Garrett county will vote liquor selling out of the county and in ten months more Oakland will be a saloonless town and Garrett county rid of the licensed saloon.

THE Cleveland administration tried free trade, and went to pieces. The Wilson administration repeats the experiment, having learned nothing by experience, and it will also meet the same fate.

THE condition of the United States Treasury last Friday showed a deficit for the fiscal year of $18,520,146 against a surplus of $15,194,620 last year, exclusive of Panama Canal and public debt transactions. Such is the triumph of Democracy.

WHY would the administration rather see the mills and factories of America closed down, and those of Europe running at full blast? Wilsonites will tell you this is not true, but their acts belie their words, for the Wilson free trade policy has produced this result.

IN the gutter in front of a saloon was a poor man too drunk to move. A passerby went to a store, bought a sheet of pasteboard and printed on it, "Specimen of the work done inside." Then returned to where the drunken man was and placed it at his side. The public as they passed by nodded its approval.

THE President resents the attempts of the people to influence their representatives against his mapped-out determination to further regulate business. He must have an idea that the people have no rights which Congress is bound to respect, but when election day comes again he will find that he, as well as those in Congress who have shown their subserviency to him, will be repudiated.

WHAT practical experience has Mr. Wilson ever had in business? Give him $50,000 in cash, start him in business under his own free trade policy, and it is a safe wager that within one year he would go broke. Yet, Mr. Wilson assumes to tell the business people of the country how to conduct their business. Theories are all well enough in the classroom at Princeton, but out in the business world they won't work.

PRESIDENT WILSON, together with all the other democratic spellbinders in the last campaign, promised prosperity and cheapened necessaries of life if given the power to lower the tariff. Well, the tariff has been lowered, but the price of commodities has not been lessened, and the prosperity we enjoyed under the Taft administration has vanished. The truth is, Wilson's free trade policy won't work or when it does work, everybody gets out of work.

THE U. S. Senate committee on postoffices and post rates has practically agreed on a bill for road improvement throughout the United States. This measure which embodies the ideas of former Senator Jonathan Bourne, of Oregon, would provide for the issue of $1,000,000 bonds by the various States, but guaranteed by the Federal government. This action of the committee in approving this plan means the death of the Shackleford bill, which passed the House, appropriating $25,000,000, to be expended out of the Federal treasury for road improvement.

THE Wilson supporters among the newspapers have precious little to say these days about the benefits of the Wilson free trade tariff, and they have almost unanimously joined in the hue and cry that present depressed conditions and hard times are chargeable to the failure of the Interstate Commerce Commission to hand down its decision on the freight rate question, and that alone is the cause of all our troubles. Well, it is a good thing to have something to fall back upon, but after the decision shall have been rendered, and present conditions continue, what will they then attribute the situation to?

AT the election in November, 1912, the citizens of West Virginia by a majority of 100,000 said the sale and manufacture of intoxicating liquors shall cease on June 30th, 1914. Midnight last Tuesday the hour of West Virginias' freedom from the liquor curse arrived and that great State entered the Prohibition ranks, and today is free from saloons and saloonism. At the election of November, 1914, the electors of Garrett county will vote this ruinious business an out-law in this county and on April 30, 1915, prohibition against the sale of intoxicating liquors will be in force.

LAST week THE REPUBLICAN printery was crowded with work, compelling its force of typos and pressmen to work many extra hours. Besides getting out the weekly edition of THE REPUBLICAN the office issued a daily paper Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday for the Retail Druggists Association, during its session at Loch Lynn, and did an unsual amount of commercial printing. This accounts for the omission of several letters from correspondents and reports of the Farmers institute and the suffragists hike. These reports and letters appear this week and will prove interesting to our readers.

CIRCULATE The Republican as a campaign paper. It will prove a vote maker.

NEXT Saturday is the one hundred and thirty-eighth anniversary of the declaration ot the American Independence.

THE most popular thing in Garrett county is the Speicher Local Option bill, by a majority of about 3,000 or even more.

SENATORS Smith and Lee and Hon. Isaac Lobe Straus, candidates for the nomination for United States Senator on the Democratic ticket are freely using printers ink to show each other's deficiencies. The past week Senator Lee and Congressman Lewis crossed swords. The actions of this quartet does not spell Harmony.

EIGHTY six million dollars worth of freight cars and locomotives are standing idle on the sidings, in the yards, roundhouses and shops of the Pennsylvania Railroad system as a consequence of the depression in railroad traffic. In the last fortnight, according to the figures shown, the decline in the movement of loaded freight cars has become more acute than at any time since the present era of retrogression began some months ago.

YOU will find letters from our correspondents on the second page of this paper as well as on other pages. You will find each of the eight pages of THE REPUBLICAN interesting and especially prepared for its readers.

It is an all home print paper. It is emphatically the local paper of Garrett county. It is THE paper of the people, with the people and for the people of this growing, prosperous and happy county. Look this issue over and see if this is not a true statement. It is proven by the amount of local items published, by the number of advertisemts printed weekly.

It has a growing circulation, it goes into the homes of the people, not into the scrap heap, or into the river, but into the homes.

It is recognized as a home paper, a paper for the family circle. It is a booster not a kicker.

It is a growing paper. It is earnestly seeking to give its many readers the best its editors can secure from all parts of the county. It deserves and should have a much larger circulation. Will you not, reader, help us double the present circulation?

Why not get your neighbor to subscribe, under our special offer of 35 cents, from now until after the election returns are published?

Our Temperance department is a local option vote getter. This is and will be a special feature of THE REPUBLICAN until election day. Each and every week the Temperance department will contain facts and arguments in favor of local option and Nation-wide prohibition.

THE New York Sun says the recent overwhelming Republican vote in Pennsylvania is due to the following Democratic acts.

"A tariff that has decreased exportation, increased importations of manufactured articles, a tariff for revenue that has produced a deficiency of revenues; the Democratic policy of muddle-and-mar, foreign and domestic; fool attacks on business here and an unintelligible, grotesque, snuffling, hamstrung spineless policy as to Mexico.

WILL the miners of Allegany and Garrett counties support Mr. Lewis, who, in order to keep in line with the White House dreamer, must assert that the fact that they are out of werk is only a psychological condition—they simply believe they out of work but in reality they are not—the flour barrel is not empty—they only think it is—their eyes deceive them—their stomachs are full—their feeling and belief to the contrary is simply a condition of mind.

Mr. Lewis, with all his astuteness, would hardly undertake to put up to our people the "psychological" dope. Better leave that in Washington.

FAILURE OF INCOME TAX.

The Baltimore American of a recent date, in discussing the question of the Failure of Income Tax, said, that the Democrats are shocked over the failure of the income tax to yield more than one half the amount counted upon from this source. The result is not only distressing to the administration, but is apt to prove disastrous to the party. History repeats itself. The present condition of sluggish business matches in general outline the condition of hard times in the prior Democratic administration. The parallel will be drawn yet closer, should the Democrats as now appears probable have to go into Wall Street with a bond issue and seek "to raise the wind." As the revenues drop the necessity for resorting to a bond issue looms darker and darker upon business horizon. This recourse would be unfortunate in its effects upon business, advertising as it would the state of slackened industry throughout the country.

THE DEATH RECORD

ADAM WERNER.

Adam Werner, son of the late Frederick and Barbara Werner, was born near Finzel, Md., April 28, 1861, died June 17, 1914, at the age of 53 years, 1 month and 19 days. He was baptized in infancy, and in 1879 he was confirmed in the Reformed Church by the Rev. John M. Shick. In the year 1882 he united in holy wedlock with Miss Annie L. Layten. This union was blessed with three children. One son preceded him in death. His now sorrowing widow, two daughters, three brothers, four sisters and a large circle of friends survive. The funeral was held Sunday afternoon in the Lutheran church near Pocahontas and his remains were laid to rest in the cemetery adjoining the church. It was estimated that nearly one thousand people attended the obsequies. The services were conducted by Rev. A. S. Kresge.

Mr. Werner's death was due to injuries received by a fall of slate while mining fireclay for the Union Mining Co. of Mt. Savage, Md., June 18.

MARY GARRETT.

Miss Mary Garrett died Sunday, at the home of her brother Thomas, near Deer Park from a cancer, aged about 61 years. The interment took place on Wednesday, in the Catholic cemetery at Oakland. She is survived by four brothers, Patrick, Thomas, William and Michael and one sister, Mrs. Kain, of Charleston, W. Va.

THOMAS CORNWALL.

Last Sabbath Mr. Thomas Cornwall, of Mountain Lake Park was taken to the Home Sanitorium of Oakland, suffering from neuralgia of the heart, Monday morning at 4 o'clock he passed away into the beyond. The remains were taken to his late home in the Park by Undertaker Bolden. Mr. Cornwall was born near Grafton, but lived most of his life in Garrett county, Md. He was a noble man, a splendid neighbor, a good citizen, a kind husband and a loving father. It was a pleasure to know him. He was aged about 72 years. He is survived by his widow, two sons and two daughters. A more extended notice of his life will appear next week.

ALEX. FLECKENSTEIN,

Mr. Alex Fleckenstein died in Tennessee Tuesday of last week. He is survived by two daughters. Until within a few years ago he resided in Oakland, where he was greatly respected.

A Day in Paradise.

The picnic at Paradise was one great big success; big crowd, big speeches and a big, splendid, free dinner. My, but it was good. Everything was good, the day was delightful, the music by the Deer Park band was fine and the remarks by the trio of preachers, Revs. McCamick, Bauman and DeWitt were received with delight. The picnic folks provided basket after basket full of picnic eatings. Everybody was on their best behavior and good humor, the "knockers" having gone some where else. Those in attendance will long remember their day in Paradise, as a most delightful occasion, when peace, good will and harmony prevailed and brotherly love abounded.

The Y. M. C. A. camp at Lake Terra Alta, one and a half miles out from Terra Alta, was opened for the season June 15, with a good number already already in camp. A big delegation from South Carolina will arrive the first of the week and another crowd from Pittsburg will arrive early in July. With the finest grounds in West Virginia and near the beautiful lake - one cannot find a more desirable place to spend a vacation. Sleeping in tents, eating in the big hotel, fishing, boating, bathing and all kinds of athletics to suit your liking.

OPTOMETRIST

Is Your Child Handicapped in his or her physical and mental development by defective vision? Out of 100,000 school children examined in New York city, nearly 30 per cent. were found to be in need of glasses. In Boston the percentage was found to be slightly over 20 per cent., and most of these children were down on the books as "stupid," "stubborn" or unruly. In Philadelphia 354 children were discovered who could not read ordinary writing on a blackboard at a distance of twenty feet. You should make sure by a thorough examination at the hands of a competent optometrist. That your child is not among this vast army of little citizens who suffer from defective eyesight, delays often result seriously. My examinations are made by the most scientinc accurate methods. If it is found that glasses are not required you will be told so frankly and no charge made for the examination.

WESTINGHOUSE PLANTS GUARDED

Pennsylvania State Troopers Called to East Pittsburgh

STRIKERS PLEAD FOR PEACE

Sheriff Thought Situation Arising Out of Desire of Few Employees to Go Back to Work Was Critical and Summoned Help — Constabulary Orders Company as Well as Men to Keep Peace.

Pittsburgh, June 30.—Troop A of the state police arrived in East Pittsburgh, having been sent for by Sheriff Richards with the request that they maintain order among the strikers at the Westinghouse plants in East Pittsburgh and Turtle Creek.

The constabulary was met in Turtle Creek by 2,000 persons, who followed them to East Pittsburgh, constantly hooting and jeering. By the time the constabulary reached East Pittsburgh a crowd of 4,000 had gathered.

Immediately after reporting at the East Pittsburgh police station Captain Adams of the troopers told Chief Adam Sode of the borough police that the troopers would be neutral and that offenses by one side or the other would meet with the same treatment.

Captain Adams then held a secret conference with officials of Westinghouse companies, stating that the troopers were there only to preserve order and that should the company guards violate peace laws they would be punished. He hoped for peace, he said, and would not tolerate any action that might start trouble.

The commander of the troopers then went into the headquarters of the strikers, where he conferred with the strike committee. He repeated his desire for peace and said his men were there to act orderly and to see that all others acted similarly.

Captain Adams said the coming of the troopers would not mean that the usual routine of the strikers was to be disturbed. Picketing may continue, he told them, so long as it was orderly and the strikers may remain in the streets under the same stipulation.

The only prohibition the trooper placed was on hooting and jeering or any other act disturbing the peace of the community. The trooper was assured by the strike committee that it would do everything possible to preserve peace.

The sheriff called the state constabulary when his small force was unable to prevent a large number of strikers from holding back employees who wished to go into the shops to work.

When the first of the men appeared en route to the shops the strikers and sympathizers began to hoot. The first few men were quietly asked to remain out of the shops, but when they did not heed the picketing the crowd began to jostle them. As others approached the bridge they were lifted bodily and rushed back into the crowd.

Soon the crowd became a mass of struggling beings, surging back and forth and blocking the plant entrances. Police attempted to cope with the demonstration. After Chief of Police Adam Sode and others were roughly handled the policemen withdrew.

PRONOUNCES IT MURDER

Stamford Police Chief Makes Discoveries In Angle Flat.

Stamford, Conn., June 30.—The discovery of evidence which may supply a motive why any person would want to put Waldo R. Ballou out of the way was made and it more strongly than ever indicates the presence of a third person in the Rippowam building last Tuesday night, when the aged politician received injuries which resulted in his death.

It caused Coroner Phelan to adjourn his inquest at the moment he was to call his first witness and continued the $5,000 bail of Mrs. M. Angle, to whose apartments Mr. Ballou was a visitor that night.

"All I can say is that we made discoveries at the flat which in my opinion establishes a murder," said Chief of Police Brennan. "It involves a third person, a second man, that is all I will tell you."

SALOON'S LAST DAY

West Virginia's Prohibition Law Goes Into Effect Tomorrow.

Wheeling, W. Va., June 30.—Today is the last day for saloons in West Virginia, as tomorrow the statewide prohibition law becomes effective.

Every saloon here will probably close before nightfall, as many of the proprietors were of the opinion that there will be considerable disorder on the streets because of passing of the old liquor laws. Several wholesalers closed their plants last Saturday.

FIVE MONARCHS TO BE AT FUNERAL

Bodies of Francis Ferdinand and Wife Buried Friday

Vienna, June 30.—Four kings, including the kaiser, will attend the funeral of the Archduke Francis Ferdinand and his wife, the Duchess of Hohenberg, next Friday. The bodies are on their way to Vienna.

The bodies were removed from Sarajevo to Motkeatch, in Dalmatia. They will be placed on a warship there and under the escort of a squadron of naval vessels will be taken to Trieste.

From Trieste the bodies will be brought to this city, where they will lie in state for public view from 8 a. m. until noon on Friday. They will be taken to Artsteten at 10 p. m. Friday night and the funeral will take place at midnight.

The Archduke Charles Francis Joseph, the new heir to the throne, will represent Emperor Francis Joseph at the funeral.

There is general mourning in the city over the assassination. While everything is quiet at present there is an undercurrent of fear that the tragedy may lead to serious complications between Austria and Servia in which the Serbs, who are in great numbers in Bosnia and Herzegovina and other Austrian territory, would side with the latter country.

There was rioting at Sarjevo caused by the feeling of the people of Austria toward the Serbs but brought about directly by a report that a Servian bomb had been exploded in one of the shops. Martial law was declared and at last reports the military had the situation well in hand.

Unaware of Shooting.

Sarajevo, June 30.—A military officer who was an eyewitness of the shooting of Archduke Francis Ferdinand and his wife says neither the archduke nor the duchess appeared to know that they were wounded until the latter fell into her husband's arms.

The archduke exclaimed: "What is the matter?"

In a moment the archduke's uniform was covered with blood.

The duchess clutched at the archduke's neck, where he had been hit by the assassin's bullet, as if she was trying to close around him. Then she saw the blood on his neck. She screamed: "My God! My God!" and then sank backward unconscious.

ENGLISH ADVISED TO LEAVE MEXICO

Sir Lionel Carden Sees Crisis Approaching

REBEL CHIEFS AGAIN SCRAP

Villa, Incensed Because Carranza Will Not Furnish His Troops With Necessary War Equipment, Withdraws Men From Battle Front—Elimination of Carranza May Come as Result of Strained Feeling.

Mexico City, June 30.—All British subjects in Mexico have been advised to leave the country temporarily by Sir Lionel Carden, the British minister.

The reason for this warning, Sir Lionel said, was that the operation of trains is becoming more and more difficult because of the increasing shortage of fuel. When the trains stop running, which seems probable at an early time, the departure of British citizens from interior points would be made difficult.

The minister declared he had no desire to frighten the members of the British colony. He said he had not ordered them to go, such a course only being advised.

Eight hundred British subjects are registered at the legation as residing in Mexico City. It is the minister's plan to get a sufficient number of these to sign an agreement to leave the capital, so that he can obtain a special train from the Mexican government to take them to Puerto Mexico and also secure a transport to convey the passengers to Jamaica.

Sir Lionel Carden said he believed it to be his duty to urge all British subjects to leave the capital immediately, and he especially advised that the women and children be removed.

Fear Army Revolt.

Vera Cruz, June 30.—The spread of disaffection among the Mexican federal troops may result in an uprising in Mexico City, it is feared.

British refugees who arrived here said the general opinion was that President Huerta's hold on the situation in the capital was wavering and many predicted an uprising or a revolt of the federal army within a week or ten days.

Some of the refugees declared the federal defeat at Zacatecas to be partially due to the revolt of 5,000 federal soldiers under the command of General Medina Barron. These men are said to have fired on their own comrades.

Carranza Holds Up War Supplies.

Juarez, Mexico, June 30.—So acute is the rupture between General Carranza and General Villa that a sudden attack on Carranza at Monterey would not surprise Villa officials here in view of the developments of the past twenty-four hours.

Villa and most of his army are back in Torreon. The troops admittedly left the battle front because of lack of ammunition to push the campaign into Mexico City. Munitions of war promised by Carranza from the stores landed at Tampico have failed to reach Villa.

It is believed to be Villa's purpose to show the so-called first chief of the Constitutionalists that he will not carry further the campaign against Huerta unless allowed ready access to war equipment. At the same time Villa is known to have received at Zacatecas enough war munitions to enable him to make a strong offensive movement against Carranza should he so determine.

American Slain by Yaqui Indians.

Washington, June 30.—"Tom" Farrell, an American, has been killed in the state of Sonora, Mexico, the state department was informed by Consul Hostetter. Yaqui Indians are believed to be responsible for Farrell's death. He is reported to have been killed at Represo, a town a few miles from La Colonado, on June 26.

Drowns Self; Had Acid and Razor.

Washington, Pa., June 30.—The body of William N. Armstrong, aged forty-five, was found in a water tank of the Manufacturers' Light and Heat company two miles from here. Armstrong was in bad health and drowned himself. When he left home he had with him a bottle of carbolic acid and a razor and intimated that he was going to end his life.

The Soda Fountain.

BY WALT MASON.

How dear to my heart is the big soda fountain
That stands in the front of the pharmacist's store,
All gleaming with silver and celluloid mountin';
And loaded with flavors and syrups galore!
How sweet when the weather is hotter than Cadiz,
To go to the shop of the druggist it is,
And to order some suds for your self and the ladies,
From out of that fountain that's loaded with fizz!

Chorus—

That big marble fountain, that cold, clammy fountain,
That brass mounted fountain that's loaded with fizz!

And equally dear is the clerk who attends it,
The beautiful youth with a dignity high;
If you are too flossy he speedily ends it,
By freezing you up with a glance from his eye.
The hauteur of kings and the bearings of princes,
The frigid reserve of Napoleon are his,
While mixing his extracts of lemons and quinces,
And working the fountain that turns out the fizz.

Chorus—

The tall, stately fountain, the gas inspired fountain,
That cold gleaming fountain that turns out the fizz!

What Means "Humbug?"

A Scotchman named Hume owned an estate named The Bogue, and his neighbors invariably referred to him as "Hume of the Bogue." Hume had many good points of character, but he never did tell the truth or act the truth, therefore when any one in that region was caught fabricating or misleading honest folks they were said to be a regular "Hume of the Brouge," from which awkward expression we take our modern word humburg.

A Cruel Stratagem.

A seven-passenger Pierce-Arrow drew up to the curb, the chauffeur killed the engine, and Miss Rich came into the store, and walked up to the soda counter and took a stool.

"Can you disguise the taste of castor oil so one can take a dose and not know

Yes, it came last Monday and it is a dandy. The most powerful one in town, and the most expensive."

"I think the chauffeur wants to speak to you," I said to her; and while she was gone I made up my mind what I would do.

When she came back she said, "When are you going to get a car, Mr. Brown?"

"I cannot afford one," I replied, and she said, "Just like you druggists; never can afford anything and charging so

"Miss Rich," I said to her, "we are introducing a new drink, the Mary Garden Fiz, and I want you to try it. What flavor do you prefer?"

"I'll take strawberry. So nice of you to treat me. Siz-z-z-z! My, but that's delicious! Everybody says that you have the best soda in town. How cool and refreshing. I sure will tell all my friends about your Mary Garden Fiz. Now let me have the castor oil and I'll be going."

"Took it to the Mary Garden Fiz."

"Well of all things! I did not want it for myself, I wanted it for my little brother!"

And the last word I heard her say as she slammed the door of the Pierce-Arrow was, "Drive me home just as quick as you can."—JOHN H. BROWN, in Meyer Bros. Druggist.

Let them not take wing again—

Waitin' For a Bite.

"A good year for bass," is the word passing among fishermen.

We'd like information a little more explicit. Does "good for bass" mean few are to be caught. If that's what's meant, then most of recent years have been good for bass.

We're not sure that it makes a whaling lot of difference whether bass bite or not. The test of manhood during the fishing season is staying put when the pesky things won't bite.

Don't ever, we beg of you, be so hasty as to poke fun at the lone fisherman who sits all day in the broiling sun waiting for the bite that never comes.

He's a true sportsman, ready whenever the bass are ready. Johny-on-the-spot the minute there's anything doing but between times, not nervous, fretful or bejiggered—like Wilson, just watchfully waiting, that's all.

What if his old basket isn't full he has got more than his money's worth watching the blue sky, studying infinite panorama of the changing waters, and feeling the sense of kinship with outdoor nature.

Temperance Notes

If a saloon is a good thing, why not erect one in the basement of every church and on the same lot with the school house?

The Greenfield Argus, published in Calhoun county, Ill., has this to say in a recent issue:

"Since the saloons have been voted out of the county seat of Calhoun county there has not been any use for the county jail, so the thrifty and thoughtful women of that little river town have transformed it into a rest room."

Endorsement of the proposed amendment to the constitution of the United States providing for national Prohibition, the Hobson amendment, was given by the grand council of the United Commercial Travelers of Kansas and Oklahoma.

The prohibition of the manufacture and sale of alcoholic liquors in the United States, and of the shipping of such goods into America from other countries is one of the four new planks put into the platform of the Woman's party of Cook county, by unanimous vote. The women plan a vigorous campaign in the elections to come.

We wish to state our position as follows: Saloons always do harm and never do any good to anyone. We have absolutely no use for saloons. The sooner we get rid of them the better for all concerned. Saloons are a great power, but only for evil. There is no other social factor or force that hinders progress more than do saloons. Every saloon in the land should be closed and closed permanently.

"The big question which confronts the American public today is which has the greater value, the revenue derived from the liquor traffic or the lives of men and women it ruins," declared Mrs. L. N. Lake of St. Louis in addressing the National Conference of workers of the Prohibition party today.

"Men and women are the nation's best asset," continued the speaker, "and every nation which has forgotten this truth has gone down into oblivion. Men, not money, make a nation's greatness. This nation must decide and decide at once whether it values men above liquor revenue."

Judge Keedy refused to grant a license for a beer saloon in Sandy Hook. Thus the town remains dry. The B. & O. R. R. Company opposed the opening of a saloon. Why? You know the reason.

There is no place in Kansas where liquor is openly sold; and if there is an occasional secret joint, the owner is and he will go to the penitentiary sooner or later.

1776 138 YEARS OF AMERICAN INDEPENDENCE 1914

THE HOUSE ON RICHMOND HILL

A STORY FOR JULY 4

By CAPT. F. A. MITCHEL

[Copyright, 1911, by American Press Association.]

IN old New York during the latter part of the eighteenth century not far from that part of the city lying near and north of what is now Canal street, there was a rise in the ground called Richmond hill, on which stood what was a handsome residence for that day. To the south lay the Laspenard meadows, and to the west was the North river.

In July, 1775, Washington took command of the Continental armies at Cambridge. The battles of Concord, Lexington and Bunker Hill had been fought, and the next most important struggle was for the possession of New York. The British had command on the water, which gave them a great advantage, and were bound sooner or later to take the city, but Washington went there to put up as good a fight for it as possible. It was during the subsequent operations that Washington occupied the mansion on Richmond hill. The housekeeper was Phoebe

"I AM ANXIOUS TO FIX THIS CRIME UPON THE MAN WHO HAS INSTIGATED IT."

Frances, daughter of Samuel Frances, who kept the famous tavern. Phoebe was an attractive girl and was not in want of lovers. One of them was Thomas Hickey, a member of the life guard of Washington.

One day when the housekeeper was directing a negro woman who was sweeping the front porch Hickey left his tent and went up to speak to her. She asked him:

"What do you suppose that British warship out there in the river is up to? She's been hovering about ever since the general came here."

"How should I know?" replied Hickey, with a show of irritation that surprised Phoebe.

"How should you know?" she repeated. "One would suppose from the way you take my question that you were in league with her captain."

Hickey still further astonished the girl by turning pale at this random shot. Phoebe looked at him for a while in a sort of curious wonder, then, turning to the negro woman, she said:

"That will do, Susan. You may go in now."

The woman disappeared and Phoebe, Frances and Tom Hickey were left alone. There was no one longer than the sentry pacing to and fro in the yard below.

"Now, Tom," said Phoebe, "tell me what's the matter with you."

"What's the matter with me? Why, nothing's the matter with me."

"Then, I thought you said you loved me."

"I did."

"Then why do you keep a secret from me?"

Tom made no reply. Phoebe studied his countenance for awhile, then said:

"Tom, I'm for the king."

"You don't mean it, Phoebe!"

"Yes, I do, and I believe you're really on the same side."

"Are you telling the truth, Phoebe?"

"To be sure I am. I want to make some money, Tom. I can easily overhear the general when he talks with his officers, and I would like to get some information to General Howe. Could you take it for me?"

"I can do better than that for you, sweetheart. I've got a chance to make some money myself. I'll divide with you. Together we can make a good deal. Meet me tonight after eight—out on the river bank."

Phoebe, who was trying to worm Tom's secret out of him, let him go reluctantly, fearing that he might gather caution and refuse to trust her. He did regret having placed so much confidence in her, but he realized that he had gone too far to retreat. When she met him on the river bank he gave her the whole story.

When the Revolution broke out and the people of New York rose against the authority of the king, the governor of the province, Tryon, fled to the warship Asia, the vessel of which Phoebe had spoken. There he plotted or rather, continued to plot—for Washington's assassination. He bribed Tom Hickey, a member of Washington's life guard, to poison the general's food. Hickey, as soon as Phoebe had avowed herself a royalist, realizing that she would be able to do the work more easily than he, proposed the scheme to her.

Phoebe was thunderstruck. Fortunately it was dark on the river bank, and Hickey could not see the horror in her face at his proposal. She pretended for awhile to be averse to the plan, but when Hickey held before her the reward they would receive and how it would enable them to marry and live in comfort she feigned to yield and called for the poison. Tom gave her a powder, and she, after enduring his caresses for a few moments, slipped away from him and returned to headquarters.

The general was engaged in dictating dispatches to his aid-de-camp, Captain Hamilton, and as soon as Hamilton left the room Phoebe knocked and was bidden to enter. Closing the door behind her, she revealed the plot she had drawn from Hickey.

"What!" exclaimed Washington. "Are these men, not content with being tyrants, ambitious to be murderers?"

Phoebe, who stood in great awe of the commander, was about to withdraw when he stopped her.

"I am anxious," he said, "to fix this crime upon the man who has instigated it. I shall not arrest this miserable tool till you have drawn all the evidence from him it is possible for you to get. Meet him again tomorrow; pretend to be assured that you will receive the reward for my assassination and have him—if you can prevail upon him to do so—get for you the names of as many persons involved in the plot as you can."

Phoebe signified her willingness to do all in her power. The general took the powder from her and gave it to his medical director with an order to analyze it and report to him concerning it. It proved to be a virulent poison.

The next day Phoebe brought the general considerable evidence, some of it written, involving a number of persons. Having got all the information that seemed to be forthcoming, Washington sent out parties of soldiers to arrest those within his lines who were implicated. Hickey was arrested at the same time. Phoebe saw him led past under guard and said to him:

"You would be murderer! You thought to use me in your effort to kill the finest man in America. You will be hanged, and it will serve you right!"

At his trial Phoebe Frances was the principal witness. Washington was especially desirous to fix the intended crime on Governor Tryon, and by Phoebe's testimony, or, rather, the evidence she had drawn from Hickey, he was enabled to do so. Hickey was found guilty and sentenced to be hanged. The sentence was executed in due course of time.

What became of Phoebe Frances history does not state. Had she not succeeded in worming the secret out of Tom Hickey, Washington might have come down under the assassin's knife. The British so eliminated one from the struggle.

REGRETTED FOURTH OF JULY'S DEED.

In the manuscript diary of John White of Salem, Mass., are many interesting Revolutionary notes.

Among the entries are:

March 2, 1776. The Continental Troops began to Cannonade and Pombard Boston. Continued for three nights successively. Saturday night we fired on Boston from our lines, and Sunday morning, the 17th of March, the Regulars went out of Boston.

Dec. 1, 1776. Great Dearness of Provisions, owing to the great quantity of Paper Money, which depreciates fast.

Dec. 21, 1776. The inhabitants of of this town (Salem) are so rapacious they threaten, are for selling the Salt at 12 shillings per bushel. . . . the Tumult of the People hushed by Hearing who enlists the Raging of the Sea.

The tumult was probably not stilled, for under date of Dec. 31, 1778, Salt Seller White says:

We shall forever have Reason to fear to Lament our Gloried Revolution, because I have only changed Task Masters, the later the worse, because they are poor Creatures. Our Country is too poor to be a Separate Nation. . . . All or chiefly the men of knowledge made no Resistance to Government, and therefore men of little or no Knowledge that took part in the opposition to Brittain, were preferred to places in our Government. Thus came in Men poor without moral Virtue, Blockheads, etc. The High Sheriff of this County is a Tanner, two Magistrates one a Tanner, the other a Joiner, teacher of them could speak or read English, of this Town both. Why I describe our condition in the above manner is because it is impossible such men, without education, should be equal to the Business. I Hess God it is no worse with me, but I am too Proud easily to submit to such things. I am now above 60 Years old, and am glad and thankful my Trial is almost over.

Another entry dated Oct. 29, 1789, records that President Washington "was in Town, bound Easterly."

Descendants of the Signers.

The Descendants of the Signers is an organization composed of men and women whose ancestors penned their names to the document that proclaimed American freedom. The society was organized at the Jamestown exposition in 1907 with a membership of upward of 150 persons.

Our Yankee Doodle Boy.

YANKEE DOODLE four-year-old
Is a hero big and bold,
On his breast a sash of red,
Cap and plume upon his head,
On his thigh a sword of lath,
A red cannon by the path,
The true, starry banner o'er him
And a loud drum hung before him.

Colonel, captain, garrison,
Gunner, drummer, all in one;
Tyrant kings and Hessian foes
Cannot stand before his blows—
Nay, nor any one with ears,
Dear mammas nor grenadiers!

THE YANKEE DOODLE BOY AND HIS SISTER

Give him room and let him bang,
Batter, clatter, crackle, clang.
Rub-a-dub, hurrah and charge,
Strike and wheel and tramp at large,
Fierce with valor, hewing down
Mullein head and thistle crown;
'Tis the fourth day of July,
And his loyal heart beats high.

As the good boy Washington,
Slashing cherry trees for fun,
When to noble manhood grown
Drove his hatchet through a throne,
So my Yankee four-year-old,
Now in fancy battles bold,
Shall grow up in courage strong
To smite many a cruel wrong!

THE SPIRIT OF AMERICAN INDEPENDENCE.

Let us, standing by our fathers' graves, swear anew and teach the oath to our children that with God's help the American republic, clasping this continent in its embrace, shall stand unmoved, though all the powers of slavery, piracy and European jealousy should combine to overthrow it; that we shall have in the future, as we have had in the past, one country, one constitution and one destiny; that our sons may gather strength from our example in every contest with the despotism that time may have in store to try their virtue, and that they may rally under the stars and stripes to battle for freedom and the rights of man with our old time watchcry, "Liberty and union, now and forever, one and inseparable."—John Jay, July 4, 1861.

SMILES FOR THE FOURTH.

His Glorious Fourth.

"If your husband hasn't any engagement for the Fourth of July bring him over to our house for dinner."

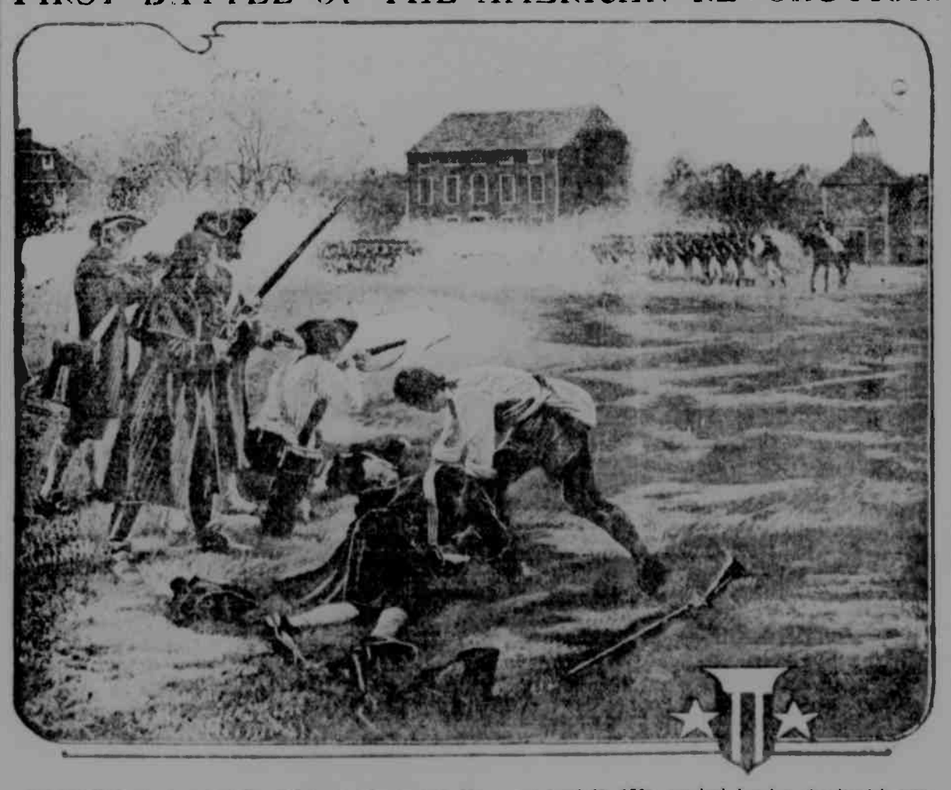
"Well, he hasn't any engagements, but he expects to have about forty. You know, he's a surgeon."—Chicago Tribune.

The Alternative.

Grandma Bobby, here is a quarter for you to put away to buy fireworks with on the Fourth of July.

Bobby—Pshaw! We don't keep the Fourth that way any more. I'm going to hear the returns from the prize fight!—Puck.

July 4, 1775.



New England Colonist—What are you celebrating today, Beriah?

Convivial Ditto—Why, this will be the last opportunity we will ever have to celebrate a "quiet Fourth!"—Puck.

Americans Above All!

Let us always remember that, whatever differences about politics may have existed or still exist, we are all Americans before we are partisans and cherish the welfare of all the people above party or state. God bless every undertaking which revives patriotism and rebukes the indifferent and lawless.—William McKinley, July 4, 1897.

FIRST BATTLE OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION.

UNTIL the news of the fighting at Lexington, Mass., on April 19, 1775, reached London the British government cherished hopes that the rebellion of the American colonists might be put down without force. After that, however, it was seen in England that further fighting was inevitable. The news of the skirmish was received in London on May 29, when Richard Derby, an American merchant with a petition of remonstrance, arrived in London. The official dispatches of General Gage were published in London on June 10. The enemies of the British ministry began immediately to jeer at "the great British army at Boston that has been beaten by a band of Yankees!"

"OLD GLORY'S" BAPTISM OF FIRE

By W. H. RICHARDSON

[Copyright, 1913, by American Press Association.]

INDEPENDENCE day naturally brings thoughts of Old Glory and its first appearance in the grim business that was engaging the country at the time of its formal adoption as the national emblem. As every child knows, the flag had its statutory beginning on June 14, 1777, when congress acted upon the design.

After the smoke had cleared away from the battle of Oriskany on Aug. 6, 1777, when Sir John Johnson and his Tories and Indians were routed, the victor of the day improvised a flag from the red petticoat of a soldier's wife, a white shirt and an old blue jacket and flung it to the breeze above the captured British standards at Fort Stanwix. That is doubtless the first time the flag appeared in the "danger zone."

When Washington got his clew eventually that Sir William Howe with 18,000 men was sailing up the Chesapeake he started his army southward, and on the way through Philadelphia they were cheered and inspired by the bands playing and "the flags flying"—some of the flags of Betsy Ross' own make, perhaps.

Howe landed twelve miles below Elkton, Md., on Aug. 25, and the fateful campaign of 1777 S began with a collision at Cooch's bridge, only a few miles nearer Philadelphia, his objective point. A division of the British, under Lord Cornwallis, had advanced to Iron hill, an eminence sloping down to Christiana creek and from which a large part of the country toward the Delaware could be observed.

On the part of the Americans a "light advance corps" had been organized under General Maxwell, with instructions to be "constantly near the enemy and give them every possible annoyance." Stedman, an English historian of the "Origin, Progress and Termination of the American War," published his big two volume history in 1794. He was on Cornwallis' staff, and he disposes of this first engagement in seven words, telling of "dispersing the advanced guards of the enemy." Captain John Montressor, Howe's chief of engineers, counted only three dead and twenty wounded among the British at that time, notwithstanding the fact that Morgan's famous riflemen had been shooting at the redcoats. But the cannon planted on Iron hill really did serious damage to Maxwell's men, who, having no such formidable armament, duly retired under pressure of a largely outnumbering foe. Delawareans are proud of the fact that the opportunity to wave the stars and stripes at the head of fighting colonists came first in their state.

GREAT CAMP MEETING AT MOUNTAIN LAKE PARK

Will Close Next Sunday Night Meetings Greatly Enjoyed.

The camp meeting at Mountain Lake Park is not so largely patronized by those from a distance as formerly, but this year, the attendance by Garrett countains is largely increased. Neither is the attendance of ministers as large as in the days that have gone by. This year the camp meeting has an excellent corps of workers.

Thus far the meetings have been greatly interesting and enjoyed. The singing of a Mountain Lake Park camp meeting is always good. Among the old timers are Dr. Dunham, Rev. Hyde and A. J. Dolbow. It would hardly be a successful camp meeting without Mr. Dolbow. He is a man every body loves. He is a whole camp meeting within himself.

The meeting will close next Sunday night. The last Sunday of the camp meeting is always a great day. It attracts great crowds of people. We would suggest to those of our readers who can do so, to arrange to spend next Sunday at the Park and enjoy the services provided for that occasion. It is an opportunity that only comes once a year. Take the entire family to the Park. Encourage the workers by your presence.

We miss the old time song services which were held on the verandas of the hotels and boarding houses in the days of "Bishops" Thompson, Dr. Pepper, and other sainted leaders now in the "land beyond."

Our correspondent who reported last week the enjoyable children's day at Pleasant Valley, was mistaken when he reported that Rev. Marquess was not present. The Reverend gentleman was present, but by an unavoidable accident, he was a few hours late.

PREMIUM LIST GARRETT CO. FAIR.

Will Be Issued in a Few Weeks, With Fine Premium List.

The premium list of the Garrett County fair, to be held September 30th, October 1st and 2nd, is being prepared for the printer. As soon as the manuscript is ready, it will be gone over by the board of directors, and given to the printer for early issue. The premium list will be the same size as last year, 48 pages and cover. Advertisements are being solicited. Every indication promises a great fair this fall. From all over the county comes the glad word, "we are preparing for an exhibit." Some very fine horses and colts will be exhibited. When threshing grain the farmers should select a good exhibit and carefully lay it aside. Select samples of your best vegetables, fruits, etc. Let us make the Fair of 1914 an immense success.

Record-Breaking Peach Crop.

Conservative estimates of the peach crop in the Smithsburg region of the South Mountain fruit belt place it at from 600 to 800 carloads, or between 200,000 and 250,000 bushels, while the financial returns will be about a dollar for every bushel. This tremendous crop will be handled and shipped from Smithsburg and represent only a part of the fruit crop, as apples and other fruit will yield largely and increase the revenue of the growers. The peach crop will be the biggest in that section since 1899.

A Trip Around the World.

Takes one evening and a fifty cent piece. This cruise to foreign lands in an automobile or hay wagon of the M. E. Busy on the State Road Work.

The Bamberger-Chapman Co., contractors, who have the contract for rebuilding the National pike from "Long Stretch" to tne "Stone House," a distance of 5 miles, have completed transferring their machinery from the local depot to the works and expect to begin road building at once.

Fred G. McCulloh, of Frostburg, is superintendent of the work and has ninety men under his charge. Mr. McCulloh states that when his force of men and the new machinery is set in motion, the work will be carried on at about the rate of a mile of road every twelve days.

When this stretch of road is rebuilt there will be no more unimproved road between Grantsville and Frostburg.

The men engaged in this road work from superintendent down to water boy are living in a camp. The company has two road rollers on the job and a 200 ton capacity stone crushing outfit.

In addition to the work now being done between Frostburg and Grantsville by the Bamberger-Chapman Co., eight and one-half miles of the pike between Grantsville and the State line is being resurfaced by the Rob Roy Construction Co. When all this work is finished the pike between Frostburg and Uniontown will have been placed in such condition that a motor ride to Uniontown can be made easily in three hours.

The newly weds left on the 10:20 a. m. train for Pittsburgh, and a visit to friends in Ohio. Mr. Davis married Mr. Shillingburg's father and mother, May 21, 1891, also at an early date a married Mr. Kidd to a Miss Steyer of the same family, and later married two daughters and one son, children of Mr. and Mrs. Kidd, and held many other services connected with the Steyer family, dating back for three generations.

The grandfather of the bride Mr. John Steyer, was one of the early settlers in this section of the country. He was one of the scholars of the Sunday school organized by Major McCarty near Oakland, in 1829. Three students of that school are still living, Wm. White, Abraham Wilson and Nicholos Merrill.

BREMER--JENKINS--From the Charleston Ill.) Daily Courier of the 2nd inst. the following accouut of the wedding of Rev. and Mrs. O. A. Bremer is taken: "The marriage of Miss S. Camilla Jenkins to Rev. Otto A. Bremer, of Oakland, Maryland, was solemnized at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Minnie Jenkins, this afternoon at 1 o'clock, Rev. Ezra Keller, of Hillsboro, Ill., officiating. The ceremony was witnessed oy the relatives of the contracting partses and was a simple but beautiful affair, the ring ceremony being used. The wedding march from "Lohengrin" was played by Miss Alice Jenkins, the bride's sister. The bride is the eldest daughter of Mrs. Minnie Jenkins of this city, but formerly of Butler, Illinois. She is a graduate of the Eastern Illinois State Normal school and a teacher of unusual ability, having taught here and in neighboring cities. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. He is now pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran church, of Oakland, Maryland. After a three course wedding luncheon was served, the bridal couple left for Oakland, Md."

The couple arrived in Oakland on Friday evening and on Saturday a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Benj. Sincell was tendered them by the Ladies' Aid Society of the church, which was attended by upwards of one hundred ladies and gentlemen. The couple are now housekeeping in the parsonage.

GEORGE SHARTZER.

THE DEATH RECORD

REV. S. W. DAVIS.

A long life crowned with good deeds and useful service came to a close Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock when Rev. S. W. Davis, superintendent of the Coke Mission, passed away at the McCrum Training School in Nutt avenue, where he had been sick for some time.

Mr. Davis was in the ministry of the M. E. church for more than half a century. He was a circuit rider in the early days, later filled some of the prominent pastorates in West Virginia and Western Pennsylvania, and since October, 1894, had been in charge of the Coke Mission. It was under his pastorate in 1877-8 that the present M. E. church in Morgantown street was built.

At the age of 23 years Rev. Davis began preaching on the Kingwood circuit in what was then Virginia and in March, 1863, he was received as a member of the Fairmont Conference. His next assignment was Greene Circuit with eight appointments in the region called Fish Creek. After a year there he was transferred to Clarksburg, during which time the congregation erected a church called Goff Chapel. This was the beginning of Rev. Davis' church building career, which embraced about a dozen churches and chapels in 50 years.

For three years Rev. Davis was at Wheeling Island, where on March 12, 1872, he was married to Miss Catherine Stone, daughter of a merchant. Bishop Simpson performed the ceremony. He was then transferred to Meyersdale, Pa., and for two years preached there and also supplied Confluence and Ursina.

Consecration and self sacrifice were displayed by Rev. Davis all through his life. On one occasion before his illness he said. "The first year I preached $100 was all the money paid me, but it didn't cost anything for board or horse feed. Of course I needed a little money for books and clothes, but it didn't take much. My second year the salary was $135 and then I got $250. At Weston I was paid something over $400, and at Clarksburg $500.

"There wasn't much margin after I paid board, but I had a good time and lots of friends. After I got to Pennsylvania the pay was better. I've always been glad that I was a minister and if I were a young man again I'd choose the ministry."

In the spring of 1876 Rev. Davis was assigned to Uniontown and was pastor of the old church in Peter street, which was built in 1833. On June 2, 1878, the new church in Morgantown street was dedicated. At the close of two and a half years' work in Uniontown Rev. Davis made a trip to the Holy Land and was gone seven months. He was then at Belle Vernon two years, at Mount Pleasant, two years at Homestead, five years at Courson street Pittsburgh, two years at Walton church on the South Side, and two years at Jefferson avenue church at Washington, Pa., was three years at McKeesport, Pa., building a large church which was destroyed by fire and rebuilt during his pastorate.

Since 1894 Rev. Davis' energies were devoted to the Coke Mission work where he established new Sunday schools and churches. He founded the McCrum school, of which his daughter, Miss Elizabeth Davis, is principal.

Rev. Davis is survived by his wife and four children: Alfred C., Elizabeth S., Eleanor and Blanche. He also leaves one brother, Rev. John M. Davis, of Oakland, Md.

Dr. R. S. Ross, superintendent of the McKeesport district, was in charge of the funeral services. The principal address was by Dr. T. H. Wilkinson, assistant editor of the Pittsburgh Christian Advocate. Rev. Wilkinson made his home with the parents of the deceased in Pennsylvania when he started as a boy into the itinerancy more than half a century ago. Rev. Davis was then a boy at home. They were close friends for over fifty years. Another assistant was Rev. V. J. Louzecky, now of Cleveland, Ohio, the Bohemian minister, who opened up the Coke Mission work with Rev. Davis in Mt. Pleasant twenty years ago. Dr. C. W. Tinsley read the scripture and offered prayer.

Funeral services Thursday at 3 p. m., at the First M. E. church. Interment Friday at Wheeling, W. Va.—Uniontown News Standard. July 1st.

THOMAS CORNWALL.

Thomas Cornwall who died very suddenly of heart trouble, at the Oakland Sanitorium June 29th, was born in Rappahannock county, Virginia, December 24th, 1835, and removed to what is now West Virginia in 1856, settling in Harrison county, near Bridgeport.

During the Civil war he served in the Quarter Masters Department of the Union army for four years.

After his marriage in 1871 he became a citizen of Maryland.

In 1895 he united with the Lutheran church at Red House under the pastorate of Rev. Kepler.

He was laid to rest in the Oakland cemetery by his sorrowing family, covered by a wealth of beautiful flowers offered by friends from Oakland, Mountain Lake Park, Aurora and Elkins.

In the absence of the Lutheran minister, Rev. Marquess, of the M. E. church at Mountain Lake Park, very kindly conducted the services at the house and grave assisted by Rev. Friend, of Mountain Lake Park.

Captain J. A. Hayden, Judge Cuppett, Hon. McCullough Brown, Revs. Friend, E. R. Browning and Mr. Frank Arnold acted as honorary pall bearers.

Messrs. Dunnington, Clayton, Eckard, Harvey, Friend and Leighton served as active pall bearers.

Music was furnished by Meadames Willett, Winchell, Marquess and Harvey and Mr. Henry Harvey and Mr. Bert J. Leighton who sang "Nearer My God to Thee" and other beautiful hymns most touching.

NORA WAMSLEY.

Miss Nora Wamsley died at the Hoffman Hospital, Keyser, on July 2. She was 22 years of age and was born and reared in Garrett county, but was clerking in the store of C. T. Neff when taken sick with typhoid fever. She had had two innoculations as a preventative of typhoid fever when taken ill. She was a lovable young lady, and had made many friends in the tri-towns. Her funeral took place Monday at her former home near Oakland.

Prof. S. C. Smith.

Word has been received in Oakland of the death of Prof. S. C. Smith in a hospital located in the State of Missouri, where he went to undergo an operation, and from which he died. Mr. Smith had many friends in Oakland and surrounding country. He was a pleasant, social gentleman and was a great musician. He placed musical instruments in many Garrett county homes. The writer knew him well and counted it a prividge as well as a pleasure to meet and converse with him. The announcement of his death will be heard with sorrow.

AUTOMOBILES COLLIDE WITH FATAL RESULTS

Mrs. George H. Gauer Dies From Injuries—Two Others Seriously Hurt.

Last Friday while running at a pretty fast speed the automobiles of D. A. Shaffer and George H. Gauer, on the Oakland and Red House road, came together in a head-on collision, smashing both automobiles, throwing the occupants out, and so badly injuring Mrs. George Gauer, of near Red House that she died a few hours afterwards. Mr. and Mrs. Gauer, the former a farmer of that locality, were riding in the rear seat of their car, which was being driven by their son Arnott. At a narrow point in the road they suddenly collided with a new car driven by a farmer named D. A. Shaffer of the same neighborhood. The Gauer car turned turtle, falling on Mrs. Gauer and crushing her ribs, also inflicting fatal internal injury. Mr. Gauer and their son were thrown out and slightly injured. This is the first death to result from an automobile collision in Garrett county. The deepest sympathy of a host of friends are with Mr. Gauer and family in the great loss they sustained in the death of the wife and mother.

The County Commissioners Meet.

The County Commissioners, Messrs. Smith, Fike and Dixon, met in their room at the court house Monday morning. They devoted several days to thorough attention to the work of their office.

The road question was conscientiously looked into. They visited the sites for the road at Kitzmiller and carefully investigated the advantages of both propositions.

Wednesday morning they were at Pleasant Valley looking over the road situation at that point. All difficultaes and disagreements were removed, so that peace and harmony prevailed.

A contract was awarded for building a fifty foot concrete arch over Bear Creek, at White's, to the Luton Bridge Co., for the sum of $1749.

Alton Friend has returned to Fairmont, W. Va.

Mrs. Julia Virgin, of Wheeling, W. Va., is visiting her daughter, Mrs. C. M. Rathbun, at this place, as also did her brother, Mr. Lewis Virgin, of Bellville, W. Va.

Mr. L. C. Prevost, of the Park, will shortly become one of the business men of Green Springs, W. Va. He has given a contract to Stephen Mattingly to erect a business house for him in that growing town. The material was furnished by the C. M. Rathbun Sons Co., of Loch Lynn. Mr. Mattingly prepared the frame for the building here, so that he would have nothing to do but put it up when he arrived at Green Springs. When Mr. Prevost opens his place of business the citizens of that town will find a live wire in their midst.

The camp meeting is in progress. The attendance thus far is not up to that of the past, but the spirituality of the meetings, and the several sermons preached are equal to that of former years. The workers of the meeting are men and women of much reputation. The meeting will close next Sabbath, and will doubtless attract a large crowd.

Mr. James A. Enlow last Saturday suffered an attack of appendicitis. He was taken to the Home Sanitorium, at Oakland, where Sunday morning, Dr. S. H. Hawkins of Cumberland, successfully operated upon him, and Mr. Enlow is doing well.

"Allenhurst" had two automobile parties from Morgantown, W. Va., as week end guests. The party consisted of Dr. and Mrs. Page A. Gibbons and little daughter, Miss Gertrude Hayes, Mrs. Mary Johnson, Mr. Harry Johnson, Miss Margaret Francis and James Gronringer.

There remains at least a score of cottages not rented, some of them the best cottages in the Park.

We hear much complaint about the scarcity of water. Some people are compelled to carry water from wells on near by properties. The Water Co. we hear will put in one or two pumps to increase the supply. If they do not do so, some houses will be vacated by summer tenants.

"BIG-WIGS"

A Temperance Talk to Voters

BY

JASON KEP

Judge Dayton, in a speech stated: "I have never had the heart to say anything against the man who drinks liquor. It s a disease. I wouldn't take him and disgrace his family by putting him in the lockup; I would take him to some decent place where he might be properly treated and restored to his right mind, and prosecute the man who sold it to him and made him drunk."

That is all right as far as it goes, but this is a Marathon and not a hundred yard dash.

In a criminal court case it is supposed to be the aim to catch the "Big Wigs" —the away-ups not the little tools.

The saloon keeper is not the cause, but the effect of a cause.

It is the Recreant—church—member and the Good—Moral—Man—outsider, who are the Big Wigs in this case.

And, say, before we proceed with this case; let us bring in an expert specialist to examine the Big Wigs. There must be something wrong with him, for he helps, aids and abets the saloon keeper, makes it possible for him to continue his deadly work, without recompence, and you know that no sane business man would do that.

Ah, he has reported. A very bad case indeed, not a subject for the penitentiary but the hospital and prescription as follows: Get some hot towels and soak the conscience of the good people of the community—we must get that conscience to doing business or all is lost. Then pump some milk of human kindness into their hearts. Dont be afraid of breaking it—we want it to expand. If we can get the heart to working properly the recovery is sure.

I have sometimes thought that the method of holding up before the good people of the community the awful spectacle of the drunkard's home; the poor, ragged, half-starved little children, who, God bless their innocent little hearts, while not to blame for coming into the world, cannot understand why they should be singled out to be cold, hungry and abused when the good Lord made plenty for all, was the wrong way to go at it.

Nor would I draw attention to the misguided innocent girl who marries the moderate drinker. The strong minded, egotistical individual who can drink or let it alone, with the fool notion that she can reform him, when statistics prove that they are the source from whence the army of drunkards are recruted.

I would cut it all out, it is too mild: The churches have tried it mildly for years and made a fuzel of it.

If a minister gets a little gay and begins to drive in a few upper cuts and judiciously place a few lift hooks upon the anatomy of King Alcohol he was quietly led off into the inner sanctorium and informed that Mr. Big Stomach, Mr. Broad Chest and Mr. Brewery Stock contributed largely for our good work and helped greatly in our noble endeavor to buy paper collars for the dear heathen to make them uncomfortable (while we all know what they need are fans,) therefore please confine yourself to the new Theology. It is a good way to expend your surplus energy and is perfectly safe.

But, thank goodness, there are a lot of ministers who won't stand for it.

I heard one some time ago who was there with the goods.

His sermon had to do with Hell. He spoke of the modern, up-to-date hell, the sort we see every day of our lives if we take the trouble to look about us.

It had somewhat of a new idea. We had come to believe that hell was away off; he made it uncomfortably near for those who listened. A few of the points brought out by him were: "You can't pat the devil on the back all week and call him old chap, and then surprise him by trying to thrash him on Sunday."

"If you expect to defeat the Black Prince you have got to come out of your shell and fight him in the open."

"The reason the church is going around part of the time with a black eye and a grudge, is because they only fight the devil on Sunday, and then give him a week to recuperate."

Oh, he had us going some.

Now, in this Temperance fight, let us get at it and fight seven days in the week, and I assure you that it will be the other fellows, King Alcohol and his pal, Beelzebub, who will wear the black eyes and a grudge.

Come and help us to make Oakland dry. If your conscience is right you are helping now, if not for goodness sake soak it and get it in shape before election. Help protect the children.

TEMPERANCE NOTES AND FACTS.

Editoral and Press Clippings for the Local Option Campaign.

Shall Garrett county be wet or dry! It is up to you, Mr. Voter, to decide.

"Wets have rights," yells a liquor paper. Of course they have, but the wet traffic has no rights that society is bound to respect.

The average per capita wealth throughout the nation is estimated to be about $1,400. In Kansas it is $1,700. So much for Prohibition.

Kansas pays her school teachers an average salary of $75.07 per month. We wonder if Maryland can make as good a showing with all her booze. We can answer for Garrett county. No.

We insist that you can do no better home missionary work than to see to it that your apathetic or doubtful neighbor is provided with The Republican during the Local Option campaign. Only 35 cents from now until after the election.

The Washington-Idaho division of the Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union at the closing session of the annual meeting re-affirmed its stand in favor of the state-wide Prohibition amendment which is to be voted on this fall.

Soon must the truth, the victory gain,
And righteouness and peace shall reign
In people well disposed;
And homes and children everywhere
In all life's sweetest joys shall share
When all the bars are closed.

The charge that Prohiblton increases taxes is strikingly refuted in a bulletin recentiy issued by the census bureau. This bulletin gives the finaacial statistics of all cities having a population of 30,000 or over. Comparison of the twenty-four cities between 45,000 and 60,000 in population embraces the Kansas cities of Topeka and Wichita. These two cities are the only ones in this group which are located in Prohibition states. Wichita has 59,222 population and Topeka 45,478. While the average tax rate in the twenty-two wet cities of this group is $19.28 per thousand of assessed valuation, the tax rate of Wichita is only $15.50 while that ot Topeka is given in the bulletin as $13.10. The current tax rate in Topeka, however, including city, county and state is but $10.50.

"Local optin will kill Oakland," is the cry of the wet crowd. Facts prove this statement incorrect. Remove the saloon and you give the mechanic, the laboring man and their families more money to spend for clothes, shoes and food, you reduce pauperism and the population of the jail, you banish sorrow, pain and poverty and in its place create plenty and happiness. Vote for the Speicher Local Option bill.

When the men and boys from all over Garrett county come to Oakland after next May, there will be no saloons here, to make them drunk, or cause them to spend the night in jail.

They are singing the long meter doxology all over West Virginia. They have a right to. It was a glorious Fourth of July they celebrated. It was a day of FREEDOM. Free from British tyranny, free from the curse of slavery and free from the curse of the rum traffic. Happy West Virginians. We too will sing that grand old doxology. How we will sing it! There will be enthusiasm, there will be music, yea, we might all be Methodists for the time being, and "Shout loud halleliuhs to the Almighty."

Here is the way local option works in Princeton, Ky. The town's taxable valuation has increased one-third since Princeton went dry and there is a great boom in business of all kinds, especially the building trades."—Rev. John Bradley.

Rev. Father James E. Cassidy, of Fall River, Mass., than whom labor has no better friend says:

And the saloon—the striped beast! It lies in wait for him on his way to work in the morning and it stealthily tracks him home at night; it waits with the tiger's patience for a moment of weakness and then it springs and clutches manhood, womanhood, selfrespect, love of family, love of wife, love of parent, love of child, love of God, honesty, decency, all that's good it takes from him and sneaks away; the angel of death comes down and covers the lifeless and soulless corpse with the soil of the drunkard's grave and above it writes in letters of fire, "The drunkard shall not enter the kingdom of God." And off in the distance squats the striped beast, watching the whole procedure, his eyes, like balls of fire, distinct in the encircling gloom, waiting the coming of another victim.

The Speicher Local Option law means Garrett county's freedom from rum and rumselling after April 30th, 1915. Nearly everybody will vote for the Speicher bill. Will you? If not, why not?

Talk and work for Local Option wherever you go in Garrett county. Pray for a great victory at the ballot box. Be diligent in season and out of season. Be not satisfied until Garrett county is dry.

To Plant 5000,000 Apple Trees.

Winchester, Va., June 28,—John T. Davis, son of former United States Senator Henry G. Davis of West Virginia, in the near future will have the largest apple orchard in this section of the United States.

One thousand acres are being made ready in Randolph county, and the best of fancy varieties will be grown. It is Mr. Davis' intention to plant 500,000 trees. A bungalow for summer use, five farmhouses for tenants, the stocking of the place with insect destroying birds and other preparations have already been attended to. It is expected that more land owned by Mr. Davis in that section of West Virginia will be cleared for fruit farms.

Card Of Thanks.

Mrs. Cornwall and daughter Mrs. Wainer ask space in which to express their appreciation of the kindness of the many friends who came to them with words of sympathy and helpfulness in their recent sorrow, also for the many beautiful floral tributes sent by the following ladies, Mesdames Winchell, Garthright, McKee Glotfelty, Conaway, Mr. and Mrs. J. Echard, Mrs. A. E. Dann and the Lady MaC. A. Bees of Elkins, and others.

Especially do they thank the Rev. James Marquess of the M. E. church at Mountain Lake Park for his kindness in conducting the services pending the absence of their own pastor.

Also with full hearts do they thank Mrs. J. L. Echard for very special acts of kindness at this time and they pray God's blessing on one and all who helped to brighten the dark clouds with the golden glow of human sympathy and assistance.

A Boy and A Cow.

This item will be interesting to the boys of the farm home circle:

George Sonda of Ohio county, W. Va., is only twelve years old, but he is feeding and milking a registered Guernsey cow during an official production test. George's father bought three Guernsey cows four years ago and with these as a start has raised a fine herd of fifteen head. One of these cows, Imported Windflower III, produced 13,600 lbs. of milk and 626 lbs. of butter fat during an official test, as a five year old. A daughter of this cow, Lady Alice, at twenty-three months produced 12,907 lbs. of milk and 600 lbs. of butter fat in a year. The cow which young George is interested in is twenty-one months old and is now giving 35 lbs. of milk, containing 4.7 per cent butter fat, per day. He is taking full responsibility for the work and is proving himself a capable tester.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson II.—Third Quarter, For July 12, 1914.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Mark x. 32-45. Memory Verses, 43-45—Golden Text, Mark x, 45—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

The first part of this lesson concerning His death and resurrection is recorded in Matthew, Mark and Luke, but the second part, concerning the request of James and John and their mother, in Matthew and Mark only. The words "in the way" of verses 17, 32, 52; xi, 8; Acts ix, 2, 17, 27, and elsewhere, while they may generally mean nothing more than on the road, are suggestive of Ps. i, 6; cxix, 1; John xiv, 6, and make one think of the way of peace, the way of the Lord (Luke i, 79; iii, 4), and of what it really means, to follow Him in the way.

This is the third time that He spoke plainly of His sufferings and death and resurrection; but, although His words seem so plain to us, they understood none of these things (Luke xviii, 34), because they knew not the Scriptures concerning His death and resurrection (John xx, 9), having their own thoughts about the kingdom, just as many today know nothing of the second coming of Christ, the distinction between the church of the present age and the kingdom of the next age and the ages to come, because they will not take heed to what is written in the prophets concerning the Son of Man and the kingdom to be set up at His coming in glory to judge the nations and to reign in righteousness (Isa. xxxii, 1, 17; xxxiv, 8; xxxv, 4, 10), but persist in thinking that the kingdom is within us and that all that the great work of redemption is for is to deliver people from hell and get them to heaven.

This is the age of a kingdom postponed because of a rejected Christ and of gathering out from all nations a people to reign with Him, but who must be content now to suffer with Him, live separate from this present evil age, not conformed to it, but so manifesting in it the meekness, lowliness and love of Christ that we shall show something of His life in these mortal bodies and win people to Him. The Holy Spirit has been given especially in this age to testify of a crucified, risen and ascended Christ, who is waiting at the Father's right hand until the number of His elect, waiting, suffering ones, shall have been completed, when He will take us to Himself, reward us for service, appoint our places in His kingdom and bring us back with Him to reign (Acts xvi, 13-18; Thess. iv, 16-18; Col. iii, 4; Rev. v, 9, 10). This is no time for a believer to be seeking great things for himself or his church or his denomination or society or in any way to make himself a name, but with all lowliness and meekness and long suffering and patience walk worthy of Him who has called us unto His kingdom and glory (Eph. iv, 1, 2; Col. i, 10, 11; I Thess. ii, 12), who came not to be ministered unto, but to minister and to give His life a ransom for many (verse 45).

Even Jeremiah in his day said to his scribe Baruch, "Seekest thou great things for thyself, seek them not" (Jer. xlv, 5). As it is a case of self or the Lord and cannot be both, we must persist in attaining to the fullness of the experience of "Not I, but Christ who liveth in me;" "Not I, but the grace of God;" "In newness of life, dead indeed unto sin, but alive unto God through Jesus Christ our Lord;" "Delivered unto death for Jesus' sake, that the life also of Jesus might be made manifest in our mortal flesh;" "Risen with Christ and setting our affection on things above" (Gal. ii, 20; Cor. xv, 10; Rom. vi, 4, 11; II Cor. iv, 10, 11; Col. iii, 1-4).

Neither James nor John nor their mother seemed to understand when they came seeking preferment in the kingdom, and it did seem so out of place when He had just been speaking of His own sufferings and death. Even on the last night, at the passover, as he spoke of one of them betraying Him, they were striving as to which of them should be the greatest, giving Him occasion to say, "I am among you as he that serveth" (Luke xxii, 24-27). No teacher of man was ever so lonely, unis understood or unappreciated. There is such a depth of meaning in His words, "No man knoweth the Son but the Father" (Matt. xi, 27); "I live by the Father" (John vi, 57). He spoke of the cup given Him to drink and the baptism of suffering which awaited Him and asked if they could share it, and they thought that their devotion to Him was such that they could share anything with Him, even to dying with Him, as Peter said (John xiii, 37).

They did not understand. How could they when they were so dull as not to receive His plain words about His own dying? And when he was arrested that last night and was about to be bound and led away as a prisoner Peter would have delivered Him by his sword if he could.

Oh, how little we understand of what it means to follow Him, to manifest His life, to bear the burden of the meek and lowly One, who, when He was reviled, reviled not again; when He suffered He threatened not, leaving us an example that we should follow His steps (I Pet. ii, 21-23). When people sing, "Surely the captain may depend on me," "Fade, each earthly joy," "Thou, O Christ, art all I want," and other similar words they do not often consider what they are saying, nor to whom they are saying these words, nor how it would be if the test came.

THURSDAY, JULY 9, 1914.

WILSON is still dreaming. The day after election he will most likely wake up and hear something.

THE Wilson Bryan Tango: One step forward, three steps backward, side step to the left and hesitate.

"CONSISTENCY thou art a jewel." Wilson, in order to please England, right-about-faced on the Canal tolls plank in his platform.

THE misfits down at Washington, who compose the majority in Congress, will soon be going home, and the people will see in November that they stay there.

IT looks as if a lot of the Congressmen are beginning to think that while Colombia is entitled to some money that that $25,000,000 balm must have been estimated by a damage-suit lawyer.

THE people have lost all faith in Congress. That body is looked upon as a bunch of misfits absolutely subservient to the beck and call of Wilson, with no regard for the interests of the people.

WHEN Taft turned over the government to Wilson, everything was blooming, work was plentiful, wages were good, times were good. What will be the condition on the fourth of March, 1917, when Wilson leaves the White House?

PRESIDENT WILSON has made the statement that what he has done, so far, in working out his policies, has been done upon advice. Wonder where he obtained it? The results so far achieved and arrived at would seem to indicate that his advisors live across the Atlantic.

THERE was nothing patriotic in the Fourth of July address of President Wilson at Philadelphia. All that he said was merely a bid for votes for his party at the next election. His was simply a partisan political speech, with nothing in it to inspise or arouse a single patriotic impulse.

WILL Mr. Wilson say that people only imagine they are paying as much for the necessities of living as they used to do? If it be a fact that a year ago men were receiving $2 per day, and today they are only getting $1.50 per day, does Mr. Wilson think that this is a case of imagination only?

ACCORDING to Mr. Wilson's pre-election promise, a reduction in the tariff was to bring about a reduction in the cost of living. Did Mr. Wilson intentionally mislead the people? Was he simply looking for votes and careless as to what he told the people, or was he looking at the matter "psychologically?"

PATRIOTISM, Prosperity and Progress was the issue in the New Jersey Seventh district, and the Republican Congressman was elected by over 5,000 majority and by a two to one vote in the district. The same motto should be adopted by the Republicans of the Sixth Maryland district and then a Republican would succeed Congressman Lewis.

WITH our mills and factories and mines idle, and those of Europe busy supplying our market, Mr. Wilson is happy. Every free trader in this country is likewise pleased and you only find them among the Democrats. "Republicans believe in first employing our own people to produce what we need; and then, it anything is needed which we cannot supply ourselves, buy it abroad.

IT IT is now stated that the Hon. William Jennings Bryan has determined to retire at the end of his present term. If he is good, only that he will be assisted in that matter by the people. Wilson is to be thanked for one thing—making William Jennings his secretary of state. The people have had a most excellent opportunity to size up the commoner, and they have his measure down fine.

NATIONAL leaders of the Democratic party are gravely concerned over factional differences that are beginning to crop out in various States. The probable effect of these differences on Democratic prospects in 1916 is a subject of discussion that does not stop short of the White House.

President Wilson himself is not deaf to the murmurs. From New York, Illinois and Massachusetts comes news which, while not altogether definite is disturbing.

THAT the Governor is vested with authority to name men to positions, although his original nomination failed of confirmation by the Senate, was held recently by Judge Brashears, in the Anne Arundel Circuit Court, in the mandamus proceedings brought by Clayton Purnell, of Frostburg, who seeks to retain his membership on the State Board of Education. Under the decision Henry Shriver, of Cumberland, who was named by Governor Goldsborough, is entitled to the seat.

LAST fall Wilson refused to meet representatives of the large financial interests of the country and discuss the business situation, but since his tariff law has been getting in its deadly work upon the industries of the people and more than a million men are out of work and women and children are crying for bread, he is not only willing, but is now inviting these representatives to call upon him. We are of the opinion that he has been and is hearing a few things now that are not the most pleasant to listen to. The fact is, Wilson is scared, and he wants these men now to help him out of the dilemma in which he finds himself through his apparently over-anxious desire to help England, at the expense of his own country.

It Is Up to Parents to See That Boys and Girls Attend Church

GO TO CHURCH!

The trouble with some of our churches nowadays is that they haven't the support of the young people. Churches are filled with grandfathers and grandmothers, but they lack the attendance of the young people.

* * *

NONE WILL DENY THAT IT IS DESIRABLE THAT OLD PERSONS ATTEND CHURCH. BUT THE CHURCH IS NOT SOLELY FOR PEOPLE ADVANCED IN YEARS. THE CHURCH WANTS THE YOUNG PEOPLE, PARTICULARLY THE YOUNG MEN. IS THERE ANYTHING MORE MANLY OR INSPIRING THAN THE SIGHT OF A YOUTH WHO NEVER FAILS IN HIS ATTENDANCE AT CHURCH? THE GIRL WHO PICKS OUT THIS YOUNG MAN FOR A HUSBAND IS NOT MAKING A MISTAKE. HE WILL NOT DEPART FAR FROM THE PATH OF RIGHTEOUSNESS. AND THE SAME APPLIES TO THE YOUTH WHO IS SEEKING A LIFE PARTNER. THE GIRL HE MEETS IN CHURCH, THE GIRL WHO SINGS IN THE CHOIR, IS THE GIRL WHO DESERVES AND GENERALLY GETS THE BEST HUSBAND.

* *

Parents, it is up to you to see that your boys and girls GO TO CHURCH. You are responsible for them and their conduct. If your boy or girl sulks at GOING TO CHURCH be firm. It is no time for indulgence. Have your child JOIN ONE OF THE CHURCH SOCIETIES. The mind of the young boy or girl is easily influenced for good or evil. The words of the preacher will make an impression. GOING TO CHURCH by the young makes for better men and women. The lessons they learn will stand by them in the battle of life.

Every boy and girl should GO TO CHURCH next Sunday!

They should GO EVERY SUNDAY!

Young people can do wonders in this splendid GO TO CHURCH movement!

This proves their loyalty to the county and their great interest in the public school system of the county.

June 24th Miss Laura Miller and Arthur Lininger and Miss Florence Huff and Simon Durst were married in Cumberland at the Lutheran parsonage, by Rev. C. F. Bergner, the wedding being secret. No one was present but the pastor and the contracting parties. Miss Miller wore a beautiful creation of white silk crepe meteor, while Miss Huff wore a beautiful gown of white chiffon and lace. The grooms wore the conventional black. The wedding party left Jennings about 8 o'clock in the morning, were married at 2 o'clock and returned to Jennings the same evening, just too late for the serenaders who had been awaiting their return. However, quite a number of selections were rendered by the Emergency Band of Jennings on Friday evening when a crowd of more than 100 men and women serenaded the newlyweds.

ARE YOU A FIGHTER?

Lack of advertising on the part of merchants in their local papers is largely responsible for big business done by mail order houses throughout the country. The mail order house man has caught the idea that there is virtue in printer's ink, and he works it to the limit. By judicious advertising they make the people want what they have to sell.

The best plan to combat the scheme is for merchants to wake up and use the columns of their local papers. The live newspaper man is not slow to see this, and is putting the proposition up to his local merchants, with good effect. There is a reason why Messrs. John M. Davis & Sons, Dixon & Kelso, A. D. Naylor & Co., Arthur Townshend and others are doing business today. A splendid medium for results from advertising is found in THE REPUBLICAN.

Oakland received some very poor advertising last Friday as a quiet city and a desirable place for a home. Two gentlemen spent an hour or two in town and in less than 30 minutes counted five drunken men. They traveled from the other side of Indianapolis and spent several days reaching here and, said, Oakland beats any town they passed through and both of them remarked "I would not live in Oakland." "What cannot be cured must be endured." In a year no drunken men or boys will be seen on our streets. Vote for the Speicher Local Option and work for it like beavers work.

OPTOMETRIST

IS Your Child Handicapped in his or her physical and mental development by defective vision? Out of 100,000 school children exammed in New York city, nearly 30 per cent. were found to be in need of glasses. In Boston the percentage was found to be slightly over 20 per cent., and most of these children were down on the books as "stupid," "stubborn" or unruly. In Philadelphia 30-4 children were discovered who could not read ordinary writing on a blackboard at a distance of twenty feet. You should make sure by a thorough examination at the hands of a competent optometrist. That your child is not among this vast army of little citizens who suffer from defective eyesight, delays often result seriously. My examinations are made by the most scientific accurate methods. If it is found that glasses are not required you will be told so frankly and no charge made for the examination.

GREAT ESTATE TO BE U. S. RESERVE

Government to Buy 86,700 Acres at Biltmore, N. C.

GAME AND FISH ABOUND.

Mrs. George W. Vanderbilt, Following Wishes of Her Husband to Have Forest Preserved, Will Sell Place to Uncle Sam—One of the Most Magnificent Domains In America.

Asheville, N. C.—The 86,700 acres of beautiful wilderness at Biltmore, N. C., which the United States forest reservation commission recently decided to buy from Mrs. George W. Vanderbilt, is the largest area owned by the nation east of the Mississippi river and is destined to serve as a national park for the 35,000,000 people who live within a radius of a day's journey from it. Most of them know nothing of its character, and few of the many thousand visitors who have passed on the white roads of the Biltmore estate and admired the magnificence of Biltmore house have glimpsed more of it than the misty blue barrier that bounds it on the northwest.

It is a lordly domain of 134 square miles of wooded mountains and rushing streams which has thus been added to the national possessions. It is the most extensive hardwood reserve east of the Rockies. It is a game and fish preserve which has few equals. It has seventeen miles of good roads built for use by automobilists, cresting heights over 5,000 feet above sea level.

Great mountains rise in its bounds, culminating in the rock peak of 5,757 feet high Pisgah. There are grassy "balds" and domes dark with balsam, and rock cliffs cavernng bear and wolves. On the slopes are magnificent trees and tangled areas of rhododendron and laurel.

Thousands of high placed springs send their icy waters in rushing rivulets down to streams which foam over beds of rock and swirl in dark pools by vast bowlders. The beds are paved with rocks, and often the white water spreads in silvery shimmer over giant floors of granite. Waterfalls are here and there, one on Looking Glass creek having an abrupt fall of sixty feet. Scores of small streams unite to form the Davidson river, which empties into the French Broad.

The reserve extends from a point six miles from Asheville southwest to Pisgah Forest station on the Toxaway branch of the Southern railway, lying between the Brevard-Asheville state road on the southeast and Pisgah ridge on the northwest, its due north limit being a line drawn from Pisgah to a point four miles from Biltmore house. Much the greater part of it is in Transylvania county.

The automobile road built by Mr. Vanderbilt overlooks it, and by using it one can be in the midst of the wilderness in two hours' ride from Asheville, and Asheville is only twenty one hours journey from New York. The automobile road ascends 2,500 feet to the elaborate hunting lodge of the Vanderbilts, which with 500 acres adjoining is excepted from the sale, and then continues along the ridge ten miles, topping some heights and circling other peaks while maintaining an average elevation of 4,500 feet above sea level.

Each turn of this road develops new beauties. Sometimes it hangs over a precipice looking down on a sea of greenery, and again from a lofty point one sees a vast panorama of mountains rising and falling apparently like billows—several of the balsams being higher than Mount Washington—and in the distance the prodigious wall of the Great Smokies on the Tennessee line. The secretaries of agriculture, interior and war came up this road from Asheville to the hunting lodge, twenty-seven miles, in an hour and a half, and at that the chauffeur took no chances of creating any vacancies in the cabinet. These government officials inspected the property in June, 1913.

An extension of this road a dozen miles to Brevard would connect it with the state road to Asheville, now in very good condition, and thus provide a sixty mile tour for automobiles. From it Mr. Vanderbilt constructed two well graded roads leading down into the valleys, and there one finds many miles of easy gradient highway which he built along the water courses. The Appalachian Park association, whose headquarters are in Asheville, has been for a year actively promoting the conversion of all lands bought by the forest reservation commission into national parks, which should be connected by automobile roads built by the government.

It is estimated that there are now 3,000 deer on the tract, besides bears, wolves, foxes, squirrels, raccoons, quail, wild turkeys, native pheasants and the descendants of the English and Chinese pheasants and the wild boar with which it was stocked many years ago.

Blind Merciful to Blind.

POSTAGE STAMP MAP.

Unique Idea Worked Out by an Atchison Letter Carrier.

Atchison, Kan. John Fortune, a mail carrier of this city, has completed a map of the United States from postage stamps. By using stamps of various colors he seperated the original thirteen colonies, also outlining every state. The large rivers are shown with orange colored stamps. In the center of the map is a great American eagle with wings spread, the olive branch and bundle of arrows clutched in its talons. Above the eagle is worked out the phrase "E pluribus unum." The great lakes are shown and the Canadian border is designated with Canadian stamps.

The map is bordered with pictures of presidents, the likenesses being secured from stamps of various designs. In the center of the state of Virginia is a copy of the Declaration of Independence, bordered with stamps of Washington design.

The stamps are all pasted upon a canvas, 5 by 9 feet, and each one of them has been trimmed, requiring infinite patience and work. The exact number of stamps used in making the map is known only to Mr. Fortune, as it is his intention to lease it to large stores to be used as a basis for guessing contests.

KILLS RATTLER, WINS WIFE.

Romance Is Helped Along When Ranchman Slays Coyotes.

Denver.—Three years ago Patrick J. Kerrigan was riding over his homestead, near Deer Trail, Colo., when he came upon a young woman who had encountered a rattlesnake. Kerrigan dismounted from his horse and killed the snake. The young lady thanked him and went to her cabin, adjoining his homestead.

Later the same year Kerrigan killed a number of coyotes engaged in the slaughter of the young woman's stock. Again she thanked him and again he rode away. Thus their romance began.

Finally Kerrigan proposed and Mary Dougherty accepted. The romance reached its climax when the pair were married at St. Patrick's church, North Denver.

EARNS COLLEGE COURSE ON TWO ACRE FARM

Lad of Seventeen Clears $800 by His Industry.

Waterloo, Ia.—An income of $800 from two acres within a few months is the record made last summer by Glenn Trapp, a seventeen-year-old boy. The boy, who formerly was a news carrier, paid for his land with the onions that he raised and made a neat sum in addition on other vegetables.

A desire to earn enough money to go to college was the incentive for the venture by young Trapp. Early last spring he purchased two acres of ground in Beaver Gardens, ten miles north of Des Moines, on the Perry Interurban. The land cost him $500, and he made the first payments with money he had earned and saved while carrying papers.

The boy erected a tent on his two acres and lived there during the summer, doing his own cooking and working from dawn till dark on his small farm. He planted the most of his land to onions, also putting in a few melons, potatoes and sweet corn. By thinning out his onion crop early in the summer he realized nearly $50 on young onions. The onions he harvested later are recognized by experts to be about the best grade and quality that have been raised in Iowa. He took out nearly 600 bushels of onions for which he received $1 per bushel. His melons, potatoes and sweet corn have brought him an additional income.

Within another year Trapp expects to have sufficient funds to complete a full college course. His success with his two acres is considered an excellent example of the possibilities of intensive farming.

Chicago.—Two hundred and ninety-nine railways of the United States, operating a mileage equal to the combined railways of the United Kingdom, Germany, France, Austria and Italy, went through last fiscal year without a single fatality to a passenger in a train accident.

The railways, which operate together 120,001 miles of line, constitute more than two-thirds of the operating companies making their annual reports to the bureau of railway news and statistics.

During the year the railways thus reporting complete immunity carried a total of 409,808,188 passengers.

Long Distance Fly Swatter.

Janesville, Wis.—When clubwomen of Janesville inaugurated a campaign and offered a bounty of 10 cents per 100 dead flies, they had no intention of making the contest nation wide. Nevertheless the committee sent 60 cents to Master Wayne Rogers, Star, Miss., a nine-year-old lad who had read of the Janesville fight and got busy. He sent the carcasses in an envelope which contained a note written in a childish scrawl.

URGES CHANGES IN WEDDING SERVICE

Dr. Shaw Would Suit Ceremony to Each Couple.

CALLS WORD "OBEY" A SIN.

"Till Death Do Us Part" Is Only a Mockery, She Asserts and Points to Divorce Courts For Proof—Long Ceremonies Boresome—A "Poll Parrot Affair," She Claims.

Philadelphia.—"The marriage service usually used has outlived its usefulness and should be relegated to oblivion."

This in a nutshell is the view of Dr. Anna Shaw, president of the National Woman Suffrage association, as expressed in an interview. She said:

"The marriage service, for one thing, is a poll parrot affair. The method as used in reciting the pledge is ridiculous, to say the least. There is no solemnity, dignity or character to that kind of a marriage.

"I have been accused of making light of the nuptial ceremony because I refuse to follow this fashion. To me marriage is too sacred an institution to permit any allotted promise.

DR. ANNA HOWARD SHAW.

"I have always believed in making the ceremony fit the occasion. In other words, I have a different service for each marriage. Long ceremonies are boresome. Therefore I try to make mine as short as possible.

"As for the word 'obey,' I had only one girl who wanted to make such a crazy promise. In fact, she insisted on it. There was only one thing for me to do. I refused to marry her. She had to take the bridegroom to another minister.

"No woman obeys her husband. No man with common sense asks his wife to obey him. In fact, it is a greater disgrace to expect than to give such a thing. No man would respect another man for demanding it. Therefore I think it is positively wicked to use this word in the marriage contract. It is spiritually and morally wrong to encourage a woman to make a promise she knows in her heart she will not keep. She becomes a fool and a perjurer at the same time.

"I have been criticised for cutting out 'till death do us part.' It has been said that I advocated trial marriage. But how do I or any other minister know whether the couple will be flying to the divorce court in a year or two? We cannot look into the future.

"Why, then, should we try to force ourselves to believe that they will live happy ever after, when the divorce records, showing the large percentage of separations, stare us in the face? In such cases they may be sincere enough at the time—most of them are, for that matter—but the love and affection die out with time. To them the saying of 'till death do us part' is only a mockery."

DYNAMITE KILLS A COW.

No, She Wasn't Blown Up—Bossy Ate the Explosive.

Middletown, N. Y. — Eating several sticks of dynamite did not agree with a cow on the farm of George Kilpatrick at Kerr's Creek in Delaware county, and the animal is dead. Several other cows which tasted of the explosive were only slightly affected.

The dynamite had been placed in sections of the pasture for use in blowing out holes for telephone poles. While the cow's owner thinks the company which placed the dynamite in the pasture should pay for the animal, the company contends death was not due directly to the explosive.

Wears Same Boots Forty-two Years.

Janesville, Wis.—Philo Thomas, eighty-nine, La Prairie, is wearing a pair of old style knee high boots which he bought in Janesville in 1872, forty-two years ago. He has worn them nearly every day since he purchased them, having them relottoned four times since 1872. Gilbert Evenson, who made the boots, verified the story. He says they were made of imported French calf and sold for $12 or $15.

HUGE SMUGGLING PLOT

Diamonds Brought Into United States From Canada.

New York, July 7.—A diamond smuggling plot, which may be found to involve over a million dollars when the federal authorities here and the Canadian authorities in Montreal conclude their joint investigation, is described in an indictment handed down by the federal grand jury against Herman J. Dietz, a bankrupt diamond broker, and his son, Charles Dietz.

How many more may be involved in the plot remains for further sessions of the grand jury to reveal.

The gems were brought to Canada openly because Canada has no tariff. From Montreal, however, the diamonds were carried across the border, so the story runs, in a rubber tubing. The alleged smuggling transactions for the past two years, it is said, totaled from $300,000 to $500,000.

AMENDING BILL FAVORED

House of Lords Gives Home Rule Measure Big Majority.

London, July 7.—The house of lords passed the amending bill to the home rule law on its second reading by a vote of 273 to 102.

Several Unionists made speeches before the passage of the bill. Lord Milner advocated a referendum on home rule or a general election to ascertain the wishes of the people.

Field Marshal Lord Roberts expressed what he termed "the deepest anxiety in regard to the effect the crisis in Ireland is bound to have on the army unless a peaceful solution of the present trouble is found." Lord Roberts scoffed at the idea that the army was in a political conspiracy with the Unionists and said: "We are faced with a clash on principles which raises the subject far beyond the realms of ordinary politics."

AMERICA RISES RAPIDLY

Difficulties In Getting Flying Boat Off Water Being Solved.

Hammondsport, N. Y., July 7.—The America, the Rodman Wanamaker transatlantic flying boat, broke all her own records for quick climbing when piloted by Glenn Curtiss she rose from the water exactly in sixty seconds after leaving the dock.

The load carried was slightly more than 1,800 pounds, not a full load, but near enough to it to satisfy Mr. Curtiss that he is on the right track and that a few trials will result in the machine rising quickly with the required weight.

After repairs had been made Lieutenant Porte took the machine out but did not fly. He contented himself with planing about on the surface of the lake.

NEGRO SET AFIRE

Young White Men Wanted to See Aged Black Jump

Salisbury, Md., July 7. Joseph Darby and George Sloops, young white men, were brought to the county jail from Hebron charged with pouring coal oil on Benjamin Goslee, a negro, seventy-one years old, and then setting fire to his clothing, burning him so badly that death resulted in a few minutes.

It is alleged the oil was poured on Goslee as a joke. Several young men wanted to see him jump.

BURNS ENGAGED IN BAILEY CASE

Famous Detective and Men Start to Unravel Mystery

MURDER SCENE IS RE-ENACTED

Important Witnesses Are Not Called at Inquest by Prosecutor Smith Man in Town Near Freeport, N. Y. Complains of Being Fired Upon Shortly After Dr. Carman Claims Bullets Were Aimed at Him.

Freeport, N. Y., July 7.—The murder of Mrs. Louisa A. Bailey was re enacted by W. J. Burns, Dr. Edwin Carman, Mrs. Carman and Burns detectives. Mr. Burns was the stage manager and leading man. It was more exciting than the most thrilling movie.

The criminal expert proceeded to stage the murder as nearly as it could be done.

The celebrated detective took the part of the assassin, creeping, pistol in hand, to the window of Dr. Carman's office through which Mrs. Bailey was shot. A Burns operative impersonated Mrs. Bailey and stood with Dr. Carman in the doctor's office.

Mrs. Carman remained in her bedroom, where she says she was when Mrs. Bailey was murdered and Burns detectives in the anteroom of the office attempted to see and hear all that George Golder, Hazel and other patients who waited here last Tuesday night have testified to.

The reproduction of the murder was suddenly planned and carried out by Mr. Burns after he had talked with District Attorney Smith and Sheriff Pettit.

Mr. Burns, after placing his actors went out in the Merrick road and then tried to gain the house undetected but failed. Then he tried another approach. This time nobody saw him until he raised himself above the sill of the window through which Mrs. Bailey was shot.

A short inquest into Mrs. Bailey's death was featured by the failure of the prosecutor to put important witnesses on the stand.

Celia Coleman, a nurse for six weeks in the Carman home, said she heard the shot and ran into the butler's pantry between the dining room and the kitchen. "I stood there," she continued, "with the door from the pantry into the kitchen open all the time. I just listened and stayed there for three or four minutes."

Witness said she saw Lawyer Levy of the defense Wednesday and Thursday and he asked her to sign an affidavit containing the statement that no one ran through the kitchen on Tuesday night. The affidavit had not been read by her and she was not told what was in it. Mr. Levy asked her to sign a paper and she signed.

Bailey testified that his wife had not complained to him of feeling ill, had never told him she was going to consult a physician, had never said she had been to see Dr. Carman, had never said she had been in Dr. Carman's office and had never heard her speak of Dr. Carman.

Hazel Combe and her friend, Hannah Kahn, were the next two witnesses. Miss Combe was a patient of the doctor. She went to the Carman house about 7 o'clock the night of the murder and sat in the waiting room. While she was there a man and a lady came in, she said. The lady was evidently Mrs. Bailey.

"I saw Mrs. Carman twice while I was waiting," she continued. "She came into the waiting room to answer a knock on the door. She told the man who stood outside that the doctor was asleep." Miss Combe said that Mrs. Carman was dressed in a blue skirt and a white shirtwaist in direct contradiction of Golder's assertion that she was all in white.

Hannah Kahn said that she saw Mrs. Carman dressed in a blue skirt and white waist waiting on the door.

W. P. H. Haff, Jr., of Lynbrook, a coal dealer and owner of the Rockaway Times, told reporters that he was shot at early Monday morning by a mysterious man not very far from where Dr. Carman said he was shot at. Haff exhibited a dent in the side of his car as proof.

Dr. Carman told more about the shots which he says were fired at him while he was out in his automobile and said:

"I don't know what to think about this last attempt at my life. Maybe some people think it is strange." He said it appeared to him that the shooter was left handed.

A box of cartridges was found in the attic of the doctor's house. They were of 38-caliber. The bullet that killed Mrs. Bailey was that size and the box was found in a box, where it might have been for years. No cartridges had been taken from it and the authorities do not believe that was of any importance.

Comes From a Family of Fighters His Father Killed In Civil War Known In Navy as Excellent Disciplinarian—Is Put In Charge of Battleships Which Have "Gone Wrong."

Washington.—This story begins in Galena, Ill., in the days which immediately preceded the outbreak of the civil war. Every one knows that one of the unregarded citizens of Galena at that time was Ulysses S. Grant. He had been a captain in the United States army, but he had resigned, and he was poor.

"Bush," said Grant one day to his nearest friend, Bushrod Howard, "we'll have a war, sure. And I'm going."

Bushrod Howard had commanded a company in the Mexican war. He came of a fighting family.

"I agree with you," said he. "And I'm going too. We'll each raise a company."

"Bush," said Grant, "you can't afford to go to war. If anything happened to you who would take care of your family?"

"Ulyss," said Howard, "you can't afford to go to war either. But you're going, aren't you?"

The two men made a friendly compact. If either failed to return from the war the survivor pledged himself to watch over those left behind. Captain Howard raised his company and was killed with most of his men in a railroad accident on his way to the front. After the war Grant interested himself in Howard's two sons. One was sent to West Point. The other

REAR ADMIRAL HOWARD.

Thomas Bushrod, received an appointment to Annapolis. When he graduated Grant sent him a sum of money.

"Buy what you will," said he. "I've been a boy at graduation time—and I know how many things you'll need."

Over the head of Howard's bed in any battleship on which his flag may fly is the sword that he bought with Grant's money. It is more a part of him than the admiral's plumed hat he has to wear occasionally, for Howard is a singularly unaffected and modest man. He is a good disciplinarian—even a stern disciplinarian—but he wins the affection of his men in the routine of service the higher officers are continually changing ships. Whenever Howard changes an avalanche of requests floods the department from the men who have come in personal contact with the admiral and wish to follow him.

"If I granted these requests," a secretary of the navy once said to him, "you'd man your ship with stewards and cooks."

In the service they speak of Howards as a "reformer." That is because he is a sort of first aid whenever a ship or a station has "gone bad" from executive causes. Howard commanded the Tennessee when that brand new warship acted as the pathfinder for the trip around the toe of South America some years ago. When he reached San Francisco he was detached to assume command of the Ohio. That ship was then at the very bottom of her class in the navy. Mutiny, a thing unheard of in the American navy, had been hinted at in some of the highly colored reports which had been printed. The men were certainly in a state verging upon revolt. They felt that some of their officers were treating them most unfairly. There is no need to revive at this time that old scandal of the service. But officers shook their heads when they discussed conditions on board the Ohio. In a very few months after he had assumed command Howard had brought the Ohio up to the very top of her class.

TO VIEW CHINA'S FLOOD AREA.

Engineers to Examine Ground For $20,000,000 Reclamation Plan.

Washington. — The first step in the American Red Cross' farreaching plan for the prevention of floods in eastern China through a $20,000,000 reclamation project has been completed with the selection of a board of engineers to examine the ground. The plan has the approval of President Wilson, who was authorized by congress to lend the Red Cross a specified number of army engineers skilled in river work.

The board will consist of Colonel William Luther Sibert of the corps of engineers, U. S. A., builder of the Gatun locks and dam at Panama; Arthur Powell Davis, chief engineer of the United States reclamation service, and Daniel Webster Mead, professor of engineering in the University of Wisconsin. Charles Davis Jameson, general advisory engineer, who made the preliminary examination of the afflicted district and on whose report this board is being sent to China, will accompany the engineers.

When the work is undertaken Colonel Sibert will have the Red Cross recommendation at the request of the Chinese government for appointment as engineer in chief of the conservancy work.

DARING RESCUE OF CHILD.

Reading Laborer Carries Two-year-old to Safety With Teeth.

Reading.—A two-year-old child, Mary Perlorna, wandered from her home, near the old Seyfert furnace, to be discovered several hours later on a decaying bridge 100 feet above the Reading railway tracks. A strong breeze and the weakened bridge made her position extremely dangerous, and the only way to reach her quickly was by a rough climb up the precipitous side of a cinder bank.

Stephen Circella, a young Italian laborer, was the hero who rose to the occasion. While hundreds of neighbors watched he climbed the sharp bank of slag, painfully tearing his hands and legs, crawled out on the shaking bridge structure, seized the belt of the little girl's dress between his teeth and carried her thus back to safety and her anxious parents.

COURTESY TO AN OLD WOMAN WINS $25,000

Mrs. Oster of Denver Rewards Young Man.

Denver.—For being courteous to an aged woman Robert Reiner has been left $25,000 in her will, but Mrs. Christina J. Evans, who took care of the same old lady's dog until the dog died, for which, she says, she was promised $500 in the will, had to start suit in the district court against the estate in order to collect the money she said was due her.

The old lady was Mrs. Celia Oster. She was worth about $100,000 when she died a short time ago and divided her money and property among a number of friends and heirs and made several bequests to charitable institutions, but Reiner came in for the rest of the estate, receiving $10,000 from it and all of the money Mrs. Oster had in two Denver banks, amounting to $15,000.

Mrs. Oster became a widow a number of years ago and, being childless, found that nobody was kind to her unless he was well paid for his little services. Reiner, however, she found to be a different sort, although a young man. He entertained Mrs Oster in numerous ways and never asked anything in return. When she died he found he suddenly had become rich.

When Mrs. Oster made her will she left $1,500 to be paid to Mrs. Evans for taking care of her dog, Daisy, until the latter's death. Daisy died in July, 1913, and shortly before Mrs. Oster's death she made a codicil to her will in which she revoked the bequest to Mrs Evans.

FIRST WHISKY KILLS HIM.

Young Man Dies After Convivial Evening With Friends.

Philadelphia.—After dropping unconscious in his home Edward Cavanaugh, Jr., twenty-one, died soon afterward.

According to the police, Cavanaugh went for a stroll with several friends. He never had drunk whisky before. During the evening he had several drinks.

He returned home and, according to his father, was not intoxicated. He went to the cellar to remove a nail from his shoe and called that he was dying. His father rushed to his aid, but he died a few minutes later.

SAVED LIFE, WON LIBERTY.

Convict Plunged Into Lake and Rescued Drowning Boy.

Wichita Falls, Tex.—Plunging into the waters of the Fort Worth and Denver railroad lake, near here, a member of the county convict gang rescued a drowning boy.

The boy was Joe Perdue, who was seining in the lake with other boys and got beyond his depth. The cries of his comrades reached the convict gang at work nearby and one of them plunged into the water and dragged Perdue ashore just in time to save his life.

The convict was given his liberty.

Meeting Of School Commissioners.

The Board of School Commissioners of Garrett county, Maryland, was in session in its office last Tuesday.

Delegations from schools as named and for the purpose as cited, appeared as follows: Bernard, repairs; Inskeep, new building; Friendsville, out buildings; Yoder, new building; Casselmen, repairs; Kitzmiller, additional room and teacher, and permission to conduct the higher grades nine months instead of seven and one-half, with the citizens of that community paying all the additional cost incidental thereto. See advertisement in another column.

A committee was appointed to provide in the Oakland High School building, by whatever changes and alterations are necessary a more adequate study and assembly hall with better light and ventilation for the pupils of that school, the same having been prompted by a suggestion made by a state school official during a recent visit to the institution.

The treasurer of the School Board reported the receipt of a $1,000.00 loan by a citizen of Accident, the same to assist in paying for the new school building now being built in Accident and being in harmony with the agreement of the people of that community therefor.

An order was passed directing that no County Institute be held this year as advertised, July 13th-17th, it being unnecessary in view of the fact that the State Board of Education had approved the school now in session at Oakland as a summer school, the same coming under Chapter 84 of the Acts of 1914 of The General Assembly of Maryland, which stipulates that in a county where an approved Summer School is conducted no County Instute is required by the State School Law; with no County Institute it will be financially possible to conduct the schools, actually of the county, one week more than heretofore. Teachers and those interested in education are invited, however to attend the sessions of the Summer School during the week of July 12th 17th, for which special instructors have been secured, among them being Dr Arthur H. Harrop and for which no tuition fee will be charged.

Miss Vernie M. Rush was appointed teacher of the Oak Hill school.

FRANCE AROUSED BY PUBLIC MEN'S LIVES

Scandals Brought to Light by Recent Shooting.

Paris.—The Paris press is foreshadowing an approaching exposure in the private life of one of the most powerful statesmen in France which may cause a revolution in the matrimonial standard demanded of high officials of the government, hitherto elected to office regardless of the most flagrant violations of private morality.

The exposure in question, which awaits investigation by detectives in the United States, is directed point blank at the enforced resignation of President Poincare and undoubtedly is purely political in that respect. But it is part of a widespread movement throughout the country which was started almost immediately after President Poincare was installed in the Elysee with the wife he married immediately after he, as her lawyer, had obtained for her a divorce from her former husband, a cab driver.

That Mme. Poincare was an Italian by birth and had been an actress on the vaudeville stage did not serve as a protection against her enemies. They have been able to strengthen their campaign against her by the fact that her husband has compelled the government to give her a place in society which the wives of other presidents of France did not have.

And out of the furious agitation over the murder of Editor Calmette of the Figaro by Mme. Caillaux, wife of the minister of finance, the movement for a moral standard in politics gathered many recruits. They are uniting to produce some decided action at the time of Mme. Caillaux's trial. The press calls attention to the fact that she is a divorcee, that the man she murdered had been divorced, that Caillaux had been divorced twice and that the defending lawyer, Labori, is the husband of a divorcee, the former wife of the famous musician, De Pachmann, whose divorce was obtained by Labori's legal efforts.

HELD UP BY A HAIRBRUSH.

Quick Witted Denver Lawyer Gives a Burglar a Scare.

Deaver.—A burglar attempting to break into the home of Thomas J. Dixon, an attorney, was frightened away at the "point" of a hairbrush. Dixon detected the burglar cutting a screen on a window of his home. Seizing a silver mounted hairbrush, he pointed it at the man.

"Throw up your hands," commanded Dixon. The burglar saw the glint of the silver back and quickly held his hands above his head.

Dixon then called to his wife to telephone for the police. Before the officers arrived the burglar discovered Dixon's ruse. He scrambled over a high board fence and disappeared.

Comment of Leading Newspapers on a Variety of Topics—Democrat Record for Economy.

Philadelphia Press. An illuminating exhibit of the contemp of the present Congress for the "economy plank" in the Baltimore platform of 1912 is furnished in the present River and Harbor appropriation Bill now before the Senate. The Democratic party in its latest appeal to the people denounced "the profligate waste of money through the lavish appropriations of recent Republican Congress" and demanded "a return to that simplicity and economy which befits a Democratic government." But what are party platforms between friends? The present River and Harbor bill is the largest in the history of the country and it fairly reeks with the odor of the pork-barrel.

In 1875 Congress appropriated $5,218,000 for river and harbor improvements. In 1904 the appropriation was $20,223,150. In 1913 the sum had grown to $51,113,886. To that amount the Democratic majority in the House had this year added half as much again and additions made in the Senate have increased it to the outrageous total of $93,529,475.

From Charleston Gazette: The funeral of Major General John Jim (Jam) Barleycorn will take place from his late residence in West Virginia, Wednesday morning at 12:01 o'clock. Kindly omit flowers, but demon plants will be acceptable.

The deceased was in his fiftieth year and had always enjoyed the best of health until about two years ago, when the prons of activity were knocked from under his frame and the spurs of enterprise twisted from his boots and he was given his passport to that bourne whence no traveller returns, effective June 30, at midnight.

The funeral dirge will be played on empty bottles and muffled beer kegs by the band led by Prof. O. B. Sorrowful, while Miss Cream de Mint will sing a solo, entitled "The Kanawha River is Wide and It's Deep, Disturb not Dear John B. He's Taking His Last Sleep."

Interment will be made in the potter's field, where General Barleycorn will rest beside the countless thousands who sang his glory in the hours of prosperity and cursed his soul in the days of adversity.

The Indianapolis Star says: If words could save, then these eloquent addresses and marvelous pictures of prosperity framed by President Wilson would undoubtedly set the nation at once on the high road of happiness.

According to his latest landscape masterpiece, the tariff law lit all the factory fires and started all the wheels; the currency law put the financial world at once in a condition of safety and prosperity.

Now our benign psychological ruler is about to wave his hand over the trusts and they will all become changed in the twinkling of an eye. The devils of uncertainty and malignity that have oppressed them will all run down a steep place into the sea and be drowned.

If words could save, then there will be nothing the matter with us tomorrow, nothing is the matter with us, in fact, today. Whoever doubts or fancies that his business is bad or that he is out of a job, should read over these lovely essays of the professor and be comforted. They can't be beat.

Twenty years ago, Connellsville coke was selling at one dollar a ton, two-thirds of the coke ovens were idle and Coxey's army was marching through the region on its way to Washington.

This was not a psychological condition; it was an actual physical, undesirable situation, brought about by a Democratic revision of the tariff along free trade lines, eliminating the principle of Protection to Home Industries.

After twenty years of retirement, due to this mistaken statesmanship, one would think the Democratic party had gained some wisdom, at least that it had acquired enough experience with tariff legislation not to make a second blunder like this.

But the Democratic party, it seems never learns anything. It has again revised the tariff on the lines of 20 years ago, and as a result one-half the ovens in the Connellsville coke region are idle and coke is down to rockbottom prices.

The ascension of Democracy was not the deliberate will of a majority of the American people; it was a political mistake, which, it may be observed, is evidently not going to be repeated in 1914 or 1916.—Connellsville Courier.

The old highway between Bloomington and Westernport the oldest and most prized landmark in the memory of the pioneer settlers in this end of the state, is practically a thing of the past. It was the road over which our grandparents and great grandparents carried their grists to the mill, away back years ago, when Westernport could boast of the only flour mill west of Cumberland, when the Mouth of Savage, now Bloomington, was an Indian trading post and the railroad was talked of as a thing that would never come. The vandalism is about complete. Who is responsible. Everybody knows that some one has blundered and is still blundering.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Brydon, of Grafton, spent Sunday at Borderside, the guests of Mr. Brydon's mother.

The Davis Coal & Coke Company have closed up their mines in this vicinity because of the lack of coal orders.

The Pattison and Bloomington Coal Co., are working pretty full time.

Floyd Duckworth, of Bloomington was in Oakland Monday.

Hon. Geo. L. Michael of Aaron's Run was a visitor here Friday.

The Children's day exercises held at Beryl Sunday night were very interesting and drew a large crowd. Many persons from this place went down to the entertainment.

Walter Miller and Charles Sullivan, employed in West Virginia are visiting friends here.

The road to Westernport remains in a very unsatisfactory condition. A suit is threatened against the road commissioners.

PROMINENT FARMER COMMITTED SUICIDE

Last Night Christian Martin Shot Himself With Small Calibre Rifle.

Last night about eleven o'clock Mr. Christian Martin, residing on his farm a mile north of the Red House, in District No. 8 of this county, shot himself through his right temple with a .22-calibre rifle, inflicting a fatal wound from the effects of which he died almost instantly.

Mr. Martin was in Oakland yesterday, being accompanied here by his youngest son and returning to his home retired at his usual hour but about eleven o'clock he arose and went to his barn, located several hundred feet from the house, where he committed the deed which snuffed out a long life of toil and labor.

The deceased was aged about sixty years and for the past year or more had been a great sufferer from stomach trouble. He is survived by his wife, a twin sister of Mrs. D. E. Bolden, of Oakland, and by six children, all of whom are grown.

At this hour no arrangements have been made for the funeral.

Killed in Auto Accident.

A seven-passenger touring car crashed into a tree three miles east of Morgantown, W. Va., Sunday afternoon, resulting in the death of three passengers. Dr. H. C. McKay, his father Winfield McKay and his son Winfield Jr., Dr. McKay is well known to many of the Mountain Lake Park people.

OAKLAND ELECTRIC LIGHT PLANT

Abraham L. Lawton to Take Charge August First.

On the first day of August next Mr. Abe Lawton will take charge of the Oakland electric light plant. After an absence of many years from his home town Mr. Lawtown will return and become, we doubt not, a useful citizen. He and his family will find a cordial welcome. For about fourteen years he has been the electrical engineer of the Lonaconing Power & Light Co., and will when he comes to Oakland bring with him years of successful experience in the electric business. We congratulate Mr. Lawton on his return home, and the Messrs. Offutt in securing an experienced electrician to run their plant.

The Lonaconing correspondent of the Cumberland Times says:

Abram L. Lawton, for many years chief electrician for the Lonaconing Electric Light and Power Company, has tendered his resignation and will remove with his family to Oakland, where he has accepted a similar position with the lighting company at that place. Mr. Lawton came to Lonaconing from Oakland some years ago and his parents as well asMrs. Lawton's resided in that vicinity. Under Mr. Lawton's management the service was brought up to a high standard of efficiency and his ability has long since been recognized by his employers as well as by the public.

Mr. Byrd, the former electrician, is now employed by the Oakland Garage.

Annual Meeting at Park.

The annual meeting of the Community of Mountain Lake Park was held yesterday morning. The election resulted as follows:

President, J. P. McKee; Secretary, L. A. Rudisill; Treasurer, J. A. Enlow; Street Commissioner, J. L. Echard; Policeman, A. W. Miller; Annual Committee, Dr. Carr and T. H. Cuppett.

ANTIS PLAN GARRETT CAMPAIGN TO OFFSET INVASION OF HIKERS

Invasion Of County Now Planned By Opposition To Suffirage.

The Maryland Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage at Baltimore has received a number of requests for literature and information regarding the work from various parts of the state, and also requests for meetings to be held and speakers to be sent to increase the interest of those who are opposed to the enfranchisement of the women of Maryland.

From Garrett county came letters asking that some action be taken to counteract any possible effect of the "hikers," who were invading the county and awakening interest in woman's vote. Literature was sent at once and plans made for meetings in Oakland and Mountain Lake Park. Although the suffragists report they gained over 800 names during the two weeks' hike, the antisuffragists feel that the population of Garrett county, which exceeded 20,000, offered a favorable field for activity.

Sheep Killing Dogs Busy Again.

Last week Thomas P. Llewellyn, who resides on a farm near Midland, Allegany county had,twenty sheep killed by dogs. Among the dead animals were several ewes, worth at least $20 each. Those of the flock not killed were scattered out of the field and scattered in the woods or the mountains. This is only one of many instances this summer when worthless dogs have scattered flocks of sheep and killed many of the animals. In many cases the dogs have been killed, but the death of a worthless cur goes a very little way toward reimbursement for the loss of valuable sheep.

The raising of sheep is a valuable industry to any community, and dogs eliminated, could be carried on to perfection in Allegany and Garrett counties, as the mountain land hereabouts is ideal for sheep grazing.

Just why some movement is not started for the protection of sheep flocks and the elimination of stray dogs is hard to understand. One thing is certain, the recent raid of dogs on the various farms of sheep raisers is doing very much to discourage an industry which is adding much to the wealth of Garrett county and which should be promoted with all haste here in Garrett county.

THE REPUBLICAN would suggest that on Sunday, November 1, there be held in every church in Garrett county a grand Local Option meeting or service, as you please, under charge of the District committee of each election district. Where one or more churches are located in one place, let a meeting be held in each and every church; and by help of Sunday School scholars, members of the Christian Endeavor and Epworth League and Ladies Aid Societies get every voter in the neighborhood to attend one of the churches on that day. Make the service unusually attractive, with good temperance music and earnest talks on the "Duty of the Hour." It could be made a day of power and of tremendous results. Think it over, gentlemen of the committee. If the suggestion is a good one, begin to make arrangements for that day of days at once. Advertise it largely in advance and get the workers busy. What an inspiration it would be for the next few days! What an enthusiasm it would create. The whole of Garrett county, on that day, at the same hour assembled in church, for one united effort to place that most remarkable, drastic Speicher Local Option Bill on the statute books of Maryland and make Garrett county dry forevermore.

Barn Struck by Lightning and Burned.

During the heavy rain storm which passed over Oakland and the surrounding country Tuesday evening lightning struck the log barn on the farm of Charles Pysell, near Deer Park, setting it on fire and burning it to the ground. Fortunately there was not very much of anything in the barn, hence the loss is not great.

B. & O. AGENT RASCHE RESIGNS.

Taking Effect Monday, Relief Agent Stuck in Charge.

The resignation of Mr. Harry Rasche, as agent of the B. & O. Railroad Company at Oakland last Monday, was universally regretted by the citizens of Oakland and vicinity, with whom he was very popular. Mr. Rasche was a courteous, accommodating, and painstaking official, and a gentleman at all times. It was a pleasure to do business with him. His pleasant manners made him a host of friends. He was especially attentive to the wants of the women patrons of the company, as well as the aged and infirm. We feel safe in saying that at no station on the B. & O. was there a more attentive and popular agent than was Mr. Rasche. Should he desire to reenter the service of the Railroad Company and again become the Oakland agent of the company, he could have, in a very short time, an almost unanimous petition for his reappointment, from the citizens of Oakland and surrounding country, for we are all his friends and he is ours.

The office is in charge of Mr. Stuck, a relief agent. May he succeed in making himself as popular an Agent as was Mr. Rasche and may his stay in Oakland be very pleasant and enjoyable.

Married.

MORELAND—HARVEY—July 13, there was quite a pretty open air wedding at 1:30 o'clock, Sunday afternoon on the old camp ground in Mountain Lake Park, Md., when the Rev. C. D. Johnson, of Gormania, W. Va., united in marriage, Mrs. Emma Harvey, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Moreland, of near Gorman, to Arthur Harvey, son of Thomas Harvey of near Blaine, W. Va. Several friends and relatives were present, and wished them a long happy life.

LECOMBY—BADER.—A pretty wedding was solemnized last Wednesday evening at six o'clock in St. Matthew's Protestant Episcopal church by the rector, Rev. Wm. W. Shearer, the contracting parties being Rev. George Lecomby of Owensburg, Kentucky, and Miss Kathrine Bader of New York City. The attendants were Miss Dorothy Bader, sister of the bride, and Miss Beatrice Fogle of Philadelphia, a cousin, and little Miss Margaret Welton Shearer, who preceded the bridal pair to the altar carrying a basket of white field daisies. The bride was given in marriage by Judge Jacob B. Humbird of Cumberland, father-in-law of the rector. The altar was decorated with mountain laurel and field daisies. Miss Grant presided at the organ. The beautiful ring service of the Episcopal church made the ceremony most impressive. The groom, who has lately been stationed at Owensburg, Ky., is a graduate of the Theological Seminary at Alexandria, Va., and a classmate of the Rev. Shearer. The bride is the eldest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Bader and an ardent worker in Grace Chapel, New York City. After having dinner with the rector and his frmily and a few invited guests the couple left Oakland on the 10:20 train for their future home amid showers of rice and the many good wishes of their Maryland friends.

STAFFORD—TRICKETT—At the home of the bride's parents, near Oakland Wednesday evening, a very pleasant home wedding occured when Mr. Ray Stafford, of Keyser, W. Va., was united in holy wedlock to Miss M. Bainard Trickett, by Rev. Archibald Moore. A number of relatives were present and a most delightful evening was enjoyed.

Big Peach Deal.

Hagerstown, Md., July 14.—The first big peach deal in the Smithsburg fruit belt this season was made yesterday by W. H. Chandler & Co., of Scranton, Pa., when a contract for 75 carloads was closed. This will include the yields of the four orchards of D. W. Barkdoll, Dr. J. H. Becore, S. J. Geiser and Allen S. Geiser, the combined crops being estimated at 70,000 baskets. Under the new Pennsylvania law the peaches were bought by the pound, the growers in this deal receiving two cents per pound. This will net them about $1 per bushel. Under the contract just closed the buyers supply their own baskets, while the owners are required to pick and pack the fruit, which will include all grades. The deal will bring the four growers about $35,000.

Bazar Friday Afternaaa.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church will hold a Bazar on the lawn adjoining the church Friday afternoon and evening, July twenty-fourth.

Miss Deloris Sweeney and brother John Sweeney, of Baltimore are visiting in Oakland.

OAKLAND NORMAL SCHOOL IS A SPLENDID SUCCESS

The Present Week One of Great Enthusiasm and Success.

The Oakland Normal School of 1914 has been and is a great success. Never excelled in the history of Garrett county. The faculty composed of Professors Sanner ot the Grammar school; Bender of the High school and DeWitt, one of our oldest and best teachers, was an unusually strong one in every way. Their work was thorough, practical and effective, as the students testify. Their hearts were in the work before them. Throughout the weeks of the school the interests of the students increased and the present week has been one of continued enthusiastic growth of teaching thought and possibilities. From all over Garrett county came the instructors of the youth of Garrett county to enjoy the benefits ot the magnificent program provided for the week. Those who for many years taught the boys and girls, as well as those of only a year or two service are here, full of enthusiasm, hope and inspiration. They are storing up material for the school life of tomorow. Their bright happy faces indicate hope for the success of the new school year.

They are a fine lot of well dressed, bright young men and women and will compare favorably with the teaching force of any other Maryland county.

The faculty had the assistance of the Board of School Commissioners and their efficient Secretary F. E. Rathbun, County Superintendent of public schools who was ever ready and willing to do his best for the fullest development of the school work of the county.

THE REPUBLICAN wishes the school teachers of Garrett county the greatest success possible and a most enjoyable school year and may the day hasten when their salaries shall be what they should be, and the school buildings more convenient, more pleasant and in keeping with the age we live in.

SHORT RUN

Rev. J. E. Scott and about twenty five boy scouts of Kitzmiller, "hiked" out to Short Run last Friday and are spending several days in camp. They have their tent pitched on a beautiful clearing near the Run, and just a short distance from the school building. The scouts are having a lovely time, playing tennis, baseball, basket ball and entertaining visitors. One of the first guests to pay his respects was Mr. Rattlesnake who made his appearance in camp Sunday morning. His snakeship met with quite a warm reception and now his hide is on exhibition. Mesdames J. E. Scott, E. J. Miller, O. E. Abernathy and George Coffman are guests in camp this week.

Masters Frank and Curtis Wilson of Wildell, W. Va., and Paul Wilson of Wilson, W. Va., stopped at this place over Sunday visiting relatives. They resumed their journey again on Monday, and will visit Cumberland, Washington and Athens, Ohio, before returning to their homes.

Messrs. Daniel and J. H. Wilson, spent last Wednesday in Oakland.

Misses Nell and Rachel Harvey and Alex Wilson and Robert Harvey attended camp meeting at Mountain Lake Park Sunday.

Mrs. C. W. Junkins of Keyser, W. Va., is spending a few weeks here visiting her parents.

Mrs. Wm. Moore of Kitzmiller, who has been visiting friends here since July first returned to her home on Tuesday.

Miss Esta Wilson is visiting friends in Kitzmiller this week.

Tom Wilson left on Wednesday for Jane Lew, W. Va., where he will visit friends for a few days.

Miss Elsie Paugh spent Sunday with her parents at Eagle Rock.

Mr. Arthur Harvey of this place and Mrs. Emma Harvey of Gormania, were married at Mountain Lake Park last Sunday. Their many friends here extend their heartiest congratulations.

Saint Swithin's Day.

Yesterday was the anniversary of St. Swithin's day and many who are versed in church lore always look forward to the weather conditions of the day. Mindful of the doggerel lines which have been handed down through many generations:

"St Swithin's day if thou dost rain
For forty days it will remain;
St. Swithin's day if thou be fair
For forty days it will rain na mair."

Mr. Wm. Penderfiast, of Grafton, W. Va., spent Saturday in Oakland.

THE DEATH RECORD

GEORGE L. LAYMAN.

George L. Layman died at his home in Carlos, Md., last Friday, after a lingering illness of two years, aged 64 years. The deceased was a brother of Mrs. Jennie Swauger of New Germany, this county. The interment took place Sunday afternoon in the Allegany cemetery, Frostburg. The deceased was widely known and recognized as one of Allegany county's best and most prosperous citizens.

BRIDGET MCCONNELL.

The funeral of Mrs. Bridget McConnell, wife of Mr. Patrick McConnell, who died Saturday morning at one o'clock from diabetes, took place Monday morning from her late home in Lonaconing, at 9:30 o'clock and then proceeding to Saint Mary's Catholic church, where high mass was held by the pastor, Rev. Joseph Nolan.

Mrs. McConnell was a native of this county all her life, and lived in Lonaconing for about thirty years. Before her marriage she was Miss Bridget Broderick. She was 59 years of age and a life long member of Saint Mary's Catholic church of this place. Mrs. McConnell had been sick since Thanksgiving last, and gradually declined in health uutil her death Saturday.

She is survived by her father, two sisters and four brothers. WILLIAM FREDERICK, SR.

William Frederick, Sr., of Friendsville, one of Garrett county's oldest citizens died yesterday, aged about 84 years. Mr. Frederick was a prominent man in his section of the country, and at one time was the Democratic candidate for State Senator. For years he conducted a milling business at Friendsville.

Go 'Way Man! You Make Us Want To Emigrate.

F. T. Martin wrote the following letter, which was published in the Baltimore Sun of yesterday.

I have read so much recently about the extreme heat and intense suffering in the cities that I am impelled to write a word about the cool climate of Oakland. It is a fact that I have not slept a single night this summer without blankets over me! The middle of the afternoons usually develop considerable heat in the sun—anything from 80 to 85 degrees Fahrenheit not being unusal for that part of the day—but in the shade it is very comfortable, for we always have some breeze. Then as soon as the sun sets we have the coolness which can be felt and which, by bedtime, calls for light wraps on the front porches or maybe a bit of fire inside, just to look at.

I wonder why more folks do not come here for cooling off purposes during the hot spell, if only for a short stay? Board is cheap and good, and the pure air, deep well water bubbling over with health, cool, sleep-compelling nights, paved streets, sanitary sewerage, electric lights and natural gas, besides many other advantages, make Oakland in particular and the glades in general advantageous to health.

Besides all this, Garrett county has nearly fifty miles of the finest roads on the footstool, and the twenty miles of level ground on top of the Alleghenies, known as "the Glades," of which Oakland is the centre, with Deer Park on the east, and Terra Alta on the west, is the most delightful country imaginable. And the eating—but the way to know is to try it once and see about the mountain lamb, the spring chicken, the waffles and the vegetables and fruit and berries, and the milk, cream and butter for which this land is justly famous. You cannot beat it unless you cheat. F. T. MARTIN.

LOCAL OPTION SNAP SHOTS.

Facts and Incidents Worth Repeating Original and Selected.

The battle for Local Option in Garrett county is progressing in great shape. The only question is, how large the majority.

September 22 "Old Virginia" will vote on State-wide prohibition. There is no doubt of the result. It will be a Dry State.

Poor Oklahoma! She's perfectly satisfied with her Prohibition policy, yet she must go through with an election in August, just because a bunch of wets want her to. Of course she'll lick 'em, but who wants to be pestered with skunks in August?—American Issue.

Let every citizen, loving decency and justice, be he veteran or recruit, push on the battle of Local Option for Garrett county right up to the enemy's gates. Avaunt "tired" and "rest" until the most vicious enemy in the greatest war in all history shall have unconditionally surrendered. "Fall in!"

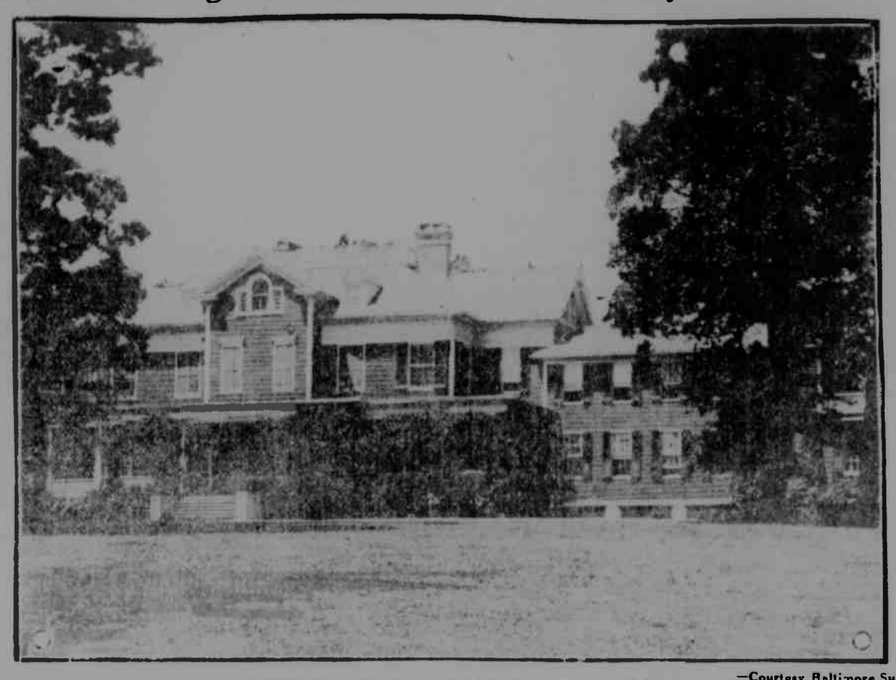
This fall Garrett county will have the largest registration of voters in the history of the county. Many persons who do not vote at the regular State and county election, will register this summer, so as to be able to cast their vote against the saloon and its ruinous business, at the November election. Get every temperance vote on the registration books.

In a few days over fifteen weeks the electors of Garrett county will vote the saloon and the business of making drunkards out of Garrett county. Do you realize this great fact? Senator Speicher made his campaign one year ago on the promise, "If you elect me to the Senate I will give you the right to vote whether liquor shall be sold in Garrett county or not." The electors took his word at par and elected him State Senator. He made his promise good, made it good in a wet legislature, in a legislature politically opposed to him, by a large majority. It was repeatedly prophesied that the bill could not pass the legislature. It was the first bill passed in the Senate. For a time it hung fire in the House, but the power that put it through the Senate put it through the House by almost a unanimous majority. The Senator on Wednesday, February 25, 1914, made his word good and from Annapolis by telegraph and by phone the word flew all over Garrett county, "That the Speicher Local Option Bill had passed." Now it is up to the voters of Garrett county to do their duty, irrespective of creed of party or personal feeling. To do their duty and place this splendid law on the statute books of the State. It is up to each and every individual to do his best to make Garrett county dry. Will you do your part? We vote, DRY.

Over 1,000 convicts in a Pennsylvania penitentiary have voluntarily sent a petition to the Legislature of that State, asking for state-wide prohibition, as the majority laid their downfall to drink. This is what might be called expert testimony, from the patrons of the liquor saloons. Church members of Garrett county are you going to vote as you pray? A vote for the Speicher Local Option bill means a vote to banish the Saloons and its drunkard making business from this county.

Which would you prefer, a Drunken town or a town killed because saloonless? Of course, the towns are killed only in the eyes of the Saloon, drunkard making crowd. The FACTS prove, however, such towns are very much alive. Vote for the Speicher Local Option measure.

Twenty-one saloons have been put out of business at Madison, Wis., by councilmatic action, as a result of the close vote at the last election. Most of the places denied licenses are in outlying districts, and their records were not satisfactory. Sixty-four licenses were granted.



Yes, Prohibition prohibits at Lansing, Mich. At least, it has the effect of greatly reducing the number of arrests. The report of Acting Chief of Police Cole to the board of fire and police commissioners shows that during May only sixty-four arrests were made in the city, as compared with 201 in May of 1913.

Robert B. Glenn, who was governor of North Carolina when Prohibition was adopted eight years ago, in an interview declared that abolition of the liquor traffic has done much to solve the crime problem. Since Prohibition was adopted, crime in North Carolina, among both whites and blacks, has been reduced fully 50 per cent. The putting out of saloons has not hurt the state revenues, said Mr. Glenn, but on the contrary, they have increased materially since liquor was barred. He declared that the law in his state is being enforced strictly.

The Prohibition movement is not fanaticism. It is a movement to conserve American manhood and womanhood, to prevent crime and degeneracy and to save the nation from physical and moral ruin. It is not only temperance and philanthropy but patriotism of the highest type.—Youngstown, Ohio, Telegram.

Missed Being Summer White House By Two Hours

—Courtesy Baltimore Sun

SUMMER RESIDENCE OF MR. JAMES SWAN FRICK AT DEER PARK

It was by a narrow margin that the cottage owned by J. Swan Frick, of Baltimore, at Deer Park, missed being the summer White House of the Administration.

President Wilson had been to Deer Park and was said to have been delighted with the scenery and the bracing mountain air. He was also impressed with its convenience to Washington and the ease with which it can be reached almost any time in the day or night. All the through trains of the Baltimore and Onio stop at the resort, making communication to all parts of the country.

Joseph P. Tumulty, the President's secretary, was sent to Baltimore to make the arrangements. He found Mr. Frick's agent and asked for a lease on the cottage for the summer for the President and his family, but he was told that he was just a few hours too late. That very morning William Wallace Spence, the nonogenarian capitalist of this city, had closed the lease and was then preparing to take possession. Mr. Spence is now installed in the cottage with his family.

Those to whom the circumstance was related humorously said it was an apt application of the President's policy of "watchful waiting." Had he only acted a little more quickly both he and Maryland might have been the gainers—the President in securing one of the finest country homes in the State in which to spend his summer and Maryland in having the distinction of being the temporary seat of Government.

Those who visit Deer Park say that Hunting Ridge is an ideal summer home. It stands just outside the grounds on which the hotel at Deer Park is built. Mr. Frick is proud of its possession and has men constantly on duty there keeping the place in order. The drive to the house and the lawns are said to be among the most beautiful in the State and the whole setablishment is among the show places of that popular resort.

Mr. and Mrs. Frick are traveling abroad this summeru. They usualy spend the hot weather in their mountain home and it has been the scene of many notable social functions.

RESUME OF COUNTY CAMPAIGN.

Compilication of Expenditures and Results of Suffrage Campaign In Garrett County.

A campaign may be rich in the propagation of suffrage ideas; it may be inspiring to the participants; but unless it increases the strength of the organization by enrolling members and gaining chairmen of election districts, its value is indefinite.

In the history of suffrage work in Maryland, the Garrett county hike breaks all records for cheapness and for practical results. The following facts will show what was done in Garrett and what can be done in any well-organized campaign:

Distance traveled (miles)	125
Number of meetings	21
Attendance at meetings	6102
Literature distributed (no. pieces	6660
New members gained	820
Number of Suffrage News sold	303
Number of "hiker" postals sold	100

Four women were found during the campaign who expressed a willingness to go on the Board of the local league and to work up an organizatiod in their vicinity. It cost two cents to reach each person with suffrage arguments.

Until another county makes a new record, Garrett will hold the championship in campaigning, for in two weeks the hikers enrolled eight times the usual membership at a cost of $100 less than the usual expenditure.

Kitzmiller holds the record for number of members gained. 75 people having been enrolled as sympathizers. Crellin follows with 65, Friendsville with 54, Bittinger with 63 and Accident with 61.

W. H. M. Society Meeting.

In the Mountain Lake Park Auditorium, at 11 a. m. Friday, July 17, the Woman's Home Missionary Society will open their four day convention. The Sunday service will be a day well worth taking in. At 10:30 Mrs. C. L. Roach, of Washington, D. C., will preside. The address will be by Rev. Benjamin S. Haywood. His subject will be "World Power in America." A most interesting subject, by a man whose world-wide experience makes him a well equipped speaker on that subject. We urge the public to attend this service.

At 2:30 p. m. a memorial service will be held. The death roll includes, Mrs. George H. Thompson, Mrs. O. P. McCarty, Mrs. Anna Kent and Rev. S. W. Davis, whom we all knew and loved. He was one of us. This service will attract a large crowd of people.

At night Dr. Haywood will be the speaker and his subject is one of great interest, "Under the Palms of Porto Rico." The speaker will enlighten his audience on the life, customs and beauties of this, one of our newest possessions.

The annual reception at the Thompson Rest Home will take place Monday from 3 to 5 p. m. Everybody cordially invited.

Square Deal.

A Temperance Talk to Voters

BY

JASON KEP

All good Americans believe in fair play and insist on a square deal. Every fair minded thinking man should be opposed to license, either high or low, upon the principles of fair play.

If the saloon as an institution is right, if it works no harm to the community, then it should be as free and unhampered in the pursuit of trade as any other line of business.

It would be unfair to make a man pay $500 license each year for the privilege of selling groceries, while at the same time permitting others to sell hardware, clothing, dry goods and other commodities without paying one cent for license. It is unfair and unAmerican to discriminate between different lines of legitimate trade.

Now do not loose track of this great truth—that the cornerstone in the foundation of a free government is this principle:—The greatest good to the greatest number of people.

If the saloon, as an institution, is right and works no harm to the community, then it should be free to do business without restrictions except those governing all other lines of legitimate trade.

If it is wrong, if it works harm to the community, then it cannot be made right by the consideration of so many dollars.

Right is right, and wrong is wrong, and you cannot make wrong right by a tax.

You cannot make it right to commit murder by causing the murderer to procure a license before committing the crime.

If the saloon is wrong, if it works harm to the community, then it should be blotted out and fumigated by the health department just the same as any other disease breeding spot.

That there is a discrimination between this line and others, would, on its face, lead one to suspect that there was a reason for so doing. Let us investigate. Here is a starter.

"Liquor in its nature is dangerous to the morals, good order, health and safety of the people and is not to be placed upon the same footing as ordinary commodities of life."—The Supreme Court of South Carolina.

From the medical journals, we find that alcohol taken into the system tears down the tissue of the body, weakens it and makes it unable to withstand or throw off disease; that it destroyes the cells of the brain, dulling the intellect, leaving one less able to discriminate between right and wrong; that it incapacitates one for work, thereby bringing misery hunger and disress upon wife and children; that it unsettles the reason and at last sends one to an asylum or drunkard's grave From the statement of judges and district attorneys that it causes fifty per cent. of the divorce, fifty per cent. of the paupers eighty per cent. of the criminal court work and ninety per cent. of the murder and suicides. That it takes an active part in politics and is ever ready with money, promises and threats to intermidate and debauch our public servants.

That it is the incubator and brooder of vices; that it sends 152,000 poor souls to drunkards graves each year in the United States, the land of the free and the home of the political boss, and collects $2,000,000,000 in cash, from the people and in return fills their asylums, jails, penitentries, and poor houses.

Great Guns! and we tried to regulate it; to hold it down so that it would ruin only part of the people, and the balance could work hard and support them.

The system of license is an attempt to regulate the traffics, but after long and thorough trial, has proven unable to mitigate the evils of the saloons. It must be blotted out. Prohibition is the only solution of the problem.

Citizens of Garrett county, think this matter over carefully. It means much to you and your children. Get busy and help to advance the cause of humanity and right, by helping to remove the greatest menace to all mankind, worse than the Great White Plague; worse than all other diseases, for it is the cause of most of them.

BITTINGER.

Let Mary Jane and Lizzie
Keep on swatting Mr. Fly;
But the men folks should get busy
And vote old Garrett dry.

The past week has been the banner week of the season for automobiles, as each day witnessed a constant buzz of machines along the public roads.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Buckle, accompanied by Clarence Oester and Miss Lucy Bittinger, motored up to the Park, on Sunday, to witness the closing of the camp meeting.

Charles Ralston, of Frostburg, visited old friends in this village last week.

At the regular service in the Lutheran church here last Sunday morning four members were received into the congregation by baptism.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Brenneman will begin house-keeping in the Lutheran Parsonage this week.

C. J. Brenneman is having his residence painted, adding much to its appearance.

The undersigned will be in Oakland every Saturday with his horse, Leon, during the month of July. All other days of this month he will be at home. Service at a reduced price.

Another Kansas Horror.

Lately the booze boosters have unearthed the destruction of another great industry in the state of Kansas. They all declare that on account of this industry being practically wiped out of existence that the whole state is going to the dogs.

Henry J. Allen, editor of the Wichita, Kansas, Beacon, discusses this calamity in a most unique manner. This is so rich that we believe our readers are entitled to have it in full, so here it is:

The distillers' association is sending out a new argument against Prohibition. It says that Prohibition has "ruined the grape industry in Kansas." It claims that in the eighties this industry was over two hundred thousand dollars per year and it is estimated at less than twenty-five thousand dollars now.

The grape industry wasn't the only industry ruined by Prohibition.

There was the mint industry. Prohibition killed the mint julep, hence there was no more demand for mint except in a few homes where they made mint sauce for spring lamb dressing.

Then there was the blow to the egg industry. Men no longer use eggs for eggnog since the eggnog departed. When Prohibition came the hens had been doing their best in their free way to keep the egg industry alive and you could get eggs for eight cents a dozen. Since Prohibition hit the egg industry you have to pay two cents apiece for eggs. Prohibition took the life out of the hens. They do not seem to have anything to cackle about since the saloon left us.

A man over in the eastern part of the tate used to make roulette wheels. He was a fine cabinet maker and the wheels he turned out for roulette and other games of chance were mounted with ivory and pearl. Prohibition killed that industry also.

In fact Prohibition has killed about every industry in Kansas except the raising of wheat and corn and alfalfa and fruit and live stock; potatoes and peas and cabbage and "garden sass;" chickens and ducks and geese and horses and mules.

It busted up many of our most prominent gamblers, paralyzed the beer gardens and absolutely killed the bartenders' union.

Prohibition has left very little of Kansas except the growing crops in her fields, the stock in her stock pens, the dreary round of work, work, work in her factories and stores, and other industries. It has left us little to do in hours of leisure except just to fall in love, to get married, to send our children to school, go abroad occasionally, join the church when we feel like it, run into each other with expensive automobiles and store our money away in dusty bank vaults, instead of giving it to cheerful gentlemen with white aprons who used to stand in front of cut glass bars and say infrequently: "This one is on the house."

Where once the thriving business of the saloon sent the clamorous odor of its prosperity out upon the sidewalk and clear across the street, we find nothing but shoe stores, clothing stores, meat markets, grocery stores and other sordid activities of an unhappy people.

Where once you saw long lines of men on Saturday night going joyfully into rooms where the doors swung in, never out, where there was sawdust on the floor and a merry crowd standing around the mahogany bar, where they were treating all around and where a man could get his salary check cashed and spend it right there on his boon companions, and then go enthusiastically home and break up the furniture and give his wife a black eye; instead of all those manifestations of a care free people which characterized the saloon day we now have nothing but gloom. We see men going quietly into butcher-shop and grocery store or department store to get their weekly salary checks cashed and then going moodily home with shoes for the children and beefsteak for supper and the fixings for a heavy Sunday dinner the next day, and you know instinctively that there will be no hilarity in that home that night and nothing to cheer the lives of these people except such sober activities as mother may introduce into the family circle.

There is nothing in that family to look forward to except a comfortable Sunday dinner and maybe church in the morning and Sunday school, possibly a decorous ride around town in their automobile in the afternoon.

Then Monday they begin the same round all over again and spend the next week doing nothing but working and playing and riding and eating and sleeping and buying new clothes and taking music lessons and going to parties and theatres and overfeeding each other at dinners, and during the livelong week father never comes home and breaks in the door with a warwhoop and goes to smashing up the furniture, or caressing mother with his doubled-up fist and kicking little Tommy just to see what little Tommy would do and doing other things to show the pride of strong manhood that used to be in him in the days before Prohibition came and killed everything in Kansas. And yet there are some who are asking other states to ruin themselves in this absurd, dreary way.

Don't Knock.

"Life is short and time is fleeting—
Don't Knock.
Hence I say and keep repeating,
It's a habit blamed disgusting;
Better far be up and dusting—
Don't Knock.
Who are you? And what's your pleasure?
Don't Knock.
Slandering the other fellow
Always shows a streak of yellow,
Those who reach an old age mellow
Don't Knock.
Have you valued goods to barter,
Don't Knock.
Tell about them for a starter
There are persons I could mention,
Who are devils at invention,
Lying to divert attention—
Don't Knock.

An organized effort is being made in Baltimore city and Baltimore county to take militant measures for destroying the disease carrying insects. This summer is branded as a genuine mosquito season. The physicians urge the people to get rid of every poorly drained water pipe or gutter. Banish tin cans which, when half full of water breed mosquitoes by the thousands, and put coal oil into places where it is not possible to entirely drain off the stagnant water. Inspector Woodall made a dashing raid on a number of pools and swampy places on the outskirts of Baltimore and spread petroleum over the water, thereby insuring the death of every embryo mosquito therein. It is up to every householder to swat the fly and kill the mosquito and destroy its breeding places and thus avoid a possible epidemic of typhoid fever.

Buy Your Roofing on Proof—Not Claim

The one and only basis on which you can afford to choose your roofing is that of proof—proof of what it has done, not claims of what it may do.

Do not be deceived by extravagant claims and high-sounding guarantees. They are merely made for lack of proofs of what a roofing has done. Insist upon seeing roofs that have given satisfaction for years.

We can point out roofs of proof, right near you, where Neponset PAROID Roofing has lasted as long as the highest-grade shingles. It has been on Government buildings, dairy barns, stables, poultry buildings and railroad and industrial buildings everywhere for over a decade. We have been in one line of business for over a century and the experience gained in all that time is back of

NEPONSET PAROID ROOFING

NEPONSET Roofings enable you to choose the roofing that best meets your needs. There are different roofings for different types of buildings.

NEPONSET PAROID Roofing for barns and general farm buildings. Slate in color. Does not taint rain water. Resists fire.

For such poultry buildings, brooder houses, sheds and temporary buildings as require low cost roofing, you will find that NEPONSET RED-ROPE Roofing lasts three times longer than tarred felts.

NEPONSET PROSLATE Roofing and Siding for residences and all buildings requiring an artistic roof or siding. Rich brown in color, much more attractive and lasting than shingles.

Each roll of Bird NEPONSET Roofing contains directions for laying and complete fixtures, including square metal caps.

NEPONSET WATERPROOF Building Paper under clapboards, shingles, slate, metal, etc., insulates against exterior cold, heat and dampness. It costs little and cuts the fuel bill one-third every winter.

F. W. BIRD & SON, East Walpole, Mass.

We have in stock a full line of ready-made granitized roofing at wholesale prices. Our roofing has stood the test for years, which is a convincing argument. The U. S. Government has used over a million square feet in Panama. Price. 1-ply, $1.18; 2-ply, $1.38; 3-ply, $1.48, from stock.

THE REPUBLICAN,
Oakland, Md.

THURSDAY, JULY 16. 1914.

WHAT is the country coming too? A Kansas court has ruled that boarders may sue the landlady if made ill by the cooking.

IT WILL take more than the statement of President Wilson to relieve the democratic party of the imputation that it is the foe of business.

DO not forget that the Garrett county Fair will be held from September 30th to Oct. 3. Begins on Wednesday morning and closing Friday night. The premium list will be ready for mailing shortly.

COL. Theodore Roosevelt will play a prominent part in the National Star Spangled Banner Centennial celebration to be held in Baltimore, September 6 to 13, according to plans made by the directors of the celebration.

THE Missouri women win. The suffrage amendment goes on the ballot for the November election. And no windows were smashed or houses burned either. There will be something doing in Missouri from now until election day.

OUTSIDE of the South, we do not believe Wilson could carry a single State to-day. Half of the South would forsake him if the people there were given a fair opportunity to express their honest convictions.

THE REPUBLICAN is receiving some appreciative comments for its stand on the Local Option issue and for its zeal in the overthrow of the saloon. We appreciate the kind words very much, but confess that the new subscriptions which accompany the compliments are greatly enjoyed.

THE Interstate Commerce Commission show that tor the year just ended there were 10,150 killed by railroads of this country and that more than 190,000 were injured in the same period. The figures as to the number killed and injured indicate the railroads are more deadly than war, pestilence and famine combined.

CORN is selling in Kansas at about seven cents more per bushel than wheat. It is claimed that a large amount of wheat will be fed to stock, because of the small crop of corn in several sections of the country. The present indications are that there will be a large foreign demand for American wheat.

MR. WILSON has been used all his lifetime to have his statements and declarations go unchallenged. Now, when he goes up against real facts and people take issue with him, he cries out that the criticism to which his acts are subjected is unfair. As the executive of a college, Wilson was a success, as the executive of a great nation, he is a rank and dismal failure.

THE HARD lines in which the people of the country now find themselves results from the untortunate division of the Republicans in 1912, but the experience, while a sad one, will teach a lesson not to be forgotten in two generations. The get-together movement is now in full swing, and when the ballots are counted in November it will be found that the Wilson policy of "watching and waiting" has been repudiated.

THE death of Horace Harmon Lurton, Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court, at Atlantic City, N. J., Sunday is a public loss. Mr. Lurton was appointed Justice by President Taft. He was born in Kentucky and was a confederate soldier. He participated in some of the most important cases ever handed down from the Supreme Court. The interment took place at Clarksville, Tenn.

As the time for the congressional primaries draw near candidates will file their names with the several boards of Election Supervisors of their respective districts. The first candidate of either party in the Sixth Maryland district to enter the race is Brainard H. Warner, Jr., of Montgomery county, made a deposit with the Supervisors of Washington county as a Republican candidate in the congressional primaries. There is nothing like getting in the ring at an early date.

Be a Worker! Talk Up Go to Church! Get Your Neighbor to Go!

GO TO CHURCH. Be a worker in the GO TO CHURCH campaign.

This GO TO CHURCH movement is a campaign more important than all the presidential campaigns. In a presidential campaign you get worked up to a high pitch of enthusiasm, exhorting and advancing arguments for your favorite candidate. Here is a chance for you to display your enthusiasm and argumentative powers. If you GO TO CHURCH your work is not finished. You can do a great deal more.

GET YOUR NEIGHBOR TO GO. TALK UP THE GO TO CHURCH MOVEMENT. THERE ARE MANY EFFECTIVE WAYS IN WHICH YOU CAN DO THIS. SANDWICH YOUR TALK ABOUT THE BASEBALL SCORES WITH A FEW REMARKS ABOUT THE GO TO CHURCH MOVEMENT. MAKE AN OCCASIONAL ENGAGEMENT FOR "AFTER CHURCH SUNDAY." NOW THAT THE GO TO CHURCH MOVEMENT HAS HAD A HEALTHY START KEEP IT MOVING. DON'T LET IT DIE OUT. WHENEVER AN ITEM IN THE NEWSPAPERS ON INCREASED CHURCH ATTENDANCE OR THE GO TO CHURCH MOVEMENT STRIKES YOUR EYE CALL YOUR NEIGHBOR'S ATTENTION TO IT.

Always be quick to RUSH TO THE DEFENSE of the church and churchgoing. There are always to be found in every community persons ever ready to make a joke of the church, churchgoers and the churchgoing movement. Go after these persons. Don't let them get away with it. If you can't convince them that the church and churchgoers are all right make them cease their insults. There is too much fun poked at the church these days. Even the churchgoing man is tempted to join in the laugh which greets some cheap joker who attacks sacred things. Honor to the man who rebuffs the cheap wit. Secretly his fellows will admire him for it.

GO TO CHURCH next Sunday!

GO TO CHURCH every Sunday!

Be a missionary by getting your neighbor to GO TO CHURCH!

IN THE face of conditions as they actually exist to-day, when hundreds of thousands of men are out of employment, it requires an extra strong and brave desciple of Ananias to make the statement that business is good. Now and then a blinded partisan of the administration will say that things look good to him and he may be honest when he says it, but investigation will almost invariably show that he belongs to the "non-producing" element of the community, the kind that sit upon a store box from day to day and is not concerned "whether school keeps or not."

THE agricultural resources of Garrett county are among the best in the State. Our farmers are industrious, enterprising and intelligent and but need the stimulus of friendly rivalry to bring their productions up to the highest state ot perfection. The object of the fair is to create such rivalry by bringing the best products of our farm together to show the public that our producers are not behind those of other sections of the State and the country in wresting riches from the soil and producing wealth by skillful exercise of the brain and brawn of the mountaineers who inhabit the great county of Garrett.

CONGRESSMAN LEWIS, who voted for the Underwood tariff bill, will have a hard time convincing his constituents that his vote upon that measure was in their interest. He will likewise find that a real and not a "psychological condition" of continued high prices and lowered wages exists in his district, and this will be another subject upon which he will find his constituents rather "touchy," and not easily convinced that his continued membership in Congress is for their benefit. In fact, we believe, that Mr. Lewis' days in Congress are numbered. This is a protection district and a free trader as its representative simply misrepresents the wishes and sentiments of its people.

THE wing of the democratic party which is now in the saddle in Washington never did believe in business, either big or little. It was raised to believe that the southern planter and aristocrat constituted the only element of society that was to be considered, and that anybody engaged in trade, or by stress of circumstances required to do manual labor for a living, occupied a station in the community which forfeited all rights to consideration for his welfare. Mr. Wilson, as the head and front of this section of his party, is naturally out of sympathy with the business interests of his party.

WHOEVER the Republican nominee for Congress in the Sixth District may be, he can count upon an old fashioned majority from Garrett county. We are for protection, and for an advocate of protection, in this "neck of the woods," to represent us at Washington. We are against any candidate, no matter from what party or what county he may hail, who is not a protectionist first, last and all the time. Our people believe in taking care of home first and are opposed to the man who advocates any pohcy which takes from them the opportunity to work and receive the highest measure of wage for the service rendered. Mr. Lewis, in line with Mr. Wilson, advocates and voted for practical free trade, and he is partly responsible for the hard times we are having to-day. Mr. Lewis is out of tune and not in harmony with the interests of his constituents, and they will see to it that he retires.

POLITICAL STRAWS.

The Grafton, W. Va., Sentinel says: One of the most prominent, successful and wide awake business men of Grafton recently remarked that "I was born a Democrat and like most fools have almost invariably voted the Democratic ticket constantly because I had been taught and believed that Democrats were more honest than Republicans. But I have observed that when Republicans are in power business is good and we are kept busy, and as soon as a Democratic administration gets in the money stops From this time on I am going to vote the Republican ticket even though I may be a Democrat at heart."

Hon. George J. Kindel Democratic member of Congress from Colorado has become so thoroughly disgusted with his party's utter incompetence to control the affairs of this great nation that he last Thursday openly announced in Congress that he was done forever with Democracy and would be henceforth an Independent in politics, and then deliberately deserted his seat on the Democratic side of the House of Representatives and went over on the Republican side and took a new seat. Part of his statement on the occasion is worthy of the thought and consideration of every citizen, Democrat or Republican. Of the President he said: "President Wilson may know all about the syntax of Greek verbs, but he does not know anything about the many practical questions confronting the American people."

The New York Sun published the following from its Washington bureau: "Democratic leaders from the South are stunned by news from the Third Louisiana district where the Democratic Congressional Committee went over to the Progressive party in a body. Louisiana Democrats are out of tune with the Wilson Administration and are ripe for a revolt. The split is expected to extend throughout the state and may result in the election of three Progressive Congressmen from Louisiana. Another development which greatly grieved Democratic leaders was the announcement that George K. Kindel, a Democratic member of the House, has quit the party and will in future operate in politics as an independent. Mr. Kindel will appear on the stump for Republican candidates this year.

"Mr. Kindel will begin operations in opposition to Representative David J. Lewis of the Sixth Congressional District of Maryland who has advised the postmaster general on questions relating to the parcel post. The Colorado representative will illustrate his address in Mr. Lewis' district and elsewhere with a stereoptican outfit in an effort to give a pictorial representation of the ills that he believes have visited the country since the Democrats came into power.

Perhaps the clearest indication of what may happen in the next national election is given by the recent primaries at Gary and Indiana Harbor, Ind., great industrial centers. The Progressives carried both these steel towns in the last election. Since then, for various reasons, work has been "spotty" and scarce. The steel companies and allied industries have been unable to keep the mills and manufactories busy, and thousands of men were laid off. These cities may be taken as typical industrial centers. In the recent primaries the Republicans received 90 per cent. of the vote in Gary, the Democrats 7 per cent. and the Progressives 3 per cent. In Indiana Harbor the Republicans received 62 per cent. of the vote, the Democrats 6, and the Progressives 2 per cent.

The extravagance and recklessness of the Democratic majority in Congress is calling forth, not only the condemnation of the Republicans, but, as well, that of prominent members of the Democratic party. Congressman J. J. Fitzgerald, one of the Democratic leaders in the House, made a remarkable speech in which he used the most vigorous language possible. Among other things he said:

"You have unnecessarily piled up public expenditures, until the Democratic party is becoming the laughing stock of the country."

He said the Democrats had absolutely disregarded their platform promises to the people to give the conntry an economical administration of the national government, but had failed absolutely to keep faith with the people. He accused them of having made such a horrible mess of it, that he felt like surrendering his position as chairman of the House Committee on Appropriations. He closed his speech by saying: "In a few months I shall be called upon, in the discharge of my official duties, to review the record that this Democratic House shall have made in its expenditures of the public monies. Whenever I think of the horrible mess that I shall be called upon to present to the country on behalf of the Democratic party I am tempted to quit my place."

The State Board is going to send a man to Garrett county to pick up automobile drivers who exceed the speed limit, and those who do not have markers on the front as well as on the rear of their car. One arrest was made last week because the auto had no license tag on it. This law is being enforced. A word to the wise is sufficient.

D. E. Bolden has an advertisement of his business house in THE REPUBLICAN this week. The several floors of his large building are well stocked with full lines of merchantable goods, to please the most fastidious, and you will enjoy a visit to and through Mr. Bolden's establishment. We advise our readers throughout the country when in town to call at the store and see what is to be seen. You will be treated just right.

During the cherrypicking season which closed last week, Mr. A. J. Alexander of near Accident, was a daily visitor to Oakland, bringing with him upon each visit many gallons of delicious cherries which he sold to the people of town at an advanced price simply because they were nicely handled and delivered free of stems. During the season Mr. Alexander estimated his pick at about 400 gallons.

Rev. Dr. Moore, president of the Local Option League of Garrett county, and his associates are planing wisely the campaign throughout the county. Most through work is being done all over the county.

Dr. Arche C. Hall, Chief Surgeon for Dudge Bros. Works, Detroit, Mich., was in this city last week in his Overland car. Dr. Hall is well known about town. In other days he played base ball with our boys. Later he was a student at Buckhannon and Morgantown, W. Va. He was pleased to note the beauty of this mountain city and the many advantages its citizens enjoy, especially the delightful State road.

Next September the dog tax collectors will call on you. Get your money ready or loose your dog. The constable must collect the tax or give up his job, or if he fails to collect the tax and does not kill the dogs and, it can be proven that the untaxed dogs kill sheep the bondsmen of the constable must pay for the sheep killed. It is a very drastic law and spells business in a very emphatic manner. Some people think the law will not be enforced. This is a mistake, it was passed to be enforced, as was the law against horse stealing. The enforcement of the law is not optionable with the constable any more than is the law referring to horse stealing.

OPTOMETRIST

IS Your Child Handicapped in his or her physical and mental development by defective vision? Out of 100,000 school children exammed in New York city, nearly 50 per cent. were found to be in need of glasses. In Boston the percentage was found to be slightly over 20 per cent., and most of these children were down on the books as "stupid," "stubborn" or unruly. In Philadelphia 354 children were discovered who could not read ordinary writing on a blackboard at a distance of twenty feet. You should make sure by a thorough examination at the hands of a competent optometrist. That your child is not among this vast army of little citizens who suffer from defective eyesight, delays often result seriously. My examinations are made by the most scientific accurate methods. If it is found that glasses are not required you will be told so frankly and no charge made for the examination.

JURY STARTS ON BAILEY MURDER

Important Witnesses to Be Called Tomorrow

MRS. CARMAN WILL TESTIFY

Prosecutor Smith Criticised For Giving Accused Woman Privilege of Appearing Before Inquisitorial Body—Dr. Carman and Sister In-Law Must Sign Waivers of Immunity Before Appearing as Witnesses.

Freeport, N. Y., July 14.—The grand jury began on the Bailey case this afternoon. The first witnesses called were the members of the family of Mrs. Bailey.

Tomorrow the state's more important witnesses will be called. Among them will be Celia Coleman, the colored maid. Just how strong Celia's testimony will be Prosecutor Smith would not state.

Mrs. Carman will testify before the grand jury. This has been decided upon by Mr. Smith. Her lawyer is anxious for the grand jury to hear the woman herself explain away all the circumstantial evidence that the district attorney has built against her. Her remarkable personality, her coolness under fire and her ability to think quickly have caused many persons who have been following the case closely to believe that Mr. Smith has made a strategical mistake.

If Dr. Carman takes the stand he will be asked first to sign a waiver of immunity.

Before Mrs. Ida Powell, sister of Mrs. Carman, takes the stand before the grand jury she will be asked to sign a similar waiver.

District Attorney Smith decided upon these two moves after he had spent a long time considering his theory of the crime and the lack of knowledge displayed at the coroner's inquest by the husband and sister of Mrs. Florence Carman, now in Mineola jail accused of the murder of Mrs. Louise Bailey.

The district attorney decided upon the waivers after a thorough study of the case. The application of the law shows that if Mrs. Carman is being shielded from the consequences of the murder which the state alleges she committed the person who is shielding her is as guilty of the crime as she is.

His action as regards Dr. Carman applies particularly to the physician's refusal so far to tell of all his movements from the time of the murder, which was in the neighborhood of 8 p. m. Tuesday evening, June 30, until Wednesday evening, when Mrs. Carman was for the first time suspected of having killed Mrs. Bailey.

Elwood T. Bardes, who except for Celia Coleman, maid in the Carman house at the time of the shooting, is the state's star witness, underwent a more severe ordeal than he will ever have to face in court. George M. Levy, counsel for Mrs. Carman, grilled him for three hours.

Mr. Levy said after the grilling of Bardes: "I have proved that Bardes is an unmitigated liar, a thief and a forger."

The district attorney said: "I gave Mr. Levy all the rope he wanted and he failed to show that Bardes had ever been convicted of a crime. Not only that but he failed to show that Bardes had even been indicted. To my mind Bardes is proved worthy of belief."

BOMB EXPLODES IN TRAIN

English Mail Clerk Seriously Injured by Suffragette's Explosive.

London, July 14.—A railway clerk on a mail car on the Midland railway was seriously injured when a suffragette bomb, which had been secreted in a package, exploded in a mail bag near Manchester. Seven bags of mail were destroyed and the mail car was wrecked.

When Annie Bell, the militant suffragette, was arraigned for trying to destroy Archdeacon Wilberforce's famous old church of St. John the Evangelist, Westminster, with a bomb, she said "The only thing I regret is that the beastly thing didn't go off."

VICTIM A POLISH WOMAN

Mohawk River Mystery Cleared Up by District Attorney.

Schenectady, N. Y., July 14.—The Mohawk river mystery, which has been puzzling the authorities for several weeks, is believed to have been solved.

District Attorney Blessing announced that he was positive that the victim of the tragedy was a Polish woman known as Eva and employed as attendant at the Hotel Foster in this city for two weeks and that her slayer, whose name he is withholding, is now in New York city, where he went ten days after the murder was committed.

NO DISTURBANCES IN ULSTER

Boyne Celebration Passes Without Anything Serious Occurring.

Belfast, July 14.—The celebration of the anniversary of the battle of the Boyne at Londonderry passed off without any disturbances.

The police kept order and were ably assisted by the Ulster and Nationalist volunteer pickets, who had evidently received orders to do all in their power to prevent a clash between the Orangemen and the Catholics.

Five thousand Orangemen marched out to Glen Dermott, two miles distant, where exercises were held. On their return they passed the Nationallsts' quarter, but there was no fighting. Meanwhile pickets of the Nationalist and Ulster volunteers took care of any drunken men they found on the streets.

Police stopped a motorcar which was about to enter a Nationalist street because it was flying the Union Jack. The Nationalist volunteer pickets assisted the police in keeping any trouble makers out of the Nationalist quarter.

A crowd of roughs awaited the return of the parade on Waterloo place, where there was a fierce struggle on Boyne day last year. The roughs were looking for trouble, but the police, who were again helped by the Nationalist pickets, kept them back when they made an attempt to break into the procession.

M'REYNOLDS MAY SUCCEED

Attorney General Likely to Sit on Supreme Bench.

Washington, July 14.—Attorney General James C. McReynolds probably will be appointed to the supreme court to succeed Justice Lurton, who died at Atlantic City.

The president has not definitely decided as yet to send the name of Mr. McReynolds to the senate, but there are strong reasons for believing that the attorney general ultimately will be his selection.

The only man whom the president has considered with the same degree of favor as Mr. McReynolds is Secretary of War Lindley M. Garrison. The secretary was eliminated, however, by the realization on the president's part that the Mexican situation contains too many possibilities for him to be willing to dispense with the services of his secretary of war.

Philadelphia, July 14.—Two-year-old Nancy Carpenter, heiress to millions and niece of United States Senator Henry A. Du Pont of Delaware, was drowned in a shallow pool on the estate of her uncle, Pierre S. Du Pont, at Kennett Square, Pa.

The child was the daughter of R. R. M. Carpenter, a banker of Wilmington, Del. The accident happened during a brief absence of the child's nurse.

CARBAJAL MAY RESIGN HIS SEAT

Man Chosen to Succeed Huerta Wants Harmony First

CARRANZA WILL NOT MEDIATE

Constitutionalist Generals Unanimous on Proposition to Fight Their Way Into Mexico City—Fall of San Luis Potosi Will Be Signal For General Advance by All Rebel Forces on the Capital.

Mexico City, July 14.—Hopes that there would be a peaceful transference of authority in Mexico is rapidly fading away.

Reports that Carranza will not accept Francisco Carbajal as provisional president has caused pessimism here. Carbajal announced that unless there was an immediate understanding between Huerta and Carranza he would resign as foreign minister in the new cabinet.

It is known that the United States and all factions in Mexico who favored peace had pinned their hopes on Carbajal, who, it was tacitly agreed, was to succeed to the presidency by the resignation of Huerta.

It is authoritatively reported here also that Carranza has notified the United States that he will not parley with any Huerta delegates and would accept only terms of absolute surrender, in accordance with the "Plan of Guadalupe." This may have been responsible for the announcement by Foreign Minister Carbajal.

Huerta, it was understood, had agreed to formally abdicate within a few days. Carbajal then was to treat with the Carranzalsts, not as the successor of Huerta, but as the representative of the political faction which the dictator represents. It had been hoped that in this way Carranza's objections to parley would be overcome and that the Constitutionalists would come into their own in Mexico without the reign of bloodshed that would be an almost certain feature of the "Plan of Guadalupe."

Carranza Will Fight It Out.

El Paso, Tex., July 14.—The Constitutionalists will accept only terms of absolute surrender from the Huerta government now, agents of Carranza assert. The fall of Mexico City by assault is the only thing possible.

Constitutionalist generals have wired to their chief that the fighting must go on and mediation be ignored.

Carbajal nor any other official who may be named by the Huerta administration will be dealt with by the Constitutionalists except in arms.

Constitutionalist officers here credit the reports that Huerta is to resign in favor of Francisco Carbajal and declare that their agents have telegraphed them that his resignation will come Thursday.

They assert that Huerta is putting to death many political prisoners in Mexico City every day, getting rid of as many of his enemies as possible before he gives up the reigns of government and sails for Europe.

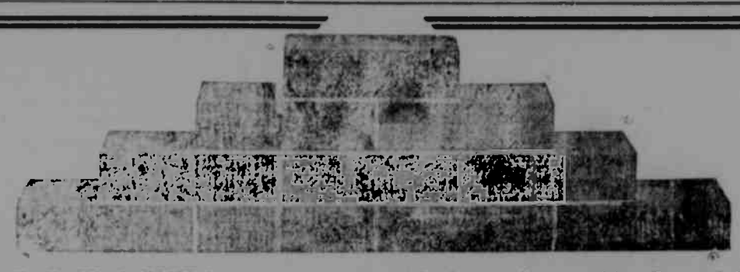
Fighting is going on at San Luis Potosi, capital of the Mexican state of the same name. In other parts of Mexico perfect quiet remains, according to advices to Constitutionalists here.

With the fall of San Luis Potosi Villa is to return south with his forces and Obregon is to begin moving south also from Guadalajara. The three armies, commanded by Gonzales, Obregon and Villa, are then to advance in a fanlike formation against Mexico City.

There they expect the Huerta troops to make their final stand at Quaratero or Colaya, although the rebel commanders have been advised that Huerta is making heroic preparations to defend Mexico City. Mines are being placed in every direction around the Mexican capital and artillery is being placed in advantageous positions also.

WOMAN NOT IN IT

Third Man May Be Arrested In Pittsburgh Bank Robbery.



Pittsburgh, July 14.—Officials of the Colonial Trust company denied that a woman would be arrested in connection with the theft of the $85,000 trust fund of the Freehold bank, charged with which Herman F. Borchers, second assistant treasurer and paying teller, and George W. Hoffmeister, auditor, were arrested.

They referred to a report that a woman, said to have secured for the accused pair a duplicate key to the safety deposit box from which the money was taken, and another man, said to have been a conspirator in the case, were about to be taken into custody.

They refused to confirm the report concerning the man although they practically admitted a third man was under observation. However, they said they did not have enough evidence to convict a third person.

MORGAN BOOKS NOT EASY OF INSPECTION

No Satisfaction For Commerce Board; New Haven Report

Washington, July 14.—In its report on the New Haven railroad probe the interstate commerce commission publishes as an appendix correspondence that passed between J. P. Morgan and Commissioner McChord on the subject of an examination of the Morgan firm's books.

It was disclosed that the commission was obliged to withdraw its expert because of dissatisfaction over the access given.

The commission sent an expert accountant to the office of J. P. Morgan & Co. after Mr. Morgan had made a public statement in which he said:

"The records of my fund and the personal records of my father are still intact; they are ready for production before any proper tribunal at any time."

The interstate commerce commission in its report held the directors of the old management of the New Haven railroad criminally negligent and subject to prosecution under the Sherman anti-trust and other laws.

The commission finds that the late J. P. Morgan and Charles H. Mellen dominated the affairs of the New Haven road and that the other members of the board of directors submitted to the will of these two. The commission refers repeatedly, however, to the New Haven directorate and officers as the "Mellen-Morgan-Rockefeller management."

The commission estimates that between $70,000,000 and $90,000,000 has been lost to the New Haven stockholders through waste and impairment under the old management. It expresses the opinion that a part at least of this amount should be recovered from the individual directors and others.

"The result of our research in the financial workings of the former management of the New Haven system," says the report, "has been to disclose one of the most glaring instances of maladministration revealed in all the history of American railroads."

The commission characterizes the New Haven monopoly as thoroughly corrupt. The report contains one bright ray, however. It says:

"The splendid property of the New Haven railroad itself will be called upon for many a year to make up the drain upon its resources resulting from the unpardonable folly of the transactions outside the proper field in which its stockholders supposed their money was invested. But honesty and efficiency of management of this property of the railroad only will undoubtedly in time restore its former standing."

The commission has put the matter of criminal proceedings up to Attorney General McReynolds by referring to him a complete record of the testimony taken.

POET PLANS ST. LOUIS FETE.

Percy Mackaye to Have Airship as Part of Big Civic Spectacle.

New York.—Percy Mackaye, poet and playwright, has been in consultation here with aviation experts as to the selection of an aeroplane and pilot to take part in the great civic spectacle, part of which he is preparing for St. Louis in connection with the celebration this summer of the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the settlement of white men on the site of that city.

Mr. Mackaye's part in the celebration is the staging of his work, "The Masque of St. Louis." The spirit of the mound builders, who is made happy by the appearance of a child of a new race restoring civilization; spirits representing the Mississippi river and the nations of Europe, pioneers led by the youthful St. Louis and earth spirits led by Gold, who is conquered by Love and Imagination, are characters to be seen in the spectacle.

The aeroplane is to represent a giant eagle, the emblem of Union, which flies across the scene at the close of the spectacle. It is likely that a biplane will be chosen for this purpose.

FLIES CAUSED EPIDEMIC.

London Government Board Objects to Offending Dust Heap.

London.—An outbreak of enteritis occurred last summer among the children in the Southwark infirmary, and nine died. The epidemic was definitely traced to the presence near the infirmary of the Camberwell borough council's dump for dust and rubbish, which is now taken to a railway siding at East Dulwich railway station, close to the infirmary.

The local government board has again called upon the Camberwell borough council to make other arrangements for the removal of its dust and rubbish.

Dr. Bruce, the medical superintendent, declared that the cause of the outbreak was to be found in the dust siding. During hot weather, he said, the institution swarmed with flies, and the children's wards were unbearable.

Dr. Fletcher, a local government board inspector, supported Dr. Bruce, but the borough council for the second time declined to take action and merely acknowledged the board's letter.

UNWORKED INDIAN MOUNDS ARE FOUND

Six Groups With No Previous Record Located In Wisconsin.

Madison, Wis.—Rich Indian finds have been made recently in three counties of northern Wisconsin.

The Wisconsin Archaeological society is publishing an account of the explorations conducted by two of its members, J. P. Schumacher of Green Bay and W. A. Titus of Fond du Lac, in Portage, Marathon and Lincoln counties recently.

A study was made by these men, both of whom are experienced investigators, of the aboriginal remains still existing about Wausau, Merrill, Tomahawk, Heafford and other places along the upper Wisconsin river.

Near Bradley and Heafford surveys were made of six distinct groups of Indian earthworks of which there had been no previous state record. The largest of these consisted of thirty-three conical and oval mounds. An emblematic mound in one of the groups is the only one of its class as yet located in northern Wisconsin.

It is more than sixty miles north of the northernmost limit of the effigy mound territory. At this place there also exists a fine plot of old Indian garden beds.

In Portage county the work of the investigators was chiefly confined to the regions about Lakes Emily and Onneland, near each of which important discoveries were made.

GROUNDS FOR DIVORCE.

Husband Set Ablaze When Lamp, Hurled at Him, Explodes.

Atlantic City, N. J.—"This makes good evidence upon which I can get a divorce," was the reply of John Hamilton to the police, when they demanded that he sign a complaint against his wife and met with a flat refusal.

The wife, it is alleged, in a rage hurled a lighted lamp at his head, which struck the wall, exploded, fired his clothing and set the furniture and carpets in his home aflame. Firemen found him unconscious on the floor after they had used chemical fluid to conquer the blaze. He was sent to the hospital, where his burns were dressed. His injuries are not serious.

GROCERS ALSO POLICEMEN.

Three Hundred Kansas City Tradesmen Now Prepared For Swindlers.

Kansas City.—Hereafter if the Kansas City, Kan., housewife needs a policeman in a hurry and cannot find one she may call on the corner grocer to protect the family plate. This was made possible when special police commissions were given to 300 grocers.

The grocers want the commissions mainly to arrest check forgers, money order raisers, short change men and others who victimize them, but they will also serve as neighborhood protectors.

Lesson III.—Third Quarter. For July 19, 1914.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Mark x, 46-52. Memory Verses, 51, 52—Golden Text, Isa. xxxv, 5, 6—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

Causing the blind to see, the deaf to hear, the dumb to sing and the lame to walk were samples of what will be more fully when His kingdom comes (Isa. xxxv, 4-6). The blind and all other afflicted ones were physical illustrations of Israel's spiritual condition, and He was as ready to open their eyes as He was literally to open the eyes of a few individuals. But the great ones among them preferred their blindness because all the time they thought they saw clearly. Our Lord called them blind Pharisees, blind leaders of the blind (Matt. xxiii, 26; xv, 14), and when they asked Him, "Are we blind also?" He said unto them, "If ye were blind ye should have no sin, but now ye say, We see; therefore your sin remaineth" (John ix, 40, 41). In their case, as in the case of multitudes today, the god of this world blinded their minds, lest the light of the glorious gospel of Christ, who is the image of God, should shine unto them (II Cor. iv, 4).

Our lesson story is found in Matt. xx, 29-34, as well as in Mark, and is the record of a healing as He left the city of Jericho. He healed another man who was blind as He entered Jericho, and that man followed Him, glorifying God as He entered and passed through Jericho (Luke xviii, 35, to xix, 1). Matthew and Mark both say that the healing of our lesson took place as He departed from Jericho, and Matthew says that there were two blind men. Well, there are no discrepancies and nothing to reconcile. He healed a blind man as He entered Jericho and two more as He left the city, and one of the two was called Bartimaeus, and no doubt there were many more blind people healed at different times (Matt. xi, 15; xii, 22; John ix), and we cannot but rejoice with every poor fellow who received his sight, feel sorry for those who did not and pity the spiritually blind who fancied that they did see, because they were wise in their own estimation.

When the kingdom comes we shall see the King in His beauty, and we shall then think that we never knew Him before. He will be so glorious (Isa. xxxiii, 17, 24; John iii, 1, 2). Every eye shall see Him, either to adore Him and enjoy Him forever or else to see Him and hear Him say, "Depart from me; I never knew you." The cry of the man who was healed as He entered Jericho and that of the others healed as He left the city is so similar that some cannot think that Luke is telling of a separate incident (Matt. xx, 30; Mark x, 47; Luke xviii, 38).

In each event Jesus stood and commanded the man or men to be brought unto Him or called them to Him. Mark says that those who called him said, "Be of good comfort; rise; He calleth thee." That which we have in eight words here is just four words in the Greek.

I envy those who can read the Greek and Hebrew readily; there is such a fullness of meaning in those languages which it is difficult to express in English. There is something very remarkable here, and it is this: The words "Be of good comfort" (Greek "tharsel") are used by our Lord on five different occasions, all exceedingly interesting and helpful, four while He was on earth and once after He returned to heaven (Matt. ix, 2, 22; xiv, 27; John xvi, 33; Acts xxiii, 11). They make a beautiful, helpful Bible study on forgiveness, peace, victory and the purpose of God.

The remarkable thing is that this word, used only elsewhere by our Lord, is used in our lesson by those who called the blind man. I wonder why they should use one of our Lord's special words. I do not understand it. I only note the fact. If it was the disciples who used the word they did it as His representatives, and we think of a later word of His, "As my Father hath sent Me, even so send I you" (John xx, 21). If some of the multitude used the word, then I am perplexed.

Casting away his garment, he came to Jesus, and I expect that he did so very quickly. He knew his need and that there was a deliverer at hand, and he did not hesitate nor make any excuse. He was poor, empty, helpless, ready to receive. In the song of Mary it is written, "He hath filled the hungry with good things, and the rich He hath sent empty away" (Luke, i, 53). It is also written, "Blessed are ye that hunger now, for ye shall be filled" (Luke vi, 21). The poor and the needy are those who obtain help speedily (Ps. lxxii, 4). The rich and the self sufficient and self righteous are the ones whom it is impossible to help.

"What wilt thou that I should do unto thee?" This is the question ever coming to us from Him in whom all fullness dwells, for has He not said, "If ye shall ask anything in My name I will do it;" "If ye abide in Me and My words abide in you ye shall ask what ye will and it shall be done unto you?" (John xiv, 14; xv, 7.) How brief and definite is the blind man's request, "Lord, that I might receive my sight." He did not want five things, nor three, nor two—just one. He knew well what he wanted, and he asked for it. If we knew our need as well and were as definite in our asking, what might we not receive? The longer I live the more clear it seems to me that we have but one great need as believers, and that is to be filled with and controlled by the Holy Spirit.

A number of farmers, from different parts of the county, last week spoke of the preparations they were making for exhibits at the approaching county fair. The interest in the fair is growing daily and the indications are for a greater fair than that held in 1913. Why not? The fair of last year was composed of pick ups, gotten together on short notice. This year there is plenty of time to provide something extra good. We have experience now and know what to do and will do it. Get ready for another big surprise, and great crowds of people.

George D. Hamill, a tailor of Frostburg, has just returned home from a successful business trip through Garrett county, and Allegany county merchants, tailors, painters, etc., are GOING AFTER business all over this county and are getting it. This is an age when business men must go after business or close up their shop. A farmer living near Oakland told the writer that he did not take his butter to the Oakland stores, but packed it in 3, 5 and 10 gallen jars, and each October drives to George's Creek, with from 1500 to 2000 pounds of butter which brought him better prices and the cash. Moral. Advertise your business and push it for all it is worth.

Although a little late, we want to congratulate the Woodmen of the World on the success of their 4th of July picnic at Grantsville. The Myersdale Republican has this to say about it: Independence Day was celebrated with great pomp by an all-day picnic given by the Woodmen of the World in the new picnic grounds back of the Casselman hotel. While the heavy rain in the afternoon brought about a hurried cessation of the day's festivities yet the picnic was a success all the way through, and the merry-making continued uhtil late in the night. About two thousand buns and sixty gallons of ice cream were sold, the buns being made into sandwiches. Coffee, cake and fruit were also served. The Salisbury and Boynton band, assisted by the Lonaconing Orchestra, provided music for the occasion, of a high-class order. In the orange-eating contest. Walter Durst won first prize of $1.00 and Harold Boucher second, 50 cents. The pie-eating contest and races were given up on account of the rain, but the crowd returned again in the evening and enjoyed themselves without these features. Over $400 was taken in, about $100 of which is clear profit, considerable expense having been entailed in the building of a pavilion and stands. People from Frostburg, Addison, Friendsville, Elk Lick, Myersdale, Jennings and many other places were present.

The camp meeting closed Sabbath night. It was a good, spiritual meeting. The preaching was earnest and profitable. Those who preached or took part in the meeting faithfully performed their duty. It was a pleasure once more to meet Dr. Gilbert the sweet singer of other days. A. J. Dolbow was himself, the same happy, hopeful, enthusiastic Andy. To know him and his life is to love him, and to see in him a "brand plucked from the fire." He is a marvel. Those who attended the meeting were greatly profited. The attendance by our Garrett county people it is claimed was the largest in the history of the camp meeting. The services of Sabbath were unusually interesting and profitable. One of the best camp meeting days in the history of the Park.

WHITE CLOTHES HEALTHFUL.

Secretary of Kansas State Board Says Black Attire Means Discomfort.

Topeka, Kan.—Dr. J. C. Crumbine, secretary of the state board of health, would make the main streets of all Kansas towns resemble the promenade of a tropical city.

He has addressed a circular to the men of Kansas asking them to discard their blue and black summer clothing for white. He wears white during the hot season and says it pays. Also, he would discard ice water as a menace to health.

"Women have learned the value of white dresses in the summer time," said Dr. Crumbine, "I can't understand why the men haven't learned the lesson long ago. Anything that resists heat in the summer makes for health. Black, blue or any other dark cloth is a heat absorbent and injurious.

"Our summer temperatures are as high and sometimes higher, than in the tropics. The fact that the air is dryer is all that saves us. White clothes in the tropics are not a whim of fashion. They are a tribute to necessity and health.

"The man in dark, heavy clothing always is rushing to the ice water," continued Dr. Crumbine. "And ten to one he will have a grouch on, while the cool man in white clothing is serene and even tempered. The ice water, dark clothing and the grouch are detrimental to public and private health."

SAYS VICE CRUSADE HARMS.

Poor Girls No Worse Than Others, Adds W. H. Allen.

Madison, Wis.—"We must stop the morbid discussion of vice from the pulpit," Dr. William H. Allen, head of the New York bureau of municipal research, told the anti-vice committee of the Wisconsin legislature. "If discussion of this subject by women and others should be omitted for ten years," he adds, "there would be wholesome improvement.

"This country is about to pay heavily for this anti-vice crusade. It is rankest injustice to poor girls to say that evil exists more among them than among others. There is no evidence that vice is on the increase. It is probably on the decrease."

The Rev. E. G. Updike of the First Congregational church said that moral conditions, notably among university students, are better than twenty years ago, and the conduct of the students is generally good and steadily improving.

The Richardson Stock Co.

We have with us for next week The Richardson Stock Co., which will present the best plays at the Maryland Theatre. This company has in the cast Mr. Monta Bell, as the leading man. The Keyser, W. Va., News has the following to say of this company:

The Richardson Stock Company simply captured the town last night, and to say that they pleased the large audience is putting it entirely too mild. They "had them going" from the very first and there was not a person of average intelligence in the house who did not feel well paid and rejoiced for having been there. Mr. Monte Bell, the young leading man was splendid and soon won the audience. He has a rich mellow voice that is pleasing to hear. Miss Margaret DeVries put over some songs in a captivating manner and Bonnie Vance showed sterling ability as an experienced player of the old school. Miss Billie Brandon, the leading lady is young, good looking and can act and that is about all one could expect. Bill Duling as the heavy or villain, was good.—Advertisement.

Traction Engines Cannot Use Roads.

Judge Henderson in the circuit court of Allegany, in an opinion made perpetual the injunction in the case of Road Directors of Allegany county versus Harry William Yonkers, the State Road Commission, versus Harry William Yonker. The court ordered the costs in both cases to be borne by the complainant. By agreement of counsel the cases were tried together. They involve the right to enjoin the use of a traction engine on the county improved roads in the first case and on a State road in the other. The proof showed that the engine and its trainload as used "produced more than an ordinary amount of wear and tear on the roads.

Judge Henderson directs attention not only to traction engines, but the heavy motor trucks, carrying from five to ten tons seriously injures the road, traveling at 20 to 35 miles an hour. Also the touring car traveling from 40 to 60 miles an hour along these improved roads tears up the roads that costs millions to lay. Such practice the court thinks the Road directors should stop.

A Letter From Ohio.

We take the following extract from a letter to this office, from J. E. Gnagey, of West Milton, Ohio:

We had a very heavy rain, wind and electrical storm yesterday, July 14th, the worst electrical storm I have ever seen; done lots of damage to telephone lines, &c.; burnt one barn that I heard of, may be more; lots of trees blown down and silos moved, and some buildings moved, did not hear of any that were blown down. Farmers are in the midst of wheat threshing, and cutting oats will commence the last of this week, both are above the average; hay was a fairly good crop, some corn is very good and coming in tassels. Our daughter Ada, from Lanark, Ill., and our son Milton and family from Meversdale, Pa., are here now on a visit, which we are enjoying very much. Hope you and all our Garrett county friends are well.

GARRETT GOUNTY AGRICULTORAL EXHIBIT.

Great Preparations Being Made for the Fair of 1914.

The Republican is pleased to announce that the management of the Garrett county fair is busy planing for a successful 1914 fair. The large frame building this year will be given entirely to exhibits. The first floor will be the poultry department, better equipped and with an enlarged and splendid exhibit of prize birds from all over the county. The indication are that this departments, will be one of much interest.

The second floor will be the fruit, grain and vegetable exhibit. From all over the county comes word that preparations are being made for a splendid display on this line. The competion will be great and the exhibits will be large.

On the third floor will be found the womens department. This department will be unusually interesting and in advance of that of 1913. The ladies are at work preparing for a charming exhibit.

The booths will be on the second and third floors. Already has space been reserved. Several merchants will have double the space they used last year. These booths will be tastefully and artistically decorated.

There will be music all through the fair days, by one of the best bands in the State. The contract has not been closed, but it is hoped to secure a band of 32 pieces.

The amusements this year will be most enjoyable and interesting. Baloon ascensions daily, with a four-parachute droop, by an experinced performer. There will be a big Ferris wheel. Everybody can take a ride. There will be no end to merrymaking. Last year was an experiment, this year is to be a success, a great big suceess.

The horse, cattle, sheep and hog exhibit will be an exhibition of what Garrett county is doing in the live stock business. You may expect a surprise in this department. Additional buildings have been erected to shelter the stock.

A member of THE REPUBLICAN staff has been interviewing stockmen, gardeners and farmers from all over the county about exhibits for the fair and finds a general determnation among these gentlemen to be prize winners. They are enthusiastic over the prospects and are preparing to make good exhibits. This leads us to believe that the fair of 1914 is going to be a magnificient exhibition of the resources and capabilities of this mountain county and that it will attract the greatest number of people ever seen in Oakland.

THE ARMY WORM AT WORK

Great Destruction Being Wrought By Pest In Certain Sections

The Army worm is getting so numerous on the Davis Farm and on H. B. Smith's farm near Keyser, W. Va., that they are using arsenic of lead to kill them. They appeared in the last few days by the thousands and are fast killing the corn and destroying the meadows. Already several acres have been killed. They begin to work three o'clock in the afternoon and work hard until morning. The worm has also appeared in Allegany county. Garrett county farmers had better keep a watch for the worm.

The following mixture for destroying the army worm has been endorsed by the United States Department of Agriculture: 1 pound of paris green (poison), 50 pounds of wheat bran, and juice of half-dozen oranges. Dilute with molasses sufficient to bring mixture to a stiff dough and scatter among the worms.

What the Parcel Post Does.

A country store keeper in West Virginia is also postmaster. The postoffice is worth about $20 dollars a year. He sold four barrels of flour recently to a grocer at Berkley Springs, W. Va., and shipped the flour in sacks, from his store by parcel post to the purchaser, at a cost of $11.69 in stamps. The 32 sacks were hauled eight miles by a R. F. D. carrier and 18 miles by train. Fourth class postmasters are allowed the cancellations up to $50, so this store keeper will have this $11,69 postage paid back to him, which will add largely to his profits on that sale. The parcel post will be a valuable asset to the country storekeepers who are postmasters.

Trip Around The World.

Tuesday, Aug 4th, under the auspices of the Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist church of this city, a trip will be made around the world, which means, in your imagination, that a visit will be paid to several foreign cities and while in these cities a meal will be eaten, such as is enjoyed by the residents of those cities. You need not cross the briny deep, nor enjoy sea sickness, or pay a large sum for your passage. The vessels that will carry the happy excursionists of this trip, will be automobiles and hay wagons, under the management of safe captains, of large experience. The fare will be only fifty cents for the round trip. There is no danger of high seas, nor icebergs, or dangerous fogs. It will be a few hours of rich enjoyment, with genial passengers. Make all your plans to enjoy this trip around the world and forever thereafter live hapily. For further particulars see small bills

Picnic at Reynolds.

Last week Miss Helen Laffey, of Frankville, gave an all-day picnic at Reynolds. Games, music and dancing were indulged in until a late hour. Miss Laffey, assisted by the chaperone, Mrs. Hugh H. Crouch, proved a charming hostess to her large number of friends. Among those present were: Misses Clara Tibbet, Marguerite Cleary and Pearl Wolfe of Bloomington; Carrie and Verna Walker, of Blaine; Ellen and Julia Kerins, of Oakland and Mr. James Treacy of Oakland.

Miss Laffey was also accompanied by her sisters, Misses Grace and Ada, and brothers, Michael and Harry Laffey.

I have for private sale the following stock which must be sold soon: One brown mare 8 years old, a good driver; 1 black Percheron mare colt, 4 months old; 1 bay colt, 1 month old; excellent driving stock. This stock can be seen at the Uplands Cottage, Deer Park, Md. S. S. SAVEDGE.—Advertisement.

A NEW MINE OPENED IN GARRETT COUNTY

Davis Coal and Coke Company Tap a Large Area in Maryland

To tap a large vein of Garrett county coal, which has proven by test to be first class in every respect, the Davis Coal & Coke Company has built a standard gauge railroad beginning at Wilsonia, a distance of about three miles to the new town, near Fairfax Stone, where a shaft has been sunk and it is believed that in a few years this will be one of the main coal and coke works on the Western Maryland Railway.

Already thirty-six substantial houses have been erected and quite a number more will be erected in the near future for mine employes.

Small Town Neighbors.

Those who are doubtful about the joys of living in a small town, says the Kansas City Times, listen to what Lee Shippey has to to say on the subject in the Higginsville Jeffersonian: "This is the time of year when life is pleasantest in a country town and neigbors are most neighborly. We can sit on our porches in the cool of the evening and 'visit,' we can exchange greetings with all who pass, and all the summer long we live in a pleasant atmosphere of human fellowship."

The account next pictures the coming of a neighbor bearing a vessel filled "with new potatoes, stringbeans, beets, lettuce or some other honest joy of life fresh plucked from that kind of neighbor's garden. And on the morrow the good wife returns the vessel, laden with cherries from our trees. And each time the bearer of gifts lingers for a pleasant chat. Ah, yes; we small town folks come far nearer than do most of our city friends to loving our neighbors as ourselves."

Died By Inches.

Funeral services over the remains of the late John Barleycorn, who passed away at his West Virginia residence on November 4th 1912, were held from his late home Tuesday evening, June 30th, 1914. Interment was made in Prohibition Cemetery. The services were public with the sermon by Rev. D. R. Y. Voter, assisted by Rev. T. Totaler.

John Barleycorn was in the forty-ninth year of his age. He had enjoyed splendid health until about two years previous to his death, when he became afflicted with a severe attack of Antisaloonitis while attending the 1911 session of the state legislature. From that time on he declined rapidly, and it occasioned no surprise when death overtook him in the fall of the following year.—Wheeling News.

Among the relatives to survive him are as follows, Mr. Club House, Mr. Speak easy, Mr. Corner Drug Store add Mr. Bootlegger.

WHISKEY SHIPMENT IN COURT

Drastic Ruling On Shipments fO Liquor Into West Virginia.

Charleston, W. Va.,—Circuit Judge Samuel Littlepage granted an injunction returnable at the August rules against R. H. Clendennin, the Adams Express Company, its agents and representatives and Edward Beigel, from delivering to Clendennin a barrel of beer shipped by Edward Beigel, representing the Pabst Brewing Company of Cincinnati, on the ground that it was a violation of prohibition laws of West Virginia. Clendennin ordered the beer on blanks mailed by Belgie from Cincinnati. The injunction was asked for by Fred. O. Blue, commissioner of prohibition. The injunction requires "the consignee of any such liquors to show to the satisfacsion of the express company, its agents representatives or employes, that he, without solicitation from said Reigel, or any of his agents, representatives or employes ordered the consignment of liquors for his personal lawful use, without having received from said Beigel, or any of his employes, advertisements or letters soliciting orders for liquors," etc. The express company is declared to be a common nuisance so far as it may undertake to handle or deliver any liquors for Beigel.

Commissioner Blue contends that the decision of the Supreme Court of Kentucky, of the United States Supreme Court in a case coming up from South Dakota and the Webb-Kenyon law furnish ground and precedent for the issuing of the injunction.

It is not contended that it is a violation to send advertisements through the mails, but it is contended that if such advertisements and order blanks are result of orders being placed with the soliciting company, and shipments made that a sale has been consummated when the liquors are delivered and therefore a violation of the West Virginia law.

If the above is correct, the shipmentment of liquors from Oakland, on orders received from circulars mailed from here, is a violation of the law. We are glad to see that the West Virginia officials are on their job and are enforcing the law. Success to them.

$500,000,000 For Roads.

The most sweeping plan for highway improvement formally presented to Congress in recent years was approved when the Senate Committee on Postoffices and Post Roads, by a vote of 8 to 4, decided to report the socalled Bourne plan for a possible issue of $500,000,000 Federal bonds to raise funds for loans to the States. The bill also provides for an immediate Federal appropriation of 2 per cent. of the total amount as maintenance fund.

Facts and Incidents Worth Repeating Original and Selected.

The conversion of the Waynesburg brewery into an ice cream factory marks the passing of the only booze making establishment in Greene county and leaves the district without a single place where liquor of any description is either manufactured or sold legally.

On Monday five barrels of whiskey consigned to M. J. Miller's Sons, Piedmont, were seized under warrant by Sheriff C. E. Nethkin at the B. & O. station.

Prohibition may not prohibit in West Virginia, but it is giving the whiskevites a tremenduous amount of trouble. finding bondsmen to keep out of jail, in fact all over the State men are being jailed for violating the law and great quantities of liquor are being confiscated. Five cases of beer shipped from Cumberland to a Piedmont man was captured and taken to the jail for safe keeping until court.

An effort is being made to have Dr. Hare deliver an address at the Swanton picnic next month. May the effort be successful, and if it is, we advise everybody who can attend that picnic to do so. It will be a day well spent, a most enjoyable and profitable occasion. Dr. Hare is a steam roller, a live wire and a great thunderbolt all combined, If he gets to that picnic there will be something doing. Take our advice and hear the Doctor. Its worth the time, the travel and the cost required to hear him, and more too.

In fourteen weeks the voters of Garrett county will render their verdict against the saloon. Are'nt you glad the day of deliverance is so close. Everybody get busy and see by how big a majority we can defect the liquor business in the county.

Garrett county drv on and after April 30th, 1915. Sounds good, don't it? Are YOU going to help bring about this result?

Sixty-nine thousand, nine hundred and thirty-six voters of the State of Virginia petitioned the governor to call an election on the question of Statewide prohibition. The election has been called for September 22, and if a majority vote is cast for prohibition at that time, the State will be declared dry on and after November 1st, 1916. It is a rare occasion when more than 130,000 voters participate in a State election; but it is believed that a larger vote will be cast in the proposed election than ever before in Virginia history. Here is wishing that Virginia may go dry by 100,000 majority. That it will not go dry is not questioned.

People in practically all the cities and towns of the State of West Virginia where there were saloons can find at least one grain of satisfaction in the fact that the Yost law has eliminated practically all the old time "panhandlers", those professional pikers who were always stalling for a drink at the expense of some one more prosperous. They have been compelled to go elsewhere to bum a thin dime or "gitney" with which to buy a drink. That old gag that they were awful sick and must have a drink was a familiar one around the saloons, but now it is heard no more.

Now the panhandlers have been compelled to move on to other states where the beverages that intoxicate are still dispensed and there will be some peace for folks passing on the streets. Martinsburg was, like all other cities where there were saloons infested with a bunch of this class and they would work in spite of the fact that the police watched them closely and would invariably arrest them when they could catch them in the act. So far not a hyper has been arrested in the city since the saloons went out of business.

That Idaho will join the procession of prohibition states seems to be well assured, inasmuch as the three leading political parties adopted prohibition platforms in the convention recently held. The Democratic platform pledges the submission to the voters in 1916, of a constitutional amendment forever prohibiting the liquor traffic. The Republicans and Progressives went further, and promised a prohibitory statute in the event that constitutional prohibition should for anv reason fail to pass. The party leaders evidently think the people want prohibition, and doubtless will fulfil the pledges now made. The people will do their part. Though there was a flight in the Democratic convention, prohibition won by a vote of 122 to five.

A graphic illustration of the growth of temperance sentiment is the fact that it took ten years to get the Webb Interstate Liquor shipment law, to permit the states to enforce their own police regulations, out of the Judiciary Committee of the National House of Representatives. Two chairmen of this Committee were defeated, and finally the Speakea who appointed them went down. Now the amendment for National prohibition, the most drastic proposition possible, came out of the same Committee in five months, and even the liquor men admit it will pass soon, even if temporarily delayed.

Money is the liquor traffic's motive, its god and its sole excuse for being. Facing repudiation of its revenue argument, it roars "confiscation" and whines for compensation." We accept the proposition. We will compensate it when it first compensates the families of drinkers for loss ot support, and then the public for the crime, insanity, poverty, misery and degeneracy it causes, and its robbery of honest commerce. It is not confiscation to say to organize greed, "You shall not so use your property as to injure my brother."

Garrett County Dry in 1915.

Through the courtesy of the publisher of THE REPUBLICAN the Press committee of the Local Option Organization, will furnish each week to the readers of THE REPUBLICAN a column ofTemperance matter, with a view of creating sentiment in favor of the Local Option bill to be voted upon next November.

That Garrett county will vote Dry by a good majority no one questions. Because of the influence of the vote of Garrett county upon the effort to secure State-wide prohibition of the liquor traffic, it is desired to secure an overwnelmning majority for this bill. The temperance sentiment in Garrett county warrants the belief that the greater part of the citizens are in favor of abolishing the saloon.

To get this vote registered and the voters to the polls next November is the work of each and everv individual who favors temperance and sobriety.

It is not a political move, its adoption does not depend upon any particular church orginazation. The battle is not in the hands of any clique, but the cause calls for the support of the members of political parties, of every church member and every citizen who loves the happiness of the human family, and who has in his heart a deep feeling for the best interest of his fellow men.

It is the personal work of each and every man and woman to get this vote out. This means YOU. At every opportunity speak a word in favor of Local Option. Seek opportunities to do do so. Get your friends, your neighbor, interested. Urge him to get to work in earnest. Start a house to house movement. Have temperance song services in the school houses, in the churches, at the picnics. At the prayer meeting talk temperance, pray temparance. Co-operate with all workers in the cause. Your enthusiasm will enthuse others. The whole community working as one man will bring about the desired result.

If you cannot do much, do just what you can. Your influence will be helpful. Influence at least one vote for the support of the bill. It is a great privilege that you have afforded you. Is it not your duty to help banish liquor from the county? What does God require of YOU, in this battle against liquor selling?

The saloon people are as busy as beavers. They are sending out, through the Oakland postoffice, tens of thousands of circulars soliciting trade for their liquors. They are planning to do a big business while the license system prevails, and that they are doing a large business, there is no question. "They are making hay while the sun shines." No matter how many drunkards they may make, no matter how many widows and orphans their drinks may cause, no matter how much sorrow or suffering, or loss of money may result from their sale, they are diligent as they can be, pushing their business. Moral: Let us be just as active in our fight to drive them from business let; let us be up and doing, let us arouse the public and enlist the hearty co-operation of every man and woman who opposes the sale of intoxicating drinks. The time is short to accomplish this great work before us. In union there is strength. Let us get together in our respective neighborhood, make a thorough house to house canvass, rallying everybody to the support of our cause. Let us have a most emphatic majority for Dry. Do it to day. Do it each and every day.

It will not be very many weeks until the registration books will be open in the several election districts of Garrett county, for the registration of those who desire to vote at the election next November. Every man who wants to see the saloon banished from Garrett county should register, so as to be able to cast his ballot November 3rd, in favor of the Local Option bill. If you do not want to vote for the candidates on the political tickets, do not fail to register so as to vote Dry. Do your duty in that respect. Those who are registered should earnestly labor to get every unregistered temperance man registered. Personally call on such unregistered voters and explain to them the importance of carrying Garrett county by an overwhelming majority, because of the influence it may have all over the State. It is a duty we owe to our God, to our Country at large and to our County, to our neighbor and to our neighbor's family. Be in earnest and do your level best, in this direction, and urge your neighbor to do the same. Be a personal representative of and for the cause. Let each and every man work in season and out of season and a glorious victory will be ours.

If every member of the several church organizations throughout Garrett county will do his and her duty, between now and next November, there will be accomplished one of the grandest victories for the advancement of the greatest degree of happiness and prosperity in the history of Garrett county. Imagine if you please, the benefits that will result to this county by the closing up of the saloons. Think of the vast sum of money that now goes to the saloon for the purchase of liquor and the awful results that follow. Expend this sum of money for home comforts, for farming implements and for the payment of debts and see the great change that will take place, what peace and happiness will follow in the growth and development of all parts of Garrett county. The liquor (lick-her) trffiac is responsible for suffering and sorrow bevond conception, it robs the home of comfort, furniture, food and clothing; it produces suffering of the most severe nature, it populates our jails, makes paupers and instigates crime. These are indisputable facts, therefore, what is the duty of the individual church member in this matter? What does God require of you? The closing of the saloon, the removal of the curse is up to you. YOU, as an individual, be you a Methodist, a Catholic, a Baptist, or a member of any other church, the responsibility of the saloon and its ruin, rests upon you. By your vote, through your influence the saloon will closed or be kept open. This is your opportunity to do something for God and your fellow man. You cannot get rid of the responsibility. By an act of the legislature it has been laid upon you.

YOU are to say whether this work of drunkard making is to continue or not. There are only two sides to the question. For or against. The State asks you to decide this matter next November. It lays the responsibilitv upon you. If you vote no license, there will be no license issued. If you do not vote and license wins, you are responsible for every crime a drunkard committs, for every man who dies a drunkard, for the tears and suffering of every drunkard's widow and orphans, for you become a partner in the business by permitting license to become possible. Think this matter over.

Grantsville Camp of W. O. W.

Camp No. 2 of Grantsville has had a most phenomenal growth. In eleven months it has grown steadily until it now has a membership of 105. They expect to increase this number to 150 by Autumn. The membership consists of doctors, merchants, farmers, college students, hotel men and in fact, men from every walk of life.

On July 6th the order unveiled two monuments--one at Grantsville for Mr. John Huff and one at New Germany in memory of Asa Durst. Both were well attended and the beautiful ceremonies were greatly enjoyed by all.

The Mt. Lake Park Chautauqua promises to be a joyous week of entertainment. Besides the excellent musical talent rendering delightful concerts, and lectures of educational and educative importance, there will be a number of purely entertaining events.

One of the best of these is the Avon Players, an organization of well trained college people in the interpretaton of the play "Rada." "Rada" is a weird dramatic poem by Alfred, the English poet who has recently been widely recognized in America, and secured by Princeton University for a series of lectures on poetry and literature next winter. In the hands of the Avon Players, directed by Mrs. Mariam Lee Earley Lippincott, of Swarthmore College, "Rada" is a delight

The dramatization of the old fairy story, "Cinderella" has been arranged by Miss Anna Oppenlander, director of the Junior Chautauqua movement. Children will especially enjoy this performance. The Avon Players give the lovely old tale all its mystic fairy beauty and make its people real people to the great delight of every child who sees it.

Children and grown-ups as well enjoy the lecture of Chauncey J. Hawkins, on "Bright Eyes and Wild Hearts of Our North Woods." His pictures are extraordinary photographs of the animals of which he speaks. Some of the woodland and forest scenes in which he has caught natural poses of the animals are in themselves a sheer delight. Mr. Hawkins' pictures have received notable comment in the most important magazines as examples of photographic skill. He has had intimate personal experience with the subjects of his lecture, and he presents his story of them in a fascinating way.

The Dunbar Singing Band, nine men in a band, present a program of action songs, marching songs, male chorus, and lively instrumental music. Their strongest feature is comedy and excellent good humor. They are rapidly becoming famous as the most unique of musical organizations one of the best attractions of Chautauqua.

BITTINGER.

Tell the old men and the young men
That the good day draweth nigh,
When for love of home and country
We must vote our country dry.

On last Saturday evening a large company of young people gathered at the home of Mrs. T. B. Wiley, making up a successful and most pleasant surprise party, in honor of her son, Charles H. Wiley, who has just attained his twenty-first year. Refreshments were served and a most agreeable evening was spent by all the guests.

Mr. Charles Stark and family, of Chaffee, W. Va., are spending a few days with Mr. Stark's parents here.

A match game recently played between the Davis base ball team and the Bittinger boys, resulted in a score of 8 to 14 in favor of Bittinger.

Mr. and Mrs. John Stark and Mrs. T. B. Wiley and Rev. E. E. Oney spent a few days last week attending the sessions of the chautauqua at Salisbury, Pa

Mahlon Brenneman and lady friend, of McHenry, motored to this village last Sunday and spent a few hours visiting Mr. Brenneman's sister and family.

Wheat harvest is in progress and the yield promises to be good.

The board of trustees of Bittinger, are anxious to secure the services of a competent teacher, as principal, of the Bittinger school, for the approaching term and all applications will be fully considered.

Back To The Farm.

Back to the farm, where things do grow
To aid the mortals here below,
Where birds are singing in the trees,
And oft do come the balmy breeze.

Back to the farm, where cheerful skies
Are seen, and where much beauty lies,
And the air is always fresh and pure,
And health and wealth you have sure.

Back to the farm, where one content
With what the Lord hath, daily sent;
And while we sleep the things do grow
To help pay the bills you owe.

Back to the farm, where great the yield
Of fruit and grains out in the field,
And when 'tis gathered all within,
It is a bank your stock is in.

Back to the farm, the dear old farm,
Where there is everything to charm
And make you feel you're rich; oh then,
Back to the farm, ye sons of men.

THE PEOPLE'S FORUM.

A Correspondent Propounds the Question; "Cannot We Have The Bible In Our Public Schools?"

Editor of The Republican:

Permit me, through the columns of your valuable paper, to ask a question. It ought not, in a community of this kind, to be necessary to do more than simply ask the question, for it seems to me that it would at once so commend itself to the sentiment and judgment of all that the matter would be properly adjusted at once. My query: Cannot we have the Bible in our public schools? I am not raising this question for sectarian purposes, or to arouse discussion, nor to appeal to prejudice or anything of the kind, but because as a text book it cannot be excelled. To the Bible we owe more than to any other book, or to all others for that matter.

You will recall the incident with the great Queen of England, when asked, by one of the great rulers of the world, what was the secret of England's greatness, presented him with a copy of the Bible, saying as she did so, "This is the secret of England's greatness."

I am not advocating the explanation of the book from any particular denominational stand point, for it is strictly an undenominational Book, but I am asking that all our children and youth shall have the benefit of its splendid instruction, without which all education is incomplete. I am asking that it be given a place in our public school course; that is a portion of it be read daily, so that the pupils may learn to know its precepts, and have their characters moulded by its superb instruction. The public conscience is awakening to the importance of this privilege and duty and there is a growing demand that it be given a place in our schools. Pennsylvania has led off in good style and its legislature has made it incumbent upon teachers to read at least ten verses daily in the schools. The reaction has set in. We do not advocate the sectarian exposition of the scriptures in the public schools, but we do claim that the Bible as literature and as a moral guide for Christian people, should be presented to the children of every community. They have a right to know this Book. For some years past there has been an increasing effort to eliminate the Bible, while its teaching has gradually grown more secular so that our schools, the land over, have come to be known as "Godless."

When school books in which the name of Christ appears, are being mutilated, that name, which is above every name, may be excluded entirely. When Boards of Education on being chosen from faiths that oppose the reading of the Bible, even the most optimistic can hardly hope that there will soon be a reinstallment of the scriptures in our schools. The Secular is emphasized while the religious element is minimized or eliminated. Yet this is the most essential element of a true education. Secular education must be augmented by the Christian home in order to produce a well rounded Christian character. To this fact, the best educators are awakening and even statesmen are beginning to realize its unqualified importance.

North Dakota has captured a plan which gives the Bible a place in her schools. Indiana has fallen in line and the superintendent of public instruction, has made public their plan, when by the Bible literature and history will be given its due place in public school courses along side other classics of the world.

The Pasadena (Cal) School Board has applied for a ruling from the attorney general of the state on the subject of permitting the use of the Bible in public schools for the purpose of teaching Ancient history.

The State Junior Order U. A. Mechanics, a little while ago, passed resolutions, protesting against the Legislature in failing to pass a law authorizing the reading of the Bible in the public schools of Maryland. The resolutions declared that such action was to be deplored, inasmuch as Bible reading promoted the spiritual welfare of the child.

The 250 or more members present pledged themselves to take up the fight again at the next session of the Legislature and to do all in their power to have such a law passed.

This is proper and may all other patriotic lodges follow in the wake. Why shoud a small minority prevent its being in our schools, for it is a fact that it is opposed by a comparatively small majority.

For the purpose of mental culture it should be in all our schools. It is not a sectarian book, and to teach morality and the existence of God, and a future state, it has no superior. Indeed no book can be compared to it. Is not it strange that a book of so wide a circulation, and translated into all the languages of the world should be kept away from the knowledge of our youth?

It is the best book on morals that exists, why not then have the benefit of it.

The state is bound to teach religion as a foundation of its own prosperity and to secure its perpetation. We claim to be a christian nation, why should we not have the Book that has made us such in our schools that the future generations, and those who must control the affairs of the nation, shall have the benefit of the knowledge of such a Book?

For these, and other reasons that could be given, the bible should have a prominent place in all our schools.

We owe it to our selves, to our children, to our nation to give this book its proper recognation and place in the home, the school and the nation.

Yours truly
CITIZEN.

More About Sheep-Killing Dogs.

To the Editor of The Republican.

I noticed a comment in last week's edition which reminded me of past events. Several years ago a wave of sentiment swept over the county demanding a dog law. Mr. Brown who was in the Legislature that year, responded with the law they demanded. When the time come to pay the tax, however, many people became indignant and refused to pay.

As a result, the law was never enforced. We again have a dog law on our statute books. Let us see to it that it is enforced. If the law is not satisfactory we can repeal it but let us first give it a good fair trial.

NEW DEPARTURE IN BUSINESS LINES.

Perhaps it has not occurred to the casual observer that the large combines, organized manufacturing companies, catalogue houses, department stores, farmers' organizations and societies of various kinds are changing the methods in mercantile business.

The organizations referred to demand cash payment, and necessarily must cause the merchant to adopt the cash system. sometimes customers are a little offended if they cannot buy goods from the home merchant at the lowest cash price and have them charged to be paid for when it suits their convenience, some are not even willing to fix a time for payment. A few hundred accounts, even if they do not exceed ten or fifteen dollars each, would tie up the merchant's capital so that he would be compelled to borrow money or close up his business. The home merchant is expected to take produce in exchange for his goods or in payment of old accounts at the very highest market price. When over stocked with produce the merchant must simply ship the surplus at a loss as the price paid is often greater than the market price in the cities. We hail with delight organizations that will improve business methods. We need education on all these lines, and merchants have learned that to buy goods at the lowest market price means cash at the time of purchase. If he fails to be prompt he will be drawn on and his credit is soon lost. In such case no one cares to sell to him. Staple goods of the best quality are sold in most places by the local merchant at too close a margin to be carried on books. As matters now stand it is best for the merchant and consumer to buy for cash or do without the goods until he can spare the money. Indeed it would pay the merchant or consumer to borrow the money rather than buy on credit. Goods cannot be put into the hands of the consumer without expense. Someone must be paid for this part of the work. So far no plan or method has been as successful as when the home merchant places his orders with manufacturers or responsible wholesale firms giving time for goods to be made as ordered and backed up not only by the manufacturer but by the merchants.

THURSDAY, JULY 23. 1914.

How to improve business in dull times. Advertise in THE REPUBLICAN.

THE Democrats expected to make up for their tariff shortage by the income tax. But where's there going to be any income when the Democrats kill all the business.

JULY 1, 1914, the population of Maryland was 1,295,346. The population of the United States at the same date was 109,021,992. The population of Maryland increased 45,729 in the past four years. Of this number 21,105 settled in Baltimore city.

THE Cecil Whig says: While the Democrats wait for something to turn up, matters do not improve, and the people are awakening to the full realization of the cost to them of Democretic inability to administer the affairs of the country successfully.

FORMER Senator William P. Jackson announced Friday last that he had determined not to be a candidate for the Republican nomination for United States Senator in the coming September primary. He stated that the demands of his business at this time are such that he is unable to make the sacrilice of time necessary.

THE police force in Clarksburg, W. Va., was cut in half, three of its six members being dismissed. The action was taken on account of prohibition, which became effective on the first of this month. The police have had nothing to do since then. Of the five arrests, but one has been for drunkenness. This looks like prohibition does prohibit.

TUESDAY State Senator F. N. Zihlman of Cumberland declared that he would be a candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress in the Sixth district. Senator Zihlman was the floor leader of his party in the State Senate during the session of the legislature last winter. He is a business man, a member of the Protestant Methodist church and is very popular in Allegany county. Twice has he been elected State Senator by the voters of that county. He is a personal friend of the working men, and interests himself in their behalf. He will be a strong canditate.

ATTRACTING the young men to the farms instead of educating them away from them, as is declared to be the present tendency, will be the prime object of the country lite conference to be held at the Maryland Agricultural College August 4, 5 and 6, when ministers of all denominations are expected to attend. It is the hope of the promoters of the conference that plans may be devised whereby country churches may become the center of social activies of rural communities as well as religious centers. It is hoped by this means that persons may be attracted to rural districts instead of being led awav from them, as is said to be the case with many young men.

THERE is a growing interest in the great Bible Conference to be held at Mountain Lake Park August 7th to 16th inclusive. Supt. Reed is receiving orders for season tickets from all parts of the country. An Episcopal clergyman of Wheeling, W. Va., ordered two tickets Monday. By the payment of $1.00 extra, a seat may be reserved for the entire ten days. A season ticket costs $2. There will be three big excursion days, Bryan day, Sunday school day and Temperance day. Special excursion trains will be run and low excursion rates will be given for these days. We speak of this great conference at this early date, so that our Garrett county people may be posted on this great event and have time to get their affairs in shape so that they may hear these eminent speakers. Bishop Hughes is almost a Garrett county boy. In the early days his father was a Methodist preacher in this section of the country and was one of the original cottage owners and founders of the Park. The Bishop has won a great reputation as a brainy man, a forcible speaker and a great instructor. Do not miss this event of a life time.

THE REPUBLICAN first, last and all the time is a clean news paper and stands for the best interests of Garrett ounty and its citizens. It has never published a liquor advertisement and has always been a pronounced temperance paper, hence the liberal space give to the Local Option cause at the present time.

From the conception of the thought which developed the Garrett county fair, to the present time this paper has liberally supported the movement and advocated its greatest possibilities. To do this has been a pleasure. As in the past, so in the future. THE REPUBLICAN will have much to say about the fair.

This paper has been and is the friend of the public school teacher and has advocated the very best that could be provided for the public school system of the entire county. It wants the children of Garrett county to have the advantage of a good public school education, and believes they should have.

THE REPUBLICAN has, from time to time, used its columns in favor of good roads. It wants each and every section of the country to have the best roads possible. The sturdy farmers of Garrett county are entitled to as good roads as can be found in the State of Maryland.

This paper seeks to gather the local news of each election district of the county. It takes great pains to gather this information. It has gained a reputation as the newsy paper of the county.

It is a paper for the home of the farmer, the woodsman and the miner. It is a family paper, clean, frank and square and is recognized as the people's paper, of the people, for the people and with the people.

Go to Church Message Twentieth Century Method of Awakening Religious Fervor

GO TO CHURCH!

In the brief time that the GO TO CHURCH movement has been so widely heralded throughout the country there has been a big increase in the attendance at churches. Clergymen declare that RELIGION NEVER WAS DEAD. All that it needed was an awakening. AND IT HAS AWAKENED.

But there are thousands today who have not yet heeded the GO TO CHURCH call. It is to these that this appeal is directed. Do you believe in a Supreme Being? If you do, is he not worthy of worship? No matter how derelict you have been in the past, the church awaits you. If you haven't been to church in a decade all the more reason that you GO TO CHURCH now.

* *

AS A MATTER OF FACT THERE NEVER WAS A TIME WHEN PEOPLE HAD FORGOTTEN CHURCH. IN LATTER DAYS THERE HAS BEEN A WAVE OF MATERIALISM AND UNGODLINESS, BUT RELIGION ONLY REQUIRED AN AWAKENING CRY. THE GO TO CHURCH MOVEMENT IS AS A PRAIRIE FIRE. IN EVERY VILLAGE, HAMLET, TOWN AND CITY THE CRY HAS BEEN TAKEN UP. THIS GO TO CHURCH MESSAGE IS A TWENTIETH CENTURY METHOD OF AWAKENING RELIGIOUS FERVOR. IT IS SUCCEEDING.

* *

Do your part in this splendid movement. When you read this ask your neighbor if he has read it. KEEP BOOSTING. Some people say that GOING TO CHURCH IS GETTING TO BE A FAD NOWADAYS. If that is so there are some fads worth while, after all. When one considers that all that the churches ask is a brief time every Sunday morning it is hard to conceive how any one can refrain from performing this plain duty.

GO TO CHURCH next Sunday!
GO TO CHURCH the following Sunday!
GO TO CHURCH every Sunday!

OESPERATE DEMOCRATIC EDITOR.

Judging from the following taken from the Mountain Democrat, published at Oakland, the editor of that sheet is getting desperate over the high cost of living problem:

"We would like to know why butchers are asking such outlandish prices for meat, especially for lamb and mutton, which should never be high here. We saw a fine bunch of native cattle driven through town on Tuesday, and sheep seem to be browsing on every hillside. People ought to have meat occasionally, but they cannot afford it at the prices, and while exorbitant prices may be all right, it seems like a short sighted policy which will drive trade away from the meat markets and into the vegetable cellars of the farmers, for their sustenance."

We don't know what meat sells at in Oakland, but we know that here in Frostburg where dressed spring chickens sell at 50 cents a pound, and other meats about high as when the cow jumped over the moon, the universal verdict is that the decreased cost of living that was promised to come as soon as the Democratic party had a firm hold on the national government, is not materializing very fast. We don't know why the cost of living is soaring higher and higher in spite of all the Democratic promises, and in spite of enormous crops of nearly everything throughout the country. We give it up, but the Mountain Democrat ought to be able to explain why the high cost of living does not come down as per Democratic party promises.—Frostburg Spirit.

GREAT IS THE CHAUTAUQUA.

Great is the chautauqua. Only those who keep in touch with the small town and rural conditions can appreciate how great is this highly modern movement, how widely it has spread, how intensively its promoters are cultivating the territory, how edifying and uplifting and soul-satisfying it has become. Even to the student of the chautauqua it is surprising to find that nowadays the town of 1,200 to 1,500 population is regarded as "backward" unless it holds a chautauqua assembly in the course of the summer, with four or five days of oratory, music, lectures, humorous entertainments and classes for instruction along various lines.

Until times comparatively recent the ordinary town relied chiefly for its public entertainment upon the Fourth of July oration delivered by some politician of more or less note, who poured forth spread-eagle pyrotechnics from the lofty height of a plank rostrum built for the occasion in the picnic grove and was heard only by the graybeards, while the younger element was popping firecrackers, drinking pink lemonade, dancing the pre-tango steps on a rough board platform under the trees, and otherwise diverting themselves so that they might miss the agony of hearing the Declaration of Independence read monotonously by the town clerk or the high school principal. The old-time Independence day oration still is heard here and there, but the chautauqua has diminished its glory.

A DEMOCRATIC CRIME.

One of the greatest crimes chargeable against the Underwood tariff bill is the practical destruction of the American sugar industry. There is nothing psychological about it, as President Wilson knows by this time from the revolt of the Louisiana Democrats. Congressman Fordney, of Michigan, contributes some interesting facts with regard to the effect of the Democratic tariff on the industry. He is firmly of the opinion that the reduction in the sugar tariff is rapidly sounding the death-knell of the industry, and that its only salvation is the redeeming of the country from Democratic rule.

Mr. Ferdney has obtained figures showing that thirty-six Louisiana sugar estates have gone out of business since the passage of the Underwood tariff law, last October. Of these, twenty-four have gone into the hands of receivers, and twelve have been seized by the sheriff because of court action for debts. In Michigan the situation of the sugar industry is only slightly better, according to Congressman Fordney. The Michigan factories are still running, in the hope that Republicans will eventually come into power and make a change in the tariff. The Michigan factories will make no profits this year. They make about 25 cents on a hundred pounds, while the New York sugar refiners declare that they must make 60 cents per hundred in order to live.

A few days ago a New York sugar refiner rushed into print with a statement claiming that the consumers are getting cheaper sugar under the reduced Democratic tariff. On the very day when he issued his statement the quotation of the New York refiners (including his own company) on refined sugar, wholesale, was 4.30 cents a pound. Exactly one year previously, before the reduction of the tariff, the wholesale price of refined sugar was 4.20 cents a pound. In other words, with the tariff a third of a cent lower, sugar sells at wholesale ten cents a hundred higher. It is difficult for the consumer to extract much comfort from this showing.

Tuesday morning last the business streets of Oakland presented a metropolitan appearance. Automobiles, carriages, buggies and wagons were numerous, and those on foot were like a small army. There was nothing special going on. Everybody just took a day off and came to town to do some shopping or look around.

It is estimated that at least fifteen hundred people attended the funeral of Christian Martin deceased, last Sunday, at Red House. Rev. Ernest Hauser preached the funeral sermon, at 10 o'clock a. m. From all over Garrett county and from West Virginia came many persons to attend this service, which was very impressive.

OPTOMETRIST

IS Your Child Handicapped in his or her physical and mental development by defective vision? Out of 100,000 school children examined in New York city, nearly 50 per cent. were found to be in need of glasses. In Boston the percentage was found to be slightly over 20 per cent., and most of these children were down on the books as "stupid," "stubborn" or unruly. In Philadelphia 351 children were discovered who could not read ordinary writing on a blackboard at a distance of twenty feet. You should make sure by a thorough examination at the hands of a competent optometrist that your child is not among this vast army of little citizens who suffer from defective eyesight, delays often result seriously. My examinations are made by the most scientific accurate methods. If it is found that glasses are not required you will be told so frankly and no charge made for the examination.

REBEL CHIEF WANTS PEACE

Carranza Adopts Friendly Attitude Toward Carbajal

ARMISTICE IS NOW PROPOSED

Emissaries From Mexico City Promised Protection Through Constitutionalists' Lines, But Carranza Insists on Unconditional Surrender by Carbajal—Leaders In Plot Against Madero Only Ones Not to Be Spared.

Washington, July 21.—The first definite information that General Carranza will receive the delegates of Provisional President Carbajal, who seek to arrange for the transfer of the government of Mexico to the Constitutionalists, was received by Secretary Bryan in a dispatch from Consul Silliman, who also said Carranza was ready to declare a suspension of hostilities.

Although it was generally assumed that Carranza would adopt this course, administration officials were disposed to credit Carranza's attitude to the efforts of the administration.

Not only did he voice a willingness to receive the commission of three appointed by Provisional President Carbajal to discuss peace, but said he would send an escort to meet them and provide safe conduct through Constitutionalist territory.

General Carranza is insistent, however, that the surrender of the Carbajal government should be unconditional. He is willing, it is declared by his representatives here, to grant a limited amnesty not as a condition of surrender, but as a voluntary act of generosity on the part of the Constitutionalists after they obtain the reign of government.

It is the intention of the Constitutionalists to give guarantees of safety to the people generally, but to prosecute ring leaders in the plot through which Madero was overthrown. Most of the latter, however, already have left Mexico.

An indication of Europe's attitude in the final day of reckoning in Mexico was had here when Charge Clausse of the French embassy insisted on seeing President Wilson in regard to the killing of two French priests at Zacatecas, supposedly by General Villa.

The French charge called also at the state department on his arrival and informed the secretary that his government required him to see President Wilson.

It is unusual for a charge de affaires to ask for access to the president, a privilege supposed only accorded to ambassadors except on extraordinary occasions. Similarly the promptness with which the French government is moving in the matter led to the conclusion that the Paris authorities intend to insist on arrangements being made for immediate reparation.

The killing of the two priests occurred immediately after the capture of Zacatecas by General Villa. The men killed were members of the Order of Christian Brothers. Eleven other members of the order were thrown into prison at Zacatecas.

GIRL'S ARM SEVERED

Riding In Summer Car Disastrous to Pittsburgh Child.

Pittsburgh, July 21.—Four-year-old Jean McKee was the victim of a remarkable accident on a Second avenue car. Her left arm, protruding beyond the guard rail of the car, was entirely severed a few inches from the shoulder by a piece of an iron bedstead in a rubbish wagon as the car passed the wagon.

So cleanly was the arm severed, even the bone, that little work was left for the hospital physicians, who merely took precautionary measures to prevent blood poisoning after cutting away a few remaining pieces of unevenly cut flesh and tendons.

The little girl was riding with her mother and was seated at the inside end of the row of a summer car. Despite the warning of her mother, the child had her arm resting on the guard rail, it is said, when the car passed the wagon. The section of the bedstead tilted at a sharp angle and struck the girl when the car passed the wagon as it turned from the track.

NEW HAVEN REJECTS GOVERNMENT PLAN

Dissolution Suit Certain to Be Filed Now

Washington, July 21.—After an all-day conference between Attorney General McReynolds and directors of the New Haven railroad President Elliott announced that the directors had been unable to recede from their position and that he presumed the department of justice would proceed to file suit for dissolution of the New Haven system under the anti-trust law.

The attorney general announced would take up the matter with President Wilson at the cabinet meeting. Officials of the department of justice admitted that the last doubt had been removed as to the filing of the suit.

The proposal which the committee of the directors submitted to the department of justice in an effort to stave off the projected suit was that the dissolution of the Boston and Maine be made a separate issue from the other phases of the reorganization plan which was agreed upon in January. They proposed to accept a decree embodying all other phases of the reorganization plan, leaving the Boston and Maine out.

Their suggestion was that the Boston and Maine be given over to the control of the board of trustees agreed on by the department and the New Haven several months ago which should be entrusted with the management of the road pending the outcome of further negotiations looking toward the amelioration of the conditions imposed on the sale by the Massachusetts state government.

Mr. McReynolds rejected this proposition as constituting a single problem, every phase of which must be dealt with at once. He said in addition that he did not consider that he had the legal right to enter into the proposed agreement.

Chairman Hustis issued a statement in which he said that the directors had found it impossible to yield to the restrictions placed by the Massachusetts legislature upon the sale of its Boston and Maine stock and that he expected the attorney general would proceed to file a suit.

THIRD MINE WRECKED

More Dynamiting Goes on In Arkansas Field.

Fort Smith, Ark., July 21.—The Coronado mine, owned by the Bache-Deman Coal company, a mile west of Huntington, was dynamited and completely destroyed. Three mines of the company have now met a similar fate.

"Bee" Trout of Hartford, Ark., a miner, was arrested in connection with the death of Clarence Sylesberry and John Baskin, mine guards said to have been executed by members of the force that wrecked mines of the Mammoth company at Prairie creek.

The charred bodies of the two guards are said to have been found in the ashes of a log house which was burned shortly after the battle between the contending forces.

GROW SUUND APPLES; NOT WORMY ONES.

Destroy the Codling Moth and Insure Sound Fruit.

T. B. SYMONS
Maryland Agricultural College.

The Codling Moth is the insect which makes your apples wormy and unfit for storage. This pest can be so efficiently controlled that it is utterly folly for the fruit grower to fail to take the precautions necessary to insure 90 per cent. sound fruit.

The eggs of the Codling Moth are laid on the twigs early in the spring. As soon as these hatch, the young larvae crawl to the blossom clusters, and enter the calyx end of the little apple. Poison introduced into the blossoms at this time will destroy most of these larvae before they have a chance to injure the fruit. This can be done by spraying the trees with the following mixture when the petals have nearly all fallen:

Mixture No. 1.
Concentrated Lime Sulphur, 1 gallon.
Water, 40 gallons.
Arsenate of Lead, 2 to 3 pounds.

Mixture No. 2 (Bordeaux).
Copper Sulphate, 4 pounds.
Lime (Burned), 5 pounds.
Water, 50 gallons.
Arsenate of Lead, 2 to 3 pounds.

Either mixture will do the work required. Mixture No. 2 showing better results with later sprayings. These materials should be thoroughly mixed and applied first as the petals fall and again, ten days later, before the calyx closes up. It is sometimes necessary to spray again about the first of July to catch the second brood which may have escaped the early spray.

Plans Summer Session For Rural Teachers.

Agricultural College Will Give Course In Teaching Agriculture in Country Schools.

With our rapidly increasing population, the demand for more food stuffs is increasing daily, while the new land we can bring under cultivation is comparatively small in area. We must learn to use what we have to better advantage. The public school with its country teacher, trained in agriculture and home making, will do much toward improving our methods.

To prepare teachers in such work, the Agricultural College has provided a six weeks' summer course, beginning June 22nd. Instruction will be given in Elementary Agriculture, Domestic Science and Art, Industrial Handiwork, methods of Teaching, History of Maryland, State and National Constitutions, Chemistry, Botany, Zoology, and Entomology that will give them an opportunity for practical, first hand study of subjects that deal directly with country life. This season of the year is the most favorable for such study at the Agricultural College as the College Farm with its gardens, orchards, field crops and fertilizer crops is at its best.

Any teacher or prospective teacher who enrolls for this work will have living expenses only to meet with every chance for outdoor life and enjoyment as well as study. This puts a rare opportunity for preparing for increased community usefulness within the reach of every rural teacher in the State.

HUMUS PUTS LIFE IN THE SOIL

Helps Store Plant Food and Water. The Key To Better Crops.

W. E. HANGER.
Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station.

We should be planning for the improvement of our poorer soils and the keeping of our better fields in high productive condition. Nothing will help more in this improvement than filling the soil with humus or organic matter by the use of manure, turning under green crops, or growing a heavy sod.

Let us see what this humus or organic matter will do for the soil. Humus improves the physical condition of the soil. It makes it lighter or puts what we call "life" into it. This makes it easier to work. Humus acts like a sponge in holding soil water, storing a great deal of it and letting the balance run off very slowly. Humus also makes a warmer soil since soils containing it are darker in color and warmer just as a dark suit of clothes is warmer to wear than a lighter colored one.

This humus or organic matter also furnishes food for the soil bacteria. These bacteria are what break up plant food so it can be used by the crop. They thrive best in soils having plenty of this organic matter. The hard bare spots on which nothing will grow that we sometimes find in fields lack humus and bacterial life. The decaying bacteria in the humus also build up the nitrogen supply in the soil.

Besides storing up plant foods, the humus by making this bacterial life possible, causes soil acids to form. These in turn free the plant food locked up in the soil so that the crops use it. Since humus is so much needed in the soil, we are safe in saying that before we can expect much of a crop of any kind from unproductive land, we must provide organic matter either in the form of stable manure or green manure crops.

Few States have greater agricultural possibilities with our long seasons, fine climate, abundant rainfall, varied soils adaptable to such a variety of products, as well as proximity to the best markets in the world.

No agriculture can rise higher than the measure of the men who till the land. Hence, the vital necessity of specially trained men, in this progressive age, who shall be able to master these problems.

MADAME SORRY SHE SHOT EDITOR

Wife of Former French Premier Relates Story at Trial

FAVORABLE VERDICT LIKELY

Murderess of Editor of Figaro Sobs at Times as She Tells of Sufferings Occasioned by Calmette's Newspaper Attacks on Her Husband—Defendant Very Careful With Her Replies Despite Strain.

Paris, July 21.—"I deeply regret from the bottom of my heart the great unhappiness I have caused and would rather allow anything to be published rather than to have been the cause of what has happened."

With these words Mme. Joseph Caillaux concluded the first day's hearing of her trial for the murder of Editor Gaston Calmette of the Figaro. These words, too, may mean much for the wife of the former prime minister, for it is generally conceded they made an impression on all who heard.

By her manner and actions Mme. Caillaux gave the impression that she was speaking with reserve. She seemed to be thinking over what she was going to say before speaking and never hurried her replies.

She did not hold the attention of those in the courtroom except on special points. Mme. Caillaux used few gestures. She sobbed at times and almost broke down as she declared what she had suffered through the campaign conducted by M. Calmette's paper against her husband.

She was on the verge of collapse when speaking of her purchase of the revolver with which she did the shooting, and when Presiding Judge Albanel read her evidence before the examining magistrate as to the actual shooting she quickly recovered composure on each occasion.

Mme. Caillaux's remark at one time that "it is terrible how revolvers go off all alone when they started" caused a subdued titter in the courtroom as they sounded so artless and yet sincere. It may be recalled that the revolver she used on M. Calmette was an automatic one.

Mme. Caillaux made some good points in her argument. For example, she said the fact that she had bought a cover for the revolver which she did the shooting proved that she did not mean to use the weapon solely on the evening of the murder for which a cover was useless.

At another point she maintained that her letter to her husband, which it has been said proved that the murder was premeditated, showed just the contrary, adding: "I would not be fool enough to leave such evidence against myself."

ONE DAY OF LEGISLATURE

Program of Governor Cox of Ohio Passed by Solons.

Columbus, O., July 21.—The Ohio general assembly held a one day extra session on the call of Governor Cox to consider a reduction in the Ohio taxes and two other measures.

By a vote of 89 to 11 in the house and 24 to 6 in the senate the Green bill, reducing the state tax levies, was passed. The Green bill reduces the state levy for highways from 5 to 3 mills, the common school levy from .335 to .050 mills and the sinking fund levy from .0655 to .0225 mills.

The senate, 21 to 6, passed the Lloyd bill, which strengthens the state's claim on mineral rights in school, ministerial and canal lands and permits the state auditor to reenter forcibly state lands from which minerals are being taken without a lease from the state. This bill later was passed by the house.

The house by a vote of 95 to 1 and the senate, with 27 votes for and none opposing, passed a bill which provides that counties, townships, cities and school districts need not pay into the state workmen's compensation fund this year, or until the legislature takes further action.

FUNDS DIVERTED, HE SAYS

Calhoun Alleged to Have Taken $1,000,000 From Trolley Treasury

San Francisco, July 21.—More than $1,000,000 was withdrawn from the treasury of the United Railways of San Francisco and, according to the belief of Thornwall Mullhally, assistant to former President Patrick Calhoun, went to Calhoun's personal account. This allegation was brought out before the state railroad commission.

The funds were diverted, it was testified, between 1911 and 1913. It had been already charged some of the funds withdrawn went to the Solano Irrigated Farms company.

The orders for the withdrawals between 1911 and 1913 were written by Mullally at the verbal direction, he said, of President Calhoun. "I never received, handled or drew any money," said Mullally. "I simply authorized drafts under Mr. Calhoun's instructions."

"How did the treasurer come to pay the money?"

"I don't know, but I believe he must have had an understanding with Mr. Calhoun."

HAD HER GRAVE DUG

Farmer Alleged to Have Starved Wife to Death.

Parkersburg, W. Va., July 21.—On a warrant charging first degree murder, Samuel Cunningham, a farmer, of Belleville, was arrested.

The warrant is sworn to by J. E. Mayhew, state humane agent, who charges that Cunningham starved his wife, Ann Cunningham, to death. It is alleged in the warrant that Cunningham not only failed to provide his wife with food for twelve days prior to her death last Friday, but that he purchased her coffin three weeks before she died and began digging a grave a week ago.

Cunningham, who is reputed to be wealthy, was remanded to jail to await a hearing Wednesday.

Columbus, O., July 21.—Accused of abandoning her baby at a picture show in this city Miss Blanche Fagin, aged nineteen, was arrested at her home at Irondale, near Steubenville.

The girl came to Columbus several months ago. The child was born July 3. The baby was found in a local picture show. From a description of the two women who left it there juvenile court officials identified Mrs. Sailor and Miss Fagin.

The child died in the children's hospital and later Mrs. Sailor was questioned about the case and told the whole story.

Autos In Rural Routes.

The automobile soon will succeed the one-horse shay on many rural routes. Under the terms of a bill ordered reported by the House Postoffice Committee an allowance of $1,800 a year will be authorized for rural carriers that use automobiles.

At present the standard rural route is twenty-four miles long, and the maximum compensation $1,200 a year. On recommendation of the Postmaster General the length of the routes will be increased to fifty miles, and the officials believe that a yearly allowance of $1,800 will enable carriers on such routes to purchase and maintain automobiles of the cheaper type.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson IV.—Third Quarter, For July 26, 1914.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Luke xix, 11-27. Memory Verses 16, 17—Golden Text, Matt xxv, 21—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

The introduction to this parable of the pounds (verses 11, 12) seems to me most unmistakably clear concerning the postponement of the kingdom. They thought that it would immediately appear, and they had reason to think so, for John the Baptist and the Lord Jesus and the twelve and the seventy had all proclaimed it as at hand (Matt. iii, 2; iv, 17; x, 7; Luke x, 9).

The mighty works wrought by the Lord and the twelve and the seventy indicated the coming of the kingdom. But when the rulers rejected the Messiah as King, and determined to kill Him, that led to the unfolding of the present age of a rejected Christ, a scattered Israel and a postponed kingdom until the King shall return. He has gone to the far country to receive the kingdom and to return and has intrusted His servants with pounds and talents to use in His absence and give an account of at His return, and their position in His kingdom will depend upon their faithfulness in His absence.

The kingdom will come at His return is also plainly stated in Acts iii, 21, where we read that the heavens have received Him until the times of the restoration of all things of which the prophets have spoken.

In the story of the talents in Matt. xxv, which should be studied with this lesson, there is also an account of the far country, the goods intrusted to the servants and the reckoning at the Master's return. While in each record we read of pounds and talents given to His servants to use, we read that some were wicked and slothful and finally found their place among the lost, so we must conclude that He gives opportunity to all who profess to be His servants to prove whether they really are so or not. No real servant of His can ever be lost, though some may be saved as by fire and have no reward (John x, 28; I Cor. iii, 11-15).

In the lesson on the pounds He gave the same to each, but in that on the talents He gave according to their ability—one five, to another two, to another one. The pound given to each may represent the Spirit given to every one to profit withal (I Cor. xii, 7). The Spirit spoke wondrously through Balaam, and we have no reason to doubt that Judas Iscariot did not do wonders like the others, yet neither were true servants. The talents may refer to the special gifts of the Spirit, given variously and in different measure, as He may see fit (I Cor. xii, 8-11).

The first step is to receive the Lord Jesus as Zaccheus did and thus obtain salvation as the free gift of God (Luke xix, 9-10; Rom. vi, 23; John i, 12; iii, 16; Rev. xxii, 17), then, having become a child of God, live to serve the living and true God while we wait for His Son from heaven (I Thess. i, 9, 10; Tit. ii, 11-13; Rom. v, 1, 2).

I am continually glad that He has appointed all our service, prepared all our good works beforehand, and that He only expects us to minister as of the ability which He giveth, holding ourselves ready for any manner of service and wholly at His commandment (Eph. ii, 10; I Pet. iv, 11; I Chron. xxviii, 21).

I am also glad that it is God who worketh in us both to will and to do of His good pleasure, working all things after the counsel of His own will (Phil. ii, 13; Eph. i, 11). Notice in the story of the talents the servants say "I have gained five talents more" or "I have gained two other talents," while in the story of the pounds they say "Lord, thy pound hath gained ten pounds," or "Lord, thy pound hath gained five pounds," recognizing that while we work it is really God who works, and yet He gives us the credit. It must be the vine bearing the fruit, else it counts for nothing (John xv, 5). Whether the gain be five talents or two talents, ten pounds or five pounds, the words of approval are "Thou good servant" or "Thou good and faithful servant." Then notice in the recompense authority over ten cities or five cities, ruler over many things, or, as we said at the beginning of the lesson, position in the kingdom according to faithfulness, reward according to work (Luke xix, 11; Rev. xxii, 12; II John 8).

In reference to taking from the unfaithful servant "that he hath," it is explained in Luke viii, 18, by the words, "that which he seemeth to have," or as in the margin, "thinketh that he hath." He only seemed to be a servant, thought that he was one, but was not really one.

Oh, how necessary it is to be sure that we are indeed in Christ, not thinking that it is all right because we are a bit religious or enjoy the service or like to do good or are church members, but certain that we can under the scrutiny of those eyes, like a flame of fire, say from the heart, "O Lord, Thou knowest that all my trust as a sinner is in Thy precious blood which was shed for me when Thou didst bear my sins on Calvary (I Pet. ii, 24; Isa. liii, 5, 6; I. 18; xliii, 25). The order in Matt. xxv is ready to enter in, then faithfully serving, then with Christ judging the nations. The order in Luke xix is saved, as was Zaccheus, then faithfully occupying till He come or till the triumphal entry shall be fully real Resolution of Respect.

It is with sadness that we note the death of Miss Nora Wamsley. We feel that we have been bereft of a devoted friend and a willing worker in the cause of Christ. She was a faithful member of our Sunday school and regular in her attendance at the services of the church. Her life was filled with those qualities which constitutes the life of the true christian. Her disposition was one of sunshine and good cheer and she had a word of kindness for every one. She won the confidence of others by her whole-hearted, consecrated life.

In her decease we feel that we have lost a faithful laborer in our church, but we believe that our loss is her eternal gain. We extend our sincere sympathy to her parents and loved ones, and we commend them unto Him who doeth all things well.

Be it resolved that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the bereaved family, that they be placed upon the minutes of the Sunday school, and that they be published in the town papers so that the memory of our devoted sister may receive the recognition which it deserves.

THE DEATH RECORD

NORA L. E. WAMSLEY.

The death angel has again visited us, and taken a loved one from our midst, in the blossom of young womanhood.

Nora L. E. Wamsley was born May, 20, 1892, and departed this life July 2, 1914., aged 22 years, 2 months, and 8 days. For the past several years she had spent most of the time in Piedmont and Westernport where she had a large circle of friends.

She united with the Lutheran church in early womanhood, and was always found a faithful member to her church and Sunday school, until she was stricken with typhoid fever, when she was removed to the hospital at Keyser, where all human aid that could be given, was given her, but God had given this life, and he came to claim his own.

Nora bore her sufferings patiently, and as the end was drawing near, she said, "Mother, do not weep for me, all is well." And as the shadows of death were still drawing nearer, she prayed the Lord's prayer. "What beautiful and consoling thougnts for her sorrowing ones."

Her remains were laid to rest July 3, 1914, in the cemetery at the Union church, after impressive services conducted by Rev. E. Roy Hauser. The text for the occasion being found in St John 14:2, which are as follows, "In my Fathers house are many mansions, if it were not so I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you."

The floral tributes were many and beautiful. Misses Bess Sharpless and Martha Clemn of Westernport, Grace and Mattie Browning and Leola Schlossnagle were flower bearers. Messrs. Frank Dayton, Wm. O'Rut and Arnold McGrewy of Westernport, Ernest Gortner, Harry Fowler and Harland Browning acted as pall bearers.

A large number of relatives and friends from Westernport, Piedmont and Keyser attended the funeral which was one of the largest ever held in the Union church.

"O not in cruelty, not in wrath,
The Reaper came that day;
'Twas an angel visited the green earth,
And took the flower away.

Mrs. Elizabeth Bothwell, wife of Hugh Bothwell, of Westernport, Md., died July 14th, 1914, at the Western Maryland Hospital, Cumberland, aged 57 years. She had been in ill health for some time, and was taken about two weeks ago to the hospital, where she underwent an operation.

WM. FREDERICK, SR.

After a lingering illnees William Frederick, Sr., died at his home at Friendsville, Md., on Tuesday, July 14, and was buried on Friday the 17th, at 2 o'clock in the cemetery beside his wife, who had preceded him almost two years.

Wm. Fredersck was born at Front Royal, Va., April 28th, 1829, where his boyhood days were spent. He early learned the trade of miller which trade he followed all through life.

When a young man he worked in Hardy county, Va., now West Virginia, here he met Annice Shell, who became his wife. They were married in Cumberland, Md., on August 25th, 1849. They moved to Wards mill below Frostburg, Md., in 1859; from there they moved to Fayette county, Pa., from which place they moved back to Virginia where he bought a large farm and mill.

In 1879 he went to Uniontown, Pa., there he held the position of head miller for W. and J. K. Beesons mill and the same for Beals mill. In 1886 he bought the mill at Friendsville and repaired it and here Mr. and Mrs. Frederick remained until he retired from business on account of ill health. He bought a property in town, which he greatly improved and where he died. His wife to whom he was greatly devoted died October 9th, 1912.

Mr. Frederick was a man of powerful physique, standing 6 feet 4inches in his stocking feet and weighing 265 to 280 pounds.

His was one of the very best of dispositions, always kind and considerate. Everybody was his friend; he was a delightful talker and all loved to listen to his reminiscences and stories, which he called tongue pictures. He was generous to a fault, always giving to the poor and needy, and often imposed upon. He helped to build the Christian church at Friendsville, giving several hundred dollars toward it and until death was a consistent member.

He was the Democratic nominee for Senator in 1892 for Garrett county and was only defeated by a very small majority, although he had given but little effort to this cause. For about eight years he had been an invalid and for the past six years he was unable to help himself in any way, he suffered intensely especially toward the last. He was cared for by Wm. Frederick Jr., and wife who had to be constantly with him.

He leaves four children, 15 grand children and a number of great grandchildren to mourn their loss. His children are, Mrs. C. V. Shaffer, of Lanesville, Va., A. M. Frederick of Fairchance, Pa., Mrs. John Haney, of Deer Park and William Frederick, of Friendsville.

At the time of his death he was 85 years, 2 months and 16 days old. The funeral was held at the house. Rev. Young conducted the services. A male quartette rendered some sacred and beautiful music. Besides the relatives a large number of persons attended the services, after which the remains were taken to the cemetery. Six grandsons acted as pall bearers. At the grave a large number had also congregated to pay their last respect to one they loved so well. S. Savage was funeral director.

CHRISTIAN MARTIN.

Christian Martin was born at what is now called Brookside May 28, 1853, and died at his farm, at Red House, July 15, 1814, aged 61 years, 1 month and 17 days. He had been a prosperous farmer of this county all his life; an upright citizen; a large dealer in stock and was well known and highly respected by all who knew him, as was evidenced by the large concourse in attendance at the his funeral, estimated at twelve hundred, and the largest number that ever attended a like service in the neighborhood.

The writer has known the deceased for about thirty-five years and can truthfully say he never harmed any one; was always lively and jolly up to the time of his death. The day he died he was in Oakland when the writer met and conversed with him several times and he said he did not feel well and had come in to see a doctor. Little did I think that I should see him no more alive, and was inexpressably shocked a few hours later to hear of his death.

He leaves to mourn their loss his wife, who is a twin sister of Mrs. D. E. Bolden, three daughters: Mrs. George Yutzy, of Thomas; Mrs. Andrew Miller, of Sunnyside, and Mrs. Schuyler Clark, of Morgantown; two married sons: William and Henry, and three single sons: Carle and Earl, twins, and Owen, the youngest. Three sons had preceded him in death; Ray and Lester and one who died in infancy.

Deceased had been a consistent member of the Lutheran church for forty-two years.

Thou art gone to the grave; but we will not deplore thee,
Though sorrow and darkness encompass the tomb;
The Savour hath passed through its portals before thee,
And the lamp of his love is thy guide through the gloom.

Thou art gone to the grave; we no longer behold thee,
Nor tread the rough path of the world by thy side;
But the wide arms of Mercy are spread to enfold thee,
And sinners may hope, for the sinless hath died.

Thou hath gone to the grave; and its sunshine forsaking,
Perchance thy weak spirit in doubt lingered long;
But the sunshine of glory beamed bright on thy waking
And full on thine ear burst seraphim song.

Thou art gone to the grave; but we will not deplore thee
Since God was thy ransom, thy guardian and guide.
He gave though he took thee and He will restore thee,
And death has no sting, for the Saviour hath died.

$5.00 Reward.

The undersigned will pay the above amount for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the party or parties who tore down and destroyed his gates last night.

Speak Well of Your Town.

There are a few things more discouraging than to hear a person disparaging and criticizing the town in which he lives, says the Press of Cumberland. Loyalty to the home town is one of the prerequisites of good citizenship and it is true always that the best citizen, the one who is most valuable to his community, is not the one who is constantly complaining and criticizing, but is the one who, with cherry smile and pleasant words of greeting for all, always has a good word to say for the town and if some things are displeasing puts forth his best efforts to enlist the aid of the citizens in correcting the faults. The knocker is a mighty poor asset to the community, even though he may be a large taxpayer. The man who boosts, day in and day out, who forgets the disagreeable things and talks only of the advantages of his home town, is the one who is helping to make the town better and brighter and to add to its attractiveness, even though his bank account be small and his opportunities for helping in a financial way may be limited. Let's all boost for our town and let the world know that we not only think it is the best town in the country, but that it actually is the best.

And while boosting our town let us boost our citizens. Why kill a man's reputation just because you don't like him, or for a few measley dollars.

MOUNTAIN LAKE PARK.

The services in the auditorium last Sunday were of unusual interest. The two addresses are highly spoken of by those who heard the speaker. They were full of information and profit.

Harry Armstrong and wife of Baltimore, motored from Baltimore to the Park and were the guests of his sister, Miss Ada Armstrong over Sunday.

The adjourned meeting of the community will be held Friday, July 31, when the annual reports of the officers will be heard, and the budget of expenses will be taken up.

Dr. Lou Armstrong and family leave today for their Indiana home.

The fact that our boarding houses have so few boarders, is strong evidence that exceedingly hard times prevail throughout the country. When times were prosperous the boarding houses enjoyed a liberal patronage, but today some of them have no boarders.

DRINKING FOUNTAIN DEDICATED SATURDAY EVENING

Another Monument To the Work Done By The Civic Club.

The fountain erected by the Ladies Civic Club, in front of the Court house grounds, on Third street, was publicly presented to the city of Oakland. The Deer Park brass band furnished several fine selections. The presentation address was made by Mr. Scott T. Jones and the response was by Mayor A. T. Matthews. The remarks of both of these gentlemen are highly spoken of.

About three hundred people were present. The street was filled with automobiles, carriages and buggies. The fountain is bronze with nickle mouth pieces.

We are informed that the ladies will erect a cement drinking trough, on the corner of Green and Third streets for horses. This is certainly a thoughtful action.

The Deer Park band generously donated tis services to the club. It came to Oakland in the cars of Messrs. A. T. Matthews, W. R. Offutt and F. O. Glotfelty.

Went to Terra Alta Sanatarium.

John R. O'Donnell, formerly passenger auditor on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, located at Oakland, but for the past few years engaged at Asheville, N. ARMY WORM IS CREATING HAVOC IN GARRETT Great Destruction To Crops Being Wrought By This Pest.

In almost every section of Garrett county the army worm has made its appearance in countless numbers, its first appearance in the county reported in Oakland being upon the farm of Mr. Abel DeWitt near Deer Park where his fields were devastated to such extent that to save adjacent fields in which his crop of corn is growing, he set fire to his grass and allowed it to burn over about five acres. This remedy, though seemingly drastic and most expensive, in a way saved his corn from complete destruction but the worm is still at work, though m lesser number on his farm.

Other farmers located near Mr. DeWitt's place are more or less damaged. In the Bittinger and Mellenry and Accident sections of the county, much damage has also resulted, while in the vicinity of Oakland and the Park, nearly every farmer has suffered more or less loss by reason of the visit of this most destructive pest, which did so much damage about 18 years ago.

Sunday a gentleman driving in the neighborhood of Kease's mill saw a large number of army worms on the move. He made three hundred steps across the width of the moving army. The width of that army was 900 feet, the length he did ascertain.

A number of farmers in the vicinity of Oakland, Monday began cutting their oats so as to save them from the ravages of the army worm Henry Smouse had three reapers at work.

Near Mountain Lake Park, the farms of Messrs. Orendorf, Bittinger, Riley, William and McClellan Friend and Simon Baker were visited by the worm. It is said they ate up ten acres of growing crops for Mr. Baker. Several of the farmers cut their oats although not quite ready for harvesting.

A bulletin, published by the Department of Agriculture in Washington mailed to The Republican with the request that it be given publicity, may give our farmer friends some information that will be useful in coping with this pest, the Department's bulletin being as follows:

There is a general outbreak of the army worm throughout the Northern States east of the Rocky Monntains. They are emerging from eggs laid by moths that apparently swarmed from the southwest. Normally they feed by night and hide by day, not being generally noticed, but when their food supply falls short they start to travel and feed both by night and day.

If the worms have not yet attacked a field, the most practical way to keep them out is to plow a furrow in front of them, throwing the furrow in the direction toward which they are traveling. When the furrow is full of worms they may be killed either by dragging a log back and forth in the furrow or by destroying them in holes previously dug at intervals of twenty feet in the bottom of the furrow. Kerosene poured on them in the holes will destroy them.

If the worms are already in the field, the following will attract them and destroy them, and should be spread about:

One pound Paris green (poisonous),
Fifty pounds of wheat bran,
Juice of half a dozen oranges.

Bring this mixture to a stiff dough by the use of dilute molasses, and scatter it among the worms. Great care should be taken to keep this dough from children or domestic animals.

Grass lawns may be sprayed with a solution of arsenate to twenty-five gallons of water.

Clean cultivation, rotation of crops, clearing up of fence corners, close pasturage, and the burning over of waste grass land in the spring or fall, are good measures to prevent a recurrence of the army worm.

In The Sixth District

The Baltimore American of last Thursday editorially said:

The formal announcement by State Senator Fred. N. Zihlman, of Cumberland, that he will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress in the sixth district, means that the Western Maryland political campaign will be full of life and full of interest. There are indications that other Republican candidates will enter the primaries, but, with his strong backing, the chances seem all in favor of the state senator. If there is any contest at all it will be and should be a friendly one, entered into with the distinct understanding that when the primary is over all Republicans will unite and support the winner.

Until four years ago the Sixth district was counted a Republican stronghold and some election days showed a party majority running as high as six thousand. The present congressman, Hon. David J. Lewis, was able to carry it when the Republicans were divided, and, having been once elected, was able to repeat the performance. He has been a hard-working congressman and will not prove an easy man to beat unless the Republicans are thoroughly united and determined to win.

Success can be attained in this way. All country and local jealousies must be done away with, past political quarrels forgotten and the whole party from one end of the district to the other must get into the fight with an enthusiasm and loyalty that presage victory. Republicans are in a large majority in the Sixth district, and, let them once again get control of it, they will continue to hold it through many a congressional year to come.

Thers is no reason why the Sixth Congressional district of Maryland should be represented in Congress by a Democrat. It is a Republican district by a large majority. The suggestion of the American that the Republicans lay aside all differences and work together in unity is a wise one. The past should be forgotten. There should be a determined effort to rally under the banner of the Republican party and elect our candidate by an old time majority. We believe Garrett County can be counted upon for a loyal, united support of the ticket.

Frostburg Band At The Fair.

The German Arion Band of Frostburg has been engaged to furnish concert and street music at the Garrett County Fair in Oakland, September 30 to October 2. Many other Frostburgers will attend the fair.

The Frostburg City Band has held practice every Sunday for the past year, and during that time there were registered but two absentees, both due to illness. The band has 32 pieces.

Maryland's Automobills.

Marylanders are buying motor vehicles to such an extent as to indicate a most confident attitude toward the prosperity of the future.

The number of licenses for pleasure automobiles issued to date this year is 14,860, against 10,690 for the corresponding period last year. This is an interesting of 4,170, or more than 38 percent.

For merchandise motors the licenses this year 1,630, the number last year being 980. This is an increase of 950, or more than 66 per cent.

Revenues from licenses will reach $160,000, a large increase over last year's collections. Commissioner Roe has been compelled to enlarge his office staff and has placed two additional inspectors on the road.

SCHOOL COMMISSIONERS MEETING

Much Routine Business Transacted Last Tuesday.

A meeting of the School Commissioners was held in their office last Thursday, with all members thereof present.

The schools of the county were authorized to be opened for the school year 1914-1915, upon Monday, September, 14, 1914.

Upon the opening of the bids which are advertised to be received until this date for the building of the new school building for the Inskeep school, and for the Yoder school, were found to read as follows:

A. T. Broadwater, Barton, Md. $416.00
B. E. Lawrence, Swanton, Md. $475.00 or $500.00.
W. C. Schramm, Barton, Md. $290.00

The contract for the erection of the Inskeep school building was accordingly awarded to W. C. Schramm, who is to build the same according to the specifications.

No bid being received for the Yoder school building, no contract for the erection thereof was awarded.

Nellie Beachy and Gertie Hone resigned as assistant teachers of the Jennings and Grantsville schools' respectively.

Miss Carrie Lyon was appointed assistant teacher in the Kitzmiller schools, to supply the vacancy made by the resignation of Katharine O'Donnell.

Upon the recommendation of the principal and trustees of the Friendsville school, Jonas G. Crisman, Berwick, Pa., was appointed as teacher of the Commercial subjects in the Friendsville High school.

A letter dated July 15th, 1914, from the State Department of Education was presented, which set forth that the school that was conducted in Oakland had the approvol of the State Board of Education, and that it, therefore, would remove the necessity of conducting a teacher's institute in Garrett county for the school year 1914-1915.

The treasurer made report of the receipt of a check for $318.25 from E. Z Tower, Clerk of the Circuit Court for Garrett county, the same being the net returns from liquor licenses and licenses to fish, for the current fiscal year.

The Superintendent was authorized to appoint a committee of ten to arrange for an Educational Rally Day which is to be held in this county at Oakland, upon Friday, October 2nd, 1914, and permission is given to all teachers with pupils or teachers to attend the Educational Rally Day as named.

The Commissioners adjourned to reconvene August 11, 1914.

The Army Worm in Garrett County.

The army worm is still on the march in the vicinity of Frostburg, and unlike "Coxey's Army," they increase in numbers as they march. A Garrett county farmer states that thousands and thousands of the destructive pests are crossing the National pike at different points between here and Grantsville. He says that unless some concerted action is taken to destroy them they will devastate the country. They have not reached the county in any great numbers, but there are enough here to propagate millions. But it is not necessary to wait until they overcome the country and eat up everything. The best, quickest and easiest way to save the lawns and fields from them is to mix 10 pounds of bran and middling, quarter of a pound of paris green, a pint of molasses and water and scatter the paste on the grass.

The mixture will not hurt the chickens and birds. Water the lawns as usual, for it keeps the poison bait fresh and palatable for the worms. It is also fatal to slugs.—Frostburg Spirit.

AN OLD TIME FAVORITE AT MOUNTAIN LAKE PARK

Dr. Russell H. Conwell Will Lecture At Chautauqua.

The return of Rev. Russell H. Conwell, pastor of Grace Baptist Temple and President of Temple University in Philadelphia, Pa., to the Park platform brings one of the most interesting and wonderful men of the present day to this community.

Not long ago in Philadelphia he delivered for the five thousandth time his famous lecture, "ACRES OF DIAMONDS" to over five thousand men and women who had gathered to hear him. On this occasion he was given a present of five thousand dollars by the many prominent men of the country who are interested in his work.

By means of this wonderful lecture, Dr. Conwell has made an amount of money which, had it been invested as compound interest, would have reached nearly eight million dollars. Of all this vast sum of money, not one penny has Dr. Conwell retained for his personal use, but has devoted it to help deserving young people along the road to knowledge.

The Hon. John Wanamaker, in introducing him to the Great audience which gathered to hear the 5000 celebration, said; "Dr. Conwell is our great citizen, who cannot be matched anywhere in the United States. Not anywhere in this country is there a citizen who has such a tide of thankfulness rolling about him as has Dr. Conwell.

"Although once a poor Baptist minister without hope of a career, he had a vision that it would be a great work to provide education for poor boys and girls. He had a feeling that if boys and girls of this type were given educations, they would build better homes and make better citizens.

"So he founded Temple University in 1886. From a struggling institution he has developed it into one of great power and influence. He has spent his life building men and citizenship."

The lecture, "Acres of Diamonds," which Dr. Conwell will deliver again, is based on the legend of an Arab who sold his farm to go in search of diamond fields. He searched in vain for many years, and finally in dispair cast himself into the sea. In the mean time the man who had bought the farm, had found a diamond mine on the land!

Dr. Conwell was born in Worthington, Mass., on February 18th, 1842. He was graduated from Yale University, 1860, and from Albany University, 1886. He was a Lieutenant Colonel in the Union Army, and entered the ministry in 1879.

He has written a number of books, but his "Acres of Diamonds" is the lecture that has won him fame throughout the world. He will repeat this lecture in 48 different towns for the Chautauqua Association.

MANUFACTURERS DEMAND A CHANGE IN TARIFF LAW

Those in Schuylkill Valley in Letter State Some Relief Must Be Given

The Manufacturers' Association of Montgomery county, Pa., over the signatures of its president and secretary, has just made public a letter which it mailed to President Wilson formally demanding the immediate modification of the Underwood tariff Law and the cessation of anti-business legislation at Washington.

The association disclaims all political bias, and puts its plea on the grounds that it is necessary "in this most unusual way" to enforce upon the attention of Washington and the country an existing industrial condition which is described as "nothing less than frightening." Charles F. Williams, president of the association, is also president of James Lees & Sons' Company, Bridgeport, whose mill, employing formerly 1,000 persons, is now closed. Mr. Williams has never taken any active part in politics, W. W. Finn the secretary, is a member of the firm of Rambo & Regar, Norristown, which is working a curtailed force on part time.

"We are taking the liberty of making this letter public," said Mr. Williams, "because we think that the people ought to know exactly how matters stand with us. If the president or any one else cares to have statistics or specific instances of suffering and hardships we shall be glad to furnish them in abundance. Of course, we are speaking only for the Schuylkill Valley and more particularly for the Montgomery County Manufacturers' Association, but we are convinced that our case is typical. The letter was read and approved unanimously at a regularly called meeting of the association in Norristown, at which I presided."

Following is the letter: The purpose of this letter is to lay before you as President of the United States and leader of the political party now in power, the existing business conditions of those manufacturers and other industries which make up the Manufacturers' Association of Montgomery county, in Pennsylvania.

This association represents industries which lie in that part of the Schuylkill Valley covered by the county named which county is adjacent to Philadelpia. It does not embrace all the industries in this county. It is, however, representative, and whatever is said of the conditions of the factories, etc., of this association, applies with equal force to all other like industries hereabouts. It is a general condition that is here set forth.

Under existing circumstances we feel it to be our duty in this most unusual way to lay certain facts before you and to lay these facts before you for the reason that if any relief is to come, so far as we can see, that relief must come through you. If there is no relief, then the outlook is nothing less than frightening.

In a great measure, that part of the Schuylkill Valley for which we now speak is industrially paralyzed. Appalling as that statement is it does not exaggerate real conditions. We might lay before you an elaborate statistical plan showing just how many hours in the week many of our factories have curtailed; we might in this way show you just what the percentage of loss of wages to the working people is; we might work out for your easy reading what the individual losses aggregate to a given group as compared with this time one year ago. We content ourselves, however, with the broad statement, a statement based on facts quite within our control and always ready for your inspection, that such are the conditions here now, that should these conditions become permanent, it would mean the annihilation of many of these industries and all the consequences which such disaster would carry with it. If these conditions are not improved they mean destruction. It is in the presence of this impending ruin that this letter is written.

We would not bring this situation in this public way to your attention were we not convinced that you have the power to give, in some measure, at least, the relief we ask and to which we are entitled, Mark, please, the relief to which we are entitled. We are not asking a favor. We are seeking to avoid a calamity. We have been told that we are asking too much of human nature to suggest a modification of the tariff law so lately passed by the party now in power, and which became a law over your willing signature. We dare submit, however, that when a law like that, under trial, shows that it brings relief neither in the direction of lower prices of the things we eat nor increased opportunity for labor in the things which we make, when in fact its operation proves that it closes down much of the machinery in our own country and to this extent increase the importation of goods of this same kind produced abroad, when, we say, a law in operation proves itself to be that kind of a cruelty to both capital and labor, then the splendid opportunity does arise for the party in power to acknowledge its mistake and reverse its error. No finer opportunity ever presented itself to any political party to rise above partnership and serve the people than is now offered the Democratic party to so modify the present tariff law as to give both capital and labor a decent chance in the country in which that Democratic party boasts that it is the servant of the people.

Some of our friends say it is useless to ask such a thing. They tell us that in anger you will rebuke us for making such a suggestion. If we were trifling, if we were not in dead earnest, it we were writing this letter merely as critics of your administration then we might be met in the spirit. But when we are standing in the presence of capital jeopardized, in the presence of idle men and women who pray for work and who cannot get it because of the tariff law which your party has passed and you have signed with pleasure, then we will not hesitate to say that under such circumstances as these the President of the United States falls far below the standard of his high office when, as the servant of the people, he meets their appeal in either anger or indifference. We say now and here that the Manufacturers' Association of Montgomery county, Pa., does ask that this law be modified now by the party in power which made the serious mistake of forcing it upon us for even a short time. That party under your leadership can do this. In this hour of the people's trial that party and its leaders should do no less. They are the servants of the people.

We have more to say: We need relief from some impending legislation which, according to the public press, you know propose to have enacted before the present Congress adjourns. It is difficult to describe to you the effect which this impending legislation has upon that part of the country which we represent and for which we now speak. No word better describes it than fright. It is right that you should know this. It is right that you should know that men are asking—is capital to be tabooed? Are successful business men to be declass of citizens, sabotage is lawful, malefactors? Is the law to say to one class of citizens, sabotage is lawful, and to another class, property is plunder? The feeling is abroad that malice and class hatred are being toyed with by our representatives at Washington! Men are frightened as never before in the history of this nation. They tremble for their country. They fear the cause of the depression is more dangerous than the effect. Men bear to you the tidings, so it is said, that there is no depression; men are not out of work; the country suffers from nothing but calamity howlers. Our answer is this: In the Schuylkill Valley there is depression, the streets of the Schuylkill Valley towns are lined with men who have no work, who were one year ago well employed; the floors of the Schuylkill Valley warehouses are piled with goods for which there is no demands. We speak only of the Schuylkill Valley, but for that we do speak. When any man rises in your presence to tell you, as President of your country, that these men in the Schuylkill Valley can work if they will, that the work is here and that they are crying out merely to discredit your administration; that all this talk about depression is due to an inflamed imagination, then we rise to say that that man, whoever he may be, is guilty of mockery that is exquisitely cruel.

It is said that all we need is confidence. True! That is just what we now come to you for. Confidence! Speak the word. Tell us that any bill brought before you which discriminates between capital and labor will meet with your disapproval and your veto until such time as the country has had opportunity to recover from the shock of laws already passed and full time to weigh new laws now pending. Tell us that you do not share the feelings of those who would heckle the so-called "vested interests" and destroy the property of the other man by legislative enactment. Tell us that you do not believe that hospitals and colleges and charitable institutions which are accepting support from funds provided by those who made that money in "big business" are accepting unholy help. Tell us that you believe the pension offered by the American millionaire to old and honorable educators may be money honestly gathered by decent methods. Tell us that legal vandalism is as horrible to you as any other form of anarchy. Tell us these things. Say them out loud where the people can hear you. Say them straight and clear and without equivocation or reservation. Do this, and modify the tariff, and there will flow over this land a wave of that kind of confidence that will from that day mean prosperity to all the people. We need confidence. We come to Washington to get it. We have nowhere else to go. It can be had there and we come there to get it. The issue is squarely before you.

In the name of unremunerated capital, in the name of every man and women whose comfort and happiness depends upon the general welfare of all the people, we do now and here ask that you say these things we have asked you to say. To say these things will show capital and it will show labor that we have a President who will set his fact as flint against demagagy in all its subtle forms. That will restore confidence. It has been recently asked, editorially, by one of the great daily papers of this country:

Of what value will any advice be to a man whose mind is made up? Mr. Wilson is open to no argument. He has marked out his path and declared his fixed intention to follow it to the end, what ever the result of the business of the country.

"Whatever the result to the business of the country." If that be true then this letter and the board and best interests of both capital and labor behind this letter can receive no consideration at your hands. If that be true then, as has been said, editorially, by another great and independent journal of this country, we stand face to face with what can only mean that:

The prestige of our manufacturers attained by such a gallant struggle is to be destroyed by those who neither understand its significance or realize its priceless value."

LOCAL OPTION LEAGUE COLUMN.

Practical Suggestions on Local Option Campaign.

(By Local Option Press Committee

Remember, our slogan: Garrett County Dry in 1915.

Said a great English Admiral just before going to war: "England expects every man to do his duty." So Garrett county expects every man to do his duty in the coming Local Option election and vote DRY.

Use your influence for God and humanity by getting some one to vote with you for the adoption of the Local Option law next November.

Oakland has two school houses, five churches and TEN saloons. Voters of Garrett county will you, by your vote, or by refusing or neglecting to vote continue this condition of affairs?

For or against the sale of intoxicating liquors is the great issue in the approaching election, which shall it be? It is for YOU, Mr. Voter, to decide.

Did you ever see a dry goods merchant kick a man out of his store, or strike him a brutal blow with his fist and knock him from the door way to the brick pavement? Saloon keepers of Oakland have done this in the past several weeks. Are you going to vote to keep this brutal business in existence? The next victim may be your son.

We sing: "I love thy Kingdom, Lord." Is that true, if we fail to vote for Local Option next November?

Think this matter over prayerfully. Do it to day and tomorrow. You are up against a tremendous responsibility. Said the President of a saloon organization, the people give us a license, hence are partners with us in our business. How do you like the partnership? By the help of God and man we are going to dissolve this partnership and go out of the business in Garrett county. What say you? Are you going to join us in the dissolution? Or do you like the other crowd best? Do you just want to keep on making drunkards and paupers, widows and orphans? The time has come to quit playing Good Lord and Good Devil.

A man goes to the grocers and buys some sugar, some coffee, some flour, some meat to take home to his family, he suffers no harm by so doing. He goes to the saloon and purchases booze, money gone, he is excused from the bar room, lies down in the gutter or on the side walk, is arrested, taken to jail and his family has no supper and the poor wife takes her hard earnings to pay the fine. Mr. Voter are you going to continue this ruinous business?

If you neglect to register and vote against the saloon, and the county go wet, and a saloon be licensed, and from that saloon a man starts home drunk and on the way falls out of his wagon and is killed, are YOU not a partner in his death? The State of Maryland says, after April 30, Garrett county must be responsible for the whiskey business conducted within its bounds. You as a voter are responsible. As you value your happiness in eternity do the right thing.

Can you pray: "Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done on earth as it is done in heaven," and fail to vote against the saloon? How much is such a prayer worth?

Say you, my vote is not needed? How do you know it is not? Would such an excuse hold good on the day of Judgment? There are only two sides to this question. For or against. There is no neutral ground. The legislature, and the Governor of this great state have laid the responsibility upon you. They did so by an overwhelming majority.

The liquor men, at least some of them are saying that they will carry District No. 14, Kitzmiller, Accident, Friendsville, and Deer Park. What do you say about that? Impossible. No it is not impossible. Surprises occur sometimes, Woe unto him who putteth the cup to his neighbors lips. Pray over this matter. Your own boy is in danger. Your own daughter is in danger. The one may become a drunkard, the other become a drunkard's wife. Realize the responsibility resting upon you. Published by the Local Option Press Committee.

Conditions In West Virginia Under The Yost Law

A Temperance Talk to Voters

BY JASON KEP

Mr. Temperance Man,

DEAR SIR: you asked me to make a careful survey of the West Virginia territory in which I travel and give you an honest statement of what changes, if any, in the amount of drunkenness since the Yost law went into effect, also to talk with the store managers of the coal companies and other merchants and give a summary of their statements on the effect it has upon their trade.

My territory embraces thirteen counties in West Virginia, eight of which were without saloons with a few scattered speakeasies and bootleggers, and five wet counties with more blind tigers and speakeasies, than saloons.

It seems queer, but it is a fact, nevertheless, that there are always more speakeasies, blind tigers and bootleggers in wet counties than in counties which have no saloons.

The reason is that when you see drunks in saloon towns you naturally suppose they get the booze in the saloons.

In the dry section the drunks arouse the suspicions of the officers and they get busy.

I will begin with Clarksburg. Clarksburg with thirty-four or thirty-five saloons and thirty-eight to forty speakeasies, was the wettest place for its size that I have ever seen in all my travels, except the Atlantic ocean.

On Pike Street, between the Waldo Hotel and the postoffice, were centred the greatest part of the saloons and it was always crowded with loafers and drunks. Ladies, when possible, avoided that block, especially in the evenings. To-day every room formerly occupied by saloons, are rented by merchants. The loafers and drunks have disappeared and ladies can walk on this street day or evening with absolute assurance of not being insulted. The "panhandler" has also disappeared.

I spent the 4th of July in Clarksburg, attended the big celebration. Was out to the park and fair ground and much to my surprise did not see one single drunk.

One thing that struck me forcably was that nearly every man out at the fair ground and park had his wife and children with him, and the expression of happiness on the women's faces did ones heart good to see. There has been but one arrest for being drunk since the Yost law went into effect (24 days.)

They have decreased the police force one-third, as thers is nothing for the police to do. The people are astonished and delighted. I talked with a number of merchants and they all report an improvement in their trade. The banks report a large number of new small depositers. Clarksburg is obeying the law, she is dry for keeps.

I have talked with a majority of the store managers at the mines and they state that there is practically no drinking among the miners and that they notice quite a difference in their store trade.

I talked with some foreign miners last week and asked them if they intended moving out of the State. They said, "no sir, it good thing; we save mon; no fight; family eat more; more clothes; law all right."

The fear that the foreign miners woulk leave the State and the mines be crippled for want of laborers was groundless.

I asked a man who ran a speak easy for four years (sort of a special pull) if he intended to continue shooting them over. He said "not on your tin type, that law means business; it has truth a mile long; nothing doing. I perfer to view the penitentury from the outside."

There will probably be a few fellows who think they are smooth enough to work the game, (but not the bright ones). It can't be done; they will shurely be landed.

Now that the saloons are closed, the saddest men in the state are the grafting politicans; they cannot pull the saloon keeper's leg any more.

"Of all sad thoughts of tongue or pen,
The saddest of these—
92,341 majority for dry.

This is'nt good poetry, but mighty good judgment.

The state is dry, the law is being enforced, the arrests are few, the jails are being emptied, police forces being cut down, criminal court work almost a thing of the past, and the people are delighted. If put to a vote today it would go dry by 200,000.

JASON KEP.

Am I My Brother's Keeper.

This question is taken from Holy Writ. Many a sermon has been preached from it. It is a pointed and personal question. It is a serious question. It is a question involving tremendous responsibility. Therefore it deserves our most prayerful, earnest and careful consideration.

By an act of the legislature of the State of Maryland, the citizens of Garrett county have thrown upon them the responsibility or the sale of intoxicating liquors and its awful results, after April 30, 1915. Today the saloons are open and liquors are sold by consent of the State of Maryland, but after April 30, 1915, if it is sold in Garrett county, it will be because the people of Garrett county want it sold. The State washes its hands of the matter, and places the responsibility upon the individual voter of this county.

Do you, Mr. Voter, realize the weight of this responsibilty? This is not a question of politics. Politics has nothing to do with it. The question is, shall the business of drunkard making continue? Shall the saloon continue its ruinous business? It is for YOU to say. In this respect YOU are your brother's keeper, whether you want to be or not.

The State has laid the responsibility of settling this question upon you. Do not lose sight of this fact. What does God require of you? Never before has such a responsibility been placed upon the citizens of Garrett county. Whatever WE say will be done. There is no dodging the issue. If liquor is sold in Garrett county it will be because a majority of the citizens of the county want it sold. The proposition is For or Against. Not to vote is equal to a vote for the sale of liquor.

The State of Maryland says, YOU voters of Garrett county must decide the question. The county can be DRY if you want it so. You can end the making of drunkards in your county if you want to. You can shut out the saloon and saloonism if you desire. It is up to you, Mr. Voter, you decide the question, by your vote for or against license.

Now what are you going to do about the matter? As a christian, as a moral man, as a loyal citizen dare you neglect this solemn duty? It is within your power to prohibit the sale, remove the temptation and save your fellow man from a drunkard's life and a drunkard's grave. In removing the saloons you may save your own boy from ruin. By refusing to vote, by refusing to do your full duty in agitating the question you may be the means of leading some one to do as you are doing.

Be a true christian, be a real man, do as you would have others do to and for you and yours. Act as God would have you act in this matter. Do not be a Cain. Vote for God, your home and your fire side.

NEW DEPARTURE IN BUSINESS LINES.

Perhaps it has not occurred to the casual observer that the large combines, organized manufacturing companies, catalogue houses, department stores, farmers' organizations and societies of various kinds are changing the methods in mercantile business.

The organizations referred to demand cash payment, and necessarily must cause the merchant to adopt the cash system. sometimes customers are a little offended if they cannot buy goods from the home merchant at the lowest cash price and have them charged to be paid for when it suits their convenience. some are not even willing to fix a time for payment. A few hundred accounts, even if they do not exceed ten or fifteen dollars each, would tie up the merchant's capital so that he would be compelled to borrow money or close up his business. The home merchant is expected to take produce in exchange for his goods or in payment of old accounts at the very highest market price. When over stocked with produce the merchant must simply ship the surplus at a loss as the price paid is often greater than the market price in the cities. We hail with delight organizations that will improve business methods. We need education on all these lines, and merchants have learned that to buy goods at the lowest market price means cash at the time of purchase. If he fails to be prompt he will be drawn on and his credit is soon lost. In such case no one cares to sell to him. Staple goods of the best quality are sold in most places by the local merchant at too close a margin to be carried on books. As matters now stand it is best for the merchant and consumer to buy for cash or do without the goods until he can spare the money. Indeed it would pay the merchant or consumer to borrow the money rather than buy on credit. Goods cannot be put into the hands of the consumer without expense. Someone must be paid for this part of the work. So far no plan or method has been as successful as when the home merchant places his orders with manufacturers or responsible wholesale firms giving time for goods to be made as ordered and backed up not only by the manufacturer but by the merchants.

THE REPUBLICAN,
Oakland, Md.

THURSDAY, JULY 30. 1914.

THE Democratic papers are not saying anything about the resignation of Congressman James T. McDermott to save expulsion.

ON the second page of this issue will be found a letter sent to President Wilson by the Manufacturers Association of county, Pa. We bespeak for it a most careful reading and study. It is a straight forward presentation of facts as they exist today.

THE seventeenth annual Maryland State Grange Fair will be held in Ohler's grove, near Tawneytown, Tuesday till Saturday, August 11-15. The list of premiums and information in relation to the rules and regulations to govern the Fair have been printed and may doubtless be had upon application to Mr. Charles E. H. Shriner, the secretary, in Tawneytown.

WE have received, as has doubtless hundreds of other Republicans through Garrett county, circulars and blanks from Isaac Lobe Straus. He requests us to fill out one of the blanks, stating whether we indorse him for Uuited States Senator from Maryland. We did not invest one cent for postage, to answer, no. We are for a Republican and not for a Democratic Senator.

THE city-wide congress at its recent session among other resolutions adopted the following: The reorganization and the rebuilding of the Maryland Agricultural College, together with the organization of a strong State Board of Agriculture is therefore one of the gravest problems asking solution of the people of this State it the last analpsis its every interest—industrial, commerical, social and educational—depends upon agriculture, which is and ever must remain, the foundation of all national prosperity."

THE United States Census department has just issued a statement showing the indebtedness of the United States and the several states. The entire per capita debt for the year ending June 13, 1913, was $14.15. Kansas, the prohibition State has only a per capita indebtedness of 14 cents; Iowa a temperance State, 16 cents; Oregon largely under prohibition influence, only 4 cents. The United States shows less cash in the treasury available for the payment ot debt amounted to $1,028,564,055, or a per capita of $10.59. This is a pretty creditable showing for Uncle Sam.

WE want to impress upon the readers of THE REPUBLICAN the fact that the Bible Convention to be held at Mt. Lake Park Aug. 7 to 19, is the greatest event ever booked for a Mountain Lake Park audience. It is an expensive program. The greatest men of the Old and New World have been engaged for the ten days session. McNeil, the Scotchman, is one of the most eminent ministers of the Presbyterian church. Possibly, never again will such an opportunity be afforded the citizens of this county. It is an opportunity of a life time. We are emphatic in our statements because we desire to impress upon you the importance of arranging your affairs so as to hear these men of brains and spiritual power. We know whereof we speak. Give yourself and your family the great pleasure of this "feast of good things."

A NEW arithmetic should be invented to explain the Democratic theory of the drift of gold from this country to Europe, says the Westminister, Md., Sentinel. It further says that during the last six months the gold reserve of the United States has been depleted to the extent of eighty millions of dollars. Most of it, it is said, has gone to Paris, because, according to Democratic reasoning, it was needed there. But it was not borrowed and a bonded debt incurred to acquire it. How then did the Parisians manage to get it, if it was only because they needed it? Did the United States get nothing in return for it? Certainly. The American people got French merchandise, purchased in the Parisian market. But the goods wear out and the gold remains in the coffers of French merchants. And to the extent of the eighty millions exported the people of the United States are that much poorer than if they had purchased goods of American manufacture.

Young Man Who Goes to Church Regularly Is Sure to Be Successful In Life

YOUNG man, GO TO CHURCH!

The young man, more than any one else, is in need of spiritual strength to do battle with the world. He is beset with temptations. The lessons he is taught in the house of God will guide him in the path of rectitude. And they will be an asset to him in the daily strife of the material world.

NOT ONLY WILL GOING TO CHURCH HELP THE YOUNG MAN IN A SPIRITUAL WAY, BUT IT WILL BE OF APPARENT WORLDLY BENEFIT. A YOUNG MAN WHO GOES TO CHURCH REGULARLY IS BOUND TO MAKE A FAVORABLE IMPRESSION IN THE COMMUNITY IN WHICH HE LIVES. HE WILL QUICKLY GET A REPUTATION FOR HONESTY AND UPRIGHT LIVING. HIS EMPLOYER WILL BE QUICK TO NOTE HIS EXEMPLARY HABITS. IF THERE IS A POSITION OF TRUST TO BE FILLED HE IS THE MOST LIKELY CANDIDATE. GOING TO CHURCH BRINGS ITS REWARD NOT ONLY IN THE LIFE TO COME, BUT IN THE PRESENT ONE. AND THEN THERE IS THE SOCIAL SIDE. THE YOUNG MAN WHO GOES TO CHURCH IS CERTAIN TO BE INVITED TO THE MOST EXCLUSIVE FUNCTIONS. THOSE WHO MAKE UP THE INVITATION LISTS NEVER OVERLOOK HIM. HE IS IN CONSTANT DEMAND. THERE ISN'T A GIRL IN TOWN WHO IS ASHAMED TO BE SEEN IN HIS COMPANY.

All young men will have to admit the truth of these statements. Surely it isn't unmanly to GO TO CHURCH. Read the lives of any of the great men, and invariably you will find that in early life they JOINED THE CHURCH. It was in the church that they laid the foundation of their great careers. Think of the happiness it gives your parents to see you at divine service and for them to know that you are on the right road.

Young man, if you want to be successful in life JOIN THE CHURCH, GO TO CHURCH.

GO TO CHURCH next Sunday!
GO TO CHURCH every Sunday!

THE Saturday Evening Post, the most largely read weekly newspaper in the land, of the 18th inst., says:

Power begets a false air. Hardly anybody dares tell a Napoleon an unpleasant truth. It is far more profitable to tell him what he wishes to hear. That the President of the United States may be misled is demonstrable by going back no further than last January, when Mr. Wilson assured Congress that business men generally were quite ready to take the Democratic antitrust program to their bosoms.

Of late, representative business organizations and individuals all over the country have been protesting against the enactment of that program and begging Congress to go home. There can be no reasonable doubt that "the best business judgment of America," for which Mr. Wilson assumed to speak in January, regards the administration's antitrust measures as crude, confused, ill-advised and mischievous, but in the many and widely dispersed expressions of that opinion Washington inclines to see only a conspiracy, presumably hatched in Wall Street.

This shows how badly Washington needs a rest. When men get into such a state that they can account for a disagreement with them only by imputing a sinister motive for it, they need repose and fresh air.

The disagreeable truth is that the antitrust measures provoke alarm in representative business circles. If Congress is too far out of touch with the country to realize this, it needs to go home. Virtually it has been in continuous session since March, 1913—in the false air of the capital, where whatever the leaders judge to be expedient for the party is taken as tantamount to what the country judges to be expedient for itself.

A prompt adjournment is the best and most useful measure Congress can adopt.

PLAYING POLITICS.

The National Administration is playing politics in Maryland. At least that is a current report says the Sentinel, Westminster, Md., it being stated that appointments to important offices are to be delayed until after the election in November, thus leaving a number of aspirants on the anxious bench. There is nothing to be said against that intention. It is perfectly legitimate for the administration to make use of its patronage to assist its party, if that be its purpose, action of that sort has never been condemned when employed by any party. In this case, however, it woule be interesting to know just how the Democratic party is to profit by the delay. It is supposed, of course that if the appointments were to be made before the election some of the disappointed applicants for place might be less active in working for the success of the nominees, but that is at test a negligible quantity in calculation. Occasionally a disappointed politician sulks, but that is the exception, not the rule.

Perhaps, and probably, the administration has an eye more to the effect of the primary than to the regular election, and may even take a hand in making nominations of candidates for Congress and in the tight for the senatorship. It is certainly not friendly to Senator Smith and may regard it as necessary to compass his defeat at the primary for the benefit of the party. But, of course, its real purpose is only a matter of speculation and it is now open to criticism therefore. It is well known that the Democratic party in Maryland is not a happy family and the administration cannot be blamed for making an effort to restore harmonious conditions. It is possible, however that its well meant intentions may only result in widening the breach.

Have you a farm or house to sell? The Garrett County Realty Co., as your agent, will find you a buyer. Garrett phone, Ravenscroft building, Oakland. Adv.

How much of a real friend to the American farmer is an administration which makes a tariff law under which there is an increase in the importation of cattle of 40 per cent. and in horses of 250 per cent? Asks the Cecil Whig. And as for sheep, the percentage of in crease is up to the thousands. How much of comfort is there to the wool grower in the fact that the importation of raw wool under the new law is nearly three times as large in number of pounds as under the previous law, and is over three times as large in the value of the product?

Where is the encouragement to the maker of dairy products in this country? The increased importation of butter is over 200 per cent., and the increase in cheese over 50 per cent. Nearly 200,000 bushels of beans were imported in April, and only 65,000 during April of 1913. There is an increased importation of 50 per cent. in hay. Farm animals of the various kinds are now brought here at the rate of 2,000,000 a month, instead of less than half that number during the same period of last year.

This is what the new tariff is doing for the American farmer. It is giving over to the foreigner a good share of the market that is his.

KAMP FAMILY REUNION.

Judge Henry Kamp Entertains A Number Of Relatives.

For years it has been the custom of the Kamp family in Indiana to hold yearly reunions. At times as many as one hundred meet and talk over old times and family affairs. Last Sunday Judge Henry Kamp and wife, at their pleasant home at Accident, this county, entertained a number of their large family connection. It was the first reunion of the family held in this county. The occasion was a most delightful one and the hours swiftly passed away. The dinner was served in the apple orchard and it was a feast of rich things and was greatly enjoyed. It was late in the evening when the company seperated.

Among those present, outside the family of the Judge, were:

Mrs. Ovenger and two daughters, and Miss Thomas, daughter of Mr. Bernard Thomas (formely of this county,) of Richmond, Ind.; Fred Kamp and family, of Friendsville; Lewis Kamp and family, of Cove; Samuel Otto and family, and Loyd Kamp and family, of New Germany; Asa Beghly and family and Adam Hetrick and family ot Accident; Andrew Shartzer and Clyde Shartzer and wife of Oakland.

After dinner about one hundred of the neighbors of Judge Kamp and family, dropped in to spend a few moments with the happy guests. Among them Senator Harvey Speicher, and Henry Speicher.

Monday, by auto, the Indiana guests took in Oakland and Mt. Lake Park, spending Monday night in Oakland, the guest of relatives.

She does not see any person. Mrs. Hank is one of God's elect, a noble, generous woman, her life has been a blessing to others. The writer has known her for many years, and to know her was a privilege as well as a pleasure.

Great preparations are being made for Temperance day at the Bible Conference. It will be held August 15. The program for the day will draw one of the largest, if not the largest crowd ever assembled at the Park. It will be an extraordinary occasion. The music will be a great attraction. The leader, E. O. Excell is known from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast. He is a great musical composer as well as leader; the noted pianist, Prof. Alvin Roper will be the accompanist. On the platform will be the noted speakers from England, Scotland and America.

Mrs. Dr Campbell, Mrs. F. E. Miller, Messrs. J. Power Allen, Dr. Reed, J. L. Echard, were appointed a committee to devise some way to oil the streets largely used by automobiles. They held a meeting or two, talked the matter over and went to work and raised nearly $500 to do the work. That is a business committee, a ways and means committee. They will report to the meeting Friday. Another very important matter which will come before the meeting will be the water supply question. Upon a proper solution of this question depends largely the future of the Park.

Out of 100,000 school children examined in New York city, nearly 30 per cent. were found to be in need of glasses. STRONG EFFORTS MADE FOR PEACE

England Urges Mediation In Present Crisis

NO OFFICIAL NEWS OF FIGHT

Secretary Grey of England Proposes Joint Mediation to Settle Quarrel Between Austria and Servia—Anti-Militarist Riots Occur In Paris. Kaiser May Be Blamed If Europe Is Plunged Into War.

London, July 28.—An engagement between Austrians and Servians is reported to have occurred on the Danube, but no details are available and it is not believed to have been of any importance. As far as the censorship permits to be known, Austria has not yet opened her military operations, although a Paris dispatch says official news from Vienna has it that hostilities will begin today.

Meanwhile diplomacy is proceeding with energy along two separate lines to avert the war if that is possible and if impossible to localize the conflict.

This is largely due to the statement of Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary, that he had made advances for a conference in London on the trouble to Germany, Italy and France and also his admission that Germany was favorable in principle to mediation between Austria and Servia.

The announcement in regard to the proposed conference was that Germany, Italy and France had been asked to join Great Britain in trying to find a solution of the difficulty: that Russia, Austria and Servia had been invited by Sir Edward Grey to suspend operations pending the outcome of the proposed mediation conference.

Sir Edward said in the house in announcing his appreciation

"I understand the German government is favorable to mediation in principle as between Russia and Austria, but to our proposal to apply that principle by means of a conference the German government has not yet replied."

The failure of these efforts for general peace would, Sir Edward believed, bring on "the greatest catastrophe which could befall the concert of Europe."

Military preparations of one sort or another continue by all the great powers, but so far as they have been allowed to become known they are no greater than might be expected under the circumstances.

Against the tendency to optimism must be set Austria's announcement why Servia's reply was unsatisfactory and the Hungarian appeal to the nation to stand together, in which it is declared that "we stand on the threshhold of warlike developments."

Kaiser Europe's Man of the Hour.

Berlin, July 28. The kaiser is the man of the hour. All Europe believes he can, and at least will try by virtue of his personality and tremendous influence, save Europe from a general war.

Whether or not the kaiser has the power imputed to him, dispatches from Paris, London and St. Petersburg show plainly that there is a disposition to place the entire responsibility for war upon him if he does not prevent such a catastrophe.

This tendency of the triple entente to make Germany responsible for the action of Austria is sharply resented in governmental circles and by a portion of the press.

"The situation is unchanged; it continues to be most grave." These words from a personage who is in a position to speak for the government explains the situation.

Russia remains the sphynx of the situation. Until she speaks the suspense will remain and there will be no real change.

The National Gazette prints a semi-inspired note which says: "The situation from the standpoint of Germany is unquestionably grave, even if not exactly dangerously threatening. As soon as she considers it necessary, Germany will take precautionary steps and measures which will give emphasis to her views of the position—that the Austro-Servian conflict must be carried on without the interference of a third power."

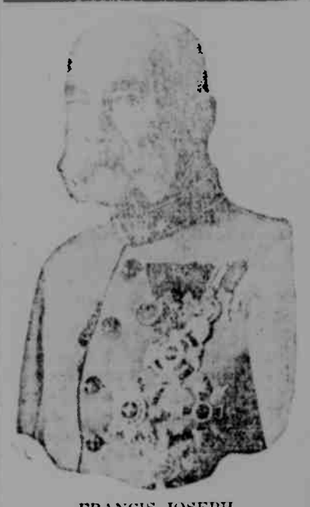
Bridge Blown Up.

Vienna, July 28.—The Militarische Rundschau repeats the report that the Servians have blown up the bridge across the Save between Semlin and Belgrade.

The explosives were laid before the Servian officials left Belgrade and were discharged by an electric switch in the Servian capital.

Russia is reported to have taken special military measures at Vilna, Warsaw and Kieff.

Hungary is reported to have mobilized her troops with great activity in the neighborhood of Cattaro.



It is also reported that Servia has withdrawn her troops from the Albanian frontier and strong detachments are concentrating on the Austrian frontier.

Parisians Demonstrate Against War.

Paris, July 28.—There was an anti militarist demonstration of considerable gravity here. It involved collisions between 2,000 police and a regiment of republican guards and 25,000 manifestants who were marched along the main boulevards for an hour and a half.

Windows were smashed and many heads were broken. There was no shooting, the mobs using only their fists. The police and republican guards did not fire and there were no swords drawn. The police did not use their clubs. Several plain clothes policemen were badly beaten up.

HUNGARIANS PATRIOTIC

Many In America Will Go Back to War For Country.

New York, July 28.—About to return to Budapest, his American tour cut short by the Austro-Serb war, Count Michael Karolyi, leader of the Independent party in Hungary, sharply criticised Austria's policy toward the Balkan states while confessing that since war had come Hungarians would loyally support the empire.

"If Austria had pursued a policy of directly helping the Balkan countries if Austria had in the past made it a point to be actively their friend, the war would not confront us," the Hungarian said with vehemence.

"Since it has come, of course, all Hungarians will support the empire and internal differences will be dismissed while the empire is imperiled.

"As for the loyalty of the many Serbs within Austro-Hungary it is hard to say. But the Austrian policy toward the Balkans has been all wrong."

At the Austro-Hungarian consulate it was stated that no notification of war had been received nor had notice to call upon army reservists in this country arrived from the Austrian ambassador, Dr. Dumba.

Natives of Austro-Hungary in the United States number over 3,000,000. Of these all able bodied men between the ages of nineteen and forty-two are supposed to answer the empire's call for reserves.

Paul M. Pavlovitch, in charge of the Servian consulate, said that 5,000 Serbs went over to fight in the Balkan war. Only about 1,000 Serbs in the country are natives of Servia, he said and there are somewhere around 100,000 American Serbs who are allies of Austria.

RUSSIA CANNOT KEEP OUT

Washington Hears War Between Czar's Country and Austria Is Inevitable.

Washington, July 28. How ominous is the situation in Europe was indicated in an authoritative dispatch received in Washington from St. Petersburg.

According to this reliable information the Russian ministry regards war between Russia and Austria as inevitable.

The fact was made known that Russia has ordered a complete mobilization of all her forces. Heretofore it had been reported that only a partial mobilization had been ordered.

President Wilson said that this government has taken no action looking to an offer of its good offices. Its policy at present will be one of strictly "hands off."

A Comfortable House for Your Hogs

Increased Profit Will Prove Wisdom Of Proper Housing.

C. L. OPPERMAN.
Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station.

Maryland farmers probably make more clear money out of hogs than from any other kind of live stock on their farms. Naturally we should expect them in consequence to be the best housed and cared for stock on the place. The opposite is too often the case. Too many farmers have the notion that anything is good enough for a hog. If, however, they would invest a little time and money in replacing the make shift shacks they use, their profit on their hogs might readily be doubled.

NEW HOG HOUSE.

For a number of years the well-known A-shaped Lovejoy portable house has been largely in use at the Maryland Experiment Station. This type of house, has not been found altogether satisfactory since the earth yard attached to the house became too quickly an unhealthy mire or wallow, especially in muddy weather, a condition far from comfortable to even a hog. In addition the hogs were continually breaking down the wire fencing, enclosing the yard, making conditions more unsatisfactory.

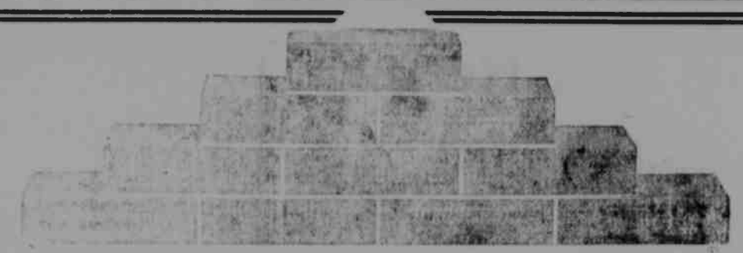
To do away with these troubles the Experiment Station recently built a new hog house largely of cement construction which will care for fifty shoats or 6 to 10 brood sows and 10 dry sows or shoats. The building is 33 feet long, which includes a feed room and a manure pit at opposite ends. There are eight pens in all, six of which are 6 by 8, built to accommodate a brood sow or if necessary two. The remaining two pens are 8 by 10 feet and are used as fattening pens or for dry sows.

COMFORTABLE QUARTERS.

The yards are the same width as the pens and extend out twenty feet from the front wall. The height of the front wall is seven feet, the entire building, outside wall and division pens, up to a height of 3 feet 8 inches being of cement. The remainder of the building is built of timber. The division walls being built of cement instead of wire has done away with all trouble from hogs breaking through from one pen to another.

This building is giving splendid results with winter litters at the present time. The plan followed in its construction or some modification of it is well suited to any farm where hogs are being handled as a money making proposition. Interested parties are cordially welcomed to inspect the building and premises at any time.

We Should Grow Our Own Nitrogen



Using Legumes In Our Crop Rotation Will Save Buying Nitrogen Fertilizers.

W. E. HANGER
Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station.

The air we breathe is made up of about 80 per cent nitrogen yet every year we are spending thousands of dollars on Maryland farms for nitrogen to feed our crops. If we could use this nitrogen in the air, we would never need to worry about using up our supply. On the other hand, the commercial nitrogen we buy costs from 15 to 25 cents a pound, and is easily lost from the soil. So we need to look for a cheaper and more lasting form of nitrogen supply.

Certain plants known as legumes such as the clovers, alfalfa, cow peas, vetch, and soy beans are able to take up this nitrogen from the air in small quantities and store it in their roots. Beside the nitrogen stored in this way, we get from 3 to 5 pounds per acre in the rain fall which may be largely saved and used by our crops if there is plenty of humus in the soil. This last amount is about what we put on the land in using 200 pounds of commercial fertilizer containing 2 per cent. of nitrogen. Now, when it is possible to add nitrogen in this fashion at practically no cost, can we afford to spend our money for commercial nitrogen at 20 cents a pound?

Maryland grows something like 650,000 acres of corn annually. An increase of but a single bushel per acre, which is less than has been obtained in Delaware, would add to the value of the crop in the state to the extent of $403,000 per year. Maryland grows 590,000 acres of wheat per year. An increase of but a single bushel per year, and this amount is easy to obtain, would increase the resources of the state $90,000 per year. In other words, an increase of one bushel per acre in the yields of two of her largest crops, in a single year, would practically build and equip an Agricultural College that would compare favorably with that of almost any other state.

FEELING RUNS HIGH IN DUBLIN

More Rioting, But No Serious Results Attend

VOLUNTEERS PARADE STREETS

"Massacre" on Sunday Is Being Denounced All Over Catholic Ireland. Police Threaten to Go on Strike Unless Insubordinate Members Are Given Back Their Jobs — Wounded Still In Serious Condition.

London, July 28.—The excitement following Sunday's "massacre" is still at high pitch. Rioting broke out last night. Six hundred Nationalists volunteers paraded the streets, a large crowd following them, singing the Nationalist tunes.

Rumors that the Scottish Borderers, the regiment that did the shooting, would leave Dublin sent a big crowd of persons to the Amiens street station. They met with disappointment. Nothing serious occurred during all the excitement.

The lord mayor of Dublin has called a meeting of the magistrates to consider the action of the castle authorities in calling out the police and soldiers without consulting the city officials. The police threaten to strike unless those members of the department who were dismissed for disobedience of orders are reinstated.

Forty persons are still in a serious condition following the conflict between the regular troops of the British army and the Irish Nationalists, which resulted in the killing of three men and one woman.

Feeling runs high throughout Nationalist Ireland. Town councils are adopting resolutions denouncing "the massacre." The soldiers of the Limerick and Kilkenney garrisons are confined to barracks, and concerts by military bands in several towns have been cancelled.

Redmond Wants Speedy Action.

London, July 28.—John Redmond, Nationalist leader in the house of commons, demanded an immediate inquiry into all of the facts of Sunday's affair, in addition to a full judicial and military inquiry into the action of the troops and the punishment of those guilty of the killings.

He also requested the removal of the Scottish Borderers from Dublin and the revocation of the proclamation against importation of arms. He said that so long as the latter remained in force it would be a constant source of risk and danger.

Mr. Redmond demanded in addition to the suspension of Assistant Commissioner Russell the suspension of Chief Commissioner Sir John Ross. Of the latter he said:

"He proved himself in the recent labor riots to be thoroughly incompetent. He is a well known political partisan and is totally unfit for his post."

Mr. Redmond insisted that so long as the Ulster volunteers were allowed to arm, drill and march with arms through the street the same freedom must be given the Nationalist volunteers. He concluded by saying:

"Let the house clearly understand that four-fifths of the Irishmen will no longer submit to be bullied, punished and shot for conduct for which Ulster men are allowed to go scot free."

This declaration was greeted with prolonged Nationalist cheers in which many Liberals joined.

Bonar Law, the opposition leader, said he did not blame the Nationalists volunteers for their action. The Ulster volunteers would have done the same thing. The government, he declared, was responsible for allowing such things to be done.

Premier Asquith made a warm retort to Mr. Law and blamed the opposition for talking about violation of the law. "I warn those who are looking forward with such ardent anticipation to succeeding that they will find the government of Ireland an impossible task," he said.

The premier promised that the fullest inquiry would be made into the affair, but warmly defended the soldiers who, he said, had not exceeded their duty. He believed that the troops would emerge from the inquiry with credit to themselves and to the army.

Mr. Asquith contended that the government had acted impartially in granting importations of arms.

FUNDS ASKED OF IRISHMEN

Appeal Goes Out For $300,000 to Aid Defenceless People.

New York, July 28.—Michael J. Ryan, president of the United Irish League of America, has sent out an appeal for $300,000 to be used to purchase arms for the defenseless people of Ireland.

He makes the appeal at the request of John E. Redmond, chairman of the Irish parliamentary party and head of the Irish National volunteers.

He wants 100 Americans to contribute $1,000 each, 200 Americans to contribute $200 and 1,000 Americans $100 each. This will make a total of $300,000.

In his appeal for funds Ryan said:

"We now see the army arrayed against the law, massacreing those who stand for respect to the will of the majority and constituted authority.

"For years 'gun running' by the so-called Unionists of a part of Ulster has been permitted. If a small majority of the people have the right to arm themselves it ought not to be denied the overwhelming majority, such as the Nationalists of Ireland are. It is, however, useless to debate. Speedy action is now required by all who profess sympathy with this cause of human liberty."

Facts and Incidents Worth Repeating Original and Selected.

Pennsylvania is rapidly creeping towards state-wide prohibition. The superior court has just rendered a decision upholding the right of all county judges to form their own conclusions as to whether the demand for sale of liquor is strong enough to serve as ground for granting license applications. This decision put twenty saloons in Venango county out of business that had appealed from the action of the lower court.

The following excerpts were taken from a congressman's address delivered here last night:

Alcohol is a poison and has no food value.

Alcohol is a narcotic and not a stimulant.

Alcohol reverses the processes of nature and tears down where nature is trying to build up.

Alcohol kills more Americans every year than were killed in battle in 2,300 years.

Alcohol's particular characteristic is that it tears down in the line of evolution.

Alcohol shortens life from fourteen to thirty years.

Alcohol causes 440 out of every 1,000 deaths in the United States.

Alcohol is killing our people at the rate of 2,000 a day every day in the year.

Alcohol is ten thousand times more destructive than all wars combined.

Alcohol will claim the sacrifice of three-fourths of the children of the parents who become alcoholic.

Alcohol causes an annual loss of $8,000,000 in production in the United States because a loss of efficiency.

Not only is Kansas, the richest state per capita in the nation, but Prohibition has made living conditions so splendid there that the people are practically refusing to die. Her death rate is 7 per 1,000 population which is the lowest in the nation. They are so busy going to church and Sunday school and riding over their magnificent roads in automobiles, falling in love and getting married they do not have time to go to jail and positively refuse to go to the poorhouse. There being no drunken husbands raising ructions in the home, wives and mothers have quit going crazy as the following clearly proves: Kansas has 105 counties—in eighty-seven of these there are no insane; in fifty-four there are no feeble-minded; in ninety-six there are no inebriates and in the nine remaining they are so scarce as to constitute a curiosity. Thirty-eight county poorhouses are vacant and have been for a decade; fifty-three county jails are empty and sixty-five counties have no one in the penitentiary and many of the counties have not had a criminal jury case in ten years and throughout the state according to the Attorney General: "A grand jury is so uncommon that one-half of our people would not know what it is and how to use it."

Kansas folks are not only the richest per capita agriculturists in the world but they are the best educated. She has a permanent school fund of $10,000,000 and her illiteracy is the lowest in the nation. There is a million and a quarter in her state treasury and her bonded indebtedness is $370,000 only and this is held by her permanent school fund. Ninety-eight per cent. of her 400,000 school children have never seen a saloon.

Lesson V.—Third Quarter, For Aug. 2, 1914.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Mark xi, 1-11. Memory Verses, 7-9—Golden Text, Zech. ix, 9—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

It is sometimes difficult to get the correct sequence of events in the life of our Lord, but it does seem from John xii, 1, 2, that the supper and anointing at Bethany took place six days before the passover and just before the so called triumphal entry of the lesson today, and yet the lesson on the anointing is not assigned us till Oct. 4. Well, the order of events does not always matter much if we see Himself more clearly and receive the message for our own hearts. The great event of this lesson is recorded in each of the four gospels and was a literal fulfillment of the prediction in Zechariah (our Golden Text), quoted in Matt. xxi, 4, 5; John xii, 15. Fulfilled prophecy is the key to that which is as yet unfulfilled, so we should confidently expect as literal a fulfillment of other predictions of Zechariah, such as those in Zech. ii, 10-12; vi, 12, 13; viii, 22, 23; xii, 9, 10.

After the night at Bethany, when Lazarus, whom He had raised from the dead, was one of them that sat at the table with Him (John xii, 1, 2), He and His disciples proceeded toward Jerusalem. On the way He sent two of the disciples to find an ass and colt tied in a village near by, saying that they should loose them and bring them to Him, and if any one asked why they were to say, "The Lord hath need of them" (verses 2, 3; Matt. xxi, 2, 3). The colt was one whereon yet never man sat, reminding us that He was Mary's firstborn and also that Joseph's new tomb had never been used till it received His body. The disciples are not mentioned by name, but as Peter and John were a little later sent to prepare the passover (Luke xxii, 8) they may have been the two sent on this occasion also. Whoever they were, they found even as He had said unto them, both in connection with the colt and the man bearing the pitcher of water (Luke xix, 32; xxii, 10-13). So it always has been and will be, and whether in this life or the life to come.

Having brought the colt, they put their garments on him, and Jesus sat thereon. Many spread their garments in the road also, and others cut down branches off the trees and strewed them in the way, and the multitude as He came to the descent of Olivet began to rejoice and to praise God with a loud voice, saying: "Hosanna! Blessed be the King that cometh in the name of the Lord! Blessed be the kingdom of our father David!" and other words. Compare verses 7 to 10 and Luke xix, 35-38. The Pharisees found fault, as usual, and wanted the noise stopped, but our Lord said, "I tell you that if these should hold their peace the stones would immediately cry out" (Luke xix, 39, 40).

This lesson is called "The Triumphal Entry," and, while thus far there is some show of triumph, it was for our Lord a sad day—one of the three occasions on which we read that our Lord wept, the other two being at the grave of Lazarus and in Gethsemane (John xi, 35; Heb. v, 7). The record of this weeping is found in Luke xix, 41-44, and part of it is as follows: "He beheld the city and wept over it, saying: If thou hadst known, even thou, at least in this thy day, the things which belong unto thy peace! But now they are hid from thine eyes * * * because thou knewest not the time of thy visitation." Compare His other pitiful lament over the city in Matt. xxiii, 37-39. He saw the judgments which would come upon the city and nation, even as He sees the wrath which will fall upon the unbelieving.

The city was moved as He entered it and the question asked, "Who is this?" (Matt. xxi, 10, 11), reminding us of the same question concerning Him in Jer. xxx, 21; Isa. lxiii, 1, the one referring to His first coming as our daysman, surety, redeemer, and the other to His coming in judgment. The reply of the multitude on this occasion, "This is Jesus, the prophet of Nazareth of Galilee" (Matt. xxi, 11), reminds us of His own reply to the question of Saul of Tarsus, "I am Jesus of Nazareth whom thou persecutest" (Acts xxii, 8). Having entered the city, He went to the temple, healed some blind and lame people, quoted part of the Eighth Psalm to the faultfinding chief priests who would have Him stop the children from crying "Hosanna to the Son of David," looked round about upon all things and then returned to Bethany with the twelve and lodged there (verse 11 and Matt. xxi, 11-17). According to one of the harmonies, the incidents and sayings of John xii, 20-36, fit in here.

I have been helped by considering the following suggestions from the incident of the ass' colt, typifying a sinner brought to and then serving the Lord Jesus: "Vain man would be wise, though man be born a wild ass' colt" (Job xi, 12, omitting the italics). Every sinner may be said to be found where two ways meet (Mark xi, 4), for he is in the broad way and can step out of it into the narrow way if he will. Every sinner is bound by the devil, but may be loosed by disciples and brought to Jesus Christ and may become a Christ bearer.

NOTICE

The Garrett County Creamery announces that it has ceased retailing milk and cream and will make no ice cream in the future. It has felt for some time that due to the short ice cream season in this section and because of the coolness of the evenings a profitable business in ice cream could not be worked up. From now on all cream received will be made into butter. With the present conditions of the butter market which bids fair to continue, better returns can be obtained and better prices paid farmers for their butterfat from making butter alone than in connection with ice cream and other products.

The future of the Garrett County Creamery is very promising. The output this season will more than double that of last season. If there is an equal increase by another year, patrons of the creamery will receive as good a price for their butterfat as is being paid anywhere throughout the country. At present about $2,000 in cash is paid monthly to the farmers about Oakland. The creamery stands as a cash market for one form of farm produce.

GOT ONE YEAR AT THE CUT.

Swift Justice Meted Out to an Itinerant Umbrella Mender.

Monday evening William Wilt, a traveling umbrella mender, called at the home of Deputy Sheriff DeWitt in the suburbs of Oakland and demanded something to eat. Because Mrs. Dewitt was not sufficiently energetic to suit Wilt he threatened to cut her with a knife. Mrs. DeWitt telephoned to her husband, who was at the jail. He immediately started for home in an automobile. The man, alarmed, started up the railroad track, but Mr. DeWitt, who, after much difficulty, succeeded in arresting the man and handcuffing him. He was brought to town and tried before Squire Fries and sentenced to one year at Jessup Cut. The Sheriff took Wilt to his new home Wednesday.

He leaves a wife, formerly Miss Vesta Moore, and two little sons, to mourn his loss. He was buried at Sand Springs, beside his first wife and baby. He was married to Miss Nettie B. Welch was employed for several years by the Friendsville Milling Co., in which company he was a shareholder. He was a member of the order of Knights of Pythias and Odd Fellows. Everybody here will miss Bud, as he was called, for he had one of the kindest dispositions, always helping those needing help; the first to sit up with the sick and take care of them. He was a very kind and indulgent husband and father, as well as a good neighbor and friend. The services were held on Tuesday, the 28th, in the Methodist church, of which he was a member and where he had sung in the choir for years. Rev. Hamrick, assisted by Rev. D. A. Sleep, O brother, softly sleep,
While thy loved ones for thee weep;
May thy spirit from above
Hear us in fraternal love
While the days are fleeting by,
And we learn we, too, must die,
Deepest love we ever hold
For thy scarlet, blue, and gold.

HONORED BY FRIENDS.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Lawton Tendered Reception at Lonaconing.

Completely taken by surprise, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Lawton, East Main St., were honored by a large number of their friends in Lonaconing with a reception and dance, says the Advocate. The affair was arranged by the Lonaconing Aerie No. 773, Order of Eagles, and friends of the Lawton family. Everything was kept secret until the hour of eight o'clock when the big crowd decended on the Lawton home and after the shock of the first surprise had worn off, everybody journeyed up East Main St., to Spears Hall where the reception was held. During the evening a delicious buffet luncheon was served, and at twelve o'clock the assemblage said a formal farewell to the guests of honor.

The main feature of the evening came when Worthy State President of the Order of Eagles, John Abbott, mounted the platform, and in a clever speech, brimful and overflowing with wit, paid a tribute to Mr. Lawton, his value to Lonaconing as a citizen and the good he has done in making Lonaconing Aerie No. 773, Fraternal Order of Eagles, the thriving organization it is to-day. In concluding his speech Mr. Abbott presented Mr. Lawton with a handsome gold ring bearing the insignia of the order aud inscribed in accordance with the occasion. The ring is a beauty, hand engraved, and embossed with the emblem of the Eagles in bass-relief. It was purchased and engraved especially for the occasion by Manager Shearer of the Leslie Jewelry Store.

Mr. Lawton will leave here Saturday night for Oakland, to accept a position with the Oakland Illuminating Company. He resigned his position several weeks ago with the Home Electric Light Company of this place, and his departure will not only be felt keenly by the concern with whom he was connected, but by fraternal circles and by the public of Lonaconing at large. Mrs. Lawton and children will remain here until such a time when a suitable home can be provided for them in Oakland.

REPUBLICANS CENTERING ON ZIHLMAN.

Washington County for Harmony. Lewis' Strength has Weakened.

It is becoming more and more apparent that Maryland Republicans intend to center their energies in an attempt to recapture the Sixth district this fall, and to this end leaders, not only in Allegany county, but Hagerstown also are quietly getting behind the candidacy of State Senator Frederick N. Zihlman of Allegany county.

That the contest will be between Zihlman and Warner is almost a foregone conclusion. All efforts to get a Washington county man to enter the list have failed, and it is regarded by some of the leaders at Hagerstown as too late to bring out a local candidate.

It is contented that any Republican nominee from Washington county would tend to bring about harmony in the party here, but on the other hand any observer of the Republican split-up at Hagerstown would declare that a a Republican from any other county would run much better in Washington county than any Washington county Republican.

It is asserted by a Republican leader that Warner, who has no strength at Hagerstown personally, is sure to get a fairly good vote in a primary contest with Zihlman but for the men here supporting him.

Despite this, Republicans are hopeful of harmony by election time and sanguine of success, because they feel sure that registration will be properly taken care of and that Lewis will have a heavy burden to carry in "the failure of the Democratic Administration to reduce the cost of living, the business depression, the curtailment of work in factories and in the disappointments of many officeseekers."

Democrats are not nearly as certain of Lewis' re-election as they were a month ago. In fact they are not at all certain, and believe that the coming fight will be one of the hottest ever waged in the district.

Masquerade Ball.

Mr. Andrew January entertained a number of his friends at a fancy dress dance at Monte Vista last Friday evening. The home was beautifully decorated for the occasion and a delicious supper was served during the evening. The costumes were unique and varied, and prizes for the best disguise were won by Miss Mary West, Dr. Grant and Mark S. White. Those present were, Col and Mrs. Thomasson, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Offutt, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Shiger, Mr. and Mrs. Semmes Hamill, Mrs. Bauerman, Mrs. Heiskell, Mrs. Whiting, Mrs. Talbot, Mrs. Haywood, Misses Bess Offutt, Cleo Krantz, Grace Jones, Mary West, Allie Traver, and Frances Hamill, Messrs. FRANTZ'S AUTOMOBILE WRECKED.

On State Road—Three Persons Badly Injured Last Thursday.

Last Thursday afternoon Perry Frantz, Claude Brown and two lads, Weimer by name, were on their way to Oakland in an automobile, and when near the Dodge school house they met with a very severe accident, by the bursting of a tire. The automobile turned over once or twice, throwing the occupants forcibly to the ground. Mr. C. F. Hammond, of this city, providentally arrived at the scene a few moments after the accident occurred. He found Brown sprawled out on the ground unconscious and bloody. The other three occupants were standing around in a dazed condition, with blood on their faces, and the Weimer boy with a bloody knee. With assistance, he quickly got Brown in his car, and with the other three he hurried to Oakland. The Weimer boy was taken to Dr. Broadwater's office and Brown and Frantz to Dr. Henry McComas' office, where proper attention was given them. Frantz had a dislocated shoulder and was cut about the face and his legs bruised. They had a very narrow escape from death. The machine was very much damaged. It will require about $100 to put the car in condition for use.

UNDERWOOD TARIFF BLOW TO WAGES

American Protective League's Investigation Shows $866.908 Shrinkage in Week.

As a result of a careful investigation made among the banks of the country, the American Protective Tariff League announces that there has been "a startling decrease in the income and purchasing power of American wageearners following the enactment of the Underwood free tariff law."

The officials of the league, in a formal statement issued here, say the dedrease in payroll checks passing through the banks in the cheif centers of industry and business is the surest possible proof of the serious plight that free trade has inflicted upon the earning and spending capacity of American labor. This statement, in part, is as follows:

"This shrinkage in wage payments, as reported by 64 banks, amounted to $866,908.01 m the third week in June, 1914, as compared with the third week in June 1913, when the Payne protective tariff was in operation. If the same rate of decrease should apply for the whole year from the 64 banks reporting it would show a decrease of wages paid amounting to $45,079,216.52. If applied to all the banks of the country for a full year the shrinkage would mount up into hundreds of millions of dollars. It is a shrinkage that is felt in every line of business. When a free trade tariff thus reduces the number and contents of American pay envelops the calamity becomes nation wide."

Eighty-eight banks responded to the letters sent out by the Tariff League. These banks are located in the following states:

Connecticut—Bristol, Danbury, Derby, Hartford, Meriden and Rockville.

Delaware—Willmington.

Illinois—Chicago, Aurora, Danville, Pekin, Peoria.

Indiana—South Bend, Terre Haute.

New Jersey—Jersev City, Newark, Carlton Hill, New Brunswick, Passaic, Trenton.

New York—New York city, Albany, Buffalo, Binghamton, Johnstown.

Ohio—Cincinnati, Cleveland, Zanesville, Yongstown.

Maine—Portland.

Marvland—Baltimore.

Massachusetts — Holyoke, Lynn, Springfield, New Bedford.

Michigan—Lansing.

Missouri—St. Louis.

Pennsylvania—Phiiadelphia, Pittsburg, Bristol, Harrisburg, Beaver, Falls, Hazelton.

Rhode Island—Centerville.

Twenty four ot the 88 banks responding stated that their books were not kept in such a way as to give reliable comparative statements, but 64 banks banks returned answers to the question propounded. It is shown in the official reports received that 43 banks had a decrease in their payroll checks for the third week in June, 1914, and 21 banks reported an increase. The statement then, concludes:

"In harmony with the last paragraph of the letter of inquiry we cannot divulge the names of the banks reporting, but the tabulated returus indicate that the 64 banks referred to above cashed payroll checks as follows for the week ending June 21, 1913, and June 20, 1914:

"Payroll checks cashed week ending June 21, 1913	$9,926,905.17
"Payroll checks cashed week ending June 20, 1914	9,059,997.10
"Decrease	866,908.01

"This falling off of $866,608.01 in a single week in wage payments through 64 banks in 44 cities of the United States is an index of conditions which no free-trader can challenge and no theorist can explain away. It stands out as a big, bold fact of marked significanc. It tells, in part, the price which American labor and industry are paying for the rash and reckless politics of a free trade Congress and administration.

"It tells of closed mills and factories, of idle workmen, of decreased business by merchants and tradesmen, of commercial failures larger in number and amount of liabilities than at any time since the last free trade paralysis of 1893-1897. The pay envelope is by far the greatest single factor in American prosperity. When free trade comes the pay envelope shrinks. Then prosperity is changed to adversity. That is what has happened now. That is what is disclosed in the reduced volume of payroll checks as reported by the banks.

That question will be decided Nov. 3rd, next, as far as Garrett county is concerned.

The saloon keeper is no respector of person or sex, or of youth or age, boy or girl.

The saloon is often the stepping stone to the house of shame. A glass of beer the first step, and then, ere long dishonor and shame. This is an undisputable fact.

What are you going to do about it? Christian men are you going to shirk your duty in this matter?

We sing, "Where is My Wandering Boy Tonight?" Many a poor, broken hearted mother is asking, "where is my wandering daughter tonight?"

What an awful curse is the licensed saloon! Licensed to sell that which causes ruin, crime and bloodshed.

Licensed by your consent and mine, Nov. 3d next. We can revoke this authority. The continuation of the saloon business rests with the voters of Garrett county. This responsbility is placed upon our shoulders by the legislature and Governor of the State of Maryland. They say "Gentlemen of Garrett county decide the question for yourselves. After April 30, 1915, you are to be responsible for the sale of liquor, if sold, in your county."

Saturday, August 15th is Temperance Day at the great Bible Conference at Mountain Lake Park. Special excursion trains will be run on the B. & O. railroad at low rate of fair.

The program for the day is a brilliant one. The music, and there will be splendid music, under the leadership of Prof. E. O. Excell, of Chicago, the greatest musical composer and leader in America, accompanied by his special accompaniest, Prof. Alvin Roper, the noted pianist.

The meetings will be in charge of that remarkable Chautauqua platform manager, Sol. C. Dickey of Winona Lake, Ind. The main speaker will be the soul thrilling orator, George H. Stuart, one of the most brilliant and remarkable public speakers of the nation. A man of deep convictions, forcible arguments and thrilling statements. His reputation is world wide. His services always in demand.

Fortunate indeed, was the Bible Conference management to secure the services of Mr. Stuart for this meeting. Fortunate indeed will be the multitudes who hear Mr. Stuart speak. His address will be the talk of a life time. Let me impress upon you most forcibly, this splendid opportunity that you are afforded of hearing George H. Stuart and the loss you will sustain if you do not hear him.

Then, there will be other great men in attendance, Rev. F. B. Meyer, of London, England; Rev. John McNeil the well known Scotch Evangelist, a Presbyterian, one of the worlds greatest preachers; Dr. Lyon, the famous Evangelist, equal to Billy Sunday.

This will be the greatest Temperance day ever known in Garrett county and the greatest temperance meeting ever held in Western Maryland. Tell your neighbors about it. Invite them to be present. Come and picnic in the grove on the old auditorium grounds. Let us crowd the big auditorium and have an overflow meeting in the tabernacle. Do not miss this splendid opportunity to boost our Local Option movement. Plenty of room to hitch your horses in the shade and where they will be safe.

Bring in the Sunday schools. Make this a Garrett County Jubilee Day. Scatter the word. Write to your friends to meet you at Mountain Lake Park, Saturday August 15th, so that from this rally there may spread all over the county a mighty Local Option wave. Please announce this meeting at your Sunday school, and ask your pastor to do the same. Give this meeting the widest notice possible.

Remember, Saturday, August 15th.

This is Garrett county's day.

The newspapers of West Virginia with one accord are advocating the enforcement of the law against violators of the same, and newspapers all over the state are admitting that a change for the better is noticable everywhere. The law is being strictly enforced wherever violated, and from all over the state come reports ot reduced police, court, jail, workhouse and almshouse expenses.

The big question that confronts the American public todlay is, "Which has the greater value, the revenue derived from the liquor traffic or the lives of the men and women it ruins?" declared Mrs. Leonora M. Lake, of St. Louis, in addressing the National Conference of Workers of the Prohibition party today. "Men and women are the nations best asset," continued Mrs. Lake, "and every nation which has forgotten this truth has gone down into oblivion. Men, not money, make a nation's greatness. This nation's greatness, this nation must decide, and decide at once, whether it values men above liqnor revenue."

Miss Martha Tibbets, stenographer, of Connellsville, Pa., is spending her vacation at the home of her mother, Mrs. Minnie Tibbets, of this place.

"Come on m boys; the water's fine" does not apply exclusively to the male sex in this community as anyone will notice every hot afternoon about 2 o'clock, a number of our young ladies diked out in raincoats with bathing suits underneath wending their way to the different swiming pools in this vicinity. Deep Hole Savage river, pure fresh water one of the oldest and most popular swiming resorts in Garrett county, is crowded every afternoon with a gav crowd of youngsters of both sexes enjoying themselves to their heart's content. Bloomington has some of the most expert fresh water ladv divers and swimmers that can be found anywhere in the state, all of whom took their first lessons in Savage river, the stream that furnishes the wash-down for the dry throats of Westernport as well as the pure drinking water for Piedmont and Bloomington.

Miss Catherine and Carrie Walker, of Blaine, the latter a student in the "Prep" Department at Keyser, are in town this week visiting friends.

Mr. G. C. Pattison the Bloomington merchant, motored to Eckhart on Tuesday last on a business trip. He was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Howard Carroll, of Piedmont. The journey was made in the car of his son, Mr. Dorsey Pattison, who had charge of the machine.

The Masteller Coal Co., of Hampshire, was compelled to close down on Wednesday, on account of repairs being made to defective flues in the dinkey engine that hauls the coal over the four foot tramway.

Mr. Harry Coffman of this place, second trick operator at the Junction, was in Cumberland Wednesday night on business.

Mrs. Ollie Raley, who has been staying in Richmond the last two months with her husband, Mr. John Raley, during the latter's engagement as first baseman with the Richmond team, arrived in town on Wednesday, to spend a few weeks visiting her mother. In sliding to second base about four weeks ago John met with an accident and sustained a fracture of the collar bone which has kept him out of the game. He is improving rapidly and expects to be back in harness in a few days.

Post master, Daniel Smouse returned home Tuesday evening after a very pleasant visit to friends and relatives in his native town of Grantsville.

Four car loads of heavy western steers and one car of wheat bound East over the B. & O. were derailed about two hundred vards west of the W. Va. Junction on last Wednesday morning about seven o'clock. The car load of wheat was completely wrecked and contents scattered along the track and down the embankments. One car of steers was badly broken up, killing three, wounding two, the badly frightened and shaken up, were unloaded at the Junction and driven to Piedmont over the county road, where they were reloaded and sent to their destination. The wreck detained trains west about two hours.

Facts and Incidents Worth Repeating Original and Selected.

The Iowa Republicans defeated the proposition to insert a plank favoring the resubmission of the prohibition question to a vote of the people. On the contrary, the convention adopted a plank indorsing the present liquor laws and commending their enforcement.

Two hundred and fifty saloons have been closed in Milwaukee, Wis., by order of the city council.

If you prohibit the people from drinking liquor, immediately they will be seized with an overwhelming desire to go out and tank up. Every brewer says that. Probably things were different in the days when God said to the Israelites, "Thou shalt not kill." There is no record that the children of Israel were smitten with an irresistible impulse to slay their fellows.

Toni Piskul, of Helena, Montana, is alleged to have been sold by his father to John Domitrovich for six glasses of whiskey. The courts refused to sanction the transaction. Lots of good church members sell their sons to drink and the devil for a reduction in their tax rate, which they think they get, but don't.

Our revenue may derive some unholy benefit from the sale of alcohol, but the entire trade is nevertheless a covenant with sin and death.—Lord Bacon.

A brewer in Massachusetts is being sued by a customer who claims he found a mouse in his beer. If he keeps on looking at it long enough he will probably see blue elephants and purple snakes.

A paroled convict returned to an Eastern Penitentiary, Pennsylvania, saying: "Rum has got me again, Warden. It's no use; whiskey is so easy to get that I can't resist the temptation. Lock me up, because I am afraid that if you don't I will kill my child.

"If you let liquor alone it will let you alone." Only it didn't let Louisa Miller alone when her husband shot and fatally wounded her after a spree, because she had no money to give him for more whiskey.

Keep in mind the great Temperance rally at Mountain Lake Park, Aug. 15, the greatest temperance meeting ever held in Garrett county. It will bring together the greatest crowd of people ever assembled at Mountain Lake Park Better arrange to be present.

The city council of Wheeling, West Virginia, has decided that the auto police wagon, authorized a short time ago, is now unnecessary, because since the prohibition law went into effect arrests have been few and far between. Under the old conditions two wagons were kept busy, and a third was needed, but since the saloons were closed the two on hand have been idle a large part of the time, and the council has concluded that it can save the money appropriated for the additional vehicle.

With a normal workhouse population of 60 already dwindled to 25, and still dwindling, city authorities are seriously considering the matter of abandoning that erstwhile necessary institution There have been only five arrests for drunkenness in Wheeling since the State went dry, July 1. The workhouse population always has been made up largely of habitual drunkards.

The fight against liquor has come to stay. It has been a long fight, and when it started, it was a weak and ineffective one. But it grew no weaker; it grew stronger. And it will grow no weaker from now on; it will grow stronger.

Back of the whole thing is this one important fact: That the fight on the one side is for the right, and on the other for the wrong. There are very few instances in the world's history where the right side of a question has been the losing side. Defeat has often stared the forces of righteousness in the face, but the forces of righteousness do not recognize defeat when they see it. Their ultimate aim has been Triumph, and they have always triumphed. They will triumph in the case of Local Option and for the reason because we are right, and because we are fighting shoulder to shoulder in unbroken organization against disorganized and disordered opposition.

The Country Boy's Creed.

I believe that the country which God made is more beautiful than the city which man made; that life out of doors and in touch with the earth is the natural life of man. I believe that work with nature is more inspiring than work with the most intridate machinery. I believe that the dignity of labor depends not on what you do, but how you do it; that opportunity comes to a boy on the farm as often as to a boy in the city; that life is larger and freer and happier on the farm than in the town; that my success depends not upon my location, but upon myself; not upon my dreams, but upon what I actually do; not upon luck, but upon pluck. I believe in working when you work, and in playing when you play, and in giving and demanding a square deal in every act of life.

$5.00 Reward.

The undersigned will pay the above amount for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the party or parties who tore down and destroyed his gates last night.

A very pleasant surprise was given Mr. Andrew Chrise, at his home in this town, on Saturday evening, July 25, in honor of his 69 birthday. His birthday, however, occuring on the 28th, it was not convenient to have the surprise on that day, therefore it was several days prior. It was arranged for the guests to all arrive at the home in a body, about 7 p. m. It was a complete surprise to Mr. Chrise. He is a son of Daniel and Elizabeth (Strawser) Chris and was born near Asher Glade, Md. Was partley reared by Christian Thomas, on the farm now owned by M. N. Thomas. He is a veteran of the Civil war, having enlisted March 8, 1864, in Co. B, 14 Pa., Cavalry, and was discharged June 29, 1865. Was in several battles, the largest being at Cedar Creek, Va., Oct. 19, 1864. In March, 1865, one hundred men were sent out as scouts, he being one of them, and during this the scout was shot in his left arm near the elbow at Ashbp's Gap, and on the same scout was captured by the Confederates, but being wonded was released. Oct. 2, 1870, he was united in marriage to Miss Eleanor Clister. To this union were born six sons and three daughters. Death first entered the home and claimed Laura, a daughter, of a little more than two years old, and on May 18, 1892, death took wife and mother, leaving him with eight children. July 22, 1893, he was married to Miss Feelyanne Barnthouse. To this union were born two sons and four daughters, death took from them Emma, of but a few months, and in a few years Anna, the wife of Adam Schroyer, was called away from the family circle. Soon Ralph, a son, of but a few years was called by death, and on Jan. 9, 1909, the death messenger again entered the home and claimed this wife and mother leaving him with four small children. In December 1910, his son, Shingelton, who was a brakman on a B. & O. freight train had his life crushed out at Rockwood, Pa. During all his married life he resided in the community commonly called the Scrubs, (but now known as Clovetop) and on the same farm, save the first few years. May 3, 1911, he was united in marriage to Miss Lucinda M. Beeghly, since which time they have lived in Markleysburg, Pa. Two years ago death entered the family circle again and claimed Charles his first born, and again last April Wishard, the second son, was called from earth. Those who are still living are Mrs. L. M. Recknor and Miss Lulu of Cumberland; Richard, Garfield and Miss Ettie of Clovertop, Pa., Judson, of Pittsburgh; Jasper, of Markleysburg; and Miss Ida, of Friendsville. Mr. Chris has always been an honest, hard working, industrous man.

The army worm, in considerable numbers, made their appearance in this neighborhood last week and considerable damage is being done to the oats crop.

A frost was noticable in low places, near here, on the last day of July.

A surprise party was given at the home of Mrs. T. B. Wiley, on Monday evening of last week, in honor of Rev. E. F. Oney, pastor of the Lutheran congregation. The party was largely attended by friends from this section, and also from Jennings, and all report a very enjoyable time.

Perry Broadwater and family spent last Sunday with relatives at Somerfield, Pa. The trip was made in C. E. Ellithorp's car.

Misses Ruth and Estelle Beahm, of Salisbury, Pa., are visiting in this section this week.

Miss Mary Wiley returned to Piedmont, W. Va., last Saturday, after spending some days with relatives here.

Dr. Sterling J. Miller.

Dr. Sterling J. Miller, who died last week at Parkersburg, W. Va., and whose funeral was held Saturday afternoon in that city, is well known in Oakland and vicinity. He was ordained at the West Virginia Conference at the Andrews M. E. Church in 1893, by Bishop Fitzgerald. Since his ordination he has held prominent appointments in his Conference and made frequent visits to this city. He has been District Superintendent of the Parkersburg District for several years. Many local friends will be shocked to learn of the death of Dr. Miller, which is not generally known here as yet. A few years ago the Methodist congregation were anxious to secure Mr. Miller as their pastor.

Whole World Headed to Marvelous Panama-Pacific International Exposition in San Francisco in 1915

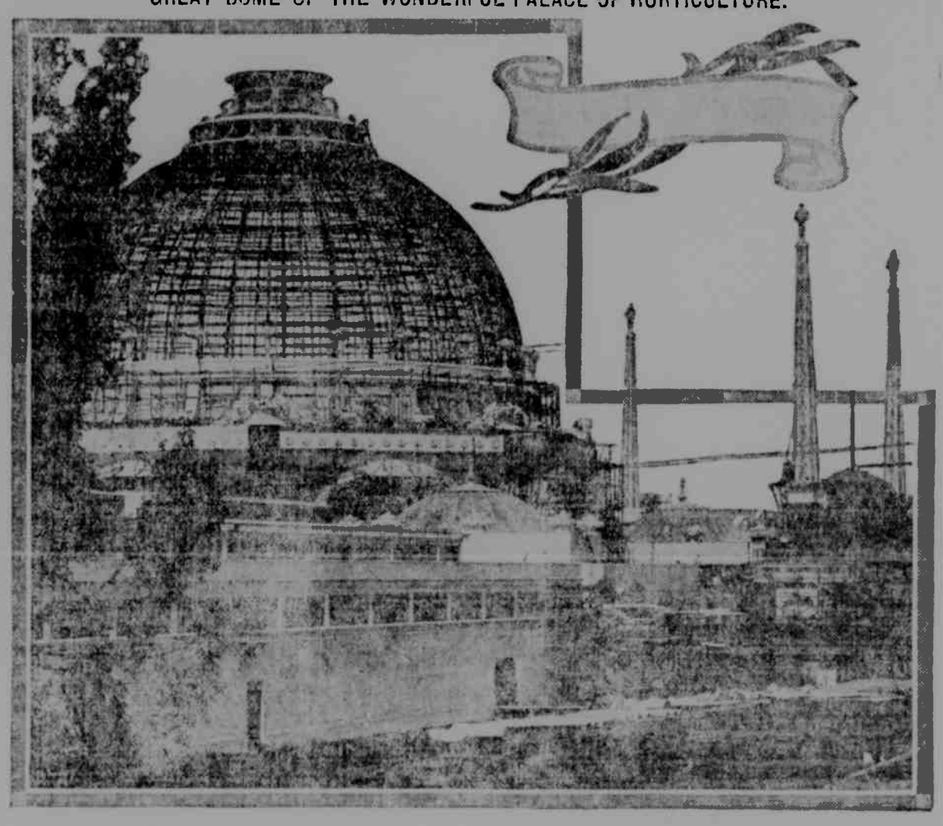
Vast Exhibit Palaces Are Already Completed and Installation of World's Exhibits Begun

THIRTY-SIX GREAT FOREIGN POWERS TO DISPLAY THEIR PROGRESS IN CONCLAVE OF NATIONS UNRIVALED IN HISTORY—RAILROADS GRANT LOW ROUND TRIPS—PLAN TODAY TO VISIT HUGE EXPOSITION.

An education such as one could not receive in a lifetime will be afforded through the great Panama-Pacific International Exposition at San Francisco next year.

At this exposition the people of the United States, joined by the nations of the world, will celebrate the official opening of the Panama canal. Hundreds of years from now the world will recall the opening of the Panama canal as one of the greatest events in the history of the United States, and indeed of the whole world.

At the great exposition, which will excel any universal exposition in the history of the world, thirty-six great nations will make elaborate government exhibits. A single South American country, the Argentine, is expending $1,300,000 on its display, which will be the most comprehensive ever made by a South American country outside its own borders. Italy will show its priceless works of art; Canada will display its vast progress, and has already installed an elaborate exhibit in the huge Canadian Pavilion, built at a cost of $300,000.



The states of the Union will make wonderful displays and those who do not know this great country as well as they should know it will have the opportunity to learn more of its wealth and progress and great institutions under favoring conditions and circumstances that they could obtain in no other way.

Some of the marvels of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition are depicted upon this page. The exposition opens on February 20, 1915, and closes December 4, 1915, remaining open, therefore almost ten months. The railroads will grant low round trips with extraordinary privileges of routing. Any railroad agent will furnish you the particulars as to the exposition. If you want further information about the exposition, take advantage of the following offer:

ATTRACTIVE BOOK ON THE PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION AND PANAMA CANAL MAILED FREE OF CHARGE.

A handsome book of [illegible] pages, profusely illustrated in colors and giving detailed descriptions of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition to be held in San Francisco from February 20 to December 4, 1915, and of the Panama canal and canal zone, will be mailed by the Exposition free of charge to all inquirers. The booklet is intended for the prospective visitors and contains information concerning the great engineering work which the exposition is to celebrate. Address the Manager, Bureau of Publications, Panama-Pacific International Exposition, Exposition Building, San Francisco, for booklet.

A GLIMPSE OF A FAIRYLAND IN THE GREAT SOUTH GARDENS.

Upon entering the main gates of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition from San Francisco the visitor will find he must traverse a vast stretch of land-caped grounds, wherein are set millions of beautiful flowers in bloom, where fountains play and groups of statuary are set at intervals. This is the great South Gardens. The photograph herewith shows the South Gardens as they are today and gives a glimpse of the fairyland which will delight exposition visitors. Thousands of rare trees, palms and shrubs have been brought from all parts of the world for the landscaping, which is carried on in that sumptuous way which the semi-tropical climate of California permits. There have been brought to San Francisco giant tree ferns from Australia, rhododendrons from England and West Virginia, tulips from Holland, banana plants from Hawaii and Central America. Large trees, some of them more than sixty feet in height and of great girth, have been transplanted to the grounds. The Panama-Pacific International Exposition opens in San Francisco in February, 1915.

This palace occupies a site at the southwest corner of the main group of exhibit palaces. To the left is the Half-Dome of Thought, constituting the main western entrance to the palace. This is one of two half-domes constituting the principal architectural embellishment of the western facade of the main group, the other being the Half-Dome of Vigor, the principal western entrance to the Palace of Food Products.

These domes are modeled after similar recesses in old Roman baths, or in buildings surrounding the Forum. Within the cool shade of these beautiful doorways the leisurely gentlemen of old Rome were wont to gather for informal lectures and discussions.

Within the shadow of the Dome of Thought will be a semi-circle of eight columns, surmounted by figures by Ralph Stackpole, embodying ideas of intellectual development. Within the Dome of Vigor, a similar colonnade will be surmounted by figures by Earl Cummings, representative of the ideals of physical development. In the center of both entrances will be a fountain. The portals in the southern facade are Italian renaissance. W. B. Faville is the architect. The Panama-Pacific International Exposition opens in San Francisco in February, 1915.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 6. 1914.

EUROPE'S day of wrath has dawned.

THE airship and the aeroplane will have their innings in this war.

Two million women will have the right to vote for President at the next National election.

To-day's geographies will be to-morrow's discard, so far as the map of Europe is concerned, after the war lords get through.

"SEEING America first" will now be the slogan of Americans. Sight seeing in the old world is closed to tourists.

ONE American in every six has money in the saving bank, the deposits averaging $381.82. We congratulate that sixth man, and deeply sympathize with the other five.

IN this great European war the United States is neutral. Fortunate country. It is hoped that President Wilson's advice to the people of the United States to keep cool will be generally observed.

"WAR time" food prices may be expected if Europe is plunged into a general war, Department of Agricultnre officials declared today. The demand from abroad may send prices soaring to such prohibitive heights that it has been suggested it may be necessary to declare an embargo on the exportation of foodstufis from the United States.

THE defeat of former Congressman Ball, the administration candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor of Texas, is the severest political jolt that Woodrow Wilson has received since his inauguration, says the Cumberland News. The fact that an aspirant who had the O. K. of the White House should be rejected by a majority of 50,000 in the Lone Star State has a significance which cannot be overlooked by students of political affairs.

IT is said that President Wilson is considering the question of touring several States during the coming campaign, but has not yet decided where he will go. He has been asked to go into Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Iowa, Ohio, Maine and other States. Before settling the question he is expected to confer with William F. McCombs, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, who is now in the West observing political conditions. If he succeeds as he did in New Jesery, the Republican will be victorious.

SOME idea of the loss this country will sustain from the war in the old world can be formed from the fact that a million dollars a month is the loss that Baltimore, as third ranking Atlantic seaport will have to bear if the trans-Atlantic shipping situation does not clear up quickly. This includes losses from freight earnings, terminal profits and the wages of over 1000 stevedores, terminal employees and freight-yard workmen, and is based on the combined calculations of the three men closest in touch with the city's tremendous export trade.

THERE is no reason why the Sixth Congressional district of Maryland should be represented in Congress by a Democrat, says the Cumberland News. It is a Republican district by a large majority. The suggestion that the Republicans lay aside all differences and work together in unity is a wise one. The past should be forgotten. There should be a determined effort to rally under the banner of the Republican party and nominate and elect State Senator Frederick N. Zihlman to Congress by an old time majority. We believe the Sixth can be counted upon for loyal, united support of the ticket.

THE LIVE WIRE.

Whatever city you may be in, if you scan the newspapers of the community and pick out the best advertisers to be found in their columns, you will make no mistake in selecting the most successful merchants and the money-making business men. Then take a look at their places of business and you will be further convinced of the power of advertising. Such establishments are always owned by the live wires.

The very atmosphere of a well advertised store breathes its success. You see in it activity, bright-faces, confident clerks and a throng of customers. By a contrary sign you can pick out the place of the business man who does not let the people know what he has for sale. Advertising gives character to a business, and character wins in business just as it does in the private walks of life.

Look over the successful business men of Oakland, who exploit their goods through the advertising columns of THE REPUBLICAN, and be convinced of the truth of these observations.

A TERRIBLE HANDICAP.

Democrats in Congress who have been deaf to the voice of their constituents and alive to the voice of the White House are now trembling over the outcome of the November elections. There is a pall of gloom over the entire party, and the campaign begins with the Democratic party apologetic, explanatory, and defensive.

Many Democrats in the House are not so sure that they are anxious to go home for the campaign, after all. What would they tell their constituents? The White House influence, so potent in Washington, becomes pretty thin when spread out over the country. Witness the defeat of the administration candidate for governor of Texas, and the snowing under of every man who voted for the tolls repeal bill, wherever the people have had a chance to get at him. In New Jersey the support of the President had no effect in saving a Democratic candidate who had announced himself in favor of tolls repeal. Perhaps the farmers of that state remembered the speech of the Democratic candidate for President at Washington Grove, when he approved the tolls exemption plank in the Democratic platform and told the farmer why the Democratic party was in favor of free American ships through the Panama canal, only to turn against them after he had been elected.

Throughout the business world there is deep resentment against the Democratic administration and its supporters in Congress. The halt in prosperity is directly charged against the administration policy. In the South this resentment is even more marked than in the North. Seaport cities which counted upon big commercial development following the opening of the Panama canal are now listless, feeling that the taxing of American shipping destroyed the chief hope of competing with the railroads.

The sentiment among business men, big and little, has its effect in swaying the judgment of farmers and workingmen. The farmers depend upon industry for their market, and the laborers depend upon it for their wages. The farmers see their home market taken from them by the tariff, and the laborers see their jobs taken from them by the same agency. Dwindling exports and increased imports tell the story of the transference of activity to Europe. The laboring men of Europe may thank the Democratic party, but the laboring men of the United States are not thankful European prosperity at their expense.

The great elements of American life—business, labor, and agriculture—are out of patience with Democracy. The good times promised did not come. The square deal at Panama did not come. The tariff plan worked the wrong way. The buseness world was kept in terror of drastic and inquisitorial laws. The Democratic party goes into the race handicapped with a mountain of resentment and antagonism.—Washington Post.

Thousands All Over Country Responding to "S O S" Wireless Sent Out by Churches

GO TO CHURCH!

Think for one minute what this world would be without churches. Are you doing your part to support them by your attendance? In recent years there had been a surprising falling off in church attendance figures. People stayed away from church—some because they had lost faith, but the great number simply because they had become apathetic. It was time that this apathy ceased. And it has to a large extent. With the advent of the GO TO CHURCH movement there has been a splendid awakening all over the country. Religion had only been dormant.

The GO TO CHURCH call found a ready response. New churches have sprung up in many quarters. The old churches, which for some time past were remarkable for their empty pews, suddenly took on new life. The pews were filled. Men and women who bad not been to church in a decade came back to the fold. They brought with them others.

THE CHURCHES SENT OUT A "S O S" WIRELESS. NEWSPAPERS HELPED. SO DID THE TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMPANIES. SO DID THE TRADESMEN. NOVEL IDEAS FOR WORKING UP ENTHUSIASM WERE PLENTIFUL. IN CHICAGO, FOR INSTANCE, FIFTY BARBERS IN SHOPS ON THE WEST SIDE WERE ENLISTED. THE PLAN OF INTERESTING THEM WAS HIT UPON BY A CLERGYMAN WHILE UNDERGOING A RAZOR OPERATION. HE ASKED THE BARBER TO REFER TO THE GO TO CHURCH MOVEMENT WHILE SHAVING HIS CUSTOMERS, AND THE ARTIST OF THE STROP CONSENTED. SHOP AFTER SHOP WAS VISITED UNTIL FIFTY AGREED TO SPEAK ABOUT THE MOVEMENT. THE PLAN WORKED WONDERFUL RESULTS. ALL THAT THE PEOPLE WANTED WAS A REMINDER. THE STORY OF CHICAGO IS THE STORY OF HUNDREDS OF OTHER PLACES. EVERYBODY HELPED THE THING ALONG. DO YOUR PART.

GO TO CHURCH!
Keep GOING TO CHURCH!

OAKLAND WHISKEY DANGEROUS.

Makes a Fiend Out of Frank Martin and Lands Him in Jail.

The Grafton Sentinel says: Frank Martin is in jail here serving a sentence under one charge and awaiting trial for at least two other charges of a serious nature. Martin went to Oakland a few nights ago, and is said to have returned with a large supply of intoxicants. He is said to have had trouble with his wife's brother, Earl Tucker, after he got pretty well soused, and then beat his wife. His wife left the house and returned latter, and he again beat her. She then swore out a warrant for him and on trial before Justice Newcom, he was fined $25 and costs and sentenced to serve five days in jail.

It seems that this is only a comparatively small part of the things that are laid up against him. When he brought back the contraband stuff from Oakland, he is said to have displayed a generous spirit by treating all of his friends. This lays him liable to the provisions of the Yost prohibition law and he will probably be tried on that charge later.

While still feeling the effects of his supply of trouble making material, Martin is said to have started out yesterday with a razor of large dimensions. He ran afoul of James Forcelli while swinging his weapon and threatened him, it is said, and then chased him with the razor. Forcelli ran down street and officers started after Martin. Martin then threw the razor over a wall, where it was found broken and exhibited in court yesterday. Martin must later answer trial for attempted assault.

MASTER-MIND OF CHAUTAUQUA

Dr. Paul M. Pearson Will Appear At The Park This Year.

The man to whom the dream of this Chautauqua came, and who is responsible more than any other for its being, will appear at the Park during Chautauqua week as a lecturer. He is Dr. Paul M. Pearson, a professor at Swarthmore College, and director of the Chautauqua Association.

To many Mr. Pearson is an old friend, having appeared for a number of lectures in this vicinity during the past few years. He has always delivered his favorite form of lecture-recital, which is mostly recital of humorous cuttings selected for their appropriateness to his point.

The chief role in which Mr. Pearson appears here, however, is in that of Director of the Chautauqua Association. The personality of the Chautauqua is that of Mr. Pearson. He is the human dynamo who makes the thing go. He it was who said, with a trace of a grin, "I can" when others looked on and said "It can't be done."

There is no business of the magnitude of the Chautauqua, in the country, which is so highly centralized. In no other case are the business fortunes of so much bound up so absolutely in the "yes or no" of one man. Mr. Pearson keeps in constant communication with his office, and no move is ever made there except by his consent. His personal stenographer travels with him, but there are a dozen in his office that are expressing his will just as truly.

The personality of the Chautauqua is his personality. No one connected with the movement is so bound up in it as he. No one spends so many hours, working, planning, smoothing away the troubles of Chautauqua, as does Mr. Pearson. No one commands such loyalty as does he. He is known affectionately by all the people working with him as "Pop"—not to his face, but always in talking of him. Everybody connected with Chautauqua would do anything for "Pop," work hours of over-time, miss meals, fight for him. They recognize in him a real leader—one whom it is a joy to follow.

"Safety First"

In purchasing Fire Insurance the first object is to secure protection against loss of your savings of years, represented by your home, store or stock of goods, and you should look into the quality of your protection as carefully as you would the title of your property or the selling power of your stock.

Investigate this quality BEFORE and NOT AFTER your fire.

The Home Insurance Co., New York

offers you the very best protection obtainable, having paid out $50,000,000.00 to satisfied policy holders, and while the cost to you BEFORE THE FIRE may be a trifle higher than some of the protection offered you by Mutual and so called Independent Companies in which the cost to you AFTER THE FIRE may be infinitely greater.

The Home's $35,000,000.00 assets makes you safe. We invite intelligent comparison and suggest to you as a business man to secure "Safety First."

AN OUNCE OF HOME POLICY IS WORTH A TON OF ASHES.

OPTOMETRIST

IS Your Child Handicapped in his or her physical and mental development by defective vision? Out of 100,000 school children examined in New York city, nearly 30 per cent. were found to be in need of glasses. In Boston the percentage was found to be slightly over 20 per cent., and most of these children were down on the books as "stupid," "stubborn" or unruly. In Philadelphia 354 children were discovered who could not read ordinary writing on a blackboard at a distance of twenty feet. You should make sure by a thorough examination at the hands of a competent optometrist. That your child is not among this vast army of little citizens who suffer from defective eyesight, delays often result seriously. My examinations are made by the most scientific accurate methods. If it is found that glasses are not required you will be told so frankly and no charge made for the examination.

HOUSE PASSES UNDERWOOD BILL

Admits Foreign-Built Ships to American Registry

URGED BY THE ADMINISTRATION

Notwithstanding Doubtful Attitude of International Law Experts Measure Receives Unanimous Vote—Intended to Relieve Embargo on American Commerce—Some Fear It Will Involve Us In Complications.

Washington, Aug. 4.—The admission of foreign built ships to American registry has received the unanimous approval of the lower house of congress and will doubtless pass the senate and be approved by the president, at whose suggestion the action was taken. The measure is designed to relieve the embargo on the foreign commerce of the United States which has resulted from the war in Europe. The measure was messaged to the senate this morning and will receive immediate consideration in that body. It is understood that the usual division on party lines will not be permitted to hinder the progress of the bill.

International lawyers expressed the opinion that the passage of the bill will not yield any substantial relief in the present situation. The danger lies, it was pointed out, in the fact that any ships transferred under the proposed arrangement will run the risk of seizure, inasmuch as the probabilities are that the belligerents will not recognize the transfer of the flag as valid.

The bill was supported by Representative Mann of Illinois, who declared that it would give Americans a chance to invest in foreign ships.

The alarmist views were scouted by Representative Underwood. He declared that the provision repealing the law admitting to American registry only ships of foreign build of not more than five years and waiving the law that ships flying the American flag must be officered by American citizens and prescribing federal survey, inspection and measurement, might afford temporary relief to the present ocean situation without putting the United States in the danger of inviting trouble.

He warned the house that if the bill failed to pass American goods would be bottled up in American storehouses, cotton would drop to 5 cents a pound and wheat to 75 cents a bushel. He declared that everything possible should be done to prevent such a calamity from falling on the country.

Mr. Underwood produced figures showing there are many foreign ships owned by American citizens and corporations that might be brought under the American flag.

The secretary of the navy was given authority in a bill passed by the senate to use navy vessels to carry passengers, mail and freight to South American countries and to Europe.

As introduced originally by Senator Weeks, the bill authorized ships to be used between the United States and South American ports, but when it was called up Senator Williams amended it to authorize the extension of the lines to European countries as well.

Secretary Daniels is strongly in sympathy with the legislation and probably will favor taking immediate steps to press some of the fast naval vessels into service.

President Wilson sent a special message to congress asking immediate appropriation of $250,000 for relief of distressed Americans abroad. The house passed the $250,000 appropriation without debate or a roll call. The senate also passed the bill without debate or a dissenting vote.

Offer Ships to Government.

New York, Aug. 4.—Several steamship lines with vessels flying the American flag, chiefly engaged in the coastwise trade, have sent to Commissioner of Navigation Chamberlain at Washington offers of help in building up a transatlantic service such as this counary in face of the war stands now in critical need of.

These offers will be brought to the attention of President Wilson without delay. Some of the lines offering help have ships laid up which are fit for transatlantic service. Others expressed a willingness to cut down on the coast trade in order to help get our cargoes to Europe.

This country's export trade is at a standstill. The first question is one of ships to carry our crops to Europe. The question of insurance can be handled after the ships are found, steamship men believe. With the ships to carry the grain—ships flying our flag—and wiah Europe clamoring for food, cargo insurance will be forthcoming even if the rates are high.

The only ships possible to use for this trade are those already under our flag.

ENGLAND HOLDS BACK DECISION ON WAR POLICY

Disagreement in Cabinet Said To Cause Hesitation

RESIGNATIONS ARE REPORTED

Until Members of Government Can Agree Among Themselves Official and Definite Announcement Will Be Withheld—Public Opinion, In Favor of War, May Force Hand of the Government—Belgium Reassured.

London, Aug. 4.—The trying hour of suspense for the British people is prolonged indefinitely by the statement of Foreign Minister Sir Edward Grey in the house of commons that the government was not yet prepared to announce its decision as to participation in the European war. It is understood there is a division of sentiment in the cabinet and the resignation of two members who favor a peace policy is reported. Until the government is able to unite upon a definite policy there will be no official announcement, unless public opinion, which is warlike in tone, should force action sooner.

Great Britain has mobilized her forces and awaits eventualities.

Today she is not a belligerent power nor is she a neutral one.

The government has given France assurance that the British fleet will not permit the German fleet to attack the French coast.

England has not yet pledged itself to contribute an army to the continental war.

The British government regards with the deepest distrust Germany's violation of Belgium's neutrality, but makes no declaration as to whether it considers that measure provocation for war.

A German fleet met a Russian squadron off the Aland islands in the North sea and is reported to have driven them back to retuze in the Gulf of Finland. Three German armies are invading France, one from Basle, Switzerland, on the north; second from Metz and the grand duchy of Luxemburg, and the third by way of the Belgian town of Arlon. Altogether the three armies comprise about 1,000,000 men. In each case they are crossing neutral territory in their advance upon France. Three German army corps are moving against Russia. Their advance guards are said to have driven back the Russian advance guards.

French troops with machine guns succeeded in repulsing a large force of German Uhlans at Petit Croix, on the Lorraine frontier, inflicting heavy losses on the Germans. Reports in Berlin say that 75,000 French troops have invaded Germany on the Alsatian frontier, meeting with some resistance. President Poincare has proclaimed martial law in France and Algiers.

It was officially announced that the British army will be mobilized today. Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary, told the house of commons that England could not stand aside and see the French coast attacked nor could she disregard with honor her obligations to uphold the neutrality of Belgium. The question whether England shall enter the war was left with the house.

The leaders of the opposition assured the government of their support and a coalition ministry is expected with Lord Kitchener as war minister. The British fleet is still in the North sea, where also are the German and Russian fleets.

Three Russian army corps are on the German border ready for an invasion of Germany. A Russian column attacked Johannisburg and were driven back, according to German reports. The Russian naval port of Libau has been bombarded by a German cruiser, which reports that the city is in flames. One of the Russian columns is said to be marching on Lemberg.

Austrian troops which had begun an invasion of Servia have been withdrawn and are now marching toward the Russian border.

Italy formally notified the powers of her neutrality.

French Win Over Uhlans.

Paris, Aug. 4.—French arms have scored a victory in a sharp and bloody engagement at Petit Croix. A corps of Uhlans attacked the French forces entrenched just beyond the town. The defenders replied with machine guns and mowed down the advance guard of the Germans.

The Uhlans charged several times but were unable to withstand the withering fire of the defenders and finally retired in disorder, leaving a number of dead on the field.

The scene of the fight is a customs post on the Lorraine frontier the Uhlans participating in the attack comprising the advance guard of the German army that was advancing from Metz, with Nancy as the objective. News that they were en route had been brought to the commander of the French customs guard by an aviator who reconnoitered from the outposts.

CAUSES OF WAR OUTLINED

American Naval Authority, Rear Admiral W. T. Mahan, U. S. N., Retired, Describes Conditions as He Views Them—Believes Britain and Italy Should Join With Russia and France—Kaiser Fears Russia.

New York, Aug. 4.—Rear Admiral W. T. Mahan, U. S. N., retired, the foremost American naval authority, in an interview today asserts that England and Italy should at once take up arms against Germany and Austria as a matter of self protection.

The admiral analyzes the causes of the war and predicts that if the ambitions of the Germans to obtain a dominating position in Europe is not restrained, the other great powers will suffer in the future.

"In my opinion," he says, "a right appreciation of the situation should determine Great Britain to declare war at once. Otherwise her entente agreement, whatever the letter, will be in spirit violated and she will earn the distrust of all probable future allies.

"Italy likewise owes it to herself to declare war against her recent allies and with Greece reinforced by the American battleships just purchased she can doubtless maintain the balance of maritime power in the Mediterranean and prevent the Turks from giving their expected support to Germany, keep quiet the Bulgarians. If these are so advised as to purpose a diversion in favor of Austria, and in brief, consolidate the opposition in the Balkans to Austria Hungary, whose ambitions are notoriously inconsistent with those of Italy."

Admiral Mahan thinks that Germany began war for two reasons, setting aside desire to support Austria, because Russia's power was growing rapidly since the Japanese war and she would surely have become a menace to Germany before long and because French armament is deficient and the fact was recently admitted.

"The moment was auspicious for striking down France and Russia before they regained strength," he says. "The motives are to be found in Austria's apprehension of the growing Slav power in the south and that of Germany concerning Russia in the east."

He believes that Germany's plan is to overwhelm France at once by concentration, preparation and impetuous momentum.

"If she fails in this she is less able to sustain prolonged aggression. The British fleet, which is superior to that of Germany has the power to prevent all commerce under the German flag and, by blockade, to close against neutrals all German rivers except those emptying into the Baltic.

"If the first German rush proves indecisive or prolonged the financial pressure which it is in the power of England to exert may determine the issue.

"If Germany beats both France and Russia she will gain a respite which will enable her to build a sea force equal or superior to that of Great Britain, and in that case the world will be confronted by a naval power of a nation eager for expansion and influence and a menace to other nations because of that fact."

He believes that the North sea will be the theater of the naval battles and that Germany must strike at once with her warships in order to have a chance for success and to preserve her carrying ships.

Admiral Mahan says this greatest war will determine the science of naval operations and show whether the battleship is doomed in favor of the submarine, though he thinks the latter cannot be effective in daylight against modern guns.

"The mooted question of the big guns will also be tested," he says. "For my part I have always believed that the volume of fire was the determining factor. The number of shots and not single shots is the most important element."

West Virginians Cannot Use Maryland as Basis to Continue Traffic in Dry Territory.

That it would be the general policy of the court not to grant liquor dealers who have been driven out of West Virginia, and who come into Maryland to use this state as a basis for continueing their West Virginia trade, was the statement made by Judge Henderson. "The court is not discriminating against West Virginians because they are West Virginians," Judge Henderson explained, "but, first, because they are at present enough saloons here, and second, because former liquor dealers of West Virginia who are given a licenses in Maryland will naturally continue to suppy their old trade in the dry state. The court will not permit them to use this state for such a basis," he said. That he intended to decrease the number of licenses in Westernport whenever possible, was also stated by Judge Henderson.

This statement was made in handing down a decision in the remonstrance case of the Wholesale Liquor Dealers' Association of Allegany county against the issuance of a license to Charles E. McDade at Westernport. The license was refused. It was brought out in the evidence that Martin Brown and Frank Wienstein of Pennsylvania, had contracted to take over the saloon which McDade had purchased in Westernport from Michael Daily, and that in the event a license was granted by the transfer Brown and Weinstein were to take over the business within a year. Judge Henderson held that the case was an evasion of the law.

This decision is regarded by liquor men as extremely important as it effects a number of cases now pending and a great many which are expected to arise with the influx of West Virginia liquor dealers into Maryland Maryland law requires a year's residence before a license can be granted The ruling will tend to discourage dealers from the dry territory who had hoped to get a Maryland license after a year's residence.

THE PEOPLE'S FORUM.

The Mt. Lake Park Bible Conference.

Winona Lake, Indiana.
July 27, 1914.

To the Editor of The Republican,
Oakland, Md.

DEAR SIR: I am taking the liberty of calling your attention to the Bible Conference soon to be held at Mountain Lake Park, as offering a great opportunity to all lovers of the Bible who can possibly attend. I hope therefore, that you will say something through your paper to impress this fact upon your readers.

As you doubtless know, there has for many years been held at Winona Lake, Indiana, under the supervision of Dr Sol C. Dickey, a Bible Conference, that has become famous all over the country, for the extent and thoroughness of its teaching. On its program every year are always to be found the names of men of great fame and wide renown as speakers and teachers, both from our own land and across the sea.

The annual sessions of this great Conference have drawn multitudes to Winona Lake, who returned to their home churches on fire with zeal and enthusiasm. From year to year the interests grew in magnitude and so much good was accomplished through the Winona movement that it was laid on the heart of Dr. Dickey to attempt to make it possible for the religious people of the whole country to share in the benefits of a Bible Conference. With this in view he last year held several Bible Conferences in large cities in widely separated sections. The success of this movement was so marked, and aroused so much enthusiasm, that it was decided this year to largely increase the number of Conferences. The one at Mountain Lake Park is to be the first of these for the coming year. Among those who are to speak almost daily at the Conferences are F. B. Meyer of London, England, one of the greatest expositors living. His name is a household word throughout Christendom. John McNeill, another great "master in Israel," who was associated with Moody in the World's Fair campaign in Chicago, will be one of the speakers.

The list of American speakers includes, Rev. Wm. E. Bierdewolf, an Evangeliet who is filled with a burning desire to serve his Master and alleviate the sorrows of mankind; Prof. Charles Scanlon, general secretary of the Board of Temperance in the Presbyterian church; Dr. M. H. Lyon, a zealous supporter of systematic Bible teaching, a great evangelist as well as an earnest preacher; Rev. Percival Campbell Morgan gifted son of the eminent English divine; Dr. James M. Gray, Dean of the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago; Dr. Sol C. Dickey, director of the great Winona Bible Conference and Ram's Horn Brown who grasps every opportunity to hurl anathemas at the Devil.

You will therefore see, Mr. Editor, that for several days Mountain Lake Park is to be a great center of religious opportunity and priviege.

Several excursion trains will be run by the B. & O. R. R., and this will give people from the tributary territory an excellent opportunity to attend.

Yours fraternally,
ELIJAH P. BROWN.

Founder and for years editor of the Ram's Horn.

has been decided to close the transatlantic wireless station at Tuckerton, N. J. This station, employing the Goldschmidt apparatus, communicates only with a tower at Hanover, Germany, and not with ships at sea.

Germany is understood to have taken over the Hanover wireless tower and the Telefunken tower at Nauen, Germany, which was the correspondent of the tower at Sayville, L. The Marconi system is working without interruption.

WAR SITUATION TODAY.

Great armies clashed on the Russian, German and French borders today and German and French air craft fought in midair.

Germany's invasion of France will compel the French parliament to declare war today.

All Europe stands aligned—Russia, France, England and Servia allied against Germany and Austria—four against two. Twenty millions of men offer their lives.

England's vast fleet is mobilized in the North sea ready to pounce upon the German squadrons should they venture from Danish waters.

A German troop train traversing Alsace-Lorraine was blown up and 200 troops were killed.

A German cruiser bombarded the Russian naval port of Libau on the Baltic and fought a battle with a Russian cruiser.

A corps of Uhlans, the vanguard of a German army advancing from Metz upon Nancy, were defeated in a battle with French troops at Petit Croix, a post on the Lorraine frontier. The Uhlans' charges were halted by machine guns, which put them to rout. Many dead were left on the field.

Germany is reported in one dispatch to have lost seven vessels and England two in a battle in the North sea.

German and Russian fleets engaged in battle off the Aland island in the Gulf of Bothnia, and the Russians, driven back, took refuge in the Gulf of Finland.

A hundred thousand Americans in Europe are in financial distress. President Wilson asked congress at once for $250,000 to bring them home.

The New York savings banks now require sixty days' notice of withdrawals and $50,000,000 in emergency currency was taken to New York.

The complaint asks that a receiver be appointed to take charge of the disbursement to stockholders of any moneys that may be recovered by the New Haven stockholders through the suit. The action is virtually designed to hold the directors responsible according to the suggestion of the interstate commerce commission on its report on the road recently.

"What Shall We Do With the Drunkard?" is the title of an editorial in one Boston newspaper. The real question is: What shall we do to prevent drunkard making. A full fledged victim ot the whiskey habit may, of course, be rescued and restored to health; but prevention is always more important than cure. There are too many saloons and too much whiskey is drunk in them. The public must be educated into the full realization of what the drink tax on health, efficiency, savings, worldly success, and happiness really comes to. It is a case for common sense—not passion.—Colliers.

Cost of Fire Insurance.

To the Editor of The Republican:

Indirectly the cost of fire insurance is set by the public and the public can reduce the cost.

Fire insurance rates are based upon the underwriting experiences of companies writing insurance in each territory covering a period of years and every loss, whether preventable or unpreventable, has a tendency to increase the rate.

Statistics show that about 60 per cent of losses by fire are preventable—an alarming proportion.

The fire waste of the United States is from ten to twelve times as great per capita as the countries of Europe and when we consider the fact that this waste (nearly $1,500,000,000, one billion and a half during the last ten years, is an absolute loss to American resources, we should arouse ourselves and look for a remedy.

The mere fact that the fire insurance companies indemnify the public for their losses by fire does not alter the fact that just so much money is thrown into the national ashpile as the money so paid is in reality a collection from you and I in the shape of premiums and the value destroyed can never be recovered.

One hundred and fifty million dollars annually or four hundred and twenty thousand ($420,000.00) daily would go a long way toward relieving the present depression.

Now a remedy to no small degree is in your hands Let us save this waste by a little application of common sense.

Examine your flues; see that they are built from the ground up, free from cracks, dangerous bends and clear of the woodwork.

Clean up your garret and cellars of any accumulation of empty boxes, old clothing and trash.

Have your heating appliances thoroughly overhauled before starting winter fires and keep your lights clear of woodwork, curtains or draperies.

Reduce the cost by reducing the loss!

Bible Convention of The Christian and Missionary Alliance At Mt. Lake Park, Md., Aug. 26-30.

Through the kind invitation of the Mt. Lake Park Association, it has been arranged to hold a five-day Bible Convention at Mt. Lake Park Aug. 26-30 inclusive. For the information of any who are interested, and might care to attend the convention, we give the following facts concerning the Christian and Missionary Alliance:

The Alliance was first formed about a quarter of a century ago, in New York city. Its object was the giving of the Gospel to the neglected poor of New York. Another and chief aim of the Alliance was to endeavor to lead all God's people into lives of spiritual power, through the baptism of the Holy Spirit. During one of these conventions, at Old Orchard, Me., the great needs of the great heathen world were brought so vividly before the company of worshippers that it determined to carry the Gospel to the countries of the world as yet unevangelized and to the unoccupied districts of the countries where other societies were not preaching the Gospel. It now is carrying on missionary work in China, Japan, India, Porto Rico, San Domingo, the Congo and Sondan in Africa, Venezuela, Argentina, Chila and Ecuador in South America, and in the Philippine Islands. Its force of missionaries numbers nearly three hundred with a much larger force of native helpers.

Rev. A. B. Simpson of New York, the President and founder of the work, will be the leading speaker and will be assisted by several ministers and a missionary, Rev. E. O. Jago, from Palestine, and I. Kuykendall, from Central China, who will bring stirring messages from the regions beyond.

The society is interdenominational, its workers are members of all the leading evangelical denominations. Earnest, spiritual, preaching the gospel in its fullness for the whole man, spirit, soul and body, will be heard as well as a faithful presentation of the work and need of the heathen world.

The public are cordially invited to attend this convention.

Sincerely yours,
S. M. Kuykendall.

FINE DWELLING HOUSE BORNED TO THE GROUND

L. S. Strawser's House Consumed by Fire Saturday Noon.

Last Saturday about noon L. S. Strawser's house, near Underwood, was burned to the ground. Mrs. Strauser had just finished getting dinner, when she discovered the fire, but before she could give the alarm the fire had made such headway that nothing could be removed from the house, hence everything was consumed, clothing, furniture, provisions, etc. The family escaped. Loss about $1000. The neighbors opened their homes to the family and in a few hours they were under shelter again.

Ends His Life by Cutting Throat.

Daniel Moran, 78 years old, committed suicide early Monday morning by cutting his throat with a razor, in the rear of his home at Bloomington. Despondency is said to have caused the deed. Mr. Moran arose about 4 o'clock in the morning apparently in good health and went out and brought the cows from pasture to be milked. Then he said he was going down to feed the pigs. As he did not return for an unsually long time, members of the family went in search of him, and found his body under a grape arbor near the pig pen. His throat was cut with a razor which he still held in his right hand. He is survived by his wife, three daughters and one son at home and one daughter, Mrs. McComb, who lives at Luke, Md.

Arrangements are being completed by the Maryland State Grange for a State rally day for granges to held at Tolchester Beach on August 7. State Master B. THE DEATH RECORD

WM. J. WARNICK.

Wm. J. Warnick, aged 31 years, died on August 4th. from typhoid fever in the Huffman Hospital, Keyser, W. Va., after an illness of only three weeks. The body was taken to his home in Garrett county, about 8 miles from Lonaconing. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Warnick, and by the following sisters, Mrs. Fred. Pritts, Mrs. Walter Raley, Mrs. Benjamin Wilt, Mrs. Lawrence D. Broadwater, Mrs. Ira Rounds, and Miss Stella Warnick, and by the following brothers, Lester, Clarence, Stanley and Richard Warnick, all of Garrett county. The funeral was held August 6th, at 10:30 o'clock, from his late home, services by Rev. John Green of Garrett county. Interment was in the Broadwater cemetery.

JOHN HENRY STERLING.

John Henry Sterling was born near Hazelton, W. Va., April 9, 1852, and died at his home near Friendsville, Md., August 5th 1914, of paralysis.

On December 25, 1872, he married Miss Sarah E. Lewis, of near Cranesville, W. Va., to which union were born 3 sons and 2 daughters. The widow, 2 sons and one daughter survive and have the sympathy of the entire community.

Funeral services were conducted in the Blooming Rose M. E. church at 11 a. m. August 7th by Rev. Hamrick interment being in the beautiful cemetery adjoining the church. The deceased had been an active faithful member of the M. E. church since 1887, and will be greatly missed in the community.

A party of eleven Western Union men under the direction of C. T. Davis are working on the line at and near Grantsville removing old poles and erecting new ones much higher than the old. This is done in order that the growth of the many beautiful trees along the street will not be stunted by too frequent trimming of their branches. The new poles are about forty five feet in length and will add greatly to the appearance of the street.

A GRAND DAY PROMISED AT THE PARK SATUHDAY

Special Trains Will Be Run and Garrett Countians Will Be Present.

The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad is cooperating with the managers of the Mt. Lake Bible Conference in preparing for a great attendance next Saturday which is to be Temperance Day at the Mt. Lake Bible Conference.

As an illustration, the round trip rates from Cumberlond are $1.00, and from Fairmont $1.45. All intermediate points have a corresponding reduction from the regular rates.

The program will be of the highest character. Prof. Charles Scanlon, General Secretary of the Board of Temperance of the Presbyterian church, and Dr. W. E. Biederwolf, Superintendent of the Commission on Evangelism of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ of America, which represents thirty denominations and seventeen million church members, will be the speakers.

These men are among the foremost Temperance orators in America. Prof. Scanlon represented the United States Government in the temperance conference at London in 1909, at the Hague in 1911, and at Milan, Italy, in 1913. He was the speaker at Orchestra Hall, Chicago, last May, when the Presbyterian Genaral Assembly was in session in that city. He is not only an effective and rousing speaker, but he directs a large force of Temperance workers who cover a large part of the United States in promoting the cause of Temperance.

Dr. Biederwolf will give his lecture on "Booze." He has delivered this lecture many times before immense audiences with thrilling effect. The lecture abounds in scathing invective as well as solid argument. Every friend of the Temperance cause ought to put forth their utmost endeavor to bring out a large audience and make the influence of the meeting tell mightily on the agitation for State Wide Prohibition in Maryland.

The singing on Temperance Day will be in charge of Prof. E. O. Excell of Chicago, assisted by Prof. Alvin Roper, pianist. Prof. Excell has led the music in the largest National and International Convention from SanFransisco to New York and in all the big cities of the United States. Prof. Roper is not simply a fine performer on the piano, but is a creative genius. He probably has no equal in America in improvising and in the production of unique effects in variations of proper gospel and temperance songs.

Sunday will be the closing day of the Bible Conference. Dr. F. B. Meyer of London, England, will preach at 11:00 and 8:00 o'clock. Dr. W. E. Biederwolf will speak at 3:00 and the Rev. Percival Campbell Morgan at 6:30 p. m. Prof. Excell will conduct a song service at 10:00 a. m. and at 7:30 p. m. The Sunday School will be held in the morning at 6:00. There is no charge for admission to the Tabernacle for any of the Sunday services, but a free will offering will be taken.

Married.

YOUNG—FOX—On Monday, the tenth of August, at ten o'clock a. m., in the Lutheran church at Keyser, W. Va., the Rev. Leslie K. Young and Miss Effie Fox, both of Friendsville, were united in marriage by the Rev. H. S. Baughman, pastor of the Lutheran church at Keyser, and classmate of the bridegroom. The couple arrived in Keyser on the B. & O. train at 7.35 a. m., secured a license and were quietly married with only Dr. C. S. Hoffman and the Rev. W. E. Hensel, of Arcadia, Md., also a classmate of the groom present. They remained in Keyser until 11.35 leaving for Wayensboro and points in the Cumberland Valley. The Rev. Mr. Young is pastor of the Lutheran churches of the Accident charge and is located at Friendsville, where he became acquainted with the bride. He is a graduate of Pennsylvania College and the Lutheran Theological Seminary at Gettysburg, Pa. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Fox of Friendsville and is very popular with all the people of that place, especially is she liked by the young people of Friendsville. Their wedding is quite a surprise to the many friends of both.

Theodore Eyle, who years ago in his boyhood days, left Garrett county and went to Missouri, at the close of the civil war, is now visiting boyhood friends in the vicinity of Accident. Eighteen years ago he paid a visit to his native State. Now he returns to see the improvements made all over the county, and he is especially delighted with the fine crops. He may decide to settle in Garrett county.

Senator Speicher and Hon. B. H. Warner Enjoy an Auto. Ride.

Monday Senator Harvey Speicher and Hon. B. H. Warner of Montgomery county candidate for nomination of Congress at the Republican primaries. Banker Seabury Davies of Baltimore, and Senator Ravenscroft, in Senator Speicher's touring car, motored down the State road quite a distance and took in the senic view to be enjoyed by travelers over the State road, and saw indications of Garrett county's prosperity in the fine large new barns and new houses, and the crops which have been bountiful in that section of the county. Mr. Warner and Mr. Davies were favorably impressed with the future of Garrett county and will carry home with them many pleasant thoughts of the delightful ride they made with Senator Speicher. Our Garrett county people are not ashamed to show the visitors this mountain region, the paradise we live in. We may be the most western county in the state, and we may be back in the mountains, but in everything else we are right up in the front rank.

AUTO JACKS IN OAKLAND LAST NIGRT

Two Young Men Alleged To Have Driven Car Into Country.

Last night about 10 o'clock Elwood Offutt left his automobile in front of The Republican office and in a few minutes two young men, R. Reed and H. Goston, of Clarksburg, W. Va., are alleged to have gotten into the machine and started off with it. They stopped at Mr. Truman Casteel's on the State road, to enquire the way to Terra Alta, when something went wrong with the gasoline tank and in a short time the gasoline supply was exhausted. They then abandoned the automobile and returned to Oakland and went to Hotel Frantz and registered, and were about to go to their room when arrested. They were taken before Squire Fries and placed in jail to answer at 2 o'clock to day.

The men were caught earlier in the evening in Dr. McComas' car and compelled to get out.

A Good Road Completed.

The new county road down Savage river, connecting Bloomington with the Savage River road to Crab Tree, giving the agricultural and business section tributary to Savage River an outlet in this direction has at last been completed and was opened up for travel the first of this week. Mr. Fred. Broadwater a farmer of the Dry Fork settlement under whose direction most of the location and building of the road was done, drove his two horse wagan with a big load of produce to market on last Monday and reports a most successful trip. The distance is nearly if not quite ten miles and was made in two hours. This beats the old route by rail about ten hours. Heretofore in order that a farmer from that section might reach the markets, he was compelled to depend on the Accomodation train on the B. & O. R. R., which consumed the entire day and put him home in the dark. Over the new highway he can eat his breakfast at home, market his produce in Piedmont, Westernport and Luke and be back home for dinner.

DR. J. C. ELY IN NEW ENGLAND.

A Highly Interesting Letter From Stony Beach R. I.

My dear Mr. Editor.

We are all more or less cognizant of the fact that life is full of disappointments.

We may propose but there is a supreme power that disposes.

We make our plans and are on the eve of executing them when some unforseen event changes our course and sends us in another direction. Our eyes went unto the west; plans made, tickets engaged, when we were turned eastward. As a result we are here in this shady nook, this quiet retreat overlooking a bay that opens out into Long Island Sound. The town is for the most part hidden among the bushes and trees, but there are many very comfortable homes with a splendid avenue —just like our State Road— extending from the depot through the village and circulating back to the starting point. Over two miles in length.

"The Homestead," where we stop, has a beautiful outlook over the beach, while a short distance below is the "Point," the enterance into the sound, where fishermen enjoy the rare sport of catching the gamy little blue fish. Sometimes mackerl slip in, to the delight of the angler. The attraction here is the Chautauqua, which brings together those who enjoy spending their vacation in the study of the Bible or Kindred subjects. After all the real rest. the profitable vacation, consists in the change of work, of scenery and of associations. There is such a thing as busy idleness, but it amounts to nothing. There is nothing satisfactory in it. It is not even restful, and as to its accomplishing anything permanent or practical it is a minus quality. There is what is called "Sweet idleness," though the habitual lounger, the constitutional idler, has no part in it. He doesn't get even a sip of the sweets of it, for it is reserved for and enjoyed by those who have earned it. But it cannot last long--only for a brief season can one revel in it. It may be luxurious while it lasts, but it is transient. I try to persuade myself that I have earned it though the fact is I am tired of it and will welcome the regular routine. It is pleasant to see new faces and meet new people, and create new friendships, but you have the feeling that all of it is but temporary and the heart instinectively turns to the old and tried ones. We may enjoy for the present the new scenes, but in fact we turn toward the old home and the little city on top of the mountains where nestles the only place on earth that you can call home. The place, where amid the termoils of life, its ceaseless vexations its wars and commotions, you can enter with the assurance of peace and rest— the place that should be the type of heaven.

I was touched the other day as I sat on the veranda to hear the dining room girls, all of them foreigners, though now pretty well Americanized, as they sat together on a side porch—their thoughts far away, their hearts tender as they slipped out to the far away home across the sea where the war cloud has arisen and the storm has burst upon the lands they love.

Their feelings formed vent in the singing of the National airs, but there was a touch of pathos as one started and all caught up the strains of "Auld Lange Syne," then "My Old Kentucky Home" and that jewel of songs that stirs alike all hearts to the depths, "Home, Sweet Home." It thrilled one for I knew that in thought they had been carried back to the scenes of childhood, to the fatherland where now fathers and brothers, kindred and friends, are responding to the call to arms. Then they are back in the country of their adoption where sweethearts and companions are frantically seeking passage back home to enlist under the old flag—the flag that as children they learned to love, the sight of which now arouses the patriotism and unbottles the enthusiasm of their young nature. They dream not of the horrors of war. They do not fully appreciate its awful meaning, but they realize something of its sufferings, privations and anguish, and anticipate the severing of tender ties; the possible darkening of their future lives and the blighting of all their fondest anticipations. Others know too well what it will mean to them to be called back. They slipped away from the hardships and limitations of the homeland to better their condition in the land of the free. They have tasted the sweets of civil and religious liberty and so long to be able to have their dear ones share it with them. Not a few are willing to renounce all allegiance to their home land and so are crowding the naturalization offices to become full fledged citizens as speedily as possible.

Away from all this termoil and bloodshed, this heartacheness and tenseness of anxiety, we turn with longing desire for the brighter future. It is not surprising to find a wide spread and ever-increasing expectation and a more intense longing for the coming time, when war shall be no more, but when righteousness and peace shall prevail the world over. "When swords shall be beaten into plow shares and spears into pruning hooks." We look and long for that day when our Jesus, shall reigh and his sceptre have undisputed sway from pole to pole. It is coming. It may be nearer than we think. This war that has involved Europe may be but the beginning of the end of the present dispensation.

But I have wandered from my text, so I'll pull myself together and come back to 'sweet idleness' and take a new start.

The sun-beam's poor their light over the landscape. The stillness of nature lulls you to repose. You have nothing to do but to study the landscape and catch what inspiration you can. You seem to see it all, yet see nothing in particular. With wide open eyes and a flood of light you scarce notice anything. You feel blissfully lazy.—I do not like that word—just as in sweet idleness. You read a book, but you realize you are just skimming it. You do not notice particularly the man sitting by you. You think, or you think you do, when really you are not specially interested in any problem, you don't recall much of the past, nor are you worried in the least about to-morrow. As to the present it requires some startling news from the war zone of Europe to arouse you to its existence. But you soon lapse into a blissful enjoyment of the sweet idleness of the present. That's all you care about. You breathe the splendid sea breezes and are happy you are alive to enjoy it. You can sleep fourteen hours a day and not experience any serious results. Eat three good meals and not feel you are endangering your health. In fact you feel so good that you forget that you ever had a sore foot or a quirk in your back, and almost imagine you are walking on air. Your hand lies limp on the broad arm of the piazza chair and you have no inclination to remove it. You are conscious of but one thing and that is the enjoyment of blissful idleness.

Just here I am aroused from my reverie by a message that the president of the association, Dr. J. F. Carson, wants to see me. See me? I am wide awake now and in a moment I am with him. With real pleasure I accept his invitation to ride with him to Port Jefferson, and forgetting my letter I am off for what proved to be one of the most delightful trips of my life. But as I have already written enough for the present I close here, to resume at this point in my next.

Yours most truly,
J. C. ELY.

Congress Stands In Way of Prosperity

That a plethora of legislation has brought business to a standstill, but that all the country needs to insure an unprecedented boom is an adjournment of Congress for at least two years, is the opinion of Dr. A. R. L. Dohme of Sharp & Dohme, manufacturing chemists of Baltimore, and one of the largest firms of its character in the country. Dr. Dohme said recently:

"Business is at a standstill. It is lifeless and dormant. The causes are simple and pronounced. A radical program by a Government backed by a Congress without business men in either house, but a plethora of lawyers and reformers in both, develops unrest and uncertainty. An outspoken distrust and dislike of any business of any size by the Government and Congress develops hesitation and caution in business.

"A shameful neglect of our railroads, which are the barometer as well as the handmaiden of businees, by the Interstate Commerce Commission, resulting in receiverships galore and more in sight, must check, as it has postively checked business.

"Paternalism rampant by said Government tending to regulate and run and perhaps ultimately take over business takes from the business man all incentive and effectually kills his courage.

"Practically two years ot Congress on the hands of business is in itself enough to completely upset business. If business could be assured of an adjournment of Congress for at least two years, and prefererably four years, there would result a boom in business which would be almost unprecedented. This country is ready and endowed by nature to go ahead and grow and take the lead beyond the dreams of the most optimistic, but with Congress and the avalanche of laws it produces as well as its attitude of favoritism to the farmers and laborers and of antagonism to and distrust of business, the latter sees danger signals and obstructions of all kinds all around it, and as a result stands pat with all brakes set.

"If the New Haven et al. were mismanaged ad nauseam, is it just or right to take spite out on the innocent corporation, which means the stockholders? The thing to do and what would help business is to punish the guilty managers and punish them promptly and in a degree fully commensurate with the gravity of their offense. Punishing the corporation, as this Government and Congress seems to like to do, hurts the wrong people, viz., the stockholders, and indirectly greatly harms general business.

"Business ought to be splendid this fall as a result of our great crops and the wealth they will create for us, but if Congress will be with us and the freight-rate decision will not give the railroads a chance to grow or even maintain the quality of their service, business will not get better and may get worse.

LOCAL OPTION LEAGUE COLUMN

Practical Suggestions on Local Option Campaign.

Do we want saloons? If so, why?

Who of us want them, and for what?

Is time spent in them which could be better spent elsewhere?

Is money spent in them which would do more good spent otherwise?

Is there likely to be gambling in them?

Do fathers set bad examples there for their boys?

Do our boys get good habits there that will make them good men, or habits that may make them good-for-nothing men?

Are our wives, mothers and sisters made happier by having loafing and drinking places to tempt their husbands, sons and brothers to waste their time and spend their money in drinking and loafing instead of being at home with their families?

Is the saloon a good place to educate the young men, who are to be the husbands of our daughters.?

If no money were spent in saloons, would there not be more good trade and less bad debts in business, and more comfort in homes?

Would anybody be hurt by having these places shut up? If so, who? And how would they be hurt?

Would some men be better off to-day if they had never been in a saloon?

Would some women be better fed and better clothed?

Would some homes be happier?

Would saloon-keepers, themselves, and their families, be better, happier, or more useful in some other business.

Do saloon-keepers want to do us good or to get our money,

Do you like the dictation of the saloons in politics?

Let us think of these questions, and vote as we think is RIGHT, not as those who only want our money wish us to vote.

We want to again urge the importance of every one who can do so, to attend the great temperance rally at Mountain Lake Park, on Saturday, August 15th. It will be the largest Temperance gathering ever assembled in Western Maryland. The speakers are two of America's foremost temperance advocates.

It is our privilige to avail ourselves of the benefits that must result from these meetings.

Plan to take in this day. Give your family this opportunity to hear these remarkable men. Make it a great picnic day for the family. You have been working hard, now take a rest, and drink in the truths that shall be furnished on this day.

So far the poll taken in Garrett county is very encouraging, and indicates victory for Local Option. But we do not simply want a victory, we want an over-whelming victory, Shall we have it? Will YOU do your part to secure it? We want YOU to consider the remarks of this column as a personal appeal for YOUR most earnest support.

Personal work is the demand of the hour. Some of our citizens are working earnestly; others are doing nothing. Election day is drawing near. It is important that we be dilligent in the work of getting out every voter; in creating local option sentiment.

District officers how about public temperance meetings in your district? What are your plans for a vigorous campaign? Upon YOU rests a great responsibilityr YOU are the leaders in your respective district. If you fail in the discharge of your duties, evil results may follow.

A recent number of the Southern Methodist, published at Baltimore, contained an article, entitled "Does Prohibition Prohibit?" We clip the following extract:

We were recently in a dry town in West Virginia, and a citizen pointed out a young man, his wife and several children leaving for his country home in a carriage, and remarked that he had never seen that young man go home sober before. It was a happy little family, there was a smile in his wife's face and the young husband was not ashamed to look the world in the face.

He might possibly have gotten some liquor by running great risks, but he was not willing to run them and did without the liquor poison to the great advantage of his family. But heretofore when he could not get out of the town without passing saloons on prominent corners, inviting him to enter, he did not resist the temptation thrust into his face. When we saw this happy little family, we felt proud of the yeomen of this little mountain state who so splendidly voted out this destroyer of hopes and homes. The executive of West Virginia will see that the Prohibition laws are strictly enforced, and the case that we have written of will be typical of thousands. Such improvement is beyond all price.

We need in Maryland what West Virginia has and what we trust Virginia will soon have—Prohibition. In a trip through the mining and lumber towns of West Virginia on the Fourth of July, we saw but one tipsy man, and he had just alighted from the train—he had not gotten his liquor at home. But when the Western Maryland Railway train crossed the river into Maryland, we saw the marked conditions made by whiskey between the two states. We were told a special policeman boarded the train at Westernport to make the drunks behave. We had to wait for a train connection at Cumberland, and strolling up a street we saw a man, leading a little girl about 8 years old, go into a saloon whose doors were wide open and drink at the bar with the little girl clinging to his coat. We wondered as to the possibility of this creature becoming drink crazed and of the little one's reaching home in safety. How long will Christians permit such conditions to exist? What does God think of us?

Picnic and Festival at Hoyes.

The ladies of the Methodist church are going to hold a splendid picnic and festival at Hoyes, Saturday, August 22. It will be one of the greatest gatherings in all that country. It will be a day of continuous enjoyment for old and young. It is expected that two brass bands will be in attendance to furnish music all day long. There will be able speakers, lively games and various amusements. Refreshments of all kinds on sale. A good enjoyable country dinner and supper will be served, just such a dinner as the good ladies of that neighborhood know how to prepare. It is to be a Garrett county rally. Everybody invited to be present and make themselves at home among home folks. Profits to go to the Hoyes Methodist church, to help pay for damages done by the storm. Make an appointment to meet your friends at Hoyes, Saturday August 22.

The annual Garrett county fair will be held September 30. Oct. 1, and 2. The association is planing to have the best fair in the history of the association. Perils of a drunkard's grave; perils of the poor house; perils of hunger, want and disgrace, and, alas, not to the men alone, but to the Paulines, the women of the family. IS Your Child Handicapped in his or her physical and mental development by defective vision? Out of 100,000 school children examined in New York city, nearly 30 per cent. were found to be in need of glasses. In Boston the percentage was found to be slightly over 20 per cent., and most of these children were down on the books as "stupid," "stubborn" or unruly. In Philadelphia 354 children were discovered who could not read ordinary writing on a blackboard at a distance of twenty feet. You should make sure by a thorough examination at the hands of a competent optometrist. That your child is not among this vast army of little citizens who suffer from defective eyesight, delays often result seriously. My examinations are made by the most scientific accurate methods. FRANCE AT WAR WITH AUSTRIA

Official Announcement Made by French Government

AUSTRIAN TROOPS AT BASLE

Eight Regiments Menaced French Frontier After Having Violated Neutrality of Switzerland—Prepare to Attack French Rear In Alsace Picked Soldiers From Tyrol Brough West Before War Was Declared.

Paris, Aug. 11.—Austria-Hungary having failed to satisfactorily explain the presence of Austrian troops on the French border at Basle, Switzerland, France has declared war on that nation and has handed his passports to the Austro-Hungarian ambassador in Paris. This action has been expected for several days, and why the rupture did not occur sooner will remain one of the secrets of diplomacy for the present.

Eight Austrian regiments are reported from Basle as having violated the neutrality of Switzerland and to be now on the Alsace border preparing to attack the French rear in Alsace These men are picked soldiers from the Austrian Tyrol, mountaineers, who will be able to harass the French.

A statement issued by the war department says that numerous skirmishes are taking place along the entire front of the French army. One clash with the Germans was violent and the losses on both sides were serious.

The army sent into Alsace from Belfort and commanded by General Joffre is moving in a formation shaped like a huge fan from the Jura mountains on the Swiss border through all of Alsace to a point east of Colmar. The forces that are engaged in this invasion form the second mobilization center of the French army with headquarters at Langres.

Detachments of the famous Turcos native troops from the French colony of Algeria, penetrated upper Alsace.

The Turcos are Arabs recruited in Algeria, where they are almost constantly on active service in the southern provinces against the roving tribes of Arab horsemen, who continually harass the French troops. Half their officers are Frenchmen and the other half rise from the ranks of the natives. They are remarkable sharpshooters and showed great bravery in the Crimean war as well as in the Franco Prussian war of 1870-71.

It is admitted that the German army is concentrating on General Joffre's front. Neu Breisach, to the east of Colmar, and Strassburg, to the north, are the centers of the German advance. It is believed certain that the German army of the upper Rhine is already marching against the French and that a general battle, which will settle the control of Alsace, has already begun.

German troops are moving on France through Luxemburg, the main column being reported at Esch. It is reported that the German army which is operating through Luxemburg will be very heavily reinforced in view of the check at Liege. While no facts are obtainable regarding the exact number of Germans, it is recalled that the original German plans were believed to call for practically the entire active German army with the first and second line of reserves, a total of nearly 1,000,000 men.

FLASHES FROM WAR ZONE

Paris, Aug. 11.—The Brussels correspondent of the Temps telegraphs that all of the forts in Liege are intact and ready to offer a vigorous resistance to the Germans. He saw heavy artillery and troops north and south of Liege and says that the bombardment of the forts is intermittent.

German patrols in the province of Luxemburg have been driven northward in groups of five or six Uhlans wandering through the country as far as the vicinity of Brussels. Many of them have been killed, but most of these soldiers are glad to be captured.

The Brussels correspondent of the Temps says the German soldiers are thoroughly disorganized and are fighting without enthusiasm. An officer who was captured threw away his sword, saying, "I am a Socialist."

BELGIUM'S FATE MAY BE DECIDED BY BIG BATTLE

ALLIES OPPOSE THE GERMANS

Fight Believed to Be Raging In Neighborhood of Liege In Which British Get Their First Sight of German Foe on Land—Kaiser's Army Believed to Have Been Reinforced Heavily.

Amsterdam, Aug. 11.—Whether Belgium shall be overrun by the invading Germans, or whether the latter shall be driven out, may depend upon the battle that is being fought today in the vicinity of Liege between the kaiser's forces, numbering over 100,000, and the combined army of the allies, the French, Belgians and English. The forces engaged are of such magnitude as to make this one of the greatest battles of history, but any attempt to estimate the number engaged is simply guessing, as all channels of information are closed.

Liege has fallen and is now in the hands of the German attacking force after one of the most heroic defenses in history, according to late advices received here.

General Leman, the Belgian commander, is withdrawing his troops in an orderly retreat from the ring of forts that stood as the outpost of defense.

Official communiques dated Aug. 9 are of a conservative tone, but they indicate that the machinery of the German army became disorganized by small incidents. They announce that the Germans who have been captured were all starving and were worn out by forced marches.

Many military authorities have always held that the German army was a splendid machine, perfect for maneuvers in time of peace, but so highly trained and of so complicated a character that in time of war if a cog slipped the entire machine was thrown out of action. The question no longer is which army possesses the best theoretical system, but which has the best fighters.

London, Aug. 11.—A Central News dispatch from Amsterdam explained the withdrawal of the Belgian outposts into the ring of forts around Liege. Belgian army officers declared that this was not a retreat, but a strategic movement to give the worn-out soldiers a chance to secure a rest.

General Leman planned the operation, which was carried out with admirable precision. The harried Belgians, worn by their exposure to the three days' bombardment from German batteries, filed over the Bressoux bridge in good order and without haste. As the rear guard crossed dynamite was placed under the bridge and it was blown up to prevent the Germans from following.

The Belgian battle lines had been in quadrant formation in the tongue of the land lying between the Meuse and Vesdre rivers. General Leman realized that their withdrawal would expose Liege to the German army, but notwithstanding this fact he felt sufficiently sure of the wisdom of his plan to put it into effect without delay.

General Leman secretly sent orders to the commanders of the Belgian outposts to prepare for the movement and at the same time couriers were sent into Liege to inform the troops in the citadel to evacuate the city.

This allowed the Belgians to remove all their ammunition and provision stores and live stock from the city before the Germans took possession.

A telegram from Charlerol, Belgium, to the Daily Mail says a force of French troops arrived in time to participate in a fine success of General Leman's Belgian division over the German troops investing Liege. The French succeeded in reaching the town of Liege and working behind the Germans, cut off their retreat. The Germans are said to have lost 8,900 killed and wounded, while 1,700 of them were captured.

Information from the front confirms the report that the German troops have ceased their advance by the valley of the Ourthe. They are said to have retired on their reserves and to be throwing up defensive works.

The German offensive movement to the north of Liege is developing.
